So as I lay wide-awake I thought that no matter what one did perhaps it didn't make much difference in the end. If you went around the ladder or under it, it all depended upon your point of view whether it brought luck or not. Wasn't it so with life? Then my thoughts shifted again to my hope for a social career, a successful one. I recalled the many lists of those whom I wished to cultivate I had made, and destroyed until the final one which suited me, was complete.

The clock struck four. I remembered nothing more until Ada called me.

"It is nearly eight o'clock ma'am."

I had not heard Neil when he got up, so soundly had I slept in the late morning. Now I heard the water running and knew he was in his bath. I should have to hurry. I did so want to talk to him. He had fallen asleep almost immediately he had gone to bed, and would be rested. Perhaps he would listen to me.

I was down almost as soon as he.

"Now Neil you must let me talk a little," I commenced after he had his first cup of coffee. "I didn't mean to do anything to displease you, anything wrong by going to your office. I did it because I loved you. If I did not, I shouldn't care so much when people told lies about your business." He scowled, making no reply. It wasn't going to be as easy to explain as I had imagined. "You see I had so planned upon having Mrs. Powers—and when Lorraine said Mr. Powers was the man who had warned her father — why — I — thought I would find something to show that —oh, that everything was all right."

"I never want you to repeat that performance, Barbara!" that was all he said. He kissed me good bye in an absent-minded way. I was sure he was worried and anxious over something. It was exactly eleven o'clock when Ada announced Mr. Frederick. Now I should perhaps learn something of the cause.

PRIZES WERE OFFERED FOR BEST WORKING OXEN AT FAIR IN 1829

FIRST AGRICULTURAL SHOW IN NORTHUMBERLAND COUNTY WAS HELD AT COBOURG 90 YEARS AGO —PRIZE LIST WAS LIGHT BUT PROMOTERS HELD A BANQUET.

PERFORMED USEFUL WORK

COBOURG, Sept. 20.—On October 19th it will be just 90 years since Northumberland county held its first agricultural show, and the difference between that the Cobourg Central Exhibition which took place in the county town here this week shows the trend of civilization and rural improvement through the ten decades of time. At the Fair held in 1829, prizes were offered for the best stallion, bull, brood mare, milch cow, working oxen, boar, ram, field roller, two home-made cheese and for the best written essay on the culture of wheat. A meagre prize list surely compared with to-day. For the latter, a Cramahe Township farmer, Joshua Webster, won the first prize, $5.00, and Chas. Powers of Haldimand, the second $3.00. The prizes given for live stocks were generous also. $8.00, $5, $4, $3. A banquet followed the Fair when thirty officers and principal exhibitors sat down around the festal board, concluding with toasts and speeches along the line of agriculture. These pioneers of our agricultural progress and prosperity also arranged for a cattle show and a ploughing match which were held at Cobourg in May of a succeeding year. They also laid the nucleus of field crop competitions in this district, for in 1830 prizes were awarded for best crops of wheat, Indian corn and potatoes. The judges were men still historically well known. Hon. Zaccheus Burnham, H. Ruttan and John Grover, Cramahe Township, appeared to be in the limelight in those days in regard to wheat culture, as it was decided that Peter Alger of that place produced the best sample. The prizes for Indian corn were awarded to Isaac Waite, Truman Hinman and Jonathan Massey, all Haldimand Township farmers, the second named by the way being father of the late Hart Massey, Esq., of Toronto.

The first society, although its first prize list was a small one, went a little farther in the field crop competition series than is done at the present time. They awarded prizes for the best managed farms. The report regarding the first prize farm said, that "the judges were much pleased with the farm, that Mr. J. Burnham (the winner) had in his farm about 230 acres of improved land, all in the best of state of cultivation." His record for cultivation would do credit to an Ontario farmer of the present day. Here it is, 23 acres of wheat, 20 acres of barley, 16 acres corn, 21 acres peas, 6 acres of oats, 3 acres of potatoes. There were 14 acres of summer fallow and 50 acres of hay, from which he cut about 60 tons. The live stock on his farm consisted of 7 horses, 1 yoke of working oxen, 16 milch cows, 60 head of horned cattle, 70 sheep and 40 hogs. The report further said, the farm appears to be well managed throughout; "the fences, dwelling-house, barns, office, are all of the best description and the crops generally were very luxurious for that year."

It is plain that the labour question was not the problem that it is at the present day, for at that time there were no labour-saving devices and Mr. Burnham's crop of grain off of some seventy acres, had to be threshed with a flail or by the treading out of horses and cattle, as it was not until 1833 that the first threshing machine began to travel through the country. It was an object of much curiosity. Power was supplied by four horses, and one hundred bushels per day is said to have been the maximum threshed. This too is a striking change from the big power threshers being operated at the present time.

FOUND GUILTY OF NEGLECT

THREE YEARS' PUNISHMENT FOR MAN WHO ALLOWED A SERIOUS SITUATION TO DEVELOP.

Failure to take proper precautions has been responsible for many deaths, and is the cause of much suffering and hardship to-day.

Take the case of Wm. Dunn, 312 Gerrard St. East, Toronto, Ont. Mr. Dunn was a chronic rheumatic sufferer for ten years. Three years of that ten he spent in bed suffering indescribable torture. Picture the joy of this man on finding that Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules were restoring him to normal health again. Here are a few extracts from his letter to us: "During the past ten years I have been laid up with Rheumatism. One attack confined me to my bed for a year, and a second attack left me helpless for over two years. After I had tried almost everything, a friend got me a box of T.R.C.'s, and a few doses convinced me that I had at last found the proper remedy for my trouble. T.R.C.'s improved my condition rapidly, and I feel that had it not been for T.R.C.'s I should have been laid up for years."

T.R.C.'s are certainly wonder workers. Try them.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing. (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto). Mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.00.

PRINCE ALMOST SURE TO WED A COMMONER

Royal Marriage Act Likely to Go—British Sovereigns Have Done It.

Who is the Prince of Wales going to marry? It is a pretty safe bet that the lady of his choice will not be a princess—not until he marries her—and that she will not have a drop of Royal blood in her veins. The odds are that some British duke's daughter will be the future queen of Britain. In fact one such young lady, whose family is intimately associated with Ottawa at the present moment, is spoken of in this connection.

The Prince of Wales may, however, have a surprise in store, and seek the heart and hand of a plain, untitled "miss." Gossip is rife as to whom he will wed, and more than one American girl is doubtless wondering how it would feel to wear a crown and have the duchess bobbing and curtseying to her.

Britain's kings did not always seek their mates from the narrow circle of Royalty. In the days of the Plantagenets, Tudors and Stuarts, alliances of English and Scotch monarchs, with their subjects were not uncommon. One of the Edwards married a lady of the Woodville family.

An English widowed queen espoused an untitled Welsh gentleman named Tudor, and the son born to this plain squire and his Royal consort ascended the throne as Henry VIII., the first of the Royal house of Tudor.

Mary Queen of Scots married one of her subjects, Lord Henry Darnley, son of the Earl of Lennox, and their son, James VI. of Scotland, and 1st of England, was the Scotch Sovereign who united the two kingdoms. It was not until the House of Hanover came to the throne that the limitation of Royal marriages to persons of Royal blood became a practice. It was an importation to England of a German law, and has always been distasteful to the British people.

German "Ma" Did It.

The Royal Marriage Act was passed in 1772 prohibiting any descendant of George II., except those who were the issue of princes or princess married into foreign houses, from contracting marriages before the age of 25 without the assent of the King signified under the Great Seal. This Royal Marriage Act was passed under the influence of the German mother of George III., who put her foot down on his attempt to marry Lady Sarah Lennox, daughter of the Duke of Richmond, and who later, had her son married to a German princess.

Must Give Warning.

After the age of 25 the Act decrees that they may marry without Royal consent, but only by giving notice of their intention to the Privy Council 12 months before the ceremony, and subject to the approval of both Houses of Parliament. Attempts have been made to repeal this Act, which sets up the Royal Family as a separate caste, and puts a slur on the British people.

SOOP UP THE PORRIDGE.

It's a lucky old world this—except for farmers, editors, and other tillers of the soil. So recently as last week, the Record announced that Mr. D. Blain had been engaged to take charge of an elevator at Ardath. Mr. Blain came to Landis to pack up his stray shoon, collar buttons, and the Shorter Catechism, and with tears in his voice, he bade farewell to his many friends here, and after fondly embracing the curling rink, severed the heart-strings that bound him to Landis and the Thompson trophy, and boarded No. 2 for Saskatoon. A telegram awaited him at his home there, containing an attractive offer to return to Landis as manager of the Standard elevator, and he came back here on Saturday with a radiant countennce. And he who wins the curling trophy from him next winter had better begin now with the porridge and the Shorter Catechism.—The Landis Record.

INSPIRING AND PRACTICAL SERMON BY REV. J. ROLLINS IN ST. ANDREW'S

"DISHEARTENMENT" FORMED THE KEYSTONE OF THE SUBJECT--A PERSONAL JUDGMENT.

"There is often more real heroism in a smiling face than in the deeds of Flanders itself," stated the Rev. James Rollins at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday morning in the course of an inspiring and practical sermon on "Disheartenment."

Rev. Mr. Rollins took as his text:—Psalms 42; 5, "Why art thou cast down; O my soul? and why art thou disquieted in me? hope thou in God; for I shall yet praise Him for the help of His countenance."

Struggle of a Soul.

Mr. Rollins then went on to say that one of the sources of the eternal freshness of the Psalms was the fact that they told the story of the struggle of a soul, the battle of a man with himself. It was fitting that the story of such a struggle should be told in poetry, for poetry was the only adequate medium for portraying a great battle. We could not help but notice the likeness of David's struggle to our own. We were often too apt to think that we were fighting life's battle alone and that there never had been a life so ragged and dull as ours. But when we read the Psalms our feeling of loneliness vanished for we realized that David fell as we have fallen, suffered as we have suffered and was disheartened as we have often been.

Price we Pay for Glimpses of Heaven.

Continuing Mr. Rollins stated that disheartenment was the price we paid for occasional glimpses of Heaven. It was the other side of a man's capacity for enthusiasm. The temperament peculiarly subject to disheartenment was the eager and enthusiastic temperament. It was in our melancholy hours that we were likely to pass judgment on ourselves and others. But we should tear to shreds such judgments and wait until the hours of sunshine before we passed judgment.

Turning to the causes of disheartenment Mr. Rollins went on to say that there was often a physical element in our melancholy. The want of oxygen and sunshine, bad nourishment, and living in a vitiated atmosphere would depress any man.

Spice of Life.

The long, monotonous stretches in our lives were another cause of disheartenment. Variety was the spice of life and gave it zest and flavor. With no new vistas opening before us, merely the same old routine, we became disheartened.

Still another cause was disappointment. When we built our castles and the storm laid them in ruins at our feet we yielded to despair. Wordsworth told of the great disheartenment that came over him after the French Revolution. He had hoped for great things as a result of the uprising of the lower classes of France but instead of true liberty and equality there came the guillotine and the tumbrils. And somewhat akin to disappointment was the apparent uselessness of all we did, Mr. Rollins believed.

Make Everything Worth While.

Action was one of the best means of conquering depression, Mr. Rollins thought. As an example he quoted a friend of Robert Browning's who had said that one of Browning's best qualities was the fact that he made everything seem worth while. Mr. Rollins wished that every man and woman could say the same about St. Andrew's Church.

"What we need is quiet fortitude and a reminder of what others are suffering." Mr. Rollins continued: "When you know how others stand their trials you will realize the insignificance of your own and pray God to forgive your gloom and bitterness."

In conclusion Mr. Rollins pointed out that the ancient Greeks in their theatres portrayed great tragedies. The audiences were so affected that their own troubles sank into insignificance beside what they had seen. It was best to do something kind for somebody for in so doing one did a kindness to one's self.

HOW TO VOTE ON REFERENDUM

A local expert contributes the following interpretation of the referendum ballot:

There appears to be a great deal of confusion as to the Temperance Act referendum and many apparently intelligent persons are in doubt as how to vote. This confusion is added to both by the ultra temperance advocates and the so-called Liberty League. One says vote no to all the questions, and the other to vote yes and it is suggested that if this is not done there will be a spoiled ballot. This is quite wrong, but it is necessary to vote yes or no to each question. If the voter thinks that the Temperance Act should be retained, but amended so as to permit the sale of light beers through government agencies he can vote no to first question and yes to the second. If he thinks that light beer should be sold also in Standard Hotels, he can still vote no to the first question and yes to the second and third questions, or if he thinks that hotels should not be authorized to sell even light beer he can vote no to the third question instead of yes. If he thinks that in addition to light beer spirituous liquor should be sold by government agencies, he can still vote no to the first question, yes to the second, yes or no to the third and yes to the fourth.

He must however vote either yes or no to all the questions or his ballot will not be counted.

Persons who wish to make sure that there shall be no bars in hotels should vote no to the first and third questions no matter in what way they vote on the other questions, and persons who think that bars should remain closed, but that they should be allowed to purchase beer and spirituous liquor from government agencies should vote no to the first and third questions and yes to the second and fourth. If the majority of the voters vote yes to the first question the Ontario Temperance Act will be repealed and the Liquor License Act will be revived; that is the old system of licensed hotels with open bars will come in again.

If the Ontario Temperance Act is not repealed, but a majority of the voters are in favour of the sale by government agencies these are to be established by the Board of License Commissioners.

THE WONDERFUL WORK OF POLICE INSPECTOR BRODDY

GARNERED IN FINE OF $100 SECURED BY LINDSAY POLICE.

LINDSAY, Sept. 22. — Constable Woods, accompanied by Constable Conquergood, while making the rounds of the midway at Fair, detected a gambling device in operation. They gathered in the plant as well as the operators, and took them to the police station. They gave their names as Sam Harris, Bernard Bellman, Harold J. Cooper. A charge of an infraction of the Agricultural Act —gambling and abetting—was preferred against them. Harris, who seemed to be the leader was fined $100. The other two were charged with vagrancy, as they were somewhat short of cash, and were fined $5.00. The trio was told to get out of town with all speed.

It might be mentioned passing, that although the Lindsay police gathered in the gamblers, the fine of $100 goes to the Government. Police Constable Broddy took the fine.

VICTORIA LOAN QUARTERS ENTERED BY BURGLARS

When the members of the staff of the Victoria Loan & Savings Company, Lindsay, came down to work Saturday they found everything topsy-turvy. Drawers were ransacked and papers strewn about the floor, indicating that burglars has entered the building during the night. Entrance had been effected by raising a window in the rear of the office, and everything was turned upside down in the search for money. The vault was undisturbed, which indicated that amateurs had done the work. A supply of postage stamps and other articles are missing.

$20,000 WAS NEEDED FOR THE PRINCE'S VISIT

Governor-General's warrants covering unforseen expenditures, aggregating $795,000, were issued during the Parliamentary recess, according to a return tabled in Parliament last week by Hon. A. K. MacLean. Of this amount $795,000 covered the cost of moving stock from and to dry areas in western Canada, $600,000 was required in connection with the re-construction of the Government elevator at Port Colborne, while $80,000 was required to cover the cost of the visit of the Prince of Wales to Canada.

STATION AGENT FORCED TO QUIT

"ALL THE BOYS AT THIS END OF THE LINE TALKING ABOUT MY RECOVERY," HE SAYS

"When the boys come by and see me back on the job looking like my old self they always holler at me to know what has brought about the wonderful change, and I always shout back, Tanlac," said A. E. Rawley, the popular telegraph operator at Welsford station, on the Canadian Pacific railway, and living at Westfield Beach, New Brunswick, in relating his remarkable experience with the medicine, recently.

"My recovery has not only surprised me," continued Mr. Rawley, but all the boys on this end of the line are talking about it. Pulling through what I have suffered back into health and strength seems more like work of a miracle than of medicine, for I had despaired of living much longer.

"My health suddenly gave way four years ago following a severe attack of grippe, which settled in my stomach. My food would sour, causing gas and such a pressure through my chest that I could scarcely breathe. Sharp pains would suddenly strike me in the chest, keeping me in agony for hours, and at night I would have to get up and walk the floor to keep from smothering. One day, about a year after my trouble started, I began vomiting and kept it up almost incessantly for four days, and I thought sure my life would end there. I had to be carried to a hospital for treatment after which I felt in fair condition for a few weeks and then another attack came on me with great pains in my stomach and intestines which would last for hours.

"At first these spells came about once a month, then twice a month and then every week and got me down to where I just couldn't work at all. In fact, I lost fifty pounds in weight and had to give up my position as station agent and do nothing but try to find relief. Then I went to another hospital for treatmet, then another, making three in all, and tried every medicine I knew of or that was suggested to me but kept getting worse. I had no idea I could live much longer, and of course, had little hope of ever getting any better.

"My case was like that of the drowning man, reaching out for a straw— desperate— and although I had no faith in Tanlac to help me when I saw it advertised, I grabbed at it as my last resort. I had tried three hospitals and everything in the way of medicines so I couldn't have much faith in Tanlac, but, it's a fact, before my first bottle was gone I noticed a difference in my feelings. It was not long then until the gas stopped forming on my stomach, I had a good appetite, and could eat most anything without it hurting me. Now ,to put it all in as few words as possible, I have gotten back twenty pounds of my lost weight. I am now working regularly every day and am still picking up both in weight and strength right along. I attribute my recovery to nothing but Tanlac. To me it is the most wonderful medicine in the world and I will praise it as long as I live."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

EPIDEMIC OF "FLU" FEARED THIS FALL

NEW YORK DOCTOR SAYS A MILD VISITATION IS DUE.

NEW YORK, September 22. — A minor epidemic of influenza is practically inevitable throughout America this fall, according to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Commissioner of Health for New York City.

Influenza epidemics have always swept countries in pairs according to Commissioner Copeland. The last one in America prior to last winter was in 1891, which was the minor appendage to the major epidemic of 1890.

Dr. Copeland looks for the epidemic this year to be much lighter than that of 1918, though minor epidemics are often as bad as the major phase. This was true of 1891, he says, but the fact that so many people were affected last year gives added immunity this year.

Speaking to a correspondent Dr. Copeland said: "I have no doubt but that we will have another epidemic this year though infinitely less violent than last year's, when practically every person was affected.

"Seventy per cent. of last year's victims were between the ages of 15 and 45, probably due to the fact that so many men were in training camps.

"My only fear is that it will attack another age group this year. Apparently the germs develop an appetite for a certain kind of food and chose people of a certain age, although there is no known explanation for the attraction to certain ages."

Asked what could be done to prepare, Dr. Copeland prescribed "soap and water and fresh air."

"Influenza is essentially a house disease," he said. "Apparently it needs long continued contact to become infected. It is not like small pox, which you could get in a minute. You have to live with influenza to get it.

"It naturally follows that out of door life, sleeping with the windows open regardless of the weather, taking exercise, and using common sense with regard to food, are the best preventatives.

"Above all avoid those who have influenza. In families patients who have influenza or colds ought to be kept by themselves. They should not associate with the others.

"Apparently the germs of influenza are conveyed by the hands more easily than other ways. Everyone should have clean hands. People should make it a rule to wash the hands and face several times a day with soap and water."

Commissioner Copeland says there is no cause for excitement since the Board of Health is watching symptoms of influenza the world over, and is cooperating with other boards of health throughout the country. It is also working on vaccines.

"Masks are no good, it has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of scientists," says Dr. Copeland. "We are old fashioned here. We do not believe in colsing schools or churches. We did everything unconventional here in 1918 and had the lowest death rate of all."

To prove that masks are dangerous instead of helpful, Commissioner Copeland cites the case of San Francisco, which had a high death-rate, thinks, because the masks are filthy, prevent the patient from getting good air, and cause him to re-breathe bad breath."

"Above all, let us not get excited," says Commissioner Copeland, who advises everyone to do his utmost to "keep his equanimity, piety and occupation."

MR. R. J. SODEN IS BEREAVED

Mr. R. J. Soden was called to Midland on Saturday because of the death of his eldest sister, Mrs. Edwards, of that town. The deceased had been ill for some time and took a turn for the worse early last week, death ensuing early on Saturday.

His many local friends will sympathize with Mr. Soden in his bereavement.

GIRL "RAFFLES" ADMITS ROBBING THREE APARTMENT HOUSES DAILY

WORKED ON EIGHT-HOUR DAY BASIS AND "RESTED" SUNDAYS—WENT THROUGH 50 HOUSES IN THREE MONTHS, POLICE SAY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Charged with being a girl "Raffles" and confessing, the police say, that during the past three months she had robbed fifty apartments in the Hunts' Point section of the Bronx, Molly Rosen, 16 years old, was held in $2,500 bail here for examination.

The girl, according to her alleged confession, said that when she "worked" she averaged about three apartment house burglaries a day and that lately her operations had been on the basis of an 8-hour day and six days a week. Sunday, she said, she "rested" because her mother, to whom she paid $20 a week supposed she was employed in a downtown store and needed to recuperate for Monday morning. Her raids, she said, actually netted her $3,000 in cash and $3,000 worth of jewelry.

Pretending to be calling on one of the tenants, Miss Rosen said, she gained access to many buildings and entered unlocked apartments. Once or twice she was interrupted whereupon she wept that she was stealing for a "sick mother" and, after returning the victim's property, was permitted to go.

One night the girl entered the flat of a sleeping subway motorman. The motorman had hung his trousers over the back of a chair and the girl, he said, was rifling his pockets when he awoke. He chased her to the street where she was arrested.

CITY IS NOW ON STANDARD TIME

NOT A TREMOR WAS FELT THROUGHOUT THE WORLD WHEN PETERBORO CHANGED OVER.

Reversion to standard time has been accepted quite generally in the city, although restaurant keepers report a lengthened lunch hour, and many households have two noon meals, keeping the eatables in the oven in the meantime. The Quaker Oats Company employees voted to return to standard time to-day, and the Canadian General Electric, Peter Hamilton, William Hamilton and most of the other factories observe the old-fashioned time.

The school children went to school an hour later this morning, and the Normal school, in accordance with the rest of the city, opened their doors on standard time.

The only section of the community not affected by the putting back of the clock is the farmer, who is smiling complacently at the thought of better banking and market hours.

The city clock, which obeyed the Mayor's proclamation to put the clock ahead one hour, has now turned the hands back one hour with the rest of the city.

PORK PRICES TO DROP 15 CENTS?

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Sept. 22.—As a result of the Board of Commerce probe here pork prices will decrease fifteen cents a pound immediately, according to a statement made by a local packer.

The authority based his forecast on the belief that the whole pork market would be bearishly affected by reason of revelations about profits and overhead costs of producer, packer and retailer.

Harry Whitla, K.C., Government Counsel, announced to-day that vegetable prices will be on trial before the board next week. Mr. Whitla also states that in the absence of H. A. Robson, Commissioner Auld has been empowered to conduct the investigation into all staples as he sees fit.

Boots and clothing prices will be dealt with in the very near future, and if it is possible a start on the inquiry into these staples will be made toward the end of the coming week, Mr. Whitla asserted to-day.

TAX ON BEARDS.

London.—Heavy taxation resulting from the war has resulted in the suggestion by some newspapers of a revival of the tax on beards. Beards were taxed by Henry VIII. The taxes were graduated to the status of the wearer. Another novel tax was that invoked by Queen Elizabeth, who made all persons staying away from church on Sunday liable to a fine. In 1695 the birth of a child was also taxed. A Duke had to pay $250 for being a proud father, while a commoner was taxed 50c.

PETERBGRO HORSES WON AT LINDSAY

FAIR WAS GOOD BUT SMALLER THAN THE LOCAL EXHIBITION.

Peterboro exhibitors in the carriage horse class at the Lindsay Fair carried off most of the prizes. Some of the results were:

Single carriage driver 15½ and over—1, S. W. Blewett, Peterboro; 2, E. W. Wood, Peterboro; 3, A. B. Mann, Peterboro; 4, Cowle, Cannington.

Carriage, single driver, under 15½ hands—1, G. Brown, Millbrook; 2, W. E. Wood, Peterboro; 3, D. H. Wood & Son, Ida; 4, E. W. Wood, Peterboro.

Carriage pair, over 15½ hands—1, E. W. Wood & Son, Peterboro; 2, D. H. Wood & Son, Ida; 3, C. Cochrane, Oshawa; 4, Miller, of Keene.

Carriage pair, under 15½ hands—1, J. Brown, Millbrook; 2, W. E. Wood, Peterboro; 3, H. J. Miller, Keene.

Visitors from this city acknowledged that Lindsay had a decidedly creditable Fair, but declared that in the number and quality of exhibits, in the attractions and especially in the crowd, it fell far below Peterboro's. The concessionaires on the Midway did a big business. On Saturday the crowd was packed into the Midway, had no other diversion and couldn't move if they had. The concession men made the most of that combination and found the Victoria farmers as curious as perhaps were the local crowds before they lost interest in games of skill and chance that had been here for a solid week early in the summer.

A director of the Peterboro Fair stated that he expected Lindsay to show the larger financial surplus of the two exhibitions, for the reason that they own their own grounds, have more permanent buildings and go to less expense for attractions and other features.

It was also noticed that the Lindsay band although lacking class made up its deficiency in that respect by a long programme that filled in unavoidable delays and prevented those little gaps that occur in the best arranged programme.

REMEDY FOR THE FIUME CRISIS

PARIS, Sept. 22.—There were indications to-day that the Supreme Council might agree upon a settlement of the Dalmatian question on the basis of a formula making Fiume Italian, but neutral; that is, not allowing Italy to keep troops there, and internationalizing the docks and railways, thus safeguarding the Jugo-Slav and Central European interests.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

After all, so much in this world depends upon the way you look at things. It may seem a litle thing, this looking at life from a cheerful or dismal point of view, but it is in reality a very big thing. Put on a pair of blue spectacles and everything looks blue; green, and everything is green. And so it is with the eyes of our mind. If we take a cheerful view of things, life will be far brighter. We shall not see the faults in people, but their virtues. If we look for pleasant things we shall find them, or at least, we shall think we shall find them, which is much the same. We are apt to find what we look for; therefore let us look for light and happiness. It i sall habit. And it is just as easy to cultivate a cheerful habit as a gloomy one. And when once a habit takes a strong hold of us we all know how hard it is to shake it off. Let us then cultivate a habit of cheerfulness in all circumstances of life, and a habit of not finding fault. It is not the fault finders who are going to do the great deeds and make the world richer because they have lived. No; these fault finders who have no time for anything but fault finding. It is the cheerful people who help the world along, who make its great inventions and laws, who build its monuments, write its poems and novels, and who go down to the grave lamented with honor.

Finish every day and be done with it. For manners and for wise living it is a vice to remember. You have done what you could; some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as oyu can. To-forget them as soon as you can. To-it well and serenely and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day for all that is good and fair. It is to dear with all its hopes and invitations to waste a moment on the rotten yesterdays.

BE A MAN.

Foolish spending is the father of poverty. Do not be ashamed of hard work. Work for the best salaries or wages you can get, but work for half price rather than be idle. Be your own master, and do not let society or fashion swallow up our individuality—hat, coat and boots Do not eat up or wear up all you earn. Compel your selfish body to spare something for profits saved. Be stingy to your own appetite, but merciful to other's necessities. Help others and ask for no help for yourself. See that you are proud. Let your pride be of the right kind. Be too proud to be lasy; to proud to give up without conquering every difficulty; too proud to wear a coat you cannot afford to buy; too proud to be in company that you cannot keep up with expenses; too prud to lie, or steal, or cheat; too proud to be stingy.

A model husband may be a day labourer who returns to his home at night with a hard earned dollar clasped in his honest hand, and adds it to the family fund to be used to provide necessary comforts for the family. He shares faithfully with his wife whatever he may earn by trade or profession. When business matters perplex he does not go home with a woeful tale of his hardships and turn the bright side of his character to his associates, but he comes into his home with a cheerful face that inspires his wife with new courage after a day of perplexing duties which women alone have to meet, and in their monotony become distasteful to the most patient of them.

Everyone feels at home in the presence of a joyous, cheerful, genial spirited person.

Reflections On Banff

Cascade Mountain Watches Over Banff and the Bow River.

Sweltering in a temperature in the vicinity of 90 degrees in a big city one thinks of Banff and the delightful coolness of the Rocky Mountains. How we long for a glimpse of the snow, the scent of the pines, and to take a plunge in the Sulphur Water.

Talking of Banff, this little town has well been named "Banff the Beautiful"; it is the "Spa of Canada" and thousands of tourists are attracted there annually.

The Banff Hot Springs are famous for their health-giving qualities, especially for curing rheumatism. These sulphur springs were known to the Red Men long ago, and were accidentally discovered by some engineers when surveying for the C. P. R. A huge swimming tank here has a depth of water from 3 to 8 feet. People of all ages sport themselves in the water, which is quite warm, so that bathing is not attended with fits of shivering. This tank is open to the air, and a large stone gallery runs along one side so that spectators can sit and watch the merry throng in the water.

The beauties of Banff, are to be found on all sides. There are mountains to right of us, mountains to left of us, mountains behind, and in front of us. The Alpine Club has headquarters here, and daily one meets parties armed with Alpin-stocks, and provided with cameras, on their way to enjoy mountain climbing.

One cannot write of Banff without mentioning the Bow River, that river of the beautiful pale green colour, reminding one of opals and their ever changing fires. It is entrancing to stand on Banff Bridge early in the morning when the sun rises and to look on the water, see the pretty boat houses reflected in its depths, with the snow capped Massive Range in the background. Mt. Vermillion is on the right.

One need never feel dull or suffer from ennui in Banff, there is so much to see and to do. There is the Main St. with its stores displaying beautiful furs, Indian beadwork, picture postcards, etc., the Zoo with its fine collection of Canadian animals, and the museum where the flora and fauna of the Dominion are displayed for the benefit of students of botany and other kindred sciences.

The photographer has a wide field for his particular hobby, every turn of the road, and bend of the river offering new beauties.

Banff is well supplied with comfortable hotels, most of them being in the Main St., there is also the palatial C. P. R. Hotel situated on an eminence on the lower slopes of Sulphur Mountain. The tourist can wander into the courtyard of this hotel at any time, take a chair on the terrace and enjoy the scenery to his heart's content. The scene cannot be eclipsed for grandeur. In the foreground Cascade Mountain stands on guard, Mt. Rundle is on the right, Sulphur Mountain rises behind, on the left are Mt. Vermillion and the Massive Range, while down below the Bow River rushes and tumbles in the rapids, finally taking a leap over the Falls, to be joined by the waters of the Spray River further down the valley. This view cannot be surpassed in the world. No King's Palace has a finer situation or a more extensive outlook than that of the C. P. R. Hotel at Banff. Visitors are invariably loud in their praises of its beauty and leave this scene with reluctance and lingering regret.

Thousands have vivid memories of evenings spent in this delightful resort. The sunset in the golden west throws exquisite rose and violet tints on the snow capped peaks. In the short twilight all nature is still, and later on the Northern Lights blaze out in all their glory. all nature lovers should see Banff. Its beauties are never to be forgotten.

METHODIST RESOLUTION ON REFERENDUM

At the district meeting held in Trinity Methodist church last week, the following resolution was passed:

Resolved,—That we heartily endorse the action of the Provincial and various local referendum committees in their plan to unite all churches' social and moral agencies throughout the province for a solid vote of four "No's" on the referendum ballot of October 20th.

2. That we urge all our pastors and workers to give their committees their fullest co-operation and support in every way possible.

3. That we request all our pastors to give special prominence to this matter especially on the three Sundays preceding the vote.

4. That we welcome with unbounded confidence the comin gvote of the women, knowing it will stand for the protection of the home, the welfare of the child and the continual deliverance of many who had fallen under old conditions, but to day are sober, respectful citizens.

5. That we urge all our church societies to participate in the educational work necessary to a correct marking of the ballot and the demonstration polling booths be conducted in co-operation with various referendum committees.

6. That continuous emphasis be placed on the absolute necessity of voting a full four-no ballot. Keep to the right of your ballot and you will vote right. Place your crosses in the right hand column under the word NO.

NO HARD FEELINGS.

CLAIMS TO HAVE RELATIVES HERE

BUFFALO, Sept. 22. — Kenneth Lawrence, aged 12, who claims that his parents died five weeks ago at their home in Buffalo, leaving him homeless, was picked up by the police of North Tonawanda, New York, last night, last night for the second time. Lawrence was found on Friday night at the trolley waiting station in North Tonawanda. He said that he was en route to the home of his aunt near Peterboro, Ont.

When the lad said that he had a grandmother residing in Buffalo the police gave him his car fare to the city, but last night again found him wandering about the streets in Tonawanda.

The police will try to ascertain the name of the lad's relatives in Peterboro or thereabout.

FURS TO YOUR HEART'S DESIRE

The lavish display of elegant and costly furs from Barrie's Limited, which attracted so much marked attention in the Main building of the Peterborough Fair as well as the remarkable and unique collection of raw fur skins shown in the Barrie float at the opening day parade are deserving of more than the hurried attention they received.

It must be a very gratifying thing to those of us who do not happen to live in a large city, to know that it is possible to find on our own town the same smart clothes as the Monrealer or Toronto resident may find. This was not always the case. It could not be done even ten years ago But the times have changed owing to the alertness and ability of our local Furriers, Barrie's Limited; and now the same models shown in the largest cities on the continent are shown in Peterborough.

Our local furriers used to be afraid to take to the model they considered "extreme", but now, what Montreal Toronto, and New York wear, Peterborough wears.

Barrie's Limited were the first to realize how publicity spreads the change of fashion, and brings us together—even the moving pictures, as well as the newspapers, tell the story of furs latest fashion frolics. And now our local furriers dare to manufacture the smarter better models, knowing that they will be appreciated by the women of our community.

Barrie's Limited Retail Warerooms and their Wholesale Factory at 312 George street, is largely the outgrowth of this enterprising fur movement in Peterborough. The store itself, its costly and complete stocks, its methods, its courteous service, its reliable merchandise, and its guarantees are standards high enough to lift their business from the ordinary.

But it is of the appealing exhibition of manufactured furs displayed at this Fair that suggested this article. It consisted of the new short and sport coats in Hudson Seal, Persian Lamb, Otter, Beaver, Sable and Opposum so beautifully trimmed in the contrasting furs of Alaska Sable, Fox, Lynx, etc., that these models appeal to the more youthful trade as being more chic and smart than longer models. We noted the longer coats for auto and driving wear, one beautiful model in Hudson Seal with girdle trimmed in large shawl collar of Black Lynx, and lined with a peacock brocade and others in plucked beaver, natural coon and natural Black Rat attracted our attention as being very beautiful in design incorporating the straight lines, a little fuller in the skirt and with or without girdles. Some of the shorter coats have a ripple back that is longer than the front and the front is belted in. Small capes extend to well below the shoulders with or without collars and the coatees are hip length and free fit to the waist.

Neck pieces full animal effects lead in the finer long haired furs such as Fox, Wolf etc., while the flat scarfs and caperines are more in evidence in Mink, Sable, Mole, Beaver, Opposum Squirrel and all the shorter haired furs. Muffs are of the ball barrel and canteen variety with elaborations of heads and tails where suitable. A beautiful model in a mink coatee, a long wide scarf of seal and mole, a choice animal in silver tipped fox with muff to match called forth many expressions of astonishment as to their beauty and quality.

Some valuable Fur skins were intermixed such as bundles of choice Alaska, Sealskin, Hudson Bay Sables Martins, Mink, Persian Lamb, Ermine, Cross Fox, etc. In fact the whole exhibit was replete with quality in Furs, not alone in the skins composing them but in the linings, trimmings and style incorporated. With their stores in Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw, Barrie's Limited secure an output and a connection that gives entrance to the largest markets and to the trapping centres of Northern Canada, that few firms have, in the securing of choice skins. The exhibit was in charge of Mr. Richardson, one of the firm's principal salesmen and credit should be given for the dressing and designing of this by far the most costly exhibit at the Fair.

THE BARRIE FLOAT

This was not only a very unique representation, but in point of value and money's worth easily reached the four figures. Hundreds of rare fur skins were utilized in the construction of this float. It was so unusual in character that it stood out distinctly as the surprise to the crowds of spectators in the streets who watched the progress of the float.

The firm offered a prize of $10 or ten per cent discount on a $250 purchase for the nearest correct estimate of the value of the skin's used on the float, with the following result:

Mr. Tom Henry, 268 Munro Avenue, estimated $7,500, which was the nearest estimate received.

Mrs. G. M. Reazen, 333 George street, made the next nearest estimate viz: $8,945.

The actual value of the skins was $8,017.18.

OSLERS WIN FIRST GAME FROM BELLEVILLE

CENTRAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS LOST BY 3 TO 2 AFTER GREAT BATTLE--. WINNERS SCORED ALL THEIR RUNS IN FIRST INNINGS, GOYER HOLDING THEM SAFELY AFTER THE INITIAL SESSION.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 21.— Oslers, champions of Toronto, got the jump on the G.T.R. team of this city in the first of the semi-final games for the Ontario championship by defeating them 3 to 2, at the Fair grounds here yesterday afternoon.

Spring and Goyer engaged in a pitchers' battle, with the odds slightly in favour of the former. Spring allowed two hits and struck out twelve. Goyer yielded six hits and turned back ten. Goyer got away to a poor start in the first frame, the visitors making three hits and scoring as many runs, but thereafter he held them to three scattered safeties, and pitched airtight ball.

Spring turned in a masterly game for Osler. He was only in trouble during two innings, and his own fast fielding helped him out of a threatening situation. In the initial inning, after Weir had walked, Meagher in attempting to sacrifice, put up a short pop fly. Spring raced in and made a shoestring catch, doubling Weir off first.

The locals accorded Goyer good support, the two errors against them being excusable, and did not figure in the run-getting. G.T.R. displayed a snappy infield, and made two double plays.

Two of the five errors registered against Osler accounted for both runs scored by Belleville.

Spring struck out the side in the second and fourth, a feat which Goyer also accomplished in the second.

The grounds were in wretched condition. The infield was very rough and the outfield covered with ruts made by waggons. Twelve hundred attended, many of the fans coming from nearby towns.

It was the first defeat for the G.T.R. on their home grounds. The score:

SOME WORLD'S SERIES FACTS FOR BENEFIT OF BASEBALL FANS

CHICAGO ALWAYS LUCKY—NEVER HAD A WORLD'S SERIES LOSER—BILL CARRIGAN ONLY MANAGER WITH CLEAN SHEET

The doping of the world's series is already a pastime with the fans. Whettler Moran can guide his Cincinnatis through the opposition of the Chicago Sox as capably as he did through the National League is not for Moran to say. His comment is that his team will play as well against Chicago as they did all season. It is modest and not boastful anyway.

Boston Can't Lose.

The Boston Red Sox, under four different leaders, have won all five series in which they took part, while the Boston Braves, under George Stallings, were the only National League team to win the world's championship in the last ten years. Bill Carrigan, who caught for Toronto in Joe Kelly's Diamond Park days, is the only manager who won two world's championships without a setback. His Boston Americans won in 1915 and 1916, taking eight games in ten from Philadelphia and Brooklyn.

Chicago Lucky.

Chicago has also never known a world's series loser in the American League. Fielder Jones' 1906 hitless wonders defeated the supposedly invincible Cubs in 1906 largely through the great pitching of Nick Altrock and Ed. Walsh. In 1917 Clarence Rowland's Chicago team defeated the Giants in four games out of six.

Connie Mack of the Athletics is the only major league manager who ever has won three world's championships, but he lost two in between.

Chance and McGraw.

Frank Chance of the Chicago Cubs ranks with Connie Mack and Bill Carrigan as the only leaders to capture two world's championships—1907 and 1908. Chicago White Sox beat the Cubs in 1906.

McGraw and his New York Giants won the title from Connie Mack's Athletics in 1905, but he never before or since earned the championship, though in the world's series five times in all.

Detroit is all that saved the National League from being annihilated in a world's series. Hughie's Tigers were licked by their National League opponents in 1907, 1908 and 1909, Detroit winning only four games in the three series.

After Herman and Ban.

The Boston, New York and Chicago Club owners are hot after Ban Johnson's scalp and make no bones about their objective—to drive the American League president out of his job.

They with Philadelphia Nationals and maybe others are also seeking to oust Herman from the chairmanship of the National Commission. The reason given is that Cincinnati, which he owns, is now a world's series contender and he should step down. Any old reason would do. Meanwhile Herman says he is ready to drop out.

GETTING READY FOR THE HOCKEY SEASON

DENTALS TO PLAY AGAIN—HAVE STRONG FOUNDATION—SUDBURY FOR SENIOR SERIES—HAMILTON CLEVER IN FORWARD POSITIONS

They are always stringing wires for hockey. The Dentals, it is stated, will again appear in the senior O.H.A. series. Of last season's team, Rennie, Box, Smylie, Brown, Olson and Hudson are available, and "Bill" Carron, the Woodstock star, is now attending the Dental College. McCaffery, Glen Smith and Charlie Stewart have not announced their intentions, but will not likely play.

Sudbury for O.H.A.

Sudbury has organized for the season and wants to play senior O.H.A. Stan Burgoyne, who coached Hamilton last year, is up there and will be in charge. "Shorty" Green is there and his brother "Red" will try for a place on the forward line. Other well-known candidates are: Kilpatrick, Newman Hall; Wallace and Ray Smith, Queen's University; McKenzie, Duncan, Hennesey, W. Duncan and Scully, all of Sudbury; Charles Langlois, Montreal Vickers; McKinnon, of Sudbury; C. Boucher, of Regina Victorias, and Leo Berthiaume, the star player of last season's Sudbury juniors.

Hamilton Outlook.

Hamilton is enthusiastic over Jimmy Freeman's presence on their line-up. The left wing has always been a thorn in their side and Freeman removes it. It gives them Roach, Reid, Boyd, McCarthy and Freeman on the forward line.

George Hiller, the star Kitchener player has moved to Niagara Falls.

DEMPSEY BARRED IN CINCINNATI

Champion is Regarded as a "Prize" Fighter."

CINCINNATI, OHIO:—The ban placed on boxing bouts in this city by Mayor John Galvin during the war is about to be lifted, and licenses to hold exhibitions will be issued to all legitimate athletic clubs. According to the mayor, however, Jack Dempsey will not be permitted to appear in a contest in this city.

"Athletic clubs must convince the commission which is to be appointed that bouts held here will be boxing matches," says the mayor. "Dempsey is recognized the world over as a 'prize fighter.' I will not tolerate a prize fight."

A local promoter upon receipt of the news that the lid was to be lifted immediately made attractive offers to Benny Leonard and Harry Greb to appear here. It remains to be seen whether Leonard and Greb also are recognized the world over as "prize fighters."

COLLINS LEADS

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.— Eddie Collins, second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, celebrated his fourteenth anniversary in Major League baseball by stepping into the lead of the American League base stealing with 31 pilfers to his credit. Collins has also moved up from tenth to sixth place in batting with .333. Cobb still leads the batting averages with .375, followed by Veach with .348, Sysler, Jackson, Ruth and Collins in order. Babe Ruth still leads in runs scored, total bases and home runs.

In the National League, Cravath, of Philadelphia, with .336, is five points ahead of Thorpe of Boston. Cutshaw of Pittsburg, with 37 stolen bases, is far in the lead in that department.

HINTS TO AUTOISTS.

To make a good portable water carrier, for refilling radiator on a trip, take a discarded inner tube, cut out a good section about three feet of one end of section together on the inside about an inch. Reinforce this closing of the end by a piece of inner tube patching, cemented around the end as a book is bound. Rubber strap for carrying can be cemented on other end in like manner.

This "bucket" can be rolled up and carried in your car with the reserve tubes, ready for time of need, and there is no reason why same could not be used for carrying drinking water after the talc has been washed off.

If you do not want to bother making this "bucket," a regular hot-water bottle carried in car will do the trick, and bear in mind that a Kantleek is a sure enough regular one.

A stout rope carried in the car may come in handy for other than tow purposes. If one rear wheel spins itself into a mud hole or snow bank, the rope can be used to pull car out by fastening one end to the spokes near the hub, taking a couple of turns around the hub in the opposite direction from the turning of the wheel, and then fastening other end of rope to a tree ahead. The hub of your spinning rear wheel would then act as a pulley, winding itself up on the rope and darwing your car out of the hole. Should a tree in the rear of the car make it more convenient to back out, wind the rope the other way around the hub. It is better to back out for the reason that the reverse gear is greater in power and less in speed than low speed forward.

Semi-ready Tailoring:
"When we say 'Semi-ready' we also mean 'Service'—not that they are synonyms, but the two words are co-related.
"Since 1898—or just 21 mature years ago — the 'Semi-ready' sign has marked the shop that offered good service and satisfaction.
"We are interested in our customers beyond the dollars they have to spend.
"We offer the service that makes your Smile when you think of us—
"It's the real way to make our friends recall us when they think of a new Suit or a good Topcoat."

BE GENTLE WITH THE BOCHE.

Be more charitable and gentlemanlike! The following from a popular London review is referred to our Canadian and American dailies which have been persistent users of untrue and insulting epithets against the German people: "Germany is now, technically, a friendly power, or soon will be. That being so, we suggest that our press might with advantage discontinue its sprightly habit of using the words 'Hun' and 'Boche.' We shall soon have the German Embassy again occupied, and it would really be deplorable if its chief were commonly referred to, in print, as the 'Hun Ambassador' or the 'Boche Diplomat.'"—St. Peter's Bote.

TOM MOORE COMES TO GRIEF IN ROLE OF GOOD SAMARITAN

GOLDWYN STAR'S ACT OF KINDNESS ALMOST COSTS HIM BEAUTIFUL BRIDE IN HIS LATEST PICTURE, "THIRTY A WEEK."

Playing the part of a good Samaritan almost costs Tom Moore a bride in his latest Goldwyn Picture, 'Thirty a Week," which comes to the Grand to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday. Dan Murray, the chauffeur, the role Tom Moore plays, is himself in the flesh—a good natured rollicking young Irishman with a smile for all and a helping hand for anyone who needs it.

Dan has won the heart of his employer's daughter, Barbara Wright. Though far above him in station, she consents to marry him. In the same house with Dan's mother lives Minnie Molloy, who has long secretly loved Dan. After learning of Dan's marriage, Minnie weds another. Barbara's union with Dan has estranged her from her parents, and her father to vent his anger, has Dan dismissed from several positions. A bit of sunshine creeps into the lives of Dan and Barbara one day when Larry Spencer, a former employer, engages Dan to drive his car, which has been entered in the big annual automobile race. He is promised $500 if he finishes among the first five.

Dan goes to the Sheepshead Bay race track and meets Minnie. Her husband is ill, she tells him, and the doctor has ordered her to take him out west. Dan agrees to see her after the race is over. He succeeds in finishing third in the big contest, and Spencer congratulates him and hands him the reward. Dan makes his way out through the admiring throng and meets Minnie. Once more she pleads and Dan is so touched that he gives her the $500. Dan's meeting with Minnie and the subsequent passing of money is seen by Freddy Ruyter, whom Barbara's parents had picked for her husband. Ruyter rushes to Barbara and tells her of Dan's affair, with the strange woman at the race-track. Barbara is dumfounded and decides to listen to her parents' pleas to leave Dan and seek an annulment of the marriage.

When Dan gets home Barbara upbraids him and demands to know who the woman is that he has been meeting at the race track. His explanation fails to convince her and the next morning she leaves their home, vowing never to return. She goes to her parents' home, where the legal machinery for a divorce has already been put in motion. The lawyer investigates Dan's affair with the other woman and learns the truth.

The facts are laid before Barbara's father, with the result that Dan is summoned to the home. Dan is certain that he has been called to get his consent to a divorce, but instead is greeted with open arms by his father-in-law and is pleased by the sight of Ruyter being kicked into the street by Wright. Of course no one is happier with Dan's return than Barbara, and she goes back to their cozy little flat with him, eager to live on thirty a week.

FILM STUDIO COMING HERE

"JACK CANUCK" IN BERLIN IS A REAL SHOW.

Californian Film Studio Coming "Bodily" to Peterboro.

From far-off sunny California, where most of American motion pictures are made, is coming straight to the Grand Theatre on Thursday and Friday, October 2nd and 3rd, not only the latest product of one of the great studios but actually a goodly portion of its living personnel. In the most novel exhibition ever given in the field of films, the favorites of millions are to be seen simultaneously in person and on the screen.

The première in San Francisco of Mack Sennet's new film comedy "Jack Canuck in Berlin," was the inception of this novelty. Sol L. Lesser, who bought the entire American and Canadian rights to the production, persuaded Mr. Sennett to allow the personal appearance of his Bathing Beauties at the Tivoli there there, for a few performances. The result was a perfect simoon of popular excitement.

The public that had come to know this bevy of shapely, wholesome girls in dazzling surf raiment almost mobbed the box office at every opening of the doors. The experience was repeated in Los Angeles and Mr. Sennett could no longer hold out for the seclusion of his girls in the studio. Their appearance here is the result of his permission for a brief tour, to cover a few large eastern cities. So it will be "here they come; there they go!"

In beautiful illuminated posings and an elaborately staged act, the girls will appear just as they are seen in "Jack Canuck in Berlin" and lesser comedies. California fruits are renowned and these peaches are said to be the very top of the basket.

As for the picture, it is called the last word in Sennett cleverness in burlesquery. It punctures the bubble of royal bluff in a story that is said to afford an hour of continuous hilarity. All of the Sennett star farceurs are assembled in the picture and have a part in showing Wilhelm to have been always the most Pompous Joke in history.

POLICE HAD TO HANDLE CROWDS

"MICKEY" DID A BIG BUSINESS IN TORONTO.

10 solid weeks of the biggest business ever done in the city of Toronto, so much so that police reserves had to be used at every performance to assist in handling the large crowds, and such a happy, smiling crowd they were, all imbued with the spirit of "Mickey". After being witnessed by close on to 350,000 people, "Mickey" the big super-production, appeared for another week at the Grand Opera House.

To say "Mickey" is a sensation is putting it mildly. "Mickey" is veritable furore, a large-sized riot of surprises, laughter, thrilling scenes and lovably human emotions all thrown together in one big mass of entertainment. This will be the eighth week of showing for the little waif from the mountain country.

"Mickey" in all her glory will play The Grand, here, soon.

"LITTLE WOMEN"

LOUISA M. ALCOTT'S FAMOUS STORY FINDS ITS WAY TO THE SCREEN AS A PARAMOUNT-ARTCRAFT SPECIAL PICTURE

Most Famous Characters in Literature Visualized With Charming Effect in a Beautiful Story Abounding With Humor, Sentiment and Charm. To be Shown at The Allen Theatre on Monday and Tuesday Only.

Living in a comfortable home in Concord, Mass., the members of the March family are bound together by ties of amity and love. The period is towards the close of the Civil War and Mr. March is serving his country at the front as Chaplain of a Massachusetts regiment. Mrs. March, who is idolized by her daughters Jo, Meg, Beth and Amy, is affectionately called "Marmee" by them. Jo is of a literary turn of mind and she writes a play which she produces before a small though appreciative audience. Jo, who plays the hero in her production is loved by both Laurie and Prof. Baer, but she prefers the latter whereupon Laurie discovers that he really loves Amy. John Brooke loves Meg, while Beth, who is in ill health, has no sweetheart, but is loved by all alike.

One night, Mrs. March receives news that her husband is lying dangerously ill in a hospital in Washington. She is greatly distressed and without funds to make the trip. She appeals to Aunt March, a crabbed old woman of wealth, and believing the appeal will be in vain, Jo sells her luxuriant hair to a wig-maker for $25 and returns in triumph to her mother with the money. But meanwhile, Aunt March has relented and not only given Mrs. March $25, but a check for $75 with which to defray the expenses of her journey to Washington.

Jo and her mother are shocked at the uselessness of this sublime sacrifice, but after "Marmee" goes to Washington and fetches her husband home, Jo forgets the loss of her hair in her work. She writes stories now for "The Spread Eagle," or rather submits her manuscripts to the editor. One day, the Marches and Prof. Baer read a story of remarkable power in "The Spread Eagle" and they are wondering who could have written it when Jo enters with a check for $50 sent her by the editor in payment of her story. Jo is congratulated by all present and Prof. Baer's love for her is redoubled, though thus far he has not made any avowal of affection for her.

Time flies and following the wedding of Brooke and Meg, Beth's condition grows grave. When twins are born to Meg, little Beth, who is slowly passing away, begs to see the babes and she fondles them with pathetic pleasure. A few days later she breathes her last, and the household is in mourning for its lost flower. Laurie confides to Jo that he loves Amy and is about to ask her to be his wife. While he is talking to her Prof. Baer approaches, his purpose being to make his long deferred avowal of love to Jo. The girl is so overjoyed when Laurie tells her of his love for Amy, that she kisses him and bids him godspeed.

Convinced that his love is unreciprocated, Prof. Baer sadly informs Jo that he is about to accept an offer to teach at a famous university, and when she expresses her sorrow at this determination the truth is finally revealed—that she loves him alone. He takes her in his arms and that night all gather at the old fireside, happy in each other's love.

A BIG BOOM IN RATTLESNAKES

Reptiles Quoted at Forty Cents a Pound.

Jobbers' prices for reptiles, f.o.b. Los Angeles, quote rattlesnakes at 40 cents a pound (more than some cuts of beef); Gila monsters, $10 a dozen, and lizards $8 a hundred.

Needless to state, hese creatures are not in demand for food, but, according to Frank Weinberg, who furnished the quotations, additions to collections of reptiles in Europe, where many individuals, as well as menageries, keep them both as fads and as a business.

Like almost anything else, the reptile market suffered because of the war, but now that it is ended, Mr. Weinberg says, the demand is on the increase.

He and as many small boys as care to engage in the hunt search the hills and valleys of southern California for harmless "things that crawl with legs," but he goes alone into the desert for rattlers and Gila monsters.

He keeps his stock in his back yard, where his wife handles the creatures and helps in their care as fearlessly as does her husband.

A dangerous business? No, according to Mr. Weinberg.

"No more dangerous than driving an automobile," he declared. "Of course, you must be careful in handling the poisonous ones. But most of the reptiles people fear are not dangerous at all."

He reached into a glass box, thrust his hand under some dry leaves and brought out a large lizard, squirming and trying to bite. He held its head to his lips. It closed its ugly mouth there.

"Perfectly friendly and harmless," said Mr. Weinberg. "See how it kisses me."

A long rattlesnake, which had been sounding a warning, struck, but stopped against the glass die of another box.

"He's a little nervous," said the reptile market man. "He hasn't been handled for some time."

He opened the box, tossed a handkerchief over the snake's head and quickly clasped the creature behind where its ears would have been had it had ears.

"He's a pretty good rattler," said Mr. Weinberg. "Worth $8, anyway."

Talking of the reptile demand, he said:

"It's like everything else—there is more demand for imported serpents than for home products. In Europe they want American snakes. In America they want European reptiles."

BANK OF TORONTO SECURES THE BLOCK AT HUNTER AND GEORGE

LOCAL BRANCH WILL BE REMODELED AND ENLARGED AS SOON AS OTHER LEASES ON THE PROPERTY EXPIRE.

It is announced that The Bank of Toronto has purchased the block at the South-East corner of George and Hunter streets, in which their banking office has been located for many years. The property has a frontage on George street of 50 feet, with a depth on Hunter street of 75 feet, and is regarded as one of the best business corners in the City of Peterboro.

The Bank now has a Paid-up Capital of $5,000,000. and Reserves of $6,625,623., and although it has branches throughout the entire width of the Dominion and has of recent years expanded most rapidly in the West, its greatest strength is still in Ontario, where 79 of its 154 branches are located. OBITUARY

WILLIAM ROBSON.

The funeral of the late William Robson, whose death took place at his home in Bowmanville, was held from the noon-train Thursday to the Fenelon Falls cemetery.

The late Mr. Robson lived here for a number of years and was employed at the Chemical works. It is now about 15 years since he moved away from here, but has visited his relatives here frequently ever since. He was well known by a large number in this district as was evidenced by the large funeral.

The funeral was held under the auspices of Spry Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of which lodge he has been a member for a number of years. A very impressive service was conducted at the grave by the Rev. C. S. Lord, after which the Masonic Order took charge.

The deceased gentleman was a brother of Mrs. Robert Moffat, and has two other sisters, Mrs. Sproats of Peterboro, and Mrs. Sinclair of Toronto. He was also a brother in law of Messrs. Chas. and Foster Kelly, Mrs. Robson being their sister. —Fenelon Falls Gazette.

JAMES J. DUFFUS.

The death occurred this morning at 4.45 o'clock of James J. Duffus, 269 Romaine street.

The deceased, who was seventy-nine years of age, was born in Cobourg in the year 1840. He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife and five sons, ex-Mayor Jos. J. Duffus, Michael J., Wm. A., Herbert J. and Egbert L., all of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. Basil Cook, of Port Hope, also one sister, Mrs. Woods, of Tacoma, Washington Territory, U. S.A.

The late Mr. Duffus was the third oldest of a family of seven. The late Rev. C. J. Duffus of Kingston, was a brother. He was married Feb. 25th, 1873, to Mairia Galvin, daughter of Michael Galvin, Smith township, of which union there was born ten children, six of whom survive. The late Mr. Duffus' father was a native of Keith, Banffshire, Scotland. He first settled at Cobourg, Ont. When he was three years of age the family moved to the homestead on the Keene road, known as Cherry Valley Farm, three miles from Peterborough, where he lived until about five years ago, when he retired and moved into the city, where he has since resided. He was one of the oldest, best known and most highly respected residents of this county, and was well known for his sterling qualities. He was a faithful attendant at the Sacred Heart church.

He was a staunch Liberal, and although of a retiring disposition, he never ceased to take an active interest in Municipal, Provincial and Dominion politics. He had been offered high honours several times, but always refused, preferring home life and close attention to business and family affairs.

Funeral will take place from 269 Romaine street on Wednesday, Sept. 24th at nine o'clock to the Sacred Heart church. Interment at St. Peter's cemetery.

HOUSING COMMISSION IS CONTEMPLATED BY COUNCIL

SPECIAL COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE THE ONTARIO HOUSING SCHEME AND INTERVIEW CAPABLE MEN FOR A COMMISSION

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Aldermen Turner, Edgar and Taylor were appointed a special committee by the Council last night to review the Ontario Housing Scheme, to ascertain definitely the city's powers and obligations under it, also to interview prospective Commissioners for the purpose of tentatively securing the assent of capable citizens to act on a local Housing Commission, and to report back to the Council.

Replies to City Clerk Armstrong's queries as to the operation of the Provincial Housing Scheme in other cities were received as follows:

St. Catharines has 25 houses built or under construction and may undertake 10 more in prospect. Applicants are well pleased with the houses erected.

Windsor has 150 applications for houses; half of them are under way and some are completed. Considerable difficulty has been experienced in getting material and builders.

Belleville has applied for a loan of $25,000 from the Government; proposes to leave purchase of property to applicants for houses. Many enquiries have been received from citizens.

London will erect between 50 and 60 houses this year; has 30 under construction.

Galt has made little progress with the scheme; was delayed by efforts to bring the cost to a practicable basis. Sixteen houses will be built at a cost of $3,100 each, exclusive of lot.

Guelph is constructing ten houses, Hamilton has 30 houses building.

Ald. Edgar suggested that a by-law be prepared in readiness for the [illegible] and that in the meantime [illegible] look into the [illegible] and prepare a report for the Council, and also that preparations for the adoption of the scheme and the establishment of a Housing Commission be set in motion by obtaining the names of men who would be willing to act as Commissioners.

SEDITION SPREADS IN ITALIAN ARMY

By Camillio Cinanfara—United Press.

ROME, Sept. 23. — The crisis in the Italian Government faces in Gabriele d'Annunzio's adventure at Fiume brought forth significant action to-day. A royal decree was issued postponing the re-opening of the Parliament until Saturday, and calling a session of the Crown counsel to be held Thursday. From army and navy sources it was reported to-day that sedition was spreading in the ranks of aviation, where the officers idolise D. Annunzio. Reports from Trieste said a whole escadrille of airplanes had left their airdromes to join the poet's forces.

Premier Paderewski of Poland was heard by the Council presenting the Polish view as to the disposition of the territory. "The claims of the Poles and Ukranians as to Galicia are widely at variance," said Sephen Pichon, French Foreign Minister, who presided over the Council's session.

THREE ROBBERS WERE TRAPPED

(United Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Three men, accidentally trapped, confessed to-day to a robbery of $234,000 from the mail. Officers recovered $93,620 of the loot and went in search of the remainder when the prisoners told where it was cached. With the aid of a postal clerk the men exchanged pouches at Whiting, Ind., last Thursday, taking the pouch containing $234,000 to meet the payroll of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

FARMER'S TEAM RAN AWAY

SEVERAL PEDESTRIANS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE—MAY SUMMONS OWNER.

More hats were waved this morning at 9.30 than when the Duke of Devonshire visited the city. A team of Clyde horses emulating Ben Hur, made a dash from the Canadian Packers up George street, dodging street cars, motors and all vehicles on the street, with an uncanniness that was astonishing.

The team belonged to Mr. William Robinson of Bridgenorth, who was in the packing house. The horses, hitched to a pig waggon, and feeling the inspiration of a liberal breakfast of oats, started at a breakneck gallop up George street, and did not seem to blink an eye as hats were waved at them and men came running into the middle of the road to catch them.

Mr. Norman Robinson, a returned veteran, made a good attempt to stop them at the corner of Sherbrooke street, but they managed to elude him, but nearly ran over an old gentleman who was crossing the road in front of the Allen Theatre. He did not notice the runaways until they were nearly on him and then he made two or three two-steps which put them out of their course. Near the corner of Simcoe Street Constable Leslie Bristow noticed the speeders and commandeered a car driven by Mr. Harold J. Fredericks and chased them until they were stopped in front of Mr. Walter Stocker's advertising billboards near the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Ed. Reid, a local expressman, and Mr. August Longo met the team there and turned them on to the sidewalk where they at last stopped.

The police intend to summon Mr. Robinson for leaving his team untied on a public highway.

ELECTION WRITS MAY COME TO-DAY

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS WILL BE HELD ON OCTOBER 20TH.

OTTAWA, Sept. 23. — Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, who is here, says that the writs for the Ontario general election will be issued to-day.

"There is no announcement to make," was the reply given at Premier Hearst's office last night when inquiry was made about the election. There seems no longer any doubt, however, that the election will be held the same day as the vote on the referendum—October 20.

TEMPORARY FIRE HALL AUTHORIZED

MAYOR AND ALD. MORRISON WILL ARRANGE FOR ASHBURNHAM'S NEEDS.

Mayor Duncan and Ald. Morrison were empowered by the Council last night to procure temporary quarters in Ashburnham for a detachment of the Fire Department that will be located across the river until the Hunter street bridge is completed.

"In the meantime," said the Mayor, "I think we should be arranging to build a proper sub-station. If we buy a building and overhaul it we will not save much. It seems to me that we should have a good building over there when we go about it."

Ald. Morrison reported that he had surveyed prospective sites but had no authority to make a deal for any of them. Winter was approaching and it was imperative that steps should be taken immediately to provide protection for the East Ward.

Ald. Morrison moved, seconded by Ald. Crowe, that a hydrant be placed at the corner of Englsburn and Charles street where the Ontario Commission is now laying a gate; [illegible]

Firemen Blown Off a Ladder by High Pressure Stream

EARLY MORN FIRE IN TORONTO DOES CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE —FIREMEN IN HOSPITAL.

HORSES DROWNED

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Sept. 23.— Two firefighters were blown off a ladder by a high pressure stream and injured, a valuable team of horses ran away and were drowned in the Don river, and over $150,000 damage was done following a fire that was discovered at 1.45 this morning in a four-storey brick warehouse at 105 Front street east. Two score of firemen were in constant jeopardy from electric wires and they took their lives in their hands in fighting the fire when two floors and the roof was crashing down through the building.

The firemen injured were Robert Calhoun, 84 Balfour avenue, Rose avenue Hall, in St. Michael's hospital with a fractured collar bone and cuts on head; Wm. A. Shannon, Rose avenue Hall., 97 Withrow avenue, nose smashed and face bruised.

The building was badly gutted. A portion of the roof on the east side fell in, while two of the floors collapsed.. Besides the loss by fire the water damage is severe, as thousands of tons of water was poured into the building from twenty lines of hose, including five high pressure lines.

The firms who occupied the building and suffered heavily are: First floor, John Hallan, leather and spotsing goods, J. S. Fry and Sons, chocolates. Second floor: York Trading Co., twine manufacturers. Third floor, Silver Footwear Co.. Fourth floor, Consolidated Wafer Co. The Dominion Embossing and Printing Co., 87 Jarvis street, suffered water damage. The building is owned by Mrs. E. M. H. Beard, 502 Huron street, and is fully covered by insurance in the following companies: Guardian, Commercial, Union, Empire and Liability. The cause of the fire is unknown.

WANTS A POSITION NOT MERELY A JOB

Shrapnel Corners, Sept. 20. — A job? No, I'm not looking for a job. I'm looking for a position, announced a jolly ex-soldier, unemployed, but far from unhappy.

"Why, yes, I can get job any old time—down in the mines, or up in the bush, or making nice roads for our motorists to skim over.

"But I'm on the look-out for a position," he reiterated impressively.

"I'll say I've handled the pick and shovel for the last time, that was my vocation before and at the war. Why, they gave us twenty minutes in camp to dig ourselves in, but when Fritzy was coming over I did the trick in three minutes.

"I don't want to get another subterranean job either—used to hate it in France. You know, creeping about under the cold, clammy sod, expecting any minute to be kicking against a living grave.

"Nothing doing," he nodded as a parting shot. "I'll take a 'position' but not a 'job.'"—Toronto Telegram.

Special to the Examiner:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 23.—The St. Catharines City Council last night discussed the question of quitting daylight saving on October 1st, but as it was stated that the Canadian and American Governments would likely come to some understanding with reference to the railways, action was deferred.

GROWING BLIND.

Many people are actually growing blid from mere neglect of the eyes. Eye defects, if taken in time, can be corrected, but when abused result in lasting harm. If you are one of those "growing blind" the use of proper glasses will come as a great relief. Why not have us examine your eyes? No charge for examination. Appointments made. Consult W. H. Large Extensions to Auburn Woollen and Bonner-Worth Plant

FRENCH WORSTED FACTORY AND GENERAL OFFICES OF CANADIAN WOOLLENS, LIMITED, FOR THE WEST END—WILL INCREASE EMPLOYMENT.

PROCEED WITH WORK NOW

The Canadian Woollens Limited have begun the erection of a French worsted factory and a general office building on former Bonenr-Worth property and are preparing plans for a twenty loom extension to the weaving plant at the Auburn Woollen mills. When completed these enlargements will give employment to an additional hundred persons, about twenty five at Auburn and seventy-five at the Bonner-Worth branch.

The French worsted factory was proposed during the war but its construction was deferred because of the shipping difficulties that prevented the company from obtaining the machinery they had ordered. Some time ago Canadian Woollens Limited were notified that the machines would be shipped in January. Ground has already been broken for the worsted building and the office headquarters of the new company, and these units will be rushed to completion as soon as possible. They will occupy the remainder of the property along McDonnel street, and will extend northerly along the extension of Cambridge street, which the council last night decided to open at once. The new offices will look directly down Cambridge street the extension of which will begin a short distance west of its present terminus.

Of the same height as the rest of the establishment, the new buildings will complete a compact group, and will give to Peterborough a worsted industry that is not surpassed in this country.

A New Weaving Shed.

For the annex to the Auburn factory the company has instructed its architect to prepare plans for a 20-loom weaving "shed," the erection of which will be proceeded with at once. These activities are ample fulfillment of the assurance that the amalgamation of the Standard and Auburn Woollen Companies with the Bonner-Worth Company, would secure industrial advantages to Peterboro in enlarged factories and increased employment. The Examiner was informed that the construction of the new buildings will be carried on this season to an early completion.

HAD BAG FILLED WITH LIQUOR

Special to the Examiner:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 23. — Acting on the tip supplied by Charles Gritsler, who was caught here on Sunday night with two bottles of whiskey, License Inspector King and Chief of Police Moffat yesterday afternoon visited a house in Merriton and caught a man coming out with a bottle. The officer arrested the man, another one who was in the house and William Sylvester, the head of the house. They found three bottles of whiskey in the cellar, and, hidden deep in hay in a barn, a bag filled with bottles of wine and liquor called Ferro Chaira.

POLICE CAPTURE 4 TRAIN ROBBERS

BUT MONEY TAKEN FROM CANADIAN NATIONAL MAIL NOT RECOVERED

QUEBEC, Sept. 23. — After five days of incessant work the police effected four arrests in the City of Quebec to-day, and believe they have captured the bandits who figured in the hold-up and rifling of the mail car on the Ocean Limited train between Levis and Montmagny on the morning of Thursday, September 18. The men arrested are George Topping, a freight conductor on the Canadian National Railways, and J. Bernardin and T. Proteau. Proteau, a former garage owner, are the men who, disguised with masks and carrying revolvers, entered the mail car, and after binding the hands and feet of the five mail clerks, ransacked the mail and got away with $71,000 in five and ten-dollar notes. The other two men arrested, who are held as material witnesses, are George Levesseur, a brother-in-law of Topping's, and Napoleon Boulanger, of Levis.

While the police have not yet located the missing money, they hope to be able to do so in a very short time, and in the meantime they have the masks used by the bandits when they made their haul.

RADICALS SURPRESSED AT LABOUR CONGRESS

RESOLUTION WAS SWITCHED TO THE RESOLUTION COMMITTEE OF THE CONGRESS.

(Canadian Press.)

HAMILTON, Sept. 23.— Red Sovietism reared its head at the Dominion Trades and Labour Congress this morning, but was side-tracked to the Resolutions committee by the efforts of an overwhelming majority of the Congress.

George Armstrong, one of the Winnipeg strike leaders, charged with sedition, and now out on bail, caused the diversion by introducing a resolution favoring the Soviet form of government calling for the immediate withdrawal of troops from Russia, and refusal to furnish aid or finance the reactionary governments. Armstrong said he wished to make a few observations, but President Thomas Moore said that the subject matter was not under discussion. One delegate moved that the resolution be placed on file, but an amendment sent it to the Resolutions committee. One delegate questioned the time of forwarding the resolution. Armstrong immediately retorted: "I could not forward it before, I was in jail until ten days ago." Vociferous applause followed this statement. Delegate Armstrong said labour organizations of France, Britain and Italy had all considered this matter, and the Dominion Congress should give it a fair trial.

Resolutions regarding the $8,000 gratuity for soldiers and another expressing favor of direct action and industrial form of organization are also before Congress to-day.

CONTROLS 145 PLANTS IN ALL; GIVES WORK TO 200,710 MEN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The United States Steel Corporation at the beginning of this year had on its pay roll 200,710 employees, and the total of salaries and wages paid during 1918 amounted to $345,2883,934. The average daily wage of all employees, exclusive of the general administration and selling force, was $6.39.

The number of plants under the control of the Corporation and through its subsidiaries is 145. The Carnegie Steel Company, with 32 works; the American Steel and Wire Company, with 35 works; the American Bridge Company, with 14, and the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company with 26, are among the largest units of the Corporation.

BOLSHEVIKI OFFER TO MAKE PEACE

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Bolsheviki have tendered peace to Ukrainia, offering to recognize the independance of that country, according to reports received by the Ukrainia Press Bureau here.

Soviet representatives are quoted as saying that Lenine had recognized it was impossible to fight everybody and wished to turn all his attention to Admiral Kolchak and General Denikine, Anti-Bolshevik leader in the South.

STRONG ADDRESS AT CONVENTION

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAWS SHOULD BE BROADENED, SAID ONE SPEAKER.

Special to the Examiner:

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—In a strong address at the opening of the sixth annual convention of the International Association of Industrial Accident Boards and Commissions here this morning, Roy Meeker, U..S Commissioner of Labour Statistics, opened the way for a stronger and more earnest programme for the association. "Workmen's compensation laws should include all workers in specified wage or salary groups in all industries, using industries in the broadest sense to include agriculture, mining, lumbering transportation, distribution, merchandising and domestic service as well as lumbering," he said.

He followed with a warm appeal for every member of the community to fall in line to see that legislation was made to cover these. He criticized adversely employers who were trying to dodge the issue and were forever endeavouring to find loop-holes through which to side-step the enactment of the law.

ITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER RESIGNS

DIFFICULTY AROSE OVER THE FIUME INCIDENT.

Canadian Press:

ROME, Sept. 23.—Tomasso Tittoni, Italian Foreign Minister, has resigned because of the Fiume incident, according to an announcement by the "Giornale d'Italia."

Foreign Minister Tittoni's position in the Italian cabinet has been one of growing difficulty recently because of the Fiume developments. He is reported not to have been in entire agreement with Premier Nitti over the stand to be taken regarding the D'Annunzio coup, and as head of the Italian Peace Mission at Paris, he has been unsuccessful so far in bringing about a solution of the Fiume question by the Peace Conference. The most recent plan for an adjustment which he participated in arranging is said to have been approved by Great Britain and France, but the American endorsement is understood to have been lacking. Intimations from sources close to President Wilson being that there had been no change in his views long ago expressed that Fiume should not go to Italy.

HOLD-UP MEN APPREHENDED

A PIECE OF POLICE LUCK WAS RESPONSIBLE.

Canadian Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Three men, one of them Jno. Weida, clerk in a Chicago post office, who is said to have planned the robbery, and two brothers, named Phillips, were arrested here early to-day, charged with stealing $240,000 of a shipment of $415,000 last Thursday from the Federal Reserve Bank here to the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana at Whiting, Ind. Of the stolen funds, $93,620 was recovered. The remainder, according to an alleged confession of two of the men, was abandoned at the outskirts of Chicago, when an automobile in which they were returning from Whiting broke down. A "piece of police luck" is pointed to as responsible for the arrest of the men. Chicago city detectives unearthed the postal robbery when two of the men, Leo and Walter Phillips, brothers, were arrested in connection with the robbery of a saloon in which approximately $800 was obtained. Prior to the arrests, no announcement of the big hold-up had been made.

MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES

SERVICES WERE WELL ATTENDED—LADIES' AID MEETING.

Notwithstanding the rain the congregations at Mark Street were good on Sunday.

The pastor's subject for his morning discourse was "The Hills of Divine Helpfulness. The text was found in Psalm 121: 1st verse: "I will lift my eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help." The psalmist lifts his eyes to the hills and learns just such a lesson as the scientist when studying nature says, "I am thinking God's thoughts over again." The scientist may study the heavens through his telescope but man may lift his eyes to the Church of God, which is the sanctuary of the hills, going down through the ages to help all classes of people. We are proud of our great men, such as Wycliffe, etc., who died to restore the Bible and that you and I might worship God as we pleased. The church of God is the greatest institution the world has ever known. When we cross the divide there will be no dark valley, for Christ will lighten it.

The night text was found in Exodus 4:2, "What is that in thine hand?" Moses hesitated to use the rod given him and so we do not make use of every opportunity given to us to use our talents. If so the church would never lack for workers.

Ladies' Aid will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Dodds, Engleburn Avenue, on Thursday, 3 p.m. Members and visitors will be welcome.

STRIKE ENTERS SECOND DAY WITHOUT RESULTS

TWO WERE KILLED IN BATTLE WITH THE POLICE—SEVERAL MEN AND WOMEN WOUNDED.

SCATTERED CLASHES

(United Press.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 23.—The forces of organized labor and the United States Steel Corporation were still struggling for control of America's great "Iron Valley" as the nation-wide strike of steel workers entered its second day. Following a night of scattered clashes between police and strikers and of bloodshed in nearby sections, crowds of workmen were again before the gates of the mills in the Pittsburg District early to-day.

At Farrel, Pa., two men were killed and two wounded when shots were exchanged between company police and strikers during a riot near the plant of the American Steel and Wire Company.

At Newcastle seven persons, including two women, were wounded during the same sort of outbreak.

(Canadian Press.)

NEWCASTLE, Pa. Sept. 23.— With state constabulary, 150 deputy sheriffs and scores of policemen patrolling streets about steel plants here, the situation, following serious riots last night, was slightly improved early to-day. Nine persons, two women and seven men were shot last night in addition to the stabbing of one policeman and injuring of another with a club in an attack on the plant of the Carnegie Steel Company. Three of the injured likely will die, it is said.

(Canadian Press.)

PITTSBURG, Sept. 23.—The second day of the steel strike in the Pittsburg District was ushered in with both employers and union leaders claiming advantage for their respective sides. Representatives of companies announce that they are in better shape to-day to continue operation of those plants which did not close Monday while the union leaders declare that the strike is spreading and will cripple additional mills before night.

CHICAGO STEEL MILLS.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—The second day of the nation-wide strike in the steel industry found all plants in Chicago District shut down, except the independent mills at Hammond, Ind. Statements of industrial and labor heads still were at variance regarding the percentage of workmen who had answered the strike call. Labor leaders asserted to-day that more than 75% of workers in the district have left their work while company officials said the number who failed to report at the mills was not more than 20% of a total of nearly 9,000 men employed in the district.

CAT SECURED SQUARE MEAL

A sad little tragedy took place to-day at noon. A lady stepped onto a north bound street car and in doing so dropped a bundle of meat. A cat with a long furry tail and with nose to the ground got on the scent and when the lady descended for her sirloin, the cat was taking three-league jumps across Central Park with the meat in its maw.

THE British are noted as great tea drinkers and are naturally good judges of tea.

So when we learn that over 70% of the tea used in Great Britain is Indian tea we can be sure that Indian tea is of the very best quality.

In Canada the preference for Indian tea has become just as strong, as evidenced by the success of Red Rose Tea which consists chiefly of ASSAMS—the richest and strongest of Indian teas.

Red Rose is always sold in sealed packages.

THE UNION GOVERNMENT

(BY H. F. GADSBY)

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—The Treaty of Versailles which took six months and the best diplomacy of the world to frame was disposed of by Parliament in four days—at Premier Borden's request. This document which determines the relations of the civilized world for the next hundred years, was railroaded through the Canadian Parliament in ninety six hours. There must be a reason. What is it?

Stranger even than Premier Borden's precipitancy was his peevishness on the subject. He was even more peevish about the peace treaty than he was about titles, although he handled both the same way—the dire threat in each case being that if Parliament didn't do as he said he would treat it as a want of confidence motion and go to the country. Which prompted House Leader Mackenzie to put a shrewd finger on the sore spot and remark that if Premier Borden was riding for a fall he could find plenty of issues nearer home to do the trick. Of course Premier Borden has no stomach for these home issues. He prefers to go down on the grandiose principle like Imperialism to which he has, in a considerable measure, committed this country without much consent from the people of Canada.

Union Government is in the happy position of being able to be defeated almost any time it likes to pull off an election but naturally it wants to choose the manner of its exit. It desires to leave the stage with the band playing and both hands on the Union Jack. The peace treaty and its supplement are part of the play, in fact the whole plot of the play and Premier Borden is not going to have the piece spoiled by blundering intrusions from Parliament.

Practically, he says. "Ratify or not. It doesn't make any difference. But if you don't I'll quit the job." This throws consternation into both parties who naturally want to see Union Government crucify itself a little longer. The unfortunate party that clean up the mess which represents the present state of Canada will last just long enough to clean up and will immediately thereafter receive from the irritated electorate a swift kick in a definitely localized spot which will land it somewhere in the next concession. So far no politician or group of politicians has expressed a desire for this sort of treatment. Consequently Premier Borden's threat of general election is a real compeller.

Quite as strange as Premier Borden's haste to get the thing over, was Parliament's willingness to lose such a fine opportunity for wind jamming. In the old days there were many marathon performers in debate—I remember not with unmixed pleasure an eight hour speech by Sir Hibbert Tupper—but now they are all short distance fellows sprinters for a hundred yards after which they are all out. Not that they haven't said something in their brief effort, but that they can't go the long journey. Here is a Parliament with its mouth watering for something to talk about, something that will string things out for thirty one working days—which is about six weeks by the callendar—and it meekly agrees to bite off in four days what it ought to take four weeks to swallow.

I repeat that this is passing strange because the fashion of long speeches has gone out and the ability to make them has also disappeared. Once upon a time your long distance rhetorician did wonderful things with the baldest topic. He would speak it first in the active voice, then translate it into the passive voice. If that did not eat up enough time he would probably put it in the subjunctive mood or change the tenses or otherwise diversify it. If there was still an hour or two to spare he could put the record on backwards and deliver it that way. Time was an enemy that our forefathers did not fear—they could always tire it out. Some of their speeches must have encroached an eternity.

But now alas! or ha! ha!, whichever exclamation you prefer—there is a change. Budget speeches are delivered in forty minutes, the most momentous deliverances consume a bare half hour. We are all for crispness. Brevity has become the soul of wit in Parliament. So when the necessity arises for long speeches that will keep two thousand five hundred dollars in sight there is no one to make them. Did I say nobody? I except LaFortune of Jacques Cartier, who is a fount of eloquence running o'er but he does not exercise his gift. What Parliament asks now is not long speeches, but long subjects, fruitful themes, which will accommodate a large number of orators. The Peace Treaty and the League of Nations looked like such a theme, but it is deliberately surrendered by a Parliament which is still a legal three weeks away from that twenty-five hundred dollars! What is the reason?

The answer is. I believe that both sides of the House regarded it as a ticklish topic, something to be skated over lest somebody should rise up and call somebody else disloyal. There was a general lack of frankness on a subject which has been debated in England for more than four months and which has called forth some extremely candid criticism from journalists and statesmen who do not believe that the Treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations are the last word in wisdom. On the contrary they see many grave mistakes—too much kindness to the Hun, too much truckling to President Wilson, too much latitude for the Reparation Committee, too much consideration for the International Jew in the financial clauses—and they make no bones of saying so.

The debate in the Canadian Parliament was not only brief but timid—Only two Quebec members, like La-Pointe and Cannon showed baldness—It lacked frankness. It touched only the fringe of a tremendous subject, fraught with grave results to the destiny of Canada. Both sides seemed to want to get away from a topic which placed the lighted candle on the powder barrel. Truth did not emerge naked from her well. She was hinted at rather than blurted out. In some respects—notably when it comes to discussing imperial relations—we are not only more English than the English, but more English than the Toriest English. I have always admired the Englishmen's courage in facing the cold fact, and giving his opinion of it right out in open meeting, but I have not found that sort of courage in my own country where pussyfooting and side-stepping has been reduced to a fine art.

I waited for four whole days to hear somebody say such a simple thing about the League of Nations as has been current in England for some months — namely that the League of Nations is a hollow mockery in which President Wilson's own country shows its disbelief by clinging to the Monroe Doctrine and for which France displays open scorn by making a real alliance with England and the United States which has guns behind it. The League of Nations is President Wilson's idea of the millennium on the instalment plan and its only force is the pious wishes of its members who say "we will help each other if we can." The sting in that League of Nations covenant is not what it binds Canada to do but the principle it sets her name to—namely that not only when England is at war Canada is at war, but when any other part of the world is at war Canada is at war if the League calls on her. Pursued to a reduction and absurdum this would mean that Canada might be called upon to invade England on behalf of some member of the League which considered itself oppressed by British policies.

-f,rwownlby Piow

If Canada signs as a separate nation—as Premier Borden declares she does—there is no evading this logic. Of course it is all foolishness, but it goes to show that the Treaty of Versailles is not the consummate instrument its authors proclaim it to be.

The debate disclosed a paradox which was not solved when the speaking ended. Indeed it will not be solved until there is plainer speaking. The paradox is that Canada is an independent nation within the British Empire, and also that she isn't. If she cannot make peace of war on her own account—but don't let us quarrel. The main point is that, so far as Canada is concerned, the Treaty of Versailles reduces to writing a doctrine which we may have admitted in public but always with mental reservations, namely that when the British Empire is at war Canada is war.

Events go to show that this is, in practice, true. When we fought in the South African war it was, as some might say, an accident. When we bore our part in the Great War it became a habit. To that habit we set over hand and seal in the Treaty of Versailles. Perhaps our best defence against the massing movements of alien races is to share the dangers and protection of the Big Show which is known as the British Empire and perhaps it is not. Time will tell but meanwhile our politicians say as little about it as possible. It does not escape notice, however, that with a resident minister overseas, an Empire Council and other matters, we seem to be dividing the interest which was formerly concentrated on Canada. The debate in Parliament said nothing of changes in our constitution probably because such are not apprehended. Meanwhile the Prince of Wales makes a triumphal tour of the country. In due course Viscount Jellicoe will visit us to preach a standardized navy for the Empire and after that Marshall Haig will probably give our army the once-over. Of all this embroidery on our home rule Parliament muttered little. How could it in four days?

A BIG DAY TO-MORROW

Any Garment You Like ELLIOTS Have It.

392 George Peterboro

A store is no store at all that only barters its merchandise for money, conducting its business in a drab, impersonal way. That sort of store has passed into the limbo of forgotten things. Merchandising—that is trading in goods—is of secondary importance, as there can be little exchange of commodities where the essentials of service are wanting. Storekeepers of to-day have so deeply implanted service as a part of selling that the reactionary tradesman who refuses it soon lands on the commercial junk heap of bankruptcy.

This store progresses because it renders good service and sells good goods only.

FINE—FOR THE FARMERS.

Addresses such as that made by E. C. Drury, of the United Farmers, at Barrie on Saturday, illustrate the difficulty the farmers and labour men are experiencing in attempting to form a common platform. Mr. Drury flatly opposed the eight hour day, one of the chief objectives aimed at by organized labour. His theory, as expounded on Saturday, was that if a nine or ten hour day in the cities and towns caused over-production and as a result workers had to be laid off, the surplus could easily find employment in the country. That is a very nice little programme for the farmers, but it is difficult to imagine any Trades and Labour Council in the province waxing cheerful over any such proposition as that outlined by Mr. Drury. And the difference of opinion on this point crops up in half a dozen other places when the programmes of the two interests are discussed. The social policy of the Independent Labour party, including mothers' pensions, unemployment insurance and other reforms finds few friends outside the urban centres. And the remarks of the U.F.O. leaders are doing very little to bring together the two classes.

THE GOVERNMENT'S TROUBLES.

The Hearst attempt to use the Christian Guardian and pamphlets to win the temperance vote of the province for the government does not dovetail with the stories of dissatisfaction in the government's ranks over the Ontario Temperance Act. Lieut.-Col. Pratt, the present Conservative member for South Norfolk, declares that twenty-seven Conservative member are opposed to Sir William Hearst. The government leaders will attempt to deny this statement as an exaggeration, but from all accounts there is a serious division in the government ranks. The Toronto Star remarks that "the Tory members are not toeing the line very well on the prohibition issue." Three of the present Toronto memebrs are dropping out of the ring and several others are known to be lukewarm to say the least least in their attitude towards the Ontario Temperance Act. Col. Pratt and Col. Machin have already severed their connection with the Hearst machine and others are expected to run as independents. The campaign is opening out very disastrously for the seven sleepers and the over-widening breach in the government ranks makes the indecision of the Premier in announcing the date of the elections easily to understand.

A SPLENDID STAND.

The action of the Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans' Association at their meeting last night in reference to the gratuity question will undoubtedly meet with a large measure of public approval and support. The local veterans, by an unanimous standing vote, endorsed the position of the Dominion and Provincial command of the G.W.V.A. in regard to gratuities. Speeches declaring that the first duty was to see that the dependents of the men who had fallen and the disabled soldiers were properly looked after were enthusiastically applauded. Gratuities for those who came home sound and well could, in the opinion of the speakers, be deferred until those who were in greater need were taken care of and the applause of the meeting showed that these sentiments were shared by the gathering generally.

The tone of the meeting indicated little chance of Sergt. Flynn and his United Veterans' organization making any appreciable breach in the ranks of the local G.W.V.A. making any appreciable breach in the ranks of the local G.W.V.A. The members are apparently united in the opinion that those most in need should be the first thought of the returned soldiers and there was no indication of a "2,000 or bust" spirit in evidence at last night's meeting. The unanimous stand of the Peterborough branch will be welcome support to the Provincial and Dominion commands of the Association in their fight on reasonable, practicable and constitutional lines on behalf of the returned soldiers. Public sentiment will be solidly behind the local veterans in the position they have taken.

THE HOUSING QUESTION.

The decision of the City Council to investigate the possibilities of the Government Housing scheme with a view to local activity under the Act, will be warmly endorsed, and the hope will be general that the project be taken up with as little delay as possible. Much valuable time has already been lost, but Peterborough is now in a position to benefit by the experience of other municipalities who were pioneers in the movement and to map out a policy that will give satisfactory results. The need of more housing in this city does not require much comment. The scarcity of houses of the right kind is already keenly felt and the situation will become acute with the addition of a number of new industries to the local list. New factories mean an influx of workmen, and accommodation must be found for them and for their families. Again, the solution of the housing problem will have a direct effect upon Peterborough's chances for other industries. One condition that prospective industrial concerns are liable to insist upon is ample housing accommodation for their employees. If Peterborough cannot supply that accommodation some other city that is in a position to do so will carry off the industrial prizes that are floating around. That in itself should be sufficient incentive to the Council to use every effort to speed up the erection of new houses through the government scheme.

A commission will have to be formed. The way is therefore open for a number of public-spirited citizens to be of the greatest service to the community. It is to be sincerely hoped that no difficulty will be found in securing a commission of the proper calibre who will welcome the opportunity of doing a real work for Peterborough.

A WORD OF WARNING.

Once more a word of warning to hold together appears necessary to the returned men. Following the refusal of the Government of a Royal Commission to investigate the ability of the country to grant addditional gratuities, and the subsequent decision of the Government—at the instance of the G.W.V.A.—to have such a commission in the shape of a select Parliamentary committee, an agitation has begun, or rather an old smouldering agitation has been fanned to flame, to hurt the G.W.V.A., and when the G.W.V.A. suffers, the returned men as a whole suffer. Without reserve let's look things in the face. What has any organization done for the returned men except this same G.W.V.A.? Will those who have returned home for demobilization stop and consider for a moment just what has been achieved by this organization, and achieved before the great majority of them returned? Let us start with the clothing allowance. The founders of the G.W.V.A. received eight dollars on discharge. They secured an increase to $35. The founders of the G.W.V.A., themselves crippled or otherwise disabled men, accepted the pensions of their time and then set to work to secure the at-all-events increased amounts now paid. The founders of the G.W.V.A., if not directly, nevertheless caused the establishment of the Soldier Settlement Board; of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Department, and the Provincial aid bodies. The G.W.V.A., even before it grew to its present immense strength, was the instrument through which the gratuity of $600 was secured for men with three years' service. The G.W.V.A. has taken the initiative in civil service employment for returned men, where, all things being equal, he shall have the preference for position. Of the individual good done by the 621 branches throughout Canada in every line it would take volumes to write. Shall this organization, the one real means of maintaining through our lives the brotherhood formed of service, be permitted to lapse into a mere society of old boys?

Are the bonds of service so weak that the members of this organization—a body for good and achievement without economic ruin—wish to run after every Tom, Dick and Harry mushroom society organized on the spur of the moment for political or class exigency? We do not believe it. Look for a moment at the example in England. Every little grievance there caused the organization of some discharged soldiers' body or other and what is the result? Nothing. The land hogs are entrenched as strongly as ever. The profiteer continues gaily on his way. The discharged soldier has achieved nothing, not even a gratuity worth the name, and is now dependent absolutely on the goodwill of organized labour for everything he gets. We have all along contended of the other organizations of veterans, that each was valuable in its own limited field. But we maintain that on Dominion questions of welfare of the returned men generally; for the adequate maintenance of the halt and the lame and the blind and the widow and orphan; for the protection generally of the returned man, the Great War Veterans' Association is the only one that meets the need in Canada. Together, comrades! Remember the old story of the bundle of staves and the seven sons. While the staves were bound together none could break them, but taken apart each was so fragile that a child could break it across his knee.—Ottawa Journal.

A Never Failing Way to Banish Ugly Hairs

(Beauty Notes.)

Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin with the aid of a delatone paste, made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered delatone. This is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining delatone. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delatone you buy.

CAMBRIDGE STREET WILL BE EXTENDED

AND McDONNELL STREET WIDENED WEST OF CREEK BRIDGE

Cambridge street, north of McDonnel street, will be opened and McDonnel street west, of the bridge over the creek, will be widened, as the result of the Council's action upon a request from the the Canadian Woollens Limited last night. Mr. Edgar Worth, the general manager of the company, wrote that west of the bridge there was only one roadway. It paralleled the street railway on the north side of it. The company's automobile had collided with a street car because of the single road and faced a suit for damages claimed by the Street Railway management.

The opening of Cambridge street was desired on account of the new building that has been commenced on the Canadian Woollens property.

Mayor Duncan explained that a ditch on the south side of McDonnel street would have to be filled with a tile drain laid at the bottom of it. The cost of this work as estimated by City Engineer Parsons was $350. By this means the street would be widened on the south side of the street railway from Cross to Cambridge street. The company's request was granted on a motion by Ald. Turner, seconded by Ald. Taylor.

WHIMSICAL THOUGHTS KEEP BARBARA AWAKE

CHAPTER LXXIII

I hurried down to greet my guest I thought I detected a look of something very near pity in his eyes, a halting in his speech and manner unusual to him. I wanted to ask: What do you know? Did you go to Blanche Orton's?" Instead of which I used the trite greeting of society:

"Good morning Mr. Frederick! this is so good of you to give me so much of your time. I know you are a busy man, and seldom in New York," offering my hand.

"It is a great pleasure to be allowed to see you —the greatest I have," he replied as he released my hand.

For a moment we both seemed tongue-tied. Then with his usual straightforward almost brusque manner he said:

"I dined with Mr. Forbes last night—at Mrs. Orton's. Scott was there, and others."

"Yes—what others? Any one I know?" I asked eagerly when he paused for a moment.

"That I do not know. Some of them I hope you do not claim as acquaintances. It was quite a large party. And"—

"Where there any other women there beside Mrs. Orton?" Something in his manner had aroused my suspicions.

"Yes, two others. Very charming women, very beautifully dressed but not your sort by all—not Mr. Forbes' sort either. You have no reason to be distressed upon that score. They were invited, I imagine, to help entertain Thompson and Lane, perhaps Scott, although he paid them very little attention. Then there was Connor and Tearle."

"Connor—Tearle —do I know them? Their names sound familiar."

"I don't think you have met them —in fact I am sure from something that was said that you have not. You may have heard your husband mention them."

"Do you mind telling me what was said to lead you to think I did not know them?" He flushed before he answered:

"I do mind, yet I think I will tell you. They intimated that you were too highbrow for them. Nothing against you surely," he smiled, "rather in your favor."

"Please tell me if there was anything—if you heard anything I should know. I am sure Lorraine was mistaken, that Mr. Powers must have listened to some man who is jealous of Neil's success. He is very young, and has gone ahead of many much older in a business way. I am positively convinced he has done nothing wrong—at least either intentionally or knowingly."

"Your faith is—well is what might be expected of you. But I am afraid I shall have to hurt you. I am a plain man you know, I never learned to camouflage my words. But even if I hurt you I shall also help you—if I can. Sometimes people have to be hurt before it is possible to help you know."

I felt myself trembling, growing faint and weak with apprehension. What had he found out? What had Neil done?

"Please tell me everything you know."

"Well in the first place, Mr. Forbes does know that some of his schemes will not stand daylight. Not all of them of course. Connor and Tearle are men absolutely devoid of conscience. They are the kind who would take the last penny a widow or orphan had and give them a fancy engraved certificate for it— and that is all they would give. No one can have them as associates and not have straight business men afraid of them."

"But I thought they put in money themselves —into things, like Mr. Scott, and others.

"No, they are promoters pure and simple. Their job is to get the other fellow's money. Fellows like Scott and Thompson, another rich man they have on the string Both Scott and Thompson are fond of women, and are gamblers. That is why they are easily duped. The women are provided, also the game. It sounds raw as I tell it. But as I told you I cannot camouflage words. The food is excellent, as well as the wine. But the servants in that house must talk. Although Mrs. Orton assured me they did not.

"What do you think of Mrs. Orton?" Would he tell me the truth, what he thought the truth of her connection with Neil?

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp, and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

COL. PRATT QUITS THE CONSERVATIVE

CONDEMNS HEARST GOVERNMENT FOR NICKEL SCANDAL.

ST. WILLIAMS, Sept. 22.— After serving the Conservative party for 15 years, Lieut.-Col. A. C. Pratt, M.P.P. for South Norfolk, severed his connection with the party at convention held here on Saturday afternoon for the purpose of selecting a candidate for South Norfolk at the Provincial election.

Immediately the chairman, J. S. Buck, had concluded his opening address, Col. Pratt rose and announced his break with the Hearst Government upon which he had a series of attacks. He declared his intention of running as an independent candidate for the riding, in which there will consequently be a three-cornered fight. The local candidates are: J. S. Martin, a Port Dover farmer, who received the unanimous endorsation of the Conservatives, and Jos. Cridland, the U.F.O. nominee.

Col. Pratt stated that his principal reason for leaving the party was to carry out his promises to the veterans.

Run "As Sir Adam Beck Runs."

"I am going to run as Sir Adam Beck runs in London," the colonel said. "I am a supporter of Beck Mr. Lucas will be able to tell you whether Sir Adam is running as a Hearst candidate or whether he notified the Premier that he would not run as a Hearst candidate, but as an independent Conservative." He (Mr. Pratt), was as Conservative as he ever was, and believed in the principles of the great Conservative party.

The gathering listened to the colonel's speech in silence. After declaring he could no longer support the Government which was "going back to the practices of the old Ross Government," he left the building and missed the answers of Hon. I. B. Lucas, Attorney-General.

Makes Four Charges.

Col. Pratt's specific charges were four in number. The first follows:

1. "There are 9 members of the Ontario Government who are opposed to Sir William Hearst and his policies, and I only wonder that they do not come out openly and give their opinions frankly, as I do." The only name the speaker associated with this statement was that of Sir Adam Beck.

2. The nickel question: Colonel Pratt stated that five times after his billets in France were shelled by the Germans, he had gone outside and picked up steel-nosed bullets, which, he believed, had been made from Canadian nickel. "I do not want to stir up hard feelings, but my protest had to be made. The nickel people are, beyond doubt, ready to put up funds to support the Hearst campaign, but they will never induce me to support them, because I saw what went on in France."

Rights Given Away.

3. Disposition of water power: Colonel Pratt: "Under the Whitney Government water and fishing rights were set aside for the people, and not for exploitation. I would suggest that you ask Mr. Lucas if the Nipigon and Trent Rivers have been opened to public or private interests."

4. Salary to Opposition Leader: "Colonel Pratt referred to the $5,000 salary voted the Opposition Leader, and wanted to know if it was voted him in order to get an extension of Parliament, or was it to induce the Opposition to support the Premier's salary of $18,000?

A PRESENTATION TO MRS. COOPER

WAS A MEMBER OF ST. JOHN'S WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

A pleasurable event took place in the vestry of St. John's Church at the conclusion of the regular service last Sunday evening. The members of the Women's Auxiliary of the church presented Mrs. Cooper, one of their members, with a handsomely framed picture of St. John's Church, on the eve of her departure to join her husband in England. The presentation was made by Mrs. J. C. Davidson, in a few well-chosen words, to which the recipient was unable to reply, so overcome was she by the tokens of affection shown her. All the ladies bade her good-bye, and wished her bon voyage. Mrs. Cooper has been an efficient and active church worker, and will be much missed in the choir, of which she was a member, as well as in other departments of the church.

A man isn't necessarily smart because he says some things that do.

UDSTLESS DUSTER.

Take old stockings, cut off feet, rip up the legs, saw two or three together or take a soft cloth (a half yard of cheesecloth is good), saturate it with kerosene oil; let it evaporate. When dry use the cloth as a duster. It will hold the dust, which can be shaken off again and again after the cloth is full. The cloth holds all the dust.

If your glove splits near the thumb or near a seam, a sure and permanent way to repair it is to buttonhole the kid on either side of the split, then sew the edges together. The result will be a new, firm seam that will never tear again. When buttonholing be sure and take a good hold of the kid, otherwise the stitches will pull out.

Underslips should be made of the softest, most supple silks.

2	Are you in favour of the sale of light beer containing not more than two and fifty-one one-hundredths per cent. alcohol weight measure through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?	YES	NO X
3	Are you in favour of the sale of light beer containing not more than two and fifty-one one-hundredths per cent. alcohol weight measure in standard hotels in local municipalities that by a majority vote favour such sale and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?	YES	NO X
4	Are you in favour of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?	YES	NO X

Above is an exact reproduction of the Referendum ballot, showing the correct way to Vote in order to sustain the Ontario Temperance Act as it stands.

Everybody should study the four questions and realize exactly what they mean. Do not be misled by the insidious demand for "light" beer.

The beer of the ballot is 118% stronger than the Ontario Temperance Act now allows, and over five times as strong as the limit allowed for beer defined as non-intoxicating in Great Britain and the United States.

Must Answer Each Question.

1. Unless you vote on every question your ballot is spoiled.
2. You must mark your answer to each question with an "X" only. Anything else would spoil your ballot.
3. Unless a majority vote "No" on question 1 the beer will be restored and the sale of all kinds of intoxicants permitted.
4. Unless a majority vote "No" on questions 2, 3 and 4 the Ontario Temperance Act will become almost worthless.
5. The only SAFE course is to mark your ballot as shown above.

"No!"—Four Times—"No!"

No repeal; No government beer shops; No beer saloons; No government whiskey shops.—Four X's, each under the word "No."

HORSE BILL NOW $207.40

WAS INJURED WHILE IN CITY'S USE OWNER ITEMIZES ACCOUNT FOR COUNCIL

IN SOLICITOR'S HANDS

Herbert Hamlin's bill for injuries sustained by his horse while in the care of the city at the Fire Hall has mounted to $207.40. His first notice, several months ago, specified no amount of damages, but the items were carefully presented in a letter to the Council last night from Hall & Hall, solicitors for Mr. Hamlin. He paid $165 for the horse, and shortly before its injury he was offered $175. It has now become incapacitated, he avers, and proposes that the city can keep it and reimburse him for the loss or permit him to sell it and pay him the difference between the sum received in the sale and his total loss.

Mr. Hamlin asks for $175, plus $7.50 for a veterinary bill and liniment, $15 for the use of the horse for 5 weeks at 50c a day, and $9.90, representing his time in attendance on the animal at 45c an hour for eleven nights of two hours each.

Ald. Morrison reported that the horse was working every day, but that it was "far from right."

Ald. Edgar said that rumours alleged that the horse had been neglected after it had been brought back to the Fire Hall. According to reports, he said, the firemen refused to take care of it because Hamlin was a non-union man, and the city's labourers at the time were on strike.

Mayor Duncan—If that were true any man who neglected a dumb animal should be well punished.

Ald. Morrison—Ald. Edgar knows better.

Mr. Hamlin's claim was referred to Ald. Morrison and Ald. Phelan, who have been negotiating for a settlement.

Mr. Ronco Uneasy.

Joe Ronco, Donegal Street, intimated that he was getting anxious about the response to his claim for damage to his property last spring by the flooding of the creek in the north west end. The foundation of his house was loosened, some of his hens were drowned and other troubles occurred.

Mayor Duncan replied that he and Ald. Phelan had been unable to meet Mr. E. W. Dumble, through whose property the creek courses north of McDonnel Street. He advised Mr. Ronco to join with other citizens, who were inconvenienced by the flood, and to take action against Mr. Dumble.

Ald. Turner remarked that Mr. Ronco should keep ducks. If the residents failed to do so, the Legal Committee would enter an action against Mr. Dumble in connection with the blocking of the Downie Street creek.

Will Enlarge Culvert.

The Council granted Mr. J. J. Howden's petition for a deeper culvert across Otonabee Street, east of the Locks Bridge, to carry off the water that is drained from the property on the south side, which is within the city's boundary.

Road Was Torn Up.

A communication from North Monaghan Council requested that the city repair the Monaghan Road from Romaine Street to the Henry Hope Factory, where a sewer was laid this summer. Referred to the Board of Works.

DR. WOOD TO GET THE NOMINATION

The Liberal-Conservatives of South Victoria, will meet again on Wednesday afternoon to try and secure a candidate to contest the riding at the forthcoming Provincial election. A Conservative, who claims to speak with a degree of authority, informed The Post to-day that Dr. Wood would be the convention's choice and that the doctor would accept the nomination. It was further stated that Mr. John Carew, M.P.P., would adhere to his decision to retire from politics.—Lindsay Post.

U.F.O. MAN NOT ABLE TO QUALIFY

WAS ONE TIME A MEMBER OF THE UNITED STATES LEGISLATURE.

(Special to the Examiner)

WELLAND, Ont., Sept. 23.—Mr. E. D. McIntyre will not be able to qualify as the U.F.O. Candidate if the elections take place in October

He was at one time member of the United States Legislature when he took out naturalization papers in that country.

Since coming back to Canada he has failed to get papers reinstating him as a Canadian citizen, which will disqualify him unless date of election is postponed.

Providing this is the case Mr. McIntyre will run, but otherwise the U.F.O., organization will choose another candidate to contest the seat.

Every Wage Earner Should Answer Question Himself or Herself

WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD FOR YOU IF HEALTH GIVES WAY?

In dollars and cents, what is the worth of the brawn of your arm; what is the value of the staying power that permits continuous labour—what are they worth to you?

Suppose you did something so foolish as to reduce your strength, vitality or judgment one half, and it were impossible to get them back—how much would you pay to regain the lost portion?

When you let yourself run down, you reduce your chances for success in life — if sleeplessness comes you score lower still—should appetite or digestion fail, you are stared in the face by physical bankruptcy.

Don't let it go so far, take Ferrozone, it has cured thousands and it will cure you; it builds up bodily strength, makes muscles like steel, replaces Spring tiredness by energy and new life. Ferrozone rebuilds sick folks because it contains the strengthening elements that every run-down system requires.

Especially before the hot weather comes, everyone needs a purifying tonic—Ferrozone fills the bill exactly—nothing known that invenates and uplifts so fast.

At once the appetite improves. You rest well and arise next morning feeling fit and fine.

Headaches disappear, weakness gives way to the vigor that only Ferrozone can supply. Try it, results are guaranteed. 50c. per box or six for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail to any address if price is remitted to the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

AUTO DAMAGED BY AIRPLANE.

On Saturday morning an automobile owned by Mr. J. W. Deyell was damaged by the Curtis airplane. The car was in Hazelton's field and happened to be in the path of the plane, which ripped the wind shield and top off completely. Fortunately no one was in the car at the time.—Lindsay Post.

PIER FOUNDATION ON CLAY AND ROCK

MR. H. W. MIDDLEMIST'S REPORT ON PART OF BRIDGE WORK

The report of H. W. Middlemist, engineer for the Ontario Municipal Board, on the foundation of the pier of the Hunter street bridge next but one to the river was received by the Council last night. The inspection was made on September 10th. The foundation had been previously examined by Mr. Middlemist and Mr. Barber on August 28th and the contractor was ordered to carry it deeper.

"When I saw it yesterday," he wrote on September 11, "this had been done, and the excavation was then in hard clay with some water seeping through the clay at the north end between the clay and soft material above it. The depth of clay was tested before me by means of an iron rod driven into it for a depth of five feet when it could go no further. We therefore concluded that this layer of clay rested on rock, and as the excavation had been carried down three feet below the top of the clay it was decided to approve the foundation, limiting the pressure to not over 4 tons per square foot, and the contractor was ordered to drain off water before concreting."

The pressure in the footing was estimated at 3.6 tons to the square foot and the conditions were considered entirely satisfactory.

PETERBORO DOCTORS WERE PRESENT

Dr. McKinley Calls Attention to Inadequate Fees.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 22—A very representative meeting of the medical men of the counties of Peterboro, Victoria, Durham, Hastings, Northumberland, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington was held here and ended with a banquet at the Hotel Quinte here. There were representatives from all the local medical societies of the district and several of the leaders of the profession from other places in the Province.

Papers were read by Dr. W. J. Gibson, of Belleville, Dr. Moore of Shannonville; Dr. Fredericks, of Peterboro; Dr. James Third, of Kingston; Dr. Marlow, of Toronto; Dr. F. M. McCulloch, of Peterboro; Dr. D. S. Lightall, of Picton; and Dr. W. W. McKinley, of Port Hope, the latter calling attention to the totally inadequate fees now charged by the medical profession.

After the banquet in the large dining hall of the Hotel Quinte, Dr. Marlow, president of the Ontario Medical Association, gave an excellent paper on Pelvic Inflammation.

There were about twenty-five medical men present, and altogether the meeting was most profitable.

TOWNSHIPS RENEW DEMAND FOR ACTION ON SEWAGE PLANT

ASK MUNICIPAL BOARD FOR ORDER TO ACCELERATE CITY'S PRELIMINARIES

Notice of an application to Ontario Municipal Board asking for an order to restrain the city from emptying sewage into the river and to compel the Council to purchase a site for the erection of a sewage disposal plant was submitted to the Council last night by Mr. E. A. Peck, solicitor for the corporations and Boards of Health of the municipalities of Otonabee, North Monaghan and South Monaghan.

The appeal recites the history of the agitation carried on by the townships and requests that a date be set for a hearing at a place to be decided by the Municipal Board.

Ald. Phelan informed Ald. Edgar that a report of the trip which he and City Engineer Parsons made to Milwaukee to inspect that city's sewage system would be presented at a meeting of the Board of Works this week. He said that the securing of a desirable site presented quite a problem, but that a report on the negotiations for certain properties would also be made.

Why Do French Women Always Look Young

In France mothers and daughters look like sisters. How are the women there able to retain their youthful looks until long past middle age? Is it because they are much given to the use of mercolized wax? This wax possesses a remarkable absorbent property which quickly removes the fine particles of cuticle which are constantly dying and which are the immediate cause of an old-looking complexion. Thus the livelier, healthier, younger skin beneath is given a chance to breathe and to show itself. Try this treatment yourself. Most likely it will not require two weeks to make your complexion as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. Just one ounce of mercolized wax (all American druggists have it), usually does the work. The wax is put on nights like cold cream and washed off mornings.

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Rev. John Galt of the Gilmour Memorial Church, Peterboro County, was the winner of the first prize of $125 for the best manuscript on "The Twentieth Century Minister," offered by the Forward Movement Committee of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Such was the announcement made yesterday by Mr. Justice Sutherland on behalf of himself and associate judges, who were: Rev. A. T. Love, D.D., Quebec; Mr. Robert McQueen, Kirkwall, Ont.; Rev. R. S. Laidlaw, D.D., Winnipeg; and Rev. George D.D. Kilpatrick, Toronto.

The second prize of $75 was awarded to Rev. Herbert E. Thomas, Sackville, N.B.; while the third of $50, was divided between Rev. William Watson McPherson, Winnipeg, and Mrs. S. H. Gronlund, Toronto. The following contributors received honorable mention: Rev. E. Scott, D.D., Montreal; Mr. Arthur W. Rogers, Amherst, N.S.; Rev. William R. Wood, Winnipeg; Rev. Dr. D. McTavish, Toronto; Rev. Hugh Cowan, Toronto; Rev. F. M. Bell-Smith, Mono Road, Ont. and Eleanor Ford Hay, Elora, Ont.

One hundred and eighty-seven manuscripts were submitted.

COUNCIL IS ALMOST ANGRY AT SIR ADAM

HYDRO CHIEF'S SOFT ANSWER MAY AROUSE CIVIC WRATH.

"I don't like to bulldoze but I am convinced that we will have to go right after Sir Adam Beck if we expect to get anything for Peterboro" was Mayor Duncan's advice to the Council last night. When patience seems to be a civic virtue even the mild mannered Fathers of this city may work up a strenuous protest to the dictator of the Hydro-Electric.

Ald. Edgar was in full accord with His Worship's sentiments and in his report of the convention of the Hydro Municipal Association stated that a resolution was passed approving of a survey of Eastern Ontario for rural radial purposes. But the railway chairman was plainly disappointed in the efficacy of complaisance where Sir Adam Beck was concerned. Soft answers are generating a spirit that looks like wrath, although there is probably no intention in the Council's mind of shouting at Sir Adam or really arousing him to the sacrifice Peterboro has made for the Hydro scheme in this district.

And as far as the street railway is concerned Ald. Morrison reminded the Council that the Hydro head refused to carry on any further extension work in Peterboro. He would wipe out some of the capital account of the street railway and ask the city to buy it at the reduced price. One of these days Sir Adam will get a gentle slap on the wrist from the Peterboro Council if he will persist in passing all the plums to Western Ontario.

Put hard, dry lemons in a pan of hot water for two hours. Keep at an even temperature.

WANT TO CHARGE INCREASED FARES

Canadian Press:

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 23. — An application will be made by the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company to the Public Utilities Commission for a temporary increase in fares, and the elimination of special Sunday rates, workmen's tickets—six for twenty-five cents—not be good on Sundays.

The company claims that relief of this character is a necessity until the Commission has completed the hearing of the application for a permanent increase in fares, and is due, officials state, to the Mathers award which has increased the company's payroll over $400,000. The hearing for a permanent increase will be held October 15.

WILL PAVE GEORGE STREET NEXT YEAR

COUNCIL PASSED BY-LAW LAST NIGHT AS NOTICE TO STREET RAILWAY.

Sanction for the paving of George street from the C. P. R. to Romaine street, was embodied in a bylaw pased by the council last night.

Ald. Phelan announced that the work would not be carried on this season but that the bylaw was intended as a notice to the street railway authorities that they may repair or rebuild their track preparatory to the city's work next spring.

Asphaltic concrete will be the kind of pavement laid on George street.

Ald. Turner suggested that the Council should not commit itself now to this particular type, for the reason that next year they might prefer some other pavement.

City Engineer Parsons replied that where street car tracks are laid concrete alone is too noisy and undesirable and asphaltic concrete was almost universally used on such streets.

Concrete pavements, such as that recently laid on Water street, were the cheapest, Mr. Parsons stated, but they would prove a nuisance to residents on street car lines.

Ald. Phelan intimated that concrete would likely be the pavement for Aylmer street south.

RECITAL AT THE CONSERVATORY

The announcement some days ago that Dr. Ernest MacMillan, the noted organist, would give a recital in Peterboro, has created a very great interest among the music lovers of the city. Dr. MacMillan is making a Canadian tour and everywhere has been received with the greatest enthusiasm.

The recital will be given in St. Andrew's church on Monday evening, September 29th, and is under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid and the Conservatory orchestra.

UNSELFISH ATTITUDE OF THE LOCAL WAR VETERANS

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS AND DISABLED MEN FIRST, THEN GRATUITIES AFTERWARDS IF COUNTRY CAN STAND IT, IS SENTIMENT OF PETERBORO BRANCH OF G.W.V.A. ---COURSE OF DOMINION COMMAND ENDORSED BY UNANIMOUS VOTE.

MANY MEMBERS ADDED

The widows and orphans of those who died in France and the disabled men first; then if the country's financial condition can stand it, a larger gratuity for the fighting men who came back safe. This is the sentiment of the Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans' Association as revealed in the speeches delivered at a very largely attended meeting in the G.W.V.A. Hall and by a resolution in regard to gratuities that was carried unanimously by a standing vote.

The resolution, moved by Comrade R. H. Muir and seconded by Comrade R. E. Layfield, was to the effect that the Peterborough branch G.W.V.A. endorses the attitude of the Provincial and Dominion commands of the G.W.V.A. in regard to gratuities and also places itself on record as favouring the payment of any gratuities allowed to soldiers to the wives and mothers of the men who lost their lives in France.

The discussion that preceded the resolution was brief but emphatic. Secretary Whatley, after informing the meeting of the telegram sent by him at the instruction of the Provincial Secretary in regard to urging the appointment of a commission to discuss gratuities, made a stirring plea for consideration of the dependents of the men who had fallen. It was the paramount duty of the G.W.V.A., Secretary Whatley declared, to impress upon the government the necessity of extending the gratuity system to the wives and mothers of the unreturning brave. The secretary's address was warmly applauded.

Comrade R. H. Muir followed with a vigorous speech, in which he declared himself solidly against the $2000 gratuity plan and the Calgary resolution. His opinion was that the widows and orphans and the badly disabled men should come first. After they had been attended to there would be time to talk about larger gratuities. His address was evidently to the approval of the meeting, for the applause was loud.

Then came the resolution and every man in the room stood to his feet to express his approval of the motion.

Last night's meeting was one of the largest the local branch of the G.W.V.A. has held. President H. J. Staunton was in the chair and the growth of the Association was indicated by the abnormally large number of applications for membership. Sergt. Flynn's United Veterans' League is not destined to make much headway in Peterborough, judging by the influx of new members into the ranks of the G.W.V.A.

Church Parade.

Invitations were received from St. Andrew's church to attend a memorial service in that church on Oct. 5th, and from Knox church to be present at the unveiling on November 10th of a memorial window to the memory of the Knox church men who met death in the war.

It was declared that the G.W.V.A. should attend both services in a body.

The Veterans will co-operate with the Y.M.C.A. in the coming Red Triangle drive by a team commitee to assist in the canvass. The following members volunteered their services: Comrades Layfield, Clancy, Primeau, Drummond, Hartley and Wilson.

The Athletic Club.

Rules for the operation of the Great War Veterans' Athletic Club were presented in a report from Comrade Dr. A. W. McPherson. The Club is to act in an advisory capacity, controlling all forms of athletics in connection with the G. W. V. A. Each branch of sport that may be formed will elect its own officers and the Club itself will assist in every way possible.

The report of the committee was adopted.

An enthusiastic report from Comrade Dancey in reference to the organization of a G.W.V.A. branch at Norwood was received.

Secretary Whatley in presenting the report of the Building committee, gave a splendid financial statement which showed that the financial affairs of the Peterborough branch are in a very healthy condition. There is a small overdraft on the building, but the Association hopes to be able soon to wipe this out. Incidentally, Secretary Whatley reported that the car draw conducted by the G.W.V.A. had given a profit of over $900.

The report of the committee was received and a resolution of appreciation of Secretary Whatley's services was enthusiastically passed.

A social committee, consisting of Comrades Primeau, Dalliday and Allen was appointed to make arrangements for entertainments during the winter.

Every effort will be made to bring into the ranks of the G.W.V.A. all the returned men who have not yet joined.

President Staunton pointed out a few of the things the G.W.V.A. had accomplished, the securing of a larger clothing allowance, of the first post discharge pay, and the gratuity allowance, improvement in the pension system, all of which he said, had been brought about through the G.W.V.A.

Car Presented.

At the conclusion of the meeting Comrade C. A. Porter, who was the lucky winner of the Maxwell car in G.W.V.A. draw, was presented with the car by President Staunton, who wished him every success.

Comrade Porter responded suitably. Incidentally he had earlier shown his appreciation by sending up several boxes of cigars for the enjoyment of the members, and the result was a smoky evening.

The earth is believed to be flat at the poles, and some candidates are flattened at the polls.

SOCCER RESULTS IN OLD COUNTRY GAMES

SEMI-FINALS IN GLASGOW CUP—WEST BROMWICH LEAD FIRST LEAGUE.

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 20.—In the first division of the league West Bromwich defeated Everton to-day for the second time in two weeks, and are leading the league with four straight wins. The "Toffees" have started badly, and up to date have only won one game, and that a runaway victory over Bradford. Aston Villa have as yet to win their first game; so have Sheffield Wednesday and Preston, Middlesboro' are going strong, as are Manchester United. Liverpool started badly, but have picked up lately, having two straight wins over the "Villans." Bradford City, beaten by Derby County 3 to 0 last week, came back, and turned their defeat into a 3 to 1 victory.

Tottenham are away in front of the second division, with five consecutive wins. Birmingham are close behind them, with four wins in as many games played. Leicester fell down badly to Fulham, 5 to 0, after defeating them 4 to 2 last week. Bury have evidently fallen on evil times as they have yet to win a game. They showed improvement, however, today, when they visited Stockport and held them to a draw, after being beaten on their own ground a week ago.

Watford in Front.

In the Southern League, Watford are going strong, and have yet to lose their first game, while both Northampton and Newport have yet to register their first win. Cardiff swamped Gillingham by 5 goals to 0, while the score in the Queen's Park-Luton game was 4-0 in favor of the former.

In the Scottish League, Rangers, Celtic and Partick are the only unbeaten teams, the former having won 4 out of 5, while the Thistles have won 2 and drawn 1. Hearts started strongly, but two defeats in a week have lost them a lot of ground.

POLO GROUNDS FLOODED.

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 21.—The grounds of the Thousand Island Polo Club, on Wellesley Island, were flooded the night before the last game of the tournament, and a big reward has been offered for the apprehension of the perpetrators. Despite the mud and dangerous footing the game was played. The grounds are on the estate of George C. Boldt, and thousands of dollars have been spent to make a fine field on which Montreal and Toronto teams have competed this summer. There is a large stand pipe built for fire protection, and it was from this source that the mischief was done. A large quantity of rope and hose was also stolen.

TWENTY-SEVENTH HOMER FOR TARZAN "BABE" RUTH

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Boston kept Chicago from clinching the American league championship to-day by taking both games of double-header 4 to 3 and 5 to 4. It was "Babe" Ruth day at Fenway Park, and the Boston player knocked his twenty-seventh home run of the season in the ninth inning of the first game, thus equalling Ed. Williamson's record. The ball sailed over the left field fence, and Ruth circled the bases with the winning run.

A double by Ruth in the fifth inning of the second game helped to work in the winning run. A capacity crowd attended, and Ruth was presented with $600 in treasury savings certificates by the Knights of Columbus.

TOM MOORE IN "THIRTY A WEEK"

GOOD PROGRAMME AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Tom Moore in "Thirty a Week" was the feature attraction at the Grand last evening. Tom Moore is well-known to Peterborough movie fans, and his appearance here for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week will be appreciated. H. B. Warner and Holbrook Blinn in "Wrath" is also a splendid feature and a whole programme in itself. Other specialties include the "Vod-o-vil movies" and a well-selected programme of music by the Grand Opera House Orchestra, all of which contributes to a well balanced programme. These pictures will be shown again to-night and to-morrow.

BATHING GIRLS AT THE GRAND

DIVING GIRLS STRAY AWAY FROM THE MACK SENNETT STUDIO.

The Grand theater will be the center of attraction next Thursday and Friday Oct. 2, and 3, when the curtain will rise showing the beautiful Mack Sennett bathing girls, that is, in person. These girls are "loaned" to the Grand theater through the courtesy of Mr. Sennett, the noted California producer of film comedies. It took a lot of telegrams of pleading from the theater manager before the King of comedy would permit his precious diving girls to stray from the studio. However, through some manner the deal is closed and the girls are preparing for a gala week away from home.

"Jack Canuck in Berlin", the much talked of Mack Sennett feature photoproduction, will be the headliner at the same time, and that is the occasion of the mermaids' visit This is regarded as the greatest film burlesque on the world war. It is in five parts and shows the Huns in a broad comedy vein throughout. There is said to be a laugh a second in the film, and a beautiful love story is woven throughout the hilarious episodes. Bothwell Browne, the noted feminine impersonator, is featured in the photoplay as a "vamp" who entices state secrets out of the kaiser, the Clown Prince, Hindenburg and other high-ups.

The beauty of the girls, their refreshing youth and grace and the charm of their picturesque performance can be imagined by those who have seen them in the celebrated "two-reelers" that have made the girls famous and Mr. Sennett one of the three most important producers of animated pictures in the whole world.

Small favours are as thankfully received as large ones are unthankfully remembered.

A married man who was hypnotised says it felt as it does when his wife makes up her mind.

"HIS BRIDAL NIGHT" COMING HERE

SPARKLING MUSICAL FARCE COMING TO THE GRAND.

The presentation of "His Bridal Night" at the Grand for one day, on Saturday, October 4th matinee and evening, will introduce to local theatregoers a sparkling musical farce that has met with great success in all the larger cities of the country where it played last season. The comedy is by Margaret Mayo, who was responsible for the success of "Twin Beds", and has to do with a young man who, on his wedding night finds himself unable to tell his wife from her equally charming sister. He is in love with one and one of them loves him but he can't tell which one and neither one of the girls will tell for reasons of their own. Robert Knight will be seen in the leading male role. The Crisp Twins, whose great resemblance is the cause of the numerous complications of the story; Beatrice Lett, Bertha Julian, Frank Cullen, Charles Bennett and Clarice Grey will lend adequate support.

"THE BLINDING TRAIL" A GOOD PICTURE

One of those gripping stories of the North woods, with their play of elemental passions against the background of nature is promised in Monroe Salisbury's, which will be seen next Wednesday and Thursday at the Empire Theatre.

Written by Stuart Paton and John B. Clymer, "The Blinding Trail" tells of the fate that befell "Big Jim" McKenzie, lumber boss, when the daughter of his employer and her chum came to the woods.

Caught up in the swirl of love and hate and jealously, McKenzie felt Fate's crushing blow when, blinded as the result of a toboggan accident, he found that his wife—the daughter of his employer—had played false with him. How he fought against his fate, and how true love at last came to him make up an engrossing tale with a strong "punch" at the finish.

The authors have gone back to the primitive for this material and have painted life in broad, free strokes in keeping with the illimitable setting of forest and mountains and open sky. Those who like dramas of the type of "The Great Divide" and "The Spoilers" will be satisfied with "The Blinding Trail."

Paul Powell directed the production, adding to the prestige he gained through Carmel Myers' fine picture, "Who Will Marry Me?"

One of the best screen fights ever filmed forms the climax of the picture, with Salisbury and Arthur Maude as the principals—Maude playing the part of Jean Dubrey, who wins the affections of Salisbury's fickle wife.

Salisbury's impersonation of the big lumberman is well fitted to be added to the gallery of famous roles of this "Mansfield of the screen." Others in the cast are Claire Anderson as the wife, Helen Jerome Eddy as her chum and Salisbury's true love. Alfred Allen and Johnnie Cooke.

PRINCE WILL PROBABLY ATTEND GRAND OPERA OPENING IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—As the itinerary of the Prince of Wales at present officially arranged will bring him to New York quite early in November, there is every probability that he will be an honored guest at the opening of the Grand Opera season at the Metropolitan and of the National Horse Show, to be held at Madison Square Garden November 17, for the opening of the fashionable season. There is more than a probability that J. P. Morgan will offer his box at the Metropolitan to the prince.

How We Go At It

First we look into the battery to see if you put water in it.

Then we use the hydrometer which is the one reliable way of knowing the condition of its charge.

Then, if no special cause of trouble appears we put it on the line to see if it will take a charge.

But if there is plain indication of serious trouble we open the battery up and find out exactly what's what.

Don't trust your battery to amateurs or artists in guesswork, who claim they can tell inside condition by outside inspection.

Come here where you find adequate machines and apparatus to really inspect, charge and repair any battery.

CAMPAIGN TO OPEN IN PETERBORO NEXT WEEK

The workers in the coming Y.M.C.A. Red Triangle Campaign, to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, are urged to keep in mind the meeting to-morrow evening, Wednesday, at 6.30 at the Empress Hotel. Captain Frank B. Wilson who has just returned from Overseas, where he occupied the position of Assistant to Colonel Burks of the Y.M.C.A. staff, will be present. Dr. John Brown, Jr., Territorial Secretary for Ontario and Quebec is also expected to be here. The campaign in Peterboro having been postponed from the original dates May 5-9, may cause some of citizens to question the need of funds at this time.

The estimates for 1919 were made up early in the year and the work on transports, troop trains, dispersal centres, Red Triangle Clubs, Hospitals and other extension work was carried out on the basis of the amount anticipated in the subscriptions. Peterboro city was asked for $3,000.00, just half the amount asked for in 1918. The Citizens did not have the opportunity to do their share towards raising this amount, during the original Campaign week. The opportunity will come next Monday and Tuesday. Peterboro's response to the Red Triangle appeal in 1918 was a splendid one the city raising 35 per cent. above the objective required. The campaign committee of which the Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors, The Red Cross and the G.W.V.A. are represented, are confident of the outcome next week.

At a meeting of the G.W.V.A. last evening, when it was unanimously decided to co-operate for the Campaign, 6 workers were appointed This action of the Veterans Association is a splendid evidence of their faith in the Red Triangle work.

AIRPLANE COLLIDED WITH TREE SUNDAY

One of the airplanes met with a mishap on Sunday while attempting to make a flight at Hazelton's field. When the 'plane started out another machine was just making a landing, and in order to avoid a collision the pilot turned sharply to the right, only to collide with a tree. One of the wings was so badly damaged that the plane was put out of commission. The pilot, Capt. Pearson, and his passenger, Mr. Dougal Deyell, were none the worse for their experience.—Lindsay Post.

INVENTOR OF THE FLY SHUTTLE

(JOHN KAY)

CELEBRITIES OF THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY.

JOHN KAY, THE INVENTOR OF THE FLY SHUTTLE.

In many respects the life of John Kay was a tragedy, and even in this year of grace it is impossible to think of the buffetings which he received without a twinge of remorse. For Kay was a genius and he shared the fate of many men who stand, as it were, on a plane above their fellows. Although his wonderful brain gave to this country and to the world one of the most useful inventions of which we have any record, yet in his day and generation he was despised, his invention spurned, and even his life was in constant danger. Yes, the life of John Kay was a tragedy—but it was not lived in vain.

Kay was born in the year 1704 near Bury. His father had started a woollen factory at Colchester, and while still a youth John found his way into the business and soon gave evidence of the remarkable mechanical skill which ultimately enabled him to leave his name on the scroll of Fame. While still a young man he introduced several improvements in the cumbersome textile appliances of the day, and all the time his fertile mind was turning over ideas with the object of effecting a saving of time and labour in the manufacturing processes. His first patent was taken out in 1730, when he was but twenty-six.

Despised and Rejected.

The fly shuttle, so-called because of the speed with which it could be operated, was so absolutely revolutionary that it is, perhaps, not altogether surprising that the people of those days found it rather too much to swallow. They appear to have regarded the inventor as one in close league with the Evil One, and they baited him accordingly. It is a curious fact that most of the great inventors in the textile industry have had to put up with strenuous opposition from the very people whom they have sought to aid. But in Kay's case the opposition was carried to the point of persecution. Not the workpeople only, but the masters also denounced the inventor and charged him with introducing a device calculated to ruin the entire industry, and so threatening did these honest folk become that poor Kay was forced to give up his Colchester business and take up his residence in Leeds.

In Leeds he had practically to start life again, this time setting up as a mill engineer and reedmaker. He had specialised as a reedmaker before taking charge of his father's factory, and there is no doubt that as an engineer he was far in advance of his contemporaries. In Yorkshire, Kay found no difficulty in interesting the master weavers in his fly shuttle. The manufacturers of the West Riding appear to have realised its great advantages directly the invention was explained to them, and the inventor may have thought that at last he was about to receive some encouragement. If so, he reckoned without the shrewd Yorkshiremen of his day. The manufacturers lost no time in adapting their looms to the fly shuttle, but although they did not hesitate to use the shuttle, they drew the line at paying for the privilege. As a matter of fact, they formed an association called "The Shuttle Club," the main object of which was to provide a common fund to cover the costs of any member of the precious association who might be prosecuted for infringing Kay's patent. In these days it is difficult to imagine the moral code which would enable ordinary and apparently honest citizens to combine for such a piece of barefaced robbery, yet it is a fact that although Kay always had the law on his side and always won the suits in which he figured against the manufacturers, might proved to be greater than right, and the inventor was brought to the verge of bankruptcy in his efforts to establish his claims.

His Life in Danger.

At last, utterly disgusted and quite impoverished, Kay shook the dust of Leeds off his feet and retired to Bury, where he sought employment as a machinist and millwright. The cotton manufacturers of Lancashire apparently failed to appreciate the value of the fly shuttle, and Kay turned his attention to the spinning machine. His experience as a mechanic and his knowledge of the textile industry stood him in good stead, and after some experimenting he succeeded in making a practical machine which anticipated in some particulars the inventions of Arkwright and Crompton.

Poor Kay! If he had bee nengaged in devising and constructing some infernal machine with which to destroy the whole of his native town, he could not have been more closely watched. The people knew that he was an inventor and they had a fairly good idea that he was perfecting a spinning machine. When therefore, they judged the time to be ripe, they surrounded his house and demanded both the machine and the inventor. There is every reason to believe that if the mob could have laid hands on Kay they would have killed him; as it was, he was smuggled out of the house concealed in a wool, sheet.

His model of the spinning machine which was the cause of all the trouble was saved by a Mr. Earnshaw. One would like to believe that there was at least one man big enough to recognise merit and genius, but Earnshaw's feet were made of clay—or perhaps with him it was a case of discretion being the better part of valor—at any rate, he subsequently destroyed the machine on the groud that it was "a very dangerous piece of furniture."

His Reward: Exile and Poverty

Kay became a marked man, and he was driven to take refuge in France. He continued to make his machines, and in 1764 his son Robert wrote to the London Society of Arts and Manufacturers, asking a premium for his father in recognition of his invention of the fly shuttle. Kay himself wrote:—

"I have a great many more inventions than what I have given, and the reason that I have not put them forward is the bad treatment which I had from the woollen and cotton factories in different parts of England many years ago. And then I applied to Parliament, and they would not assist me in my affairs, which obliged me to go abroad to get money to pay my debts and support my family."

It was the pathetic appeal of a genius broken in spirit—one who had suffered the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune, and had gone down under the pressure of ignorance and prejudice. His appeal was ignored, and even when he returned to this country and spent several anxious months in London in an attempt to obtain justice, he met with nothing but distain and insults. Broken in health, dispirited, and in dire poverty, he returned to France. He died in 1764, in obscurity and actual want. His life was a tragedy, but his life's work remains a lasting monument to his inventive genius. His inventions with modifications are still in use, and his name is honored by the descendents of those who made him an exile.

PETERBORO MAN LOST HIS ROLL

LINDSAY SHOULD HAVE BORROWED DETECTIVE NEWHALL FOR THE FAIR.

Lindsay Warder: As could be expected the light-fingered gentry operated at the Lindsay Fair and a number of visitors were relieved of their "wads." The police kept a close watch on all who came under their notice, but in the big rush and dense crowd pickpockets were able to work at their leisure. Many complaints were heard at the secretary's office, but no "lost" money was returned. Some lost their money, others had their pockets picked.

Among the latter are Mr. James Bradburn of the 14th of Manvers, who was relieved of $50; and Mr. J. Baxter, of Lindsay, who lost $31.

A gentleman from Peterborough is minus the sum of $68, but is of the opinion that he lost it. He drove to town in a car and claims that the jostling in the car must have worked the roll to the top of his pocket. At the corner of Lindsay and Kent Streets they had some trouble in the congestion, and he got out to straighten out the bumper rod on the car, and believes that the money might have fallen out there. He has offered $10 reward for the return of the money.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver uncleanliness. Your liver is the your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanliness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

$240,000 BY-LAW FOR NEW SCHOOL WAS PASSED WITHOUT CRITICISM

ALD. TURNER SAID SOME CITIZENS HAD DISAPPROVED OF THE LARGE EXPENDITURE, BUT OTHER MEMBERS HEARD NO OBJECTIONS

"Some citizens have told me that they believed the new school in the south end must be too elaborate," said Ald. Turner in a passing comment on the bylaw providing $240,000 for the Board of Education's Memorial School in the southwest of the city.

Ald Turner asked the members of the Council if any objections to the authorization of this fund had been made to them by ratepayers.

Mayor Duncan stated that no one had mentioned it to him and Ald. Edgar said he had read Mr. G. N. Gordon's letter in the Examiner and also knew one citizen who disapproved of the school but was well able to bear his share of the taxes for it.

"No one has spoken to me about it", said Ald. Crowe and apparently the citizens were holding up their hands with an unanimous "Aye".

"Some men have been unable to understand why there should be such an increase between the $75,000 for either the King George and Queen Mary schools, both of them good ones, and the new school which will cost $240,000", said Ald. Turner. "They are all agreed that a school is necessary in that section of the city, but they are wondering why $240,000 should be necessary. They do not believe that the increased cost of materials and labour covers the difference but they feel that the new school must be too elaborate."

Ald. Edgar said he had been informed that when the new school was completed fifteen rooms would be used from the very beginning and that evidently there was no waster space or money. He was satisfied that the Board of Education had given the most careful thought to this project.

Ald. Turner emphasized that he was not making personal objection to the expenditure but that he was expressing the views of some citizens and wondered whether their sentiment was general or not.

Don't Hawk, Blow, Sneeze, or Cough Use "Catarrhozone"

When germs attack the lining of the nose, make you sneeze and gag—when later on they infest the bronchial tubes, how can you follow them with a cough syrup?

You can't do it—that's all. Cough syrups go to the stomach—that's why they fail.

But Catarrhozone goes everywhere—gets right after the germs—kills them—heals the soreness—cures the inflammation — makes Catarrh disappear. Not difficult for Catarrhozone to cure, because it contains the essences of pine balsams and other antiseptics that simply mean death to catarrh. Large size costs $1.00 and contains two months' treatment; smaller sizes 25c and 50c, all druggists and storekeepers.

"AT HOME" AT THE LYCEUM

MRS. FRED GARDNER WON A HAND SOME CLOCK.

The autumn "At Home" held last night in St. Alphonsus Lyceum, under the auspices of St. Peter's Athletic Society, was a decided success in every particular. It being the first of the season, it was very largely attended, both by young and old. The card-room and dance hall were tastily decorated with flags and autumn leaves, and a "welcome" banner hung from the wall in the dance room.

The music for dancing was supplied by Moher and Fitzgerald in their usual capable manner. Dainty refreshments were served at 11.15. The lady's prize for cards, which was a mahogany clock, was won by Mrs. F. F. Garden, and the gentleman's prize, a box of cigars, was divided among three, who were tied for it.

Some of those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Primeau, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Primeau, Mrs. F. F. Garden, Mrs. E. Conroy, Mrs. T. Lane, the Misses Delaire, Misses Clancy, Misses Fisher, F. Westall, K. Byers, M. Wolfe, M. Weatherhead, Misses Hogan, Misses Conroy, E. Kennedy, M. Grady, A. Milloy, L. Kelly, J. Girard, C. Shevlin, L. Shevlin, G. Lane, G. Primeau, E. McManus, M. Welsh, L. Archambault, M. Archambault, B. Picard, O. Leahy, A. Scully, Messrs. L. Picard, J. Condon, W. Prindible, O. Kenneally, M. Black, J. Grady, F. Primeau, A. Wetherhead, C. McDonald, D. McDonald, E. UNIONISTS ARE HOLDING CAUSUS

POLITICIANS ARE BECOMING UNEASY OVER THE SITUATION.

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.— The Ottawa Journal this morning contains the following on the Unionist caucus today:

"A caucus of the Unionist Party summoned for to-daly, may have far-reaching political consequences. The caucus, although not so stated officially, has been called for the purpose of considering the present status and prospective future of the Unionist party. It is the result of some unrest among the rank and file as to the precise character of the party's creed, policies and platform. Ever since the last session there has been an increasing undercurrent of restlessness as to the party's political whereabouts and destination. Old line Conservatives who saw the Government lean more and more toward a policy of lower tariffs became fearful over the national policy. Old line Liberals who deserted Sir Wilfrid Laurier but saw a growing numerical superiority of Conservatives in the Ministry, began to wonder whether they were merely minority stockholders in the new political concern. The whole position was curiously vague and even the Prime Minister's return from Paris, which was expected to result in a new declaration of policy, failed to produce either leading or light.

AGED VETERAN TOOK A TRIP IN AEROPLANE

One of the oldest veterans, of oldest passengers for that matter in Lindsay, to take a flight in the aeroplane with Capt. Salter on Saturday morning was Mr. Richardson, an inmate of the Lindsay House of Refuge, a man of 86 summers and a veteran of the Indian Mutiny and many other wars. He recently visited Toronto to meet the Prince of Wales.

The veteran made the remark that he never expected to get so close to heaven before his death, but he was game to to the core to take a flight, which was arranged for by friends. He expressed himself as delighted with the trip, which was the most eventful in his lifetime.

FATHER SOUGHT WAYWARD DAUGHTERS

A message was received from a resident of Peterborough on Saturday, by the local police, asking them to try and locate his daughters, who left that city with parties operating a Midway attraction. The girls came to Lindsay and on Sunday their father visited town, and succeeded in locating them. The two men whom they accompanied to Lindsay were still in town yesterday.—Lindsay Post.

EAT LESS AND TAKE BITRO-PHOSPHATE TO PUT ON FLESH

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVISE.

Frederick S. Kolle, M.D., Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says that weak, nervous people who want increased weight, strength and nerve-force, should take a 5-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate just before or during each meal.

This particular phosphate is the discovery of a famous French scientist, and reports of remarkable results from its use have recently appeared in many medical journals.

If you do not feel well; if you tire easily; do not sleep well, or are too thin; go to any good druggist and get enough Bitro-Phosphate for a two weeks' supply—it costs only fifty cents a week.

Eat less; Chew your food thoroughly, and if at the end of a few weeks you do not feel stronger and better than you have for months; if your nerves are not steadier; if you do not sleep better and have more vim, endurance and vitality, your money will be returned, and the Bitro-Phosphate will cost you nothing.

INITIATION AT GUELPH.

GUELPH, Sept. 22. — There was great doings at the O A. C. this afternoon, the occasion being the time honoured initiation of the freshman class. The class this year is the largest in the history of the college, and it was expected there might possibly be some trouble, but everything passed off quietly; in fact it was the best initiation held at the college in some years. The big event was the annual flag rush which was won by the Sophomores after a very spirited battle.

Delays in Installing Telephones

THERE have been unavoidable but no less annoying delays in filling orders for new telephones.

During the period January 1st to August 23rd this year, owing to business and other changes following cessation of the war, 26,800 telephones were taken out and 46,700 installed. The moving season brought a flood of orders for moving telephones, more than 13,300 being dealt with at one exchange alone.

With such a rush of work coming as it did when our staff was still depleted, it was perhaps not to be wondered at that some orders for new telephones should be held up. The net gain in installations to June 30th this year was a full 100 per cent over the same period last year, a result that few business men would have predicted.

Our aim in this matter of new installations, as in all other features of our business, is to be of maximum service to the community, cutting delays and inconvenience to a minimum.

BOXING TOURNEY IN NEAR FUTURE

At last night's meeting of the G. W. V. A., Comrade Jones suggested the holding of a boxing tournament, for the amateurs of Peterboro. He thought that there was plenty of good material and volunteered his services in training any boxers who would like to compete in such a tournament. The matter was afterwards discussed by the Social Committee, and it is likely that the bout will be held. Sergt. Jones will be glad to look after the training of any G.W.V.A. men who want to compete and may be seen at the G. W. V. A. rooms to-morrow, Wednesday, night.

Comrade Drummond, who promoted the last two boxing bouts, announced that he is arranging a match here between a well known Toronto boy and Jack Jordan, the Peterboro youngster, who made such a good showing overseas.

CITIZEN'S LEAGUE ENTERS THE POLITICAL RING IN WESTERN METROPOLIS

EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO PREVENT RED REVOLUTIONISTS FROM SEIZING CONTROL OF WINNIPEG CITY COUNCIL.

KEYNOTE SPEECH

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 24.—The Citizens' League threw its hat into the political ring to-day with the announced purpose of preventing "Bolshevists and Red revolutionists in Winnipeg from seizing control of the City Council." Many of the above leaders are at present in Hamilton. The League elected officers on Monday and agreed to the political programme suggested by the temporary municipal committee which will bring it into the middle of the civic election fight this fall. The organization was completed Tuesday. Under the plan accepted at the meeting the League will immediately set on foot a campaign in every ward.

In a keynote speech R. A. C. Manning declared that it was the duty of the League to stamp out the movement started at the Calgary convention and "particularly to get really representative men in the city council." Manning declared that the Winnipeg general strike had been engineered by men in control at the Calgary convention as a step toward obtaining control of the entire government.

"We know," he said, "that they we're striving to obtain control not only in the city but in Western Canada, and of all of Canada, and they will not stop until they are either defeated, their movement is stamped out, or they succeed. I say it is the duty of the Citizens' League to help stamp out this movement." Manning declared that unless strenuous steps were taken by the League, the Socialist element had a chance of winning both seats in the Council from Wards 4, 5, 6 and 7. "We ought to be able to win in Ward 4" he said. "In Ward 5 we have not got a show. We have a fighting chance if every man will take off his coat and work to win Wards 6 and 7."

"HUNTING PARTY" VISITS THE WEST

Special to The Examiner.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 24.—Railway circles are excited here over the "hunting party" that started over Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway on Sunday. Interest in the party is chiefly centered in the fact that it is composed of prominent C. P. R. officials and that these officials are travelling at a leisurely rate over this line.

Vice-President D. C. Coleman, of the C. P. R., heads the party. He is accompanied by eight other heads of various departments. Railway circles are confident that this trip is the final preliminary to the purchase of the E. D. and B. C. by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

CONSIDER FIUME MATTER SETTLED

ITALIAN DELEGATES IN PARIS MAKE IMPORTANT STATEMENT.

(Canadian Press.)

POLA, Sept. 24.—Four Italian warships, the battleship "Dante Aligheri," and the destroyers "Mirabello," "Nullo" and Abba" are named as units of the "Fiuman navy" in a proclamation written by Capt. Gabriele D'Annunzio and distributed in this city. The proclamation praises the men of these ships for "their loyalty to the Fiuman cause" and extolls them for their "valorous acts." Despatches from Fiume soon after Capt. Gabriele D'Annunzio's coup, stated that the "Dante Aligheri" was unable to leave that port because her machinery had been damaged by the crew.

Matter Settled.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Sept. 24.—"As a nation we consider Fiume matter settled, because we have actual possession," said General Giuseppe, "Peppico," Garibaldi to the Associated Press. "Representative Garibaldi had just reached Paris from Rome, coming on what was said to be an important mission. "Had D'Annunzio not gone in," continued Garibaldi, "we would have done it within fifteen days."

SUDDEN DEATH OF A DELEGATE TO THE CONVENTION

Special to the Examiner:

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—There was a sad touch to this morning's session of the International Accidents Boards' and Commission's Convention, when a paper written by the late John Mitchell, chairman of the New York Industrial Commission, whose sudden death occurred just before the convention was read. A splendid tribute was paid to his large effort to serve humanity. A resolution of sympathy and condolence was recorded in the proceedings, and a copy will be sent to the bereaved widow and family.

The paper was read by Mr. Wm. C. Archer. It dealt with the defects in the workmen's compensation laws generally, calling for a change in certain provisions of the existing laws. The late Commissioner stated that the general scales for maximum weekly payments were far short of what they should be.

Hamilton Grocers Will Be Prosecuted

(Special to The Examiner.)

HAMILTON, Sept. 24.—Crown Attorney B. E. Washington, to-day received from the Attorney-General's Department at Toronto, instructions to prosecute Pollack Brothers, grocers of this city, for having sold sugar recently at an excess profit of six cents a pound. Mr. Washington informed your representative that he would charge the firm with committing a breach of the Order-in-Council governing profits to be made on foodstuffs, and that a summons would in all probability be issued to-morrow.

On a complaint lodged against Pollack Brothers they were brought before W. F. O'Connor, K.C., and it was discovered that the firm sold for $15.75 one hundred pounds of sugar which they had purchased from another dealer for $12.

HEBREWS WILL OBSERVE HOLIDAY

STORES IN THIS CITY WILL REMAIN CLOSED FOR TWO DAYS

To-morrow is the Jewish New Year. The holiday is two weeks later this year than last and special services will be held this year to offer up thanksgiving for the success of the allied arms and the declaration of Right Hon. David Balfour, British Foreign Minister, who stated that Palestine would be returned to the Jews. It is over two thousand years since such hope has been raised for the return of the Jewish race to their native land.

All Jewish stores of this city will remain closed for two days, Thursday and Friday to commemorate the event.

DEVELOPMENTS IN THE FAR EAST

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 24. — Bolshevik wireless message received to-day from Moscow, says that Red troops, commanded by General Lubkoff, are reported to have occupied Tomsk, 500 miles east of Omsk, the all-Russian seat of government, on the trans-Siberian railway line. The foregoing report, if confirmed, would seem to indicate an insurgent rising behind General Kolchak's line, which had resulted in the seizure of an important strategic point on the trans-Siberian line in Central Western Siberia.

WAGE INCREASES CAUSE OVERDRAFT

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Sept. 24.— The wage increases granted by the Toronto City Council this week mean a salary overdraft for the current year of $202,599, of which $16,907 goes to the civic street railwaymen. Incidentally the granting of these increases draws attention to the fact that the city now has an army of nearly 4,500 permanent employees, including the police and firemen.

PROGRESS OF THE STEEL STRIKE—INVESTIGATION WILL OPEN TO-MORROW.

LOCAL DISORDERS

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Congress is inclined to view the steel strike as "the first skirmish in industrial warfare" and "possibly only a prelude to the long talked of "showdown" between capital and labor, which many have predicted would come in the readjustment from war to peace. The open statement by some of the strike leaders that the strike is the start of a movement to socialize basic industries of the country coupled with the fact that railway workers already have proposed in the so-called Plumb plan to socialize transportation highways, is regarded in Congress as very significant. The pending resolution by Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, to have Senate labor committee investigate the causes of the strike, hearing both Chairman Gary of the Steel Corporation, on behalf of Capital, and Jno. J. Fitzpatrick, Chairman of the Organization Committee of the Steel Workers, in behalf of Labor, is planned to open up the whole situation if possible. "In behalf of the great third party—the public," is the Senator from Iowa himself explains it.

Fitzpatrick will be heard by Committee to-morrow and Judge Gary will be heard Wednesday, October 1.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Reports from all steel centers to-day recorded little change in the alignment of the opposing forces of the labor unions and steel companies. In Mahoning Valley of Ohio, the strikers success is complete. The industry, which is the backbone of Youngstown and a score of neighboring villages, is paralyzed and all of the 45,000 wage earners are idle. Elsewhere the struggle is being carried on with varying success, the issue still being doubtful on the great strategic sectors radiating from Pittsburg and Chicago. In the Pittsburg district the Carnegie Steel Company announced to-day that situation "looks good" and backed up its optimism with claims that men were returning to work in considerable numbers. The situation around Chicago is more definite than that in the Pennsylvania region. A majority of mills are closed and those which are still operating are doing so with reduced forces.

BIG STRIKE THREATENED

RAILWAYMEN IN GREAT BRITAIN WILL CEASE WORK TO-MORROW

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 24th.—Great Britain to-day was suddenly threatened with a nation-wide railway strike, after a meeting of the executives of the National Union of Railway Men to-day. James Henry Thomas, General Secretary, issued a statement announcing that an ultimatum had been sent in to the Government rejecting its offer of wage and working conditions. Thomas intimated that unless a favorable reply was received by noon to-morrow, the men would be ordered to cease work.

This expectation was realized early in the afternoon, when minister Geddes replied to the ultimatum, declaring that action of the men's executive was unjustifiable and that in order to meet their demands freight rates would have to be advanced probably fifty per cent. and mean an additional permanent expenditure by railway companies amounting to £45,000,000 annually.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Action of the Railway Executive came somewhat unexpectedly, despite the gloomy forecast of an approaching crisis given by Secretary, Thomas in the House of Commons yesterday, as inquiry among leaders of the Railroad Men's Union during the morning revealed the feeling that his opinion did not accord with the general views of the men. Before meeting at which ultimatum was framed, which was a session of full executive body of the National Union of Railroad Men, belief was voiced in most quarters that a settlement could be reached without a general strike. Thomas said yesterday that the outlook for the prevention of a strike was "black".

Because of the situation created by the presentation to Government to-day of the ultimatum by railwaymen, in which strike was threatened, a full meeting of the Cabinet was called, to be held this afternoon, to consider the situation.

AN OLD COUNTRY HOUSING SCHEME

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—Employees at the City Hall and Parliament Buildings are maping out a housing scheme of their own on old country lines, and when a sufficient number of members are enrolled, will likely approach the Toronto Housing Commission to see what can be done. Already thirty have been interested at the City Hall, and it is expected to secure one hundred names within a short time.

ORGAN RECITAL.

DR. ERNEST MacMILLAN, FELLOW OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF ORGANISTS, LONDON, ENGLAND, WILL GIVE A RECITAL IN ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH ON MONDAY EVENING, ASSISTED BY THE CONSERVATORY ORCHESTRA. ADMISSION 50 CENTS. 3d-70.

A. A. ANDERSON, GENERAL MERCHANT AT KEENE, DIED SUDDENLY TUESDAY

SURVIVING PARTNER OF ANDERSON & SKINNER WAS STRICKEN WITH HEART FAILURE AND DIED WITHIN AN HOUR.

WAS WIDELY KNOWN

Alexander A. Anderson, general merchant at Keene, died suddenly of heart failure at his home yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. His associate in the partnership of Anderson and Skinner, predeceased him several years ago. Of late Mr. John Moore has been in charge of the business for Mr. Anderson, who had been unable to attend to his duties because of heart trouble. For two weeks or more he had made daily visits to the store, and yesterday drove down from his home at four o'clock. Suddenly stricken at the store, he was taken home, but was dead before Dr. Harrison arrived a short time afterward.

The passing of Mr. Anderson marks the end of a general retail business that has been part of Keene's life and affairs for many years. He was widely known throughout the southern half of the county and also in Peterborough. The store of Anderson and Skinner was something of a landmark in Otonabee's quiet village. Both the partners had built up not only a profitable business, but also a reputation of uprightness and integrity that extended far beyond the boundaries of their trade.

Although it was known to the community that Mr. Anderson was unwell, the seriousness of his illness was not realized by his friends. The news of his very sudden death was a sharp shock to the people of Keene, where the community spirit deepens the sense of fellowship and in a corresponding measure intensifies the feelings of loss at the final summons to such citizens as Mr. Alex. A. Anderson.

He is survived by his wife and two sisters, Misses Annie and Florence Anderson of Keene and several brothers. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Keene cemetery.

TORONTO HAD A STRANGE VISITOR

Special to the Examiner:

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—Toronto had a strange visitor in her midst yesterday in the person of Mr. Alabama Argillacea, who, accompanied by his large family, literally "blew in" from the South for a short and disastrous stay. Mr. Argillacea was found in Yonge Street in a stupified condition, suffering seriously from the cold snap of yesterday morning. Lying around him on the sidewalk were several of his kin, many of them dead, and all of them unconscious and apparently incapable of movement. Passers-by seemed unmoved by their sad plight, and the strangers were allowed to lay there unheeded, or were crushed under foot. But this was not so strange as one might think, for Alabama Argillacea is but the full dress cognomen of the southern cotton worm moth, whose presence in Canada in cold weather is unusual, since they cannot thrive north of the Gulf States in winter.

DECLARES BOLSHEVISM IS MERE GHOST IN ENGLAND

DELEGATE TO HAMILTON CONFERENCE REPRESENTS FIVE MILLION TRADE UNIONISTS.

THE CAPITALISTS

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—Bolshevism in England is a mere ghost that they are fabricating," said Ben Tillett, general secretary of the dock and longshoremen of England as he sat with R. J. Tallon, the president of the Federated Shop Crafts of Canada at breakfast in the dining car of the Hamilton special to-day. Mr. Tillett and Mr. Tallon came from Montreal the Labour Conference at Hamilton, the Labour Conference at Hamilton. Tillett is a short, elderly man, stout and clean shaven, in appearance resembling the late Elbert Hubbard a great deal, even to the large Fedora, which, like his suit, was of light grey. He has been president of the dockmen for 33 years and is at the present moment the official delegate of five million Trade Unionists in England to the Trades and Labour Congress at Hamilton. Speaking of Bolshevism, the English Labour leader was referring to the British capitalists.

"If there are any Bolshevists in England," he continued, "they're among the capitalists. Some of the capitalists have been real Bolshevists in this war. They have held the country to ransom."

A great deal of the trouble in England at the present time is attributed by Tillett to the conflict of sordid interests that are loth to give up their privileges.

POISONED GRAPES GIVEN TO BRIDE

(Special to the Examiner)

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Sept. 24.—Grapes, dusted with poison which she had eaten caused Mrs. Burt Stebbins, a bride of six months, to be rushed to one of the local hospitals. She was recently estranged from her husband. The police are looking for him.

BLAMES DOCTORS FOR UNREST

STATEMENT OF SECRETARY OF PEOPLE'S PROHIBITION PARTY.

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 24. —If there should be an outbreak of Bolshevism in our Canadian west I would lay the blame largely at the door of our doctors," said D. W. Fortune, of Vancouver, secretary of the People's Prohibition Party in British Columbia, speaking here last night.

He said the doctors in British Columbia were the worst menace to prohibition. They issue certificates for liquor by the wholesale and when the miners came down from the camps and see this indiscriminate giving of quarts and two quarts by doctors' prescriptions and they themselves cannot get any, they go back to their camps nursing a spirit of resentment and injustice which some day may break out.

LOCAL VETERAN DIES IN HALIFAX

PTE. THOMAS EDWARD KING, FORMERLY OF 93RD, WHO RE-ENLISTED WITH R.C.R., PASSES AWAY.

The sad news was received to-day of the death at Halifax this morning after a short illness, of Pte. Thomas Joseph King, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, former member of the 93rd Battalion. Pte. King enlisted here in the 93rd Battalion, and after going overseas with the Peterborough county unit, was transferred to the 5th C.M.R. in France, going through some of the heaviest fighting of the war with that battalion. Pte. King returned to Canada last winter and re-enlisted with the R. C. R.'s of the permanent force in May, being sent to Halifax. He was twenty-one years of age.

Two brothers, Messrs. John and Edward King, and two sisters, Miss Mamie and Miss Annie King, survive.

The funeral particulars will be announced later.

PETERBORO CARPET EMPLOYEES RECEIVE WAGE INCREASE

TEN PER CENT INCREASE GOES INTO EFFECT THIS PAY—STEADY WORK FOR MONTHS TO COME

The employees of the Brinton Carpet Company are expressing their pleasure at the notification of a 10 p.c. increase in their wages, which goes into effect this pay, and which now makes them the best paid carpet plant employees in this province.

Up until a while ago there was a great deal of lost time in the local carpet plant, but the men now state on the authority of the management, that there is steady work ahead in all departments for all the present help and a considerable number of others who might care to take up this class of employment.

The prospects for the local plant, with good working conditions and a steady run of work, is bright for the largest production in its history.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back its Natural Colour, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn grey, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to flush Kidneys If Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatism twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralise the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

WORK WANTED

BY H. F. GADSBY.

The average member of Parliament has not been enjoying his week-ends home lately. The reason is the returned soldier who asks him with some pith: "If you can give yourself twenty-five hundred dollars, why can't you give me two thousand?"

Of course there is a good answer —namely that there are five hundred thousand returned soldiers and only three hundred and thirty one members of Parliament which makes considerable difference in the bill — but the returned soldier does not wait to listen to the argument. He is satisfied to let the jib go as it stands.

I understand that Roche Lanclot, M. P., who doesn't care a hoot about money is prepared to make matters worse and cover Parliament with shame by introducing a motion to the effect that the members give up their sessional indemnity to a selected four hundred and thirteen returned soldiers and settle the problem as far as a million dollars will go. Of course the million is a mere drop in the bucket of the returned soldiers' wants but every little helps and what Roche Lanclot desires to encourage is that spirit of sacrifice which Parliament prates about but never applies to its own pocket.

A rumor is flying about that Parliament is to have its face saved from the coarse remarks of the returned soldier by giving it enough work to do to earn the money. It would really look too crude to sit thirty-one days—Saturdays and Sunday included—and then light out the thirty-second day with the loot. From this scandal some of the older heads would save Parliament by lengthening this session and shortening the next one, thus preserving a good average and avoiding a sweltering season in the summer. At present Parliament has its nights free for fear of running out of material for debate but this paucity of subjects to talk about can easily be changed to abundance if the Government so wills.

The peace debate, chopped off after four days, was a lost opportunity for stringing things out which Parliament views with regret. The debate was rushed because the King was supposed to sign the treaty this week. Now that the signing has been postponed to the end of October, Parliament gazes back wistfully at a subject so rich in dilatory declamation. The debate was notable for three things—an admirable Phillippie by that Master of Sentences Ernest Lepointe of Kamowasaka, a quibbling address to the jury by Newton Wesley Rowell and a sparkling characterization of the said Newton Wesley by Mr. Fielding who hit off Mr. Rowell's tea-meeting fluency with the phrase of "a hogshead of lather from an ounce of soap." Incidentally the Opposition's hands-off-home-rule declaration was the best kept secret that ever came out of the caucus room. Not a newspaper man knew a word about it until it was sprung in the House. It was a complete surprise. The resolution demonstrated two things—that the Opposition is vastly benefitted by Mr. Fielding's finesse and that it can keep its own counsel.

Parliament looks forward to the gratuity question as a fertile topic. It has already resulted in a parliamentary committee, which certainly cannot get through its work in less than three weeks and give the matter its proper importance. The committee will, of course, report and the report will probably be followed by loud noises in the House which should last another two weeks, especially if any legislation comes out of it. Of course Colonel Jack Currie could not be prevented from starting something. Col. John says he represents the returned soldier, but other colonels, captains, majors and generals in the House and out of it, say he does not. There is some confusion as to what the returned soldier really wants.

The statement is made that, outside the extremists of the gratuity league, very few of the men expect to get the two thousand dollar gratuity, although they would take it, of course, if it were handed to them. But what they do expect from the Parliamentary inquiry is an uncovering of the chair warmers in the Militia Department and elsewhere who are holding down jobs which might be filled by men who have proved their quality on the field of battle. Viewed in this light the request of the veterans for an investigation looks reasonable enough. Incidentally I heard one member of Parliament throw doubt on the bona fide of some of the agitators for the two thousand dollar hand-out. "It looks like German propaganda to me," he remarked, "this asking for sums that would ruin Canada for years to come." I quote his remark merely to show that the agitation is viewed from several angles.

The Industrial Conferences is another matter which may provide work for Parliament for two months, or even three The conference will present its findings, and the findings should be fruitful of debate and perhaps of legislation. Personally I do not take much stock in the speeches written and spoken with which the conference bristles. As Hamlet says—words, words, words. But there is real hope in the fact that the Conference may result in another Royal Commission. In that respect it is miles ahead of Mr. Rowell's famous labor conference with the ladies who solved the problem by storing their jewelry and their limousines for the period of the war. This is a real conference and the Ottawa correspondent is fond of describing it is the four elements of Mackenzie King's book—Capital, Labor, Management and the Community. Giving the conference the once over, I can see Capital, Labor and Management all right, but I miss the odd seven or eight unorganized millions who make up the Community. They are probably too busy paying for Capital and Labor's quarrels to come to Ottawa to talk about it.

Seeing that a Royal Commission is sure to result from the Industrial Conference the suggestion has been made that there is a real job before the Trades and Labor people in organizing the One Really Big Union to be made up of all the Royal Commissions, past and present, who have been appointed by the Borden Government since 1911. There must be

MR. ROBERT DONALD AND THE "GLOBE"

"Mr. Robert Donald's acquisition of the London Globe is an interesting event in London evening journalism," says the Star. "Till recently Mr. Donald was editor of the Daily Chronicle, and it was he who started its evening edition, the Echo, which was afterwards amalgamated with the Star.

"It is not quite correct to speak of the Globe as passing from Mr. Leo Maxse to Mr. Donald. Mr. Maxse had an interest in the paper for a time, but was never its editor and his association with its direction ceased with the signing of the Peace Treaty.

"The Globe has had more vicissitudes than most papers in the forty years since it disclosed a secret relating to the acquisition of Cyprus," says the Daily News. "It is now to be run on independent lines. That, with Mr. Donald, means independent Liberal lines."

YOUNG LADY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY HER BROTHER.

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—With her hip and abdomen pierced with gunshot, Miss Valerie Ottoway, of Wood P.O., Hastings County, was admitted to the General Hospital here in a serious condition.

Miss Ottoway was sitting in her home with a pet dog in her lap, when her brother returned from a hunting trip and pointed the shot gun at the dog. As he snapped the trigger of the gun, the girl received the contents of one barrel. Her brohter did not know that it was loaded.

POINTS RIFLE AT HIM AND CHARGE EXPLODES; TRAGEDY AT JAMES BAY JC.

PARRY SOUND, Sept. 23.—Another "didn't know it was loaded" accident occurred at James' Bay Junction, about six miles southeast of here, on Saturday. Two boys; Arnold and Irwin Quebec, sons of Edward Quebec, who have been living with their uncle, Mr. Calvin Quebec, since the death of their mother some three years ago, in the absence of their uncle took two rifles, a 22 and a 25-calibre, intending to go shooting ground hogs, but instead began playfully pointing the rifles at each other. Unknown to his older brother, Irwin, the younger, had loaded the 25 and left it on the dining-room table, taking the lighter 22-calibre for himself, forgetting to tell his brother it was loaded. Pointing the rifles at each other, Arnold, with the 25 in the house, and Irwin, with the 22 outside near the window, the gun was fired, and Irwin was shot in the abdomen.

The boy was at once brought to the General Hospital here for medical aid, but died in the afternoon. The boy and his friends are heartbroken at the tragedy.

WRITS ISSUED.

After Sir William Hearst had delayed the anouncement until the last moment possible, writs have been issued for the Ontario Provincial Elections. As generally expected the date is October 20, when the people of Ontario were also by means of a referendum decide that question of the temperance policy of the Province.

The holding of the election on the same day as the referendum will be regretted by many people who feel that the temperance issue should have been kept entirely free of political entanglements and that the electorate should have been given a fair chance to study the various clauses of the referendum, unhindered by the distracting influences of a political campaign in the warmth of which a calm judicial consideration of such an important question as the regulation of the liquor traffic is almost an impossibility.

On the other hand of course the simultaneous settling of the two questions is economical and the Province is spared the double confusion that the holding of the referendum on one date and the election on another would have caused.

Now that the date is finally announced an explanation of Premier Hearst's reluctance to announce it would be welcome.

WHO WANTS A NOMINATION?

The approaching election, it is said, finds the Conservative organization in West Peterboro utterly unprepared for a campaign. No party connection has been called yet for the simple reason that so far at least it has been found an impossible matter to secure a candidate. It is understood that a number of party stalwarts have been approached with a view to securing their services in the capacity of Conservative standard-bearers, but in each case the offer has been politely refused. Some of those canvassed do not see eye to eye with Sir William Hearst in his temperance policy and for that reason refuse to wear the label of a Hearst candidate. Others who do not object to running under Government colors if there was a reasonable chance of victory do not regard the outlook either in West Peterboro or throughout the Province sufficiently rosy to induce them to take the plunge. And so just now according to current reports the Conservative nomination in West Peterboro goes abegging. All over the Province the Hearst administration is meeting with set backs and rebuffs and the situation in this riding has many duplications in Ontario. Even in that stronghold of Toryism, Toronto, there is difficulty in finding candidates. This in a city where Conservative nomination was regarded as good as a seat in the House, is a remarkable proof of the loss of popularity of the Ontario Government.

THE BOARD OF COMMERCE

The milk producers, who, while testifying at the inquiry in Toronto, decided that for years they have been selling milk at a loss are taking a rather inconsistent attitude in objecting to the activities of the Board of Commerce. In so far as the public can judge by the interviews given by W. J. O'Conner, K. C., the Board's object is to place the sale of foodstuffs on a business basis so that the price to the consumer shall be as low as is possible after providing the producers and dealers with a reasonable profit. If an inquiry shows that the producers of milk have not been paid enough, the Board will undoubtedly set a fair price so that the producers have apparently little to lose by the investigation.

The opposition to the work of the Board of Commerce developed by the former members of the House of Commons, however, serves one purpose as it reveals the necessity of placing the Board in such a position that it will be answerable only to Parliament. At present it can be changed by the Government, for according to the Act which created the Board, the commissioners "may be removed at any time by the Governor-in-Council for cause and the Governor-in-Council may vary or rescind any order, decision, rule or regulation of the oBard." That is not as the people would have it—if the Board is able to make any reduction in the cost of living, the people of Canada want to have it kept free from Government control.

REV. MR. GALT'S SUCCESS

Congratulations are due the Reverend John Galt, pastor of the Gilmour Memorial Church, upon his splendid success in winning the $125 prize offered by the Forward Movement Committee of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, for the best essay on "The Twentieth Century Minister." The judges who were headed by Mr. Justice Sutherland, have decided that the manuscript on this theme submitted by Rev. Mr. Galt, is the superior of all those received. It is a high honor to win the first prize in a competition of this kind open to the whole of Canada, and one in which the interest was widespread, as is shown by the fact that the second prize-winner was a New Brunswick minister, while third prize is divided between Winnipeg and Toronto contributors. There were no fewer than one hundred and eighty-seven manuscripts received, so that Mr. Galt's achievement is most noteworthy. The congregation of Gilmour Memorial Church have always been proud of their pastor and his success in winning this important essay competition will only confirm his parishioners in their good opinion of him. Mr. Galt, by the way, has written several most interesting letters to the local papers on the Temperance issue. His contribution on any subject will always be welcomed.

WHAT ABOUT BECK?

The report continues to circulate and so far has not been denied by the one most directly concerned in it—Sir Adam Beck, himself—that Sir Adam Beck will not be a Hearst candidate in the coming elections, but will run as an Independent candidate for London. If the rumor is correct it is a slap at the Hearst administration that will require a lot of explanation. The Hydro Knight, although his policy has not always had the hearty support of all his colleagues has been regarded by them as a very useful asset at election times. His untiring efforts on behalf of the public ownership of power in the Province counted with his undenied popularity with the people, would in the ordinary course of events be traded upon by the Government leaders as very desirable vote-producing assets. But if Sir Adam declines to accept the endorsation of Sir William Hearst, and prepares to contest London as an independent, the Government will find itself face to face with a very awkward situation. The mere fact that the head of the Hydro movement refused to identify himself with the present administration in Ontario would be the poorest kind of campaign advertising for the Government. Conditions in the Hearst household continue to grow worse instead of better.

HAS THE BOARD AUTHORITY?

Commissioner O'Conner of the Board of Commerce came in for sharp criticism in the House of Commons on Friday, chiefly from members of the rural districts who saw no excuse for the commissioner's threat to limit the price of farm produce. Mr. O'Connor has been something of a popular idol owing to the treatment he received at the hands of the minister of labor three years ago, when he first took up the cost of living problem, and his appointment to the board of commerce has been hailed as an assurance that the profiteers would be made to disgorge at once. The commissioner has not been slow to foster this impression, for he has made numerous statements as to what he was going to do. Everybody naturally applauded—except those against whom he has promised to direct his activities.

Probably Mr. O'Connor knows his own business best. He may have a motive in making public his plans, but it is a question if he has weakened his cause. The man of voluble promise is usually looked upon with distrust. What he is going to do does not amount to anything; he is judged only by what he does. Nor would people have much confidence in a judge who opened his court by stating how he was going to dispose of the cases in han without hearing the evidence.

The board of commerce is assumed to have wide powers. It has fixed sugar prices and has caused the arrest of at least on profiteer; it has talked of prohibiting export to keep prices down, and of recommending the withdrawal of tariff to lower the price of bacon. If it can do these things it will have the combined power of prosecutor, court and government; but it is yet too early to say whether it has this power. The people must await results.

Perhaps a speech by W. F. Maclean, the Conservative member for South York, delivered in the Commons recently, will throw light on the question. "A request," said Mr. Maclean, "was made by our board of commerce the other day on the Government of Ontario to assist them in bringing some relief. They are admititng the situation, but they have not got the power, the real power, they have not got the means, they have not got the officials, and consequently are not getting any results from this law so far. I believe a beginning has been made, and I give the board of commerce every credit for dealing the other day with sugar. They are going to deal with other matters, and one of the commissioners is holding court in Toronto; but I want to tell this house and I want to tell the board of commerce that I think they will be hamstrung in no time because they have not got sufficient law, and it is largely a farce in this country."

The crux of the situation is this: The board of commerce is a federal machine and prosecutions rest with the Province. If the board of commerce investigations unearth a combine it may appeal to the attorney-general of the Province to take action, but has no authority to force action, and it was pointed out the other day by J. W. Curry, K. C., of Toronto, that the Ontario Conservative Government has refused to act on other occasions when evilence of combines was presented.

That some relief in the cost of living has been experienced in Canada, the member for South York attributes to the activity of the United States Government, and he sees no opportunity for general relief here until some such system as that adopted in the States is followed here. The attorney-general of the United States has at his disposal unlimited means; he has agents at his call throughout the country; he can engage eminent counsel, and he has federal district attorneys and federal courts always to call upon to prosecute and hear his cases. Federal prosecutions in the States are relentless, the federal court being appointed, is feared much more than the state supreme court; so that federal authorities are able to carry their cases through to success. This, says Mr. Maclean, is what must come in Canada before federal prosecutions here become genuinely effective.—London Advertiser.

PEACH ORCHARD LURES GANG; SHOT GUNS IN ACTION

Farmer Defends Peach Crop, Then Motor Party Opens Barrage.

Chatham, Sept. 24.—A fruitgrower near Cedar Springs had an exciting experience with a gang, bent on robbing his peach orchard one night recently. According to reports, the orchards in that vicinity have been visited repeatedly by automobile parties and in order to protect himself, this owner sent two of his hired men to watch. An auto drove up and stopped. When some of the party entered the orchard, the watchmen fired in the air. This frightened the invaders away. The next night a gang of them returned armed with a couple of repeater shotguns, and revolvers. When they entered the orchard the watchmen again fired into the air, and immediately the gang of invaders opened fire on them. The owner hearing the racket, which is described as similar to a machine gun barrage, hastened out of his house to the scene.

The strangers said they were a party of duck hunters, and their car had become stalled and when they were fired on they returned the fire in selfdefence. The hired men who had been watching, seeing the employer in the crowd, came out of their ambush to protect him.

For a short time it looked as if there would be bloodshed, but finally the fruitgrower managed to get his men back to the house without any trouble. The gang then proceeded to make the night hideous for the surrounding neighbors by driving up and down the road yelling and swearing in an endeavour to get some one out to battle.

A CONFIDENTIAL CONVERSATION

CHAPTER LXXIV

When I asked Mr. Frederick what he thought of Blanche Orton my heart seemed to almost stop beating so anxiously did I await his reply. Would he think that she and Neil?—

"Mrs. Orton is hard up. She is the kind of women we see occasionally in the west," he interrupted my thoughts. "She is hard as nails, too clever to be wicked, knowing she is not, caring nothing what people say—at least I judge she does not."

"No, she never did! Even when Mr. Orton was alive. But then people simply smiled at her actions; now they talk."

"I see... I know very little of society folks. I know a good woman when I see her, and an honest man. I know, too, a clever woman like this Mrs. Orton. How long have your husband and his friends been going there?"

"A long time—nearly six or eight months. Ever since I refused to entertain those men here. I did wrong didn't I?"

"That's a question I can't answer. You certainly could not entertain that bunch at Mrs. Orton's last night. Whether you could have prevented Forbes from getting mixed up with some of them if you had allowed a few like Scott to come here, I don't know. I doubt it however. And it is too late to think of that. I would rather lose every dollar I have in the world than see you making free with those people I was with last night."

"You are so good to me, I don't see why?" I murmured, all the time knowing why—that he cared for me. Then before he could answer my tactless question I asked another: "How can Blanche Orton endure them? She is educated, accomplished, dainty. As I spoke I remembered what she had said about resting so she would be at her best when she was going to be bored.

"If she wasn't all those things she wouldn't be the kind of a woman who could help in promoting. Add to what you have said, cleverness, need of money, love of luxury, and you have the typical women aid to any promoter."

"Then you think that"—

That you have cause to fear her?" reading my thoughts uncannily. "I do not think so—not in the way you mean. She is fascinating, and very beautiful. But a man with a wife like you would hardly allow himself to be duped by a woman of her type Then too when men and women are in any sort of business deals, either honest or dishonest, they seldom have love affairs also. They don't go together. I would not worry about that phase of the matter if I were you."

I was so relieved I sighed audibly This man's plain common sense view of the matter had taken away the jealously I felt—at least for the present.

"Then you think that what Mr. Powers, and others said is true? That Neil, Mr. Forbes is not quite—honest?" My face burned as I put the question, yet I must know.

"I am afraid that all his schemes won't stand daylight as I said. He can't be entirely ignorant of the fact, as he is the brains of all the things he goes into. There are usually three or four types in all promoting outfits. The society man, or theman with education and appearance, the bluff common man whose very bluffness causes confidence, the politician often, and either some woman like this Mrs. Orton, or another man who is equally clever at entertaining. Wine and women sometimes play a big part if the deal is crooked."

"Do they blame Neil for being so—I was going to say generous, but instead I changed to 'extravagant'? For this?" I gestured to include house, everything.

"Yes. They say he uses other people's money to live as you do, instead of trying to make them the profits he promises. I am sorry. But I must tell you the truth."

"No wonder Lorraine—and you also discouraged my social plans."

"You are young, just put them off a while. I must go now. I shall be in town a few days. I am going to talk with your husband like a Dutch uncle, as we say. Then I will tell you of a plan I have."

"You are the only real friend I have in the world!" I said impulsively, giving him both my hands. He drew me to him, kissed me once on my forehead, as he might have kissed a child, then left without another word.

HOT CONTEST TO BE WAGED IN THE EAST QUEBEC RIDING

Sir Wilfrid's Old Constituency Will Be Scene of Interesting Battle.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—From present indications, East Quebec will furnish the most interesting battle grounds of the coming federal by-elections. The seat which last election sent Sir Wilfrid Laurier by acclamation, but which has since been considerably changed on account of redistribution, may at the coming by-elections have several contestants for Parliamentary honors. At the present time there are two men in the field. One F. X. Galibois, who is running as a Labor-Liberal, is a former alderman, and last May only failed in defeating the present local member, Letourneau, by 65. The other, Oscar Drouin, a lawyer, is running as a straight Liberal.

In addition to these there looms on the horizon, Romeo Langlais, who comes of an old Conservative family, who was a former candidate for the local House, and who still enjoys all the patronage which has been left, It is said that he is ready and willing to run as a straight Government candidate, providing that he is first given a portfolio, and is adequately assisted financially in his campaign. The official Liberal candidate is likely to be Arthur Lachance, former M. P. for Quebec Centre. Part of the latter seat is now in East Quebec. It is felt that Lachance is the logical and deserving candidate, so far as the federal Liberals are concerned. Last, but not least, in the event of a mixed fight, Armand Lavergne, Bourassa's young lieutenant, is hovering on the outskirts and may precipitate himself into the fight, if he considers his chances propitious. He will run simply as Armand Lavergne, though he claims to be a straight Liberal, now that the conscription issue has gone.

SENTENCED TO HUNDRED YEARS IMPRISONMENT

Foreign Countries' Absurd Punishment.

In the Central Prison at Constantinople Colonel W. Nickerson of the Army Medical Corps has just found a girl who had served three years of a sentence of a hundred years' imprisonment.

In this country the heaviest sentence that can be inflicted is penal servitude for life, but in practically every case such a sentence is reconsidered at the end of fifteen years, and usually the prisoner is released.

Yet there are other countries besides half-savage Turkey, where frankly foolish and impossible sentences are not uncommon. Italy is a case in point. The tribunal of Modica in Sicily had before them a man called Lupo Salvatore of Comisa, who passing himself off as a lawyer, had committed no fewer than sixty-three separate frauds.

He was found guilty upon all the different counts, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment on each bringing his total sentence to 189 years. Had the court decided upon the maximum sentence the aggregate terms of his imprisonment would have been 630 years.

Two of the Maffia criminals tried at Tarento just before the war, received sentences of sixty and ninety years respectively.

It was a child murderer in Germany who was tried at Griefswald in 1906, who received the strangest punishment on record. He was sentenced to be beheaded twice, then to receive two years' imprisonment, and to suffer loss of all his political rights—in other words to be outlawed.

Lots of men would rather lose a friend than a dollar.

Men proposes and woman disposes—of his propositions.

VETERANS ASK SALE OF BEER AND WINES

Oppose Return of Open Bar, But Would Learn From French System.

Denouncing the Liquor Act as "stupid," and the Ontario Temperance Act as "disastrous" and "a maker of criminals," and affirming their intention of resisting "the tyranny of political government," Parkdale G.W.V.A. public on record last night as favoring the sale of beer and wine, and advocating an affirmative answer to all four questions on the forthcoming referendum, as the means of obtaining that end.

There was no discussion on the motion, Col. A. T. Hunter, president, expressing the opinion that every phase of the subject had been fully considered at the last meeting. By way of demonstrating this fact to the members, he asked three questions. The first was that all opposed to the sale of beer and wine should rise. One member complied with the request, and a discussion on the part of some to have was drowned by the applause of the majority for the courage of the opposite.

No one responded to the second question, which was that all in favor of the restoration of the open bar should rise. The third asked by Col. Hunter was: "How many of you think your views could be changed by unbiased discussion?" Others thought so, and the following resolution was carried with three dissenting voices:

"That when we went abroad there was in force in Ontario a stupid License Act under which whiskey was sold over the open bar, and when we returned we find in force an atrocious Act which has already made a hundred times more criminals than Pugsley the Jew; that in the meantime we have had experience of a rational system, under which the French municipalities keep a tight hand on the dangerous alcoholics, and allow free access to beer and wine; that under the French system intoxication is exceptional, and drunkenness almost non-existent.

"That we should hate to admit that we are inferior in self-control to the average Frenchman, and we do not consider being treated like Indians on a reserve or inmates of a jail farm. That the use of beer and wines in a man's business, and we do adopt the former, having regained the friendly of Wilhelm, put power to control to the moment of its tyrannical and tyranny of political government.

"That the only way to clear the issue is to vote Yes on all four questions on the referendum; that in our opinion, the electorate who cannot express the popular desire for rational temperance legislation by drafting an Act that will be neither the stupid License Act nor the atrocious O.T.A., is mentally too lazy to continue as a public servant, and that the aspiring legislator who cannot distinguish between beer and whiskey is not sufficiently intelligent to remain in public life."

The Citizens' Liberty League is proud to state that the following Organizations of Veterans have signified their approval of the League's objects and are supporting it in the endeavor to obtain sane, moderate temperance legislation.

Great War Veterans' Association—Toronto Branches: Parkdale Central Riverdale West Toronto Barlecourt. The Grand Army of Canada. His Majesty's Army and Navy Veterans' Association. The Naval Veterans' Association. The Originals' Club. 75th Battalion Association. 83rd Battalion Association. 75th Battalion Officers Association.

These great Organizations of men who were the first to answer the call in the fight for liberty are endorsing the platform of the Citizens' Liberty League because they know, with the League, that the Ontario Temperance Act unduly restricts the liberties of the citizens of the Province.

These men ask,—and what men in the Province have such a right to ask?—that you vote "YES" on questions 2 and 3 on the Referendum Ballot—and so assure to the citizens a beer containing 2.51 per cent: alcohol by weight, absolutely non-intoxicating—the Beer of the Ballot.

Vote "YES" on all Four Questions

Remember, every voter must vote on every question or his ballot will be spoiled.

A Short Route to Increased Production

Efficiency of equipment is the shortest route through which you can increase production, and offset the high cost of material and labor.

Your first consideration should be to get the most out of the power that you are paying for.

Dominion Friction Surface Belting

will transmit as near one hundred per cent. of each power unit as can be transmitted by a belt.

During more than fifty years of experience in belt building for power transmission, we have perfected a special friction compound that acts not only as a water-proofing, as a vulcanizer to the fabric plies of the belt, but enables Dominion Friction Surface Belting to take a grip on the pulleys that practically eliminates all power waste.

Our engineers will be glad to show you, without charge, how Dominion Friction Surface Belting shortens the route to increased production, thereby lowering your manufacturing cost. Their services are available through our nearest Service Branch.

LINCOLN FAILED TO SEE EX-EMPEROR

Count Hohenzollern Not Permitted to Have Visitors of This Rank.

AMERONGEN, Sept. 23.—An official statement issued from Bentinck Castle, the home of the former Emperor of Germany, last night, stated that neither Ignatius Lincoln nor Herr Anderson saw Count Hohenzollern, nor were they even within the castle grounds. It is said, however, they did see some of the one-time monarch's suite, including General Dommes.

It is stated that Lincoln sought a public statement from Count Hohenzollern, but received a reply that the latter had never spoken publicly since he entered Holland, and no statement of any kind was received by Lincoln.

It is pointed out that if the impression that Lincoln saw the former Emperor was permitted to stand, it would embarrass the Dutch Government, which maintains strict control over visitors to the castle.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 24—The reopening service of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Millbrook Methodist Church was held in the church parlors, on Wednesday afternoon last

The heralds on the watch-tower brought the latest news for July, Aug., and Sept., and Rev. S. T. Tucker gave the women a stirring call to participate in the United National Forward Movement Campaign which includes 20 per cent. increase in membership, 20 per cent. increase in offerings and a volunteer for the active work of the mission field. A special membership contest between the Eastern section of the circuit and the Western section, added interest to the occasion and resulted in favor of the West end.

Every summer they were troubled with Summer Complaint. Doctors' prescriptions did not seem to help them any. One day a friend asked me to use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. WHAT INDUSTRIAL PARLIAMENT DID

OTTAWA, Sept. 24—The 200 delegates to the National Industrial Conference completed their labours of a week on Saturday evening at six o'clock and left for their homes. They closed the conference with the National Anthem, and they sang it with much more gusto Saturday evening than they put into it on Monday morning when the conference opened.

The truth of the matter was that the relations between labour and the employers at the commencement of the week were not cordial. Senator Robertson required all his persuasive powers to get things going smoothly at the start. Then the very tones of the different speakers started to change, and before the end of the week labour leaders and employers were smoking one another's cigars and behaving like real friends.

Following is a summary of the business transacted by the Industrial Conference during the week:

The Resolutions.

(1) Made three separate reports upon the eight hour day and forty-four hour week as follows:

(a) Employers recommended that Royal Commission, comprising all parties concerned, should investigate the adaptability of such hours to the different industries of the country and report as early as possible.

(b) Employees recommended that eight hour day legislation be enacted immediately with the reservation that if after it could be shown that the law could not be applied to special industries they should be exempted from it.

(c) Third group recommended that legislation be passed applying the eight hour day to all those industries where it now prevails by agreement and that a commission inquire into the feasibility of its application to all other industries, due regard to be had for the possibility of the curtailment of production.

(2) Made two separate reports upon the questions of the right to organize, recognition of unions and the right of collective bargaining, as follows:

(a) Employers reported admitting right of employes to join any lawful organization, but insisting on the right of the "open shop" when desired and maintained that employers should not be required to negotiate except directly with their own employes.

(b) Employes did not insist on the "closed shop" principle, stating that "entering into agreements and bargaining collectively with an association or union of employes does not mean recognition of the 'closed shop' unless the agreement so provides." They added a suggestion that legislation can be enacted making it unlawful to charge an employe merely for belonging to a union or for legitimate labor union activities outside of working hours.

(3) Agreed upon the desirability of unification of the existing labour laws of the Dominion and the various provinces.

(4) Unanimously recommended formation of bureau to investigate feasibility and promote application of industrial councils.

(5) Agreed upon establishment of a minimum wage law for all women and children wage workers.

(6) Urged appointment of board to inquire into advisability of state pensions as regards unemployment, sickness, invalidity and old age and widows' pensions.

(7) Urged greater activity in matter of better housing.

(8) Advised inquiry into advisability of proportional representation.

(9) Passed resolution calling for equal opportunities in education, for free education and for compulsory education up to the age of 14.

(1) Passed resolution calling for liberty of the press and freedom of speech.

CONTRACT USED BY PETERBORO FIRM

(From Canadian Engineer)

(From the Canadian Engineer.)

Several different forms of percentage contracts have been devised during the past few years in the United States, but a Canadian, J. A. Beatty, of the firm of Morrow & Beatty, Ltd., general contractors, Peterboro, Ont., has inaugurated a form of contract which appears superior in many respects to any other of its king that has yet been suggested.

The Beatty plan, if it may so be called, has been tried out on a half-million dollar contract for the Southern Canada Power Co., and has resulted, says Mr. Beatty, most satisfactorily, both to the owners and their consulting engineers, and to Mr. Beatty's firm, who were the contractors.

Mr. Beatty's scheme is to charge (tentatively) a fixed fee of 20 per cent. on the estimated cost of the work, and then, at the end of the job, to pay back to the owners 10 per cent. of the total cost of the work whatever it may be. For instance, if a job were to be estimated by the contractors at a possible $500,000, Mr. Beatty would charge a fixed fee of $100,000. When the job was finally completed, if it were found that spects to any other of its kind that the total cost amounted to $550,000, Mr. Beatty would pay the owners $55,000, leaving his firm a profit of $45,000. If the job had only cost, say, $475,000, he would pay the owners $47,000, leaving a profit for his firm amounting to $52,500.

At first glance this does not seem far different from a fixed fee with a bonus and penalty clause. Financially it is practically no different, but it has two advantages, one of which especially, is worthy of serious consideration.

First it is a simpler and more clean cut way of expressing the contractor's responsibility, and is less likely to result in disagreements or law suits. The owner knows that after he has paid or pledged himself to the fixed fee, whatever the cost of the work may be, he only has to pay 90 per cent of it and the contractor pays 10 per cent. In a simple arrangement of this kind, there is no room for unpleasant misunderstandings as to responsibility for cost having exceeded a certain figure. If the cost of the work be $1,000 or $1,000,000, the contractor pays 10 per cent.

The second and more important advantage of the Beatty plan, the advantage that will appeal to every contractor, is its effect upon the contractor's staff.

Every man on the job knows right from the very beginning that his firm must pay ten cents of every dollar that is spent. When the contractor is not penalized until after the cost has reached a certain figure, the staff is likely to be less careful at the beginning of the work, perhaps feeling certain that the work will not exceed the estimated cost, and that there is no need for stringent economy or for devising unique methods of saving every possible dollar; and not until the estimated cost has been reached, or nearly reached, and the work is seen to be far from completed, does the real situation impress itself upon the staff; then when it is too late to prevent a penalty, every effort is made to finish the job as economically as possible.

Mr. Beatty's plan prevents any laxity right from the start. The contractor and the staff know that they must pay one dollar out of the very first ten dollar bill that is spent on the work, and this direct liability is an excellent incentive to the contractor himself and to his staff to use all possible brains and energy in carrying out the work in the most ingenious manner from the very first shovelful of excavation.

Engineers and also contractors differ in their opinions whether the lump-sum or unit price contract is or is not preferrable to the percentage contract. Many articles have been written upon both sides of the subject. But if the percentage contract is to be widely adopted (and it has grown a great deal in popularity during the last few years), we venture to predict that the Beatty plan will be tried by many firms, and that the contractors will find it a very satisfactory form of contract.

Paying Toll for Neglect

Needless exposure to damp and cold frequently result in a derangement of the Kidneys and Bladder.

When these important organs fail to do their duty, various evils arise, such as rheumatism, swollen hands and ankles, stiff joints, lumbago, sciatic neuralgia, stone in the bladder or gravel, excruciating pains in the back and sides, constant headaches, dizziness, specks floating before the eyes, uneasiness of mind without reason, and general debility.

These are signs of serious kidney and bladder trouble, which require immediate attention. The most dependable remedy is found in Gin Pills. They often prevent the operations which constant neglect may render necessary. They quickly and safely relieve congested kidneys, passing stone and gravel, healing and soothing inflamed organs and restoring them to normal. Thousands of letters from people who have been relieved are continually coming to us. Their writers often beg us to spread the good news to other sufferers that Gin Pills certainly and surely will bring the help they need. Send for free sample, or go direct to your druggist or dealer. 50c a box. Money refunded if relief not given.

BEER'S FATAL EFFECTS AS SHOWN IN MUNICH.

Statistics Given by Professor Reveals Menace to the Health of the Citizens.

TORONTO, September 22. — "According to Prof. Bollinger of Munich, Bavaria, one man in every sixteen of those who die in hospitals in that city die of beer drinker's heart, and yet much of the beer consumed in that city is lager—a beer only slightly stronger than that on which the electors will vote on October 20th."

The same eminent authority also states that among the adult males there, there is scarcely one who has a blameless heart or a normal kidney.

These declarations were made last evening by Rev. Dr. MacTavish, of Madoc at a temperance rally in the Clinton street Methodist church.

The speaker also related the results of many experiments which proved that alcohol when taken in even a moderate quantity is injurious to the human system. Experiments have been tried on plants, on animals and on human beings, and the results are always and everywhere the same. Alcohol is the enemy of cell life.

TORONTTO RAISES THE CHEESE BID

Toronto dealers are paying 1-2c. more for cheese than last week, and the general price is about 26c. per lb. delivered. The firmness of the market is probably due to the renewed buying of Montreal firms, which has been stimulated by the talk of a large Belgium cheese order. Gunns are paying 26c. per lb. for large cheese at Toronto this week, with twins at 26 1-2 to 26 3-4c. triplets 27c. and Stiltons 25c per lb.

THEY THOUGHT HIM A CORPSE

They Found Him a Bridegroom

London—Reading the obituary notice of a prominent man in a London newspaper, a large number of friends journeyed down to Farmborough for the funeral, only to find the supposed corpse the bridegroom at a private wedding.

The happy couple and their relatives took the incident in good part, but detectives have been employed to disclose the identity of the joker whose supposed humor might have had unfortunate results.

Another curious story comes from Kirkcaldy, where the two chief mourners at a funeral had words over an open grave. They stripped off their black mourning coats and fought. Eventually they were separated by women who were present.

All men are born illiterate, and many never outgrow it.

Some women are unable to appreciate a gentleman at any stage of the game.

Always put off until to-morrow the revenge you could accomplish to-day.

RACE TRACK BETTING BEING INVESTIGATED BY A COMMISSION

EVIDENCE WAS TAKEN TO-DAY AT SITTING HELD IN OTTAWA.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Commissioner Rutherford to-day opened the government investigation into horse racing and race track betting. Most of to-day's session was taken up with statements of counsel representing the Canada Racing Association. D. A. McCarby, K.C., of Toronto, appeared for the Association and the Social Service Council was represented by W. E. Raney, K.C. In the course of statements of the attitude of his clients toward racing, Mr. Raney read a letter which had been written by the Legislative committee of the Social Service Council to Sir Robert Borden, protesting against the appointment of Dr. Rutherford as commissioner on the ground that Dr. Rutherford had appeared before the social committee of the Commons in 1910 as a witness for race track interests and had stated the belief that some system of race track betting was necessary. In view of this action, the Council had stated its belief that the Commissioner could not approach the question of race track betting with an open mind. Mr. Raney said his clients had no objection to make against horse racing. They regarded it as any other sport. Their objection was to carrying on of business of betting and gaming. It should not be permited on race tracks any more than it would be allowed in a common betting house. He contended that the amendment to the criminal code in 1910, which legalized race track betting was not in the interests of horse breeding or of the public. Mr. McCarthy offered to lay before the commissioner all available facts in connection with tracks operating under the Canadian Racing Association. He presumed that the inquiry as far as Ottawa was concerned would cover merely the operations of Connaught Park Jockey Club. Here the pari mutuel system of betting was in operation. Crown Attorney J. A. Ritchie, His Honour Judge McDougal, Sheriff Wright of Hull, and Aubrey MacDonald, detective of the Ottawa Police Force, were called in regard to the effect of racing on the community. None of these had observed any detrimate features. Detective MacDonald said there were certain undesirables who follow the crowd during a race meet, circus exhibition or when the Prince was here, but the Ottawa Police Department had not had any more cases because of the operation of the Connaught Park track. With reference to Mr. Raney's remarks about his attitude in 1910, Commissioner Rutherford said he regretted that his appointment did not please all parties concerned. He expressed doubt as to whether the government could have found a man who would suit everybody. The inquiry adjourned to meet in Montreal on Thursday.

LIBERTY LEAGUE CANNOT GET FOOTHOLD IN LONDON

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 23.— Londoners opposed to dry laws who have striven recently to organize a local branch of the Ontario Liberty League have abandoned the enterprise. Prominent people who wish to fight the battles of the brewers and distillers do not abound, it is claimed, and such persons as were willing to allow their names to be published in the pre-election campaign are not men of influence.

Now the Liberty League announce that they have resolved to do their work in a "quiet way," lest it should be felt by the electorate that they had the interests of the makers of booze at heart. Later, however, they say they will attempt to co-operate in a campaign to secure repeal of the existing laws prohibiting the sale of newspapers or ice cream on Sundays.

SPEECH BY MR. J. H. BURNHAM, M.P.

(FROM HANSARD)

Costs of Production and Consumption—Motion by Mr. Burnham on Scientific Methods in Industrial Life.

Mr. J. H. Burnham (Peterborough West): Moved:

That, in the opinion of this House, whereas the struggle for existence expresses itself largely in the cost of production and the cost of consumption and whereas confusion and therefore injustice and unrest are developed by the constant struggle to maintain a due relative proportion between these two costs, it is desirable that this House should discuss the situation to the end that the scientific method may be applied in Canada to the struggle for existence, and whereas it is desirable that the directing head or Government of the nation should conduct itself and all business, according to the said method to the end that such order and success as attend, for example, the affairs of a department store should be applied to the national business, therefore, be it resolved, that a definite plan of Government in this respect be laid before the people at the next General Election, and that a committee be appointed for that purpose.

He said: Mr. Speaker, I will, with your permission, make a statement with regard to this resolution in order that that statement may express shortly what I refer to, and after, that I will, with your permission, make a more extended comment.

1. Eliminating the weak and the vicious, 90 per cent. of the population may be considered as trying to do its duty and to perform a faithful part in the struggle for existence, ninety per cent therefore may be considered a constant quantity.

2. Should this constant quantity be considered as a number of free units, or as a united totality? The economic record from the earliest times of the different countries of the world which is most extensive and instructive, furnishes the answer. The evolution of society shows that what began in free and rival units has developed in theory at least, into a society composed of both free and allied units. In the early era each family is supposed to be free to do as it pleases in its own home, but, later on, when it goes forth from home to earn its living, it inclines to unite with other families. At home it is still comparatively free. The tendency is towards union everywhere.

3. The invasion of the freedom of the family in its own circle is being proceeded with, however, chiefly in a moral way. The argument is being put forward that society must be considered only as a whole. This involves the final stage of development. What has been known as freedom is being put aside for the interest of the majority. The rule of the majority is becoming absolute industrially and morally, but not religiously. Morally and religiously are really one. Hence it will not be long before the rule of the majority will be extended to the religious on the ground of aggregate right as against individual right. This of course, upsets the whole theory of man's responsibility to God, which is supposed to concern the individual. The modern doctrine substitutes the ways of man for that of God. This fact is worthy of note because it shows how surely the national, if not as yet the world aggregate, has come to be considered as one. The constant quantity is becoming so well defined that it is affected only by itself, moving by means of a majority in a certain given or ascertained direction. It may be considered therefore as one man, that is, man and woman.

4. The struggle for existence has to do with necessities only. Therefore we simplify the problem we are now considering by eliminating the weak, the vicious and the element of luxuries. It is the man struggling for the necessaries of life.

5. In the last analysis the man whom we have taken as our unit, to simplify matters, gains his living and that of his family, from nature. When, however, he said to his neighbours: "Some of you do some things, some of us will do others, and we will trade," the problem which we are now considering began.

6. The basis of this trade became nominally the unit of labour cost. Labour produced wealth, and part of the wealth was used as capital. So long as the unit of labour-cost was paramount there was little difficulty. But when men began to trade so as to obtain where possible, something for nothing, otherwise known as profit, the struggle, not with nature, but against each other, began, and it has continued and become intensified to the present day. It has been partially counteracted by organization, but it expresses itself very largely and terribly in what is known as sweating.

7. Until the unfair element of securing something for nothing is banished, it is impossible to obtain order in the trade world.

8. When it is banished and a unit of labour-cost is ascertained and established it will be easy to calculate the true rate or price of exchange, or trade.

9. The world really is divided into two parts eocnomically, the producing and the consuming parts. They trade with each other. When the fair exchange price is based upon the fair exchange value as ascertained for a constant quantity, by a constant unit of labour cost, the problem of the struggle of existence so far as it applies to the trading world, will be solved. The rest depends as they say, upon the individuals themselves. It will be no longer, as at present, a struggle to obtain order out of chaos. It will be no longer an unequal struggle. It becomes a fair fight, definitely ascertained quantities seeking definitely ascertained results. The problem ought to be as simple as one in simple equations. Why is it not solved then, if it is so easy, you ask? I answer: What can you do with people who believe in profit, who instead of reducing their common efforts and needs to a common basis, fight them out as if they were all different? We are fast beginning to see the first light of dawn, and then how we will laugh at ourselves, when daylight shows us up.

The modern systemeof method of science, of course, tests theories by experience, principles by practice. We have not yet learned to do this in the business or trade world, and it is to this absolute necessity that I am presuming to direct your attention today.

A NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Influenza and pneumonia are no more to be feared than a boil on the back of the neck, according to Dr. Charles H. Duncan, one of the founders of the Volunteer Hospital, who in an address in New York, recently before the convention of the Allied Medical Association of America described his method of combating Spanish Influenza by means of "immunising a patient to his own poison." Upon 246 patients, ill with pneumonia and influenza last winter, Dr. Duncan said he had used the treatment without a single fatality or any complications. Briefly the physician said: "I take one drachm of mucus from the infected area and pasteurize it in one ounce of filtered water, where it remains several hours. One cubic centimetre of this toxine, injected sub-cutaneously, will effect a spontaneous cure of Spanish influenza, pneumonia, catarrh, or any similar localized infection. It will stop any cough, except tuberculosis inside of 24 hours. Dr. George F. Laidlow, professor of the History of Medicine and Diagnosis at Flower Medicine, in discussing the Duncan Method, said that "the discoverer had solved a problem that had been germinating in medicine for 2,000 years. Dr. Duncan's work marks the conclusion of Pasteur, Koch and Wright and is a decided step forward in the regular development of bacterial therapy."

Dr. Duncan said that by taking the poison from a boil and subjecting it to his process and injecting the sterilized product into a patient's body, he not only cured him of the boil, but rendered him immune against a repetition of such afflictions.

Spence as a Red Cross Nurse, was awarded first for the best character costume. Miss Amy Booth as Night, winning second and Miss Annie Coones as an Indian maid, third. The best character costume prize went to Mr. Rex Spence as Uncle Sam ,and the prize for the most comical was won by Mr. Charles Smith. Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

NAPOLEON WAS OFFERED AN AIR SERVICE

The great progress made in aviation during the last few years recalls the fact that as long ago as in 1796 a Frenchman named Campanes drew up plans, which he laid before Napoleon for the making of an aerial ship to accomodate 200 persons, and which he claimed could be directed to any point of the compass.

The inventor's letter deserves reproduction: "I myself will be your pilot. You can thus, without any danger, hover above the fleets of enemies jealous of our happiness and thunder against them like a new Jupiter, by throwing perpendicular downward firebrands made of a substance which will kindle only by the contract and percussion at the end of its fall, but which will be impossible to extinguish. Or, perhaps, you will think it more prudent to begin at once by forcing the British Cabinet to capitulate, which you may easily do as you have it in your power to set fire to London, or to any of the maritime towns of England."

Campanes assured Napoleon his airship could travel from Paris to London, destroy the place, and return to Paris within 24 hours.

Napoleon refused to countenance the scheme, however. And it is interesting to note in this regard in the early days of the war aeroplanes were used, both by the Allies and the enemy solely for scouting purposes and the pilots of both sides exchanged greetings when they passed each other. It was not until a German pilot shot at a British that each side took to arming their own aircraft and battles in the air became inevitable.

Down deep in the heart of every so-called woman-hater there is a longing to have some woman fuss over him.

INDUCTION OF A LAKEFIELD MINISTER

REV. WALTER ARCHBOLD ASSUMES CHARGE OF ST. JOHN'S PARISH

LAKEFIELD Sept. 24. — The induction of the Rev. Walter Archbold, B.A., D.D., into St. John's parish, Lakefield, took place on Monday evening at 7.30. Rev. Archdeacon Warren of Toronto, (a former rector of the parish) performed the ceremony of induction and was assisted by Rev. James Price of St. George's parish, Peterboro.

The church was filled, a number of the clergy and people of other denominations being present.

The Venerable Archdeacon preached the sermon which was a powerful appeal to the people of the parish to stand by their new Rector, their Church, and their Christian principles. The Rector could accomplish little without the cooperation of the people in the matter of church attendance and church work and it is the duty of the people to do so. It is much easier to remain at home than to go to church; it is always easier to do nothing than to do something; but one neglects one's oportunities as Christians if one does not avail oneself of the services of the church. Our predecessors in the parish had designed and built our beautiful little church, a labor of love; they had lavished their love and their money on it to beautify it and make it worthy of the services of God. It is our privilege and sacred obligation to carry on and make and keep our church building ,inside and out, and its surroundings, one of the most honored buildings in the community.

In the Old Land we see in the church buildings the devotion and care of generation after generation of our ancestors, and our neighbors in the States show a profound respect and veneration for their church buildings and lavish money on the beautifying of them. It is up to us to do likewise and to follow the noble example of our predecessors in this parish of Lakefield to make the care and beautifying of our church an object for our love and devotion.

Then let us not neglect the services of God and the sacraments to which we are bidden regularly.

The Rector in the ceremony of induction after receiving the books and the keys of the church was conducted to the front and exhorted to be zealous in the administration of the sacraments, of baptism to the infants, and to those of riper age who have not received the same.

Next he was taken to the prayer desk and reminded of his duty to hold services of prayer and praise to the glorification of God. Next to the Lectern where he will read the word of God regularly at the services of the church. Next to the pulpit where by the grace of God he will preach the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. Lastly he was conveyed to the altar, and the sacred injunction laid upon him to faithfully and devoutly administer the sacrament of Holy Communion, showing the Lord's death until he come. And it is the duty of the people of this parish to cooperate with the rector, who can do little by himself.

During the offertory Mrs. Osborne sang a solo in splendid voice.

Rev. (Dr.) Archbold begins his parish work under very favorable auspices. He is not unknown to many people in Lakefield as he was at one time in charge of the Warsay and Hall's Glen Mission.

"I WOULD HAVE SAVED $15,000"

CHARLES NORWOOD REGRETS HE DID NOT KNOW OF TANLAC FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

"Just ask how the boys at the C & A. round house, where I work; they all know what an awful fix I was in and can tell you that this Tanlac has made a new man of me," was the statement made by Charles Norwood of 1413 West Olive Street, Bloomington, Illinois, while discussing the medicine recently.

"I can easily figure out," he continued, "where if I had had Tanlac fifteen years ago it would have saved me right around one thousand dollars a year, which is a pretty snug little fortune. The way I figure is this: For the last fifteen years I I haven't been able to work more than half the time, at best. When I did work my earning capacity was much cut on account of my poor health and for a good many years I couldn't work at all. But if I had been as well and strong as I am since taking Tanlac I could have earned twice as much pay to say nothing of the amount of money I paid out trying to get rid of my terrible pain and suffering. For a long time my stomach never felt right and everything I would eat would disagree with me, causing a bloated, nauseated feeling after meals. This trouble kept getting worse until I just broke down completely and had to stop trying to work. My stomach got in such a bad fix that I had to live on the very lightest foods I could find and even then I suffered. I had sick headaches about every day and was so weak I just had to drag around. My stomach not only kept getting worse, but my kidneys finally got all out of order and I almost went distracted wtih pain and misery. My back hurt me so bad I could hardly move or turn over in bed. For a long time before I quit my job it took me sometime every morning to get out of bed, the pain in my back was so great, and then I would have to go all bent over.

"I got to reading the statements about Tanlac and some of the testimonials described my case so well that I commenced taking it myself and oh, how I wish I could have found such a medicine years ago. I am just so thankful that I am at last out of my misery that I feel like I would be doing wrong not to tell everybody I can about Tanlac. I can sit right down to the table now and eat as much as I ever could in my life and never suffer the least bit afterwards. My headaches are gone entirely and my kidneys and back never bother me any more and I sleep like a child every night. In fact, my troubles are all gone and not only that I am feeling stronger and better than I have in almost twenty years. I haven't missed a days' work now since I finished my fifth bottle of Tanlac, nearly three months ago. I am now a perfectly well man and will always praise Tanlac.

BOHEMIAN OPERA SINGER RETURNS TO UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. — Emmy Destinn, Bohemian concert and opera singer, arrived here from Havre, France, to-day on the steamship La Lorraine, after spending three and one-half years as a virtual prisoner in her chateau in Bohemia.

Miss Destinn went to Europe in May, 1916, to visit her home, and the Austrian authorities refused to permit her to return to this country.

Her movements were restricted to a zone within eight miles of her estate. All her efforts to obtain permission to return to the United States, where she had taken out her first citizen ship papers, were unavailing.

ANOTHER WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM IS KITCHENER'S HOPE

BOTH OLD CHAMPS AND CLUB EXECUTIVE WILL HAVE CHANGES —TRAINING STARTS IN TWO WEEKS.

Kitchener, Sept. 24.—The outlook for a hockey sextet that will capture the world's championship honors this winter is good, according to information received from reliable sources here in connection with the plans of the Kitchener Hockey Club for the approaching season.

Although Hiller has gone, the club has much new material from which to select a team. Falkenham of Owen Sound, has loomed upon the Kitchener horizon and report has it that he will be a surprise package for the fans in the early try-outs. Whether he will replace Hiller or not, he will add considerable strength to the team.

Solomon has announced that he will be in the game again this year, stronger and faster than ever. It was thought a year ago that Solly's hockey days were over, but good care and a successful operation has put the ex-champ star into such physical shape as will enable him to appear on the ice again.

Some New Ones.

The club is looking to Jack King, the flying right wing, to qualify this season, and there are two Renfrew boys, recently landed in Kitchener, who are being scouted out by the club with the hope of a possible hockey find. Clarke, who starred with Preston for the past six years is retiring, on the forward line, and Klaehn is back from overseas and will be looking for a berth.

The executive of the club, with the new material available are hopeful of putting a world-beating aggregation on the ice. There are two changes announced in connection with the executive of the club. President E. O. Ritz, who has headed the organization for the past six years is retoring, as is also Harry Wismer, the popular manager, who led the team when it captured the world's championship silverware.

Player-Manager Possible.

It is expected that a player-manager will be selected to replace Wismer with "Snoozer" Truehmski, Ernie Parks and "Doc" Merrick mentioned. It is thought Truehmski will be made manager. Among those mentioned as likely to succeed E. O. Ritz are E. C. Kabel, Rembold Lang, Percy Pierce, Ike Ross and Herman Wagner.

The team will be back strong this year to put Kitchener on the hockey map. Regular training starts in two weeks, and the training camp selected is Victoria Park. The Kitchener Baseball Club's clubrooms in the grandstand will be turned over to the puckchasers as training quarters. St. Jerome's College gym has also been requisitioned, and the ex-champs will put in many strenuous hours there preparatory to taking the ice.

WORLD'S BASEBALL SERIES HOW THE TEAMS COMPARE

MORAN'S PITCHERS CONCEDED SLIGHT MARGIN BECAUSE OF RESERVE STRENGTH—SOME DOPE AND FIGURES.

Assuming that Chicago wins one of its five games from Cleveland, they will play off with Pat Moran's Cincinnati Reds in the world's series. "Kid" Gleason, the White Sox manager, has nothing to learn about baseball, and he gathered his knowledge in the school of diamond experience. He has not had the outstanding pitchers—barring Cicotte—that other pennant-winning teams have had, but he is a wise old owl in choosing the right man to pitch at the right time.

Sox Can Clout.

Unlike Fielder Jones' famous hitless champions of years ago, this gang of Sox can hit and hit hard and consistently. Four have been well over the 300 list all season and three others are over .275. As a team they have hit .283. That settles that argument.

They can hit and they can field, they have speed and they have experience, nevertheless they have to beat Moran's wonders yet.

Fallacy of Dope.

The old fallacy of doping the ability of catcher against catcher, infielder against infielder, is too evident to be worth bothering with.

It isn't so long ago that a famous dopester figured out his wonderful "zone" idea that figured to the inch what balls every player could get. The sum result was the Athletes, whose zones were not to be compared with those of the Cubs, flayed the hides off them.

The dopesters figure the Cincinnati is the better at first base, shortstop, centre field and in pitching, with Sox having the advantage at second, third, left, right and catching.

According to the latest available figures, Chicago has made 19 more runs than the Reds—Chicago 572; Cincinnati 553. In the matter of hits the Sox lead with 1,221 to 1,150 a difference of 71. In bases stolen it is virtually even up, 150 to 145 in favor of the Sox.

Fielding Consistent.

The pitchers of both teams rely more upon their support than they do upon their ability to keep opposing batters from hitting the ball. The pitcers have confidence in the players behind them, and that sort of confidence is what every pitcher needs to make him great. Moreover the consistently clever fielding has rarely betrayed them.

In playing styles there is a great similarity. Both managers play for one run, using the sacrifice and hit and run. Signals from the bench are not infrequent, each player having been drilled so soundly to know what to do and have the ability to do it. As a result neither team has been guilty of many "bones" all season.

Pitching the Thing.

With pitching fully 70 per cent. of any ball game, the importance of that branch is apparent. Moran is a former catcher, and Gleason a graduate pitcher before he went to second. Neither has a great pitching staff.

Moran, no doubt, will depend chiefly upon Sallee, Reuther and Eller, with Ray Fisher and Jimmy Ring in the supporting roles. Gleason will call upon Cicotte, Williams, and Keer to shoulder most of the hurling burden, with Urban Faber as his next best bet.

This arrangement gives each manager two reliable right and left-handers to call upon. The edge held by the Reds is conceded merely because Moran has a stronger supporting cast than has Gleason, and, since the series this year calls for nine games, the relief pitchers demand more than passing attention.

Fisher and Ring represent more in a pitching way than Lowdermilk or James, Gleason's other boxmen, who may get a chance during the series

First Choices.

In the first game it is logical to assume the Cicotte and Sallee will hook up, although it is possible, and even probable, that Moran amy switch the deal, realizing that such an arrangement would pit his ace against that of the White Sox, and that Chicago's best is better than his own. For that reason Moran may select to take a chance with Eller, and bring on Sallee and Reuther against weaker Sox heavers.

Pitching Marks.

The pitchers on their work this season have done as follows:

Cincinnati.

Pitcher	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Sallee	20	6	.769
Luque	10	3	.769
Reuther	10	6	.760

Apparently many of the visitors to the Fair knew that it was hard to get any "wet goods" in Lindsay, and brought their own wee drop along with them.—Lindsay Warder.

A DOUBLE PROGRAMME OF BETTER PICTURES AT THE GRAND

TWO SPECIAL FEATURES AT THE GRAND THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY,

A FAVOR TO A FRIEND.

EMMY WEHLEN IS AN ARDENT HORSEWOMAN

From the time as a child when she was able to keep her balance on the back of a horse, the fascinating Emmy Wehlen, who comes to the Grand theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in her newest Metro comedy-drama called "A Favour to a Friend," has always turned to horses for exercise and diversion from the strain of her work on the stage or the screen.

Beginning in London at an early age Miss Wehlen took naturally to the drama. From the London Gaiety she was import this country for the stellar role big Broadway comedy success. While in New York the charming actress took daily rides through Central Park and became a familiar figure on the bridle paths, mounted on her own well-broken steed.

Since her debut in motion pictures, she has had even more time to indulge in her favourite pastime, often using her saddle horses in the plot of the plays which have brought her great renown as one of the screen's most versatile stars.

UNDER COVER.

A Twist of the Trade.

Charles Coleman, city editor of the Los Angeles Examiner, sat at his desk in the perspiration common to city editors. His telephone rang. "Probably Braud on police,' he thought. For once it was not the veteran police reporter with a scoop. It was George Seigmann.

Critic-proof photoplays is the hobby of George Seigmann, Universal director who filmed "The Woman Under Cover," made from Sada Cowan's stage play, "Playing the Game."

The story required many newspaper office scenes. Mr. Seigmann knows that no men are more jealous of the earmarks of their craft than are the scribes. One little "bloomer" in that set would turn every critic who views the production dead against it.

"I've got a limousine down in front for you," Seigmann said.

"Thanks," Coleman answered, "but what for?"

"To go to Universal City quick," Seigmann said.

The prospects of a delightful drive over Cahuenga Pass and an hour's rest from the strain of the desk won, over Coleman's protests. He was whisked to Universal City and escorted to the Seigmann set.

After studying the newspaper office he pronounced it perfect with one exception. The floor was too clean. Seigmann forthwith twisted paper into little balls and cast it on the floor after the manner of irate copy-readers. The result was pronounced splendid, and critics will agree that a newspaperman had a hand in arranging the newspaper office scene.

The production is booked for the Grand Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

WHERE SMOKING CONSTITUTES CRIME

Whiffs That May Cause Death.

Giving judgment in an action arising out of the dreadful explosion at the Rainham Chemical Works, Lord Justice Scrutton said that the fire was probably due to reckless smoking by a workman. Smoking by workmen in the most dangerous circumstances was, he said, notoriously common.

His lordship had very good grounds for his assertion. Not many years ago a hat factory at Denton was blown up and utterly destroyed through a workman smoking. The man appears to have gone with a lighted cigarette in his mouth into a room charged with petrol vapor.

All through the war the trouble was to prevent workers smoking in munition factories. In most cases every man was searched for tobacco or matches on entering the works, but some hid their tobacco in the most ingenious way.

Many of the worst of modern colliery explosions have probably been caused by reckless smoking. Men go into the "gob," the old disused workings, to enjoy a pipe, and if there is gas about they do not live to tell the tale. The worst of it is that othr lives besides their own are sacrificed.

Smoking is forbidden behind the scenes in theatres. Quite rightly for the place is full of inflammable stuff.

While the amount of tobacco smoked increases year by year, the number of places in which smoking is forbidden also increases. One of the latest is the Vatican at Rome. The Pope refuses to allow any smoking in that vast palace.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HAIR BEAUTIFUL

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de Composee) and a little Menthol Crystals. These three, mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum and 1-2 drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil, makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair falling and to make it grow rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a nest stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you will not find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be looked on your scalp as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear. You will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.

ACCEPT COBOURG CALL.

Cobourg, Sept. 24.—Rev. Herman A. Carson, B. A., Montreal, has accepted an invitation to the pastorate of the Congregational church here to succeed Rev. James T. Daley, D. D., who, some few months ago, was appointed Superintendent of the Northumberland and Durham Children's Aid Society. Mr. Carson commenced his work here last Sunday.

JOHN BARRYMORE, POPULAR PARAMOUNT STAR

HAS DRAMATIC ROLE IN NEW PHOTO-PLAY, "THE TEST OF HONOR"

Story Deals With Virginian Who Prefers Prison to Exposing Criminal Act of the Woman He Loves and Who Betrays Him. See it at the Allen To-day and To-morrow.

Martin Wingrave, a Virginian, loves Ruth Curtis, a young married woman who despises her husband. She encourages him, as well as George Lumley, a medical student, who is infatuated with her, and although she finds Wingrave more attractive, Lumley is far more useful to her. Juliet Hollis, the daughter of the organist of the village church, adores Wingrave, whom she meets in the Wingrave library, where she frequently borrows books.

At a country club trap shooting contest one day, Martin and Ruth go to the club house, and they are drinking tea when Curtis and Lumley appear just in time to see Martin embrace Ruth. Angered at his wife's conduct Curtis attacks Wingrave who knocks him down. Lumley administers first aid, and tells Ruth to give her husband wine. She fails to do this, the result being that her husband dies. At the inquest, she testifies that Martin's advances were unwelcome to her, and that he had killed her husband while the latter was seeking to avenge his wife's honour. Lumley knows this to be false, as Curtis had suffered for years with a weak heart, but Martin refuses to incriminate the woman he loves, and making no defense, is sent to prison for seven years.

During this period, Juliet Hollis is inconsolable. Ruth has married Judge Ferris, and when Martin leaves prison he meditates revenge against her. He calls himself John Martin, and visits her. He threatens to expose her past to her second husband unless she introduces him in her set, which she consents to do. Her love for him revives, and she resents Juliet's love for him, a passion Martin returns. She demands the return of some love letters written by her to Martin, but he refuses to comply with her request. Judge Ferris' jealousy is aroused by the friendship of his wife to Martin, and he hears her tell Martin that she loves him. As he advances toward them, Martin embraces Ruth. Martin explains that he was convicted for the killing of his wife's first husband and that he had forced his unwelcome attentions upon her for the second time.

Ordered away from the house, Martin refuses to go. Meanwhile, Lumley, at the behest of Ruth, exchanges Martin's headache tablets for poison tablets, but he suspects the trick, and, once convinced of the truth, tells Lumley, who is now a physician of reputation, that he is risking his career for love of a woman who is unworthy of him. Juliet comes to the house in search of Wingrave and Ruth, now more than ever jealous of her, tells her that Wingrave murdered her first husband because of love for her (Ruth), but Juliet will not believe her.

Judge Ferris threatens to have Martin ejected from the house, but Lumley who is now disillusioned, tells the truth, which is that Martin had shielded Ruth when as a matter of fact, she had brought about the death of her former husband by refraining from giving him the stimulant which would have saved his life. What happens then can be seen at the Allen to-day. To tell it all would spoil the surprise in store for the patrons.

There is economy in buying large cuts, as there is less waste.

WHEN THE ARMISTICE WAS SIGNED

The Red Cross Workers are again in harness to help put the Drive across

When the armistice was signed last November many of us thought that the need for raising more money for Red Cross, the Y.M.C.A. and other worthy causes had passed. This great work, however, would not cease abruptly. The need for additional Red Cross supplies soon disappeared and you will not be asked to contribute more to that fund. But we still had several hundred thousand men over there who had to be brought home. These men looked to the Y.M.C.A. to carry on its great work on their behalf. This work has been in progress in a big way ever since and even yet is not over. Then, also, the work at home has had to be strengthened in a hundred ways to meet the needs of the returned men and the changed conditions created by the war.

NEXT TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 30th & OCT. 1st

The citizens of Peterborough are to be given one more oppor tunity to contribute to the support of this great work for soldiers and returned men. This time $7,500 is asked for.
Note below some of the ways in which the money you have contributed in the past has been expended and then we know that once more you will be willing in a generous way to help the good work along.

THE WORK OVERSEAS

THE CANADIAN "Y" has been serving the troops at Archangel, Russia; Vladivostock and Omsk, Siberia; and Palestine.
"Y" secretaries accompany all transports with special equipment for the entertainment of returning men.
Free distribution of drinks and eatables is made at all Canadian ports of debarkation.
"Y" secretaries accompany all troop trains right through to their destination. Free distribution of eatables and candies is made at suitable points en route.

A "Y" secretary is placed at all dispersal centers, where free distribution of drinks and eatables is maintained.
Red Triangle Huts or Clubs are provided at all large centres of population to give sleeping and eating accommodation for returned men at moderate rates.
All local Y. M. C. A.'s throughout Canada give six months' membership privileges to any returned man applying for same.

The National Y. M. C. A. proudly points to its record when making this appeal for your aid.

IN CANADA A GREAT WORK, much of it by voluntary assistance has been conducted. In one year in Ontario and Quebec:

1,250 volunteer ladies assisted in carrying out the Area Programme.
69 volunteer laymen assisted on the Military Service Committee.

Outdoor Life.

It is ve[illegible] all the physical universe takes the side of health and activity, wooing us forth unto nature, imploring us hourly, and in unsuspecting ways, to receive her blessed breath into body and soul, and share in her eternal youth. For this are summer and winter, seed-time and harvest given; for do violet and blood-root come, and gentian and witch-hazel go; for this do changing sunsets make your path between the pines a gateway into heaven; for this does day shut us down within the loneliness of its dome of light, and night, lifting it, make us free of the vast fellowship of stars; for this do pale meteors wander sightly, soft as wind-blown blossoms, down the air; for this do silent snows transform the wintry woods to feathery things that seem too light to linger, and yet too vast to take their flight; for this does all the fair creation answer to [illegible] we receive but what we give. All is offered to us to call us from our books and our trade, and summon us into nature's health and joy. To study, with the artist, the least of her beauties; to explore, with the man of science the smallest of her wonders; or even simply to wander among her exhaustless resource, like a child, needing no interest unborrowed from the eye—this feeds body and brain, and heart and soul together.

In choosing our homes the first consideration must be to see that there is abundance of light, air and sunlight. A dark room is only fit for a storeroom. Where the sun comes, according to the old adage, the doctor stays away; or as the Venetian says, "where there is light there is joy."

Scolding is mostly a habit. It is often the result of nervousness and an irritable condition of the mind and body. A person is tired or annoyed at some trivial cause and forthwith commences to find fault with everything and everybody within reach. Scolding is a habit very easily formed. It is astonishing how soon one becomes addicted to it and confirmed in it. It is an unreasoning and unreasonable habit. Persons who once get in the abit of scolding always find something to scold about. If there is nothing else, they begin to scold about the mere absence of something to scold about. It is an extremely disagreeable habit. It is contagious. Once introduced into a family it is pretty certain in a short time to affect all members.

If a young girl reads that which is weak and false and foolish, she will be weak, false and foolish; but if it is true, tender and inspiring, then something of its truth and tenderness will glow into her soul and become a part of her very self. The boy who reads deeds of manliness, of bravery and noble daring feels the spirit of [illegible] seed is planted which will bring forth fruit of pure endeavor and exalted life.

If you come home and find something out of place in the house, or not to your liking, do not let it be the first thing mentioned. Try and find something to praise and appreciate, and then speak of the matter that displeases you and ask to have it attended to.

* * *

Women need love, praise, appreciation, and pleasure, as much as flowers need the sunlight; and as a rule, the best wives are the women who receive considerate kindness and attention from the rightful source—the husband.

Indulge now and then in a little romance, open the windows of your soul to the south, and let the soft breezes blow through and purify up your rusty old heart a bit. It will not harm you, and it will make you an infinitely more pleasant companion than you are now.

The patient bearing and overcoming of little trials, day by day, is more heroic and causes more growth of character than some great deed that the world admires.

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick room.

Our preachers do not write so many or so wise proverbs as did Solomon, but they have fewer wives and better children usually.

When you have spoken the word, it reigns over you; but while it is not spoken you reign over it.

Nothing but good character will stand the test of time and good character is no accident.

CONSTRUCTING NEW HYDRO POWER LINE

WORKMEN ARE CAMPED TWO MILES EAST OF THE CITY.

Hydro-Electric linemen have begun the construction of the trunk power line from Healey Falls to Peterborough. An encampment of nine tents on the farm of Hugh J. Mackey, two miles east of the city, forms the temporary home of the twenty men who are engaged in the erection of this transmission system. They will work eastward across country, and, it is understood, will meet a section that is being carried from Healey Falls in this direction. The junction of the new auxiliary transmission line with the city's system will be made at Auburn, where the men are now putting up posts preparatory to stringing the wires.

Norwood and Havelock will be provided with power by this branch of the Hydro-Electric system, and it has been stated that power will be supplied to the farmers of the surrounding townships who decide to take advantage of this utility.

Say! When Do We Eat?

You'll Find the Fellows Who Have Learned to Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Right on the Job for Work, Play or Food.

Dyspepsia or indigestion may follow a glass of milk as easily as a plate of bacon and eggs. To-day you may eat heartily and feel fine. To-morrow you may bolt a glass of milk and two crackers and get a stomach full of gas, sour risings, biliousness, a feeling of bloated heaviness and other distress. Indigestion is a fault from infancy to old age, no matter what you eat, so the thing to consider is how you may eat freely, get away with it fine and not suffer any of those distresses of indigestion. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have solved this problem for a host of people.

"Since You've Been Using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets You Eat Just Like a Doughboy."

In fact, they are so well known that many physicians prescribe them for indigestion, dyspepsia and other digestive disorders. They contain ingredients which act with an alkaline effect, just as the stomach does in perfect health. Thus you may eat those foods you may have denied yourself, for fear of distress. Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store, and there will be no thought of trouble after eating. Try this harmless plan of enjoying life.

NO ROOM IN B.C.

Secretary James F. Shute of the service and information bureau of the Dominion Government in Brantford sent out notices that returned soldiers were not wanted at present in British Columbia. The returned soldier problem in that province was declared to be too much for the authorities to cope with and local men were advised not to proceed there.

JAMES KELLY WAS APPREHENDED HERE

PRISONER DECLINED TO PLEAD GUILTY OR ELECT TRIAL

Charged with forgery on a wholesale plan, Michael Joseph Kelly, alias James Kelly, some time of the city of Peterborough, refused to either plead guilty or elect trial through his counsel, Mr. J. O'Brien. The case was adjourned by the Magistrate until October 1 without bail.

A description of Kelly, who is said to have been forging checks since May, was sent here by the Lindsay police and the sleuths landed him in police court this morning. He is alleged to have forged one check for $80 on the local branch of the Bank of Montreal and the other checks, now in the hands of the police, on the Home Bank in Toronto, for various amounts, were made out in favour of Dr. Murphy and Rev. Kelly. He garnered in the neat sum of $400 by this method.

ONTARIO GENERAL ELECTIONS TO BE HELD OCTOBER 20TH

SIR WILLIAM HEARST MAKES MANY PROMISES FOR THE FUTURE.

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—The Ontario general election will take place on October 20, the same day as the referendum on the Ontario Temperance Act.

Writs for the election were issued yesterday, and the Legislative Assembly was dissolved. Nominations will take place one week earlier, on October 13. Sir William Hearst made the formal announcement last night.

It was also stated by the Prime Minister that Brigadier - General Arthur E. Ross, for several years the representative of Kingston, and who has had long experience at the front, will be taken into the Cabinet without portfolio. General Ross is expected to come to the city to-day and be sworn in by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir John Hendrie.

It is understood that it is the intention of the Government ultimately to make General Ross Minister of Health, which will be a new portfolio.

Fight For Twenty-Six Days.

Although it had been expected during the last few days that the election would be held on the same day as the referendum, the definite announcement will clear the air. The fight is now on in earnest between the two old parties and the U. F. O. But 26 days remain before polling day, and the campaign, consequently, will be short and sharp. The Prime Minister made the official announcement at 6 o'clock last night in a lengthy statement which he issued to the electors. At considerable length he reviews the record of his Government since he became Prime Minister in 1914, and enunciates the policy of the Government if it is returned to power.

The platform is:

The greatest possible assistance to agriculture in every shape and form.

The faithful enforcement of the people's verdict on the liquor question.

Vigorous support of Hydro-Electric development and cheap light and power for our farmers.

Conversion of certain railway lines into Hydro-Electric lines.

Good roads reaching every part of Ontario.

A pension fund for mothers.

Direct representation of Labour in the Cabinet.

Establishment of a minimum wage.

Unification of the Labour laws of Canada on a just and equitable basis.

Such further Labour legislation within Provincial jurisdiction as may arise out of the findings of the National Industrial Conference.

Housing accommodation for industrial workers.

Special consideration to returned soldiers with Cabinet representation.

A new era for education, providing technical and agricultural instruction throughout the Province.

Improvement of transportation facilities in Northern Ontario.

Conservation of our timber resources and encouragement to mining.

Measures to reduce the high cost of living.

Protection of the public health, generous assistance to hospitals and charities, and special care of mental defectives.

As well as such other reforms and activities as will commend themselves from time to time to an alert and progressive Government.

STEVE WAKES UP IN POLICE CELL

Fortune was too good to a young farmer who was left a considerable amount of money and two or three farms in his father's will. He left the old homestead and came to the city for a real time. His real time ended in police court this morning and he will spend this week on the hill on remand until his companions in his drinking bout are rounded up. The young man, who does not appear to have graduated from his teens was found wallowing in somebody's car on Aylmer street. A constable, finding him dead to the world, acted as chauffeur and he was very much surprised at waking up in a police cell.

PLENTY OF FOOD IF PROPERLY HANDLED

BRUSSELS, Sept. 23.—"The world need have no fear of a food shortage during the coming winter providing there is proper care in handling the problem and proper distribution," said George H. Roberts, British food contorller, and one of the delegates to the Supreme Economic Council, in his report to-day. Other delegates concurred in this view. Mr. Roberts is laying special emphasis on the necessity of re-organizing transport service to meet food problems.

PARTY STANDING IN 1914 AND NOW

The date of the last Ontario general election was June 29th, 1914. The parties stood after the votes were counted:

Conservatives	84
Liberals	25
Ind. Lib.	1
Labour	1

The standing of the parties at dissolution of the Legislature is:

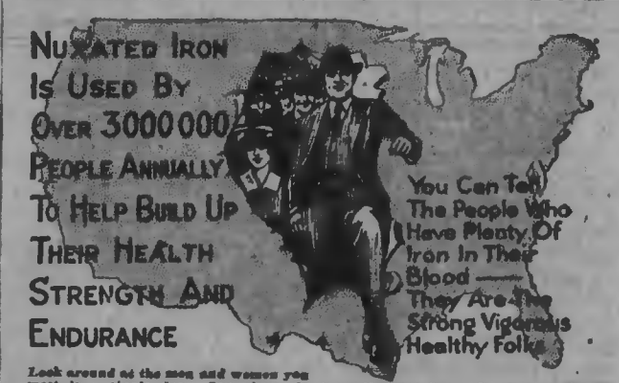
Conservatives	76
Liberals	30
United Farmers	2
Vacant seats, two Con., one Labour	3

Last night it was stated there were 44 Conservatives nominated; 47 Liberals, and 57 United Farmers of Ontario.

Numerous conventions are to be held during the next week.

It is an easy matter to furnish entertainment for your neighbors—all you have to do is to make a fool of yourself.

The man who borrows may not be able to wear better clothes than the man who lends—but he usually does, just the same.



Look around at the men and women you meet in a single day. One glance is enough to tell the ones with plenty of rich, red blood, strength and physical energy to back up their mental power and make them a success in whatever they undertake.
Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says that to help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron. It often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time. It is conservatively estimated that Nuxated Iron is now being used by over three million people annually, and it has been used and endorsed by such men as U. S. Commissioner of Immigration Hon. Anthony Caminetti, also United States Judge G. W. Atkinson, of the Court of Claims of Washington, and others. Nuxated Iron is dispensed by all good druggists everywhere.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF LATE WM. SHAKESPEARE

We are indebted to an English publication for a copy of the last will and testament of the Late William Shakespeare. In the course of this document; we observe the following sentence:

"I gyve onto by wief my second best bed with the furniture."

We have no desire to find fault with the successful poet and dramatist of Stratford for this apparent discrimination against the Widow Shakespeare. What disposition he made of his first best bed is a matter that is not revealed by the copy of the will of the versatile author whose last testament is reported in the columns of our alert London contemporary. However we don't think Mr. S. showed just the right spirit in gyving onto his wief his second best bed. O, why did he not gyve unto her his first bed, or his tee potte or his punche bole with the gilt butterflyes, or his safety razor, or fountain penne, or bicycle—anything in fact, but his second best bed.

No doubt Mr. Shakespeare had gone to bed with his boots on many a Saturday night in that very second best bed, and yet, hallowed as it was by such memories, one cannot but feel that the widow was treated unfairly. Perhaps Will's folks influenced him. As a co-writer we have only the highest regard and esteem for him. But we don't think he acted right about friend wife.

SUPPORTS THE STEEL WORKERS

NOT MUCH FAITH IN GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATIONS.

(Canadian Press.)

HAMILTON, Sept. 24.— The Dominion Trades and Labour Congress this morning endorsed the action of the United States' steel workers in support of the principle of collective bargaining and sent a telegram to the executive of the steel workers to that effect.

Referring to the unrest prevailing in the United States and Canada at the present time Sam Griggs, fraternal delegate of the American Federation of Labour, said, in addressing Congress: "We have unrest and we have the criminal profiteer. The government of the United States is conducting an extensive investigation into the cost of living but I don't think much of these investigations. Unless these profiteers are placed in jails where they belong we will not get much relief." Mr. Grigg said that unrest was unavoidable, and if it was to be allayed some relief must come soon.

NOTES ON LABOR CONFERENCE IN PROGRESS

(Special Correspondence.)

HAMILTON, Sept. 24. — The Trades and Labour Congress held its 39th convention at the Connaught Hotel, Hamilton, at which 301 delegates were seated. It is the largest convention of the Congress ever held. Speeches of welcome were given by the Mayor of Hamilton, Senator Robertson, Minister of Labour, Ottawa, Premier Hearst of the Provincial House, and others

Government House,
Ottawa.
1st September 1919.

Dear Sir Herbert,

I am pleased to be the holder of a Canadian War Savings Certificate. I am delighted to find that in Canada you have War Savings Stamps on sale, similar to those we have in England.

I wish the War Savings campaign every success.

I remain
yours sincerely
Edward P

Sir Herbert B. Ames,
Chairman
National War Savings Committee,
Ottawa.

Facsimile of the letter sent to the Chairman of the National War Savings Committee by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, at the time he purchased in Ottawa a Canadian War Savings Certificate containing the full number of ten War Savings Stamps.

Mayor Booker, of Hamilton, said the people of Hamilton welcomed the delegates in the right spirit, with heart and soul. He held up Henry George as a great leader in evolution. He mentioned Mr. Gompers, but the name was received with mingled cheers and hisses, showing that the old timers and progressives were about equally represented.

Premier Hearst eulogized the workers as able debaters, fit to compare with any of the lawyers in the legislature. He said he was speaking from personal experience. He suggested co-operation.

Senator Robertson, Minister of Labour, said the Federal government would co-operate with labor to bring about the best conditions for the country. He pleaded for co-operation, saying that the delegates should remember that the public sympathy with the labour movement would continue just so long as you recognize the public rights. I anticipate, he said, that this Congress will be the most important and most successful in the Dominion of Canada.

Miss Pauline Newman, of the Women's Trades Union League of America, gave an eloquent address. She was the only lady that spoke. She said the main purpose of the convention was unity of action. "I want to tell you that you cannot have a 100 per cent. efficient organization unless you have working women organizations," she said.

The whole Congress stood for one minute in silent tribute to the late Allan Studholme.

Tom Moore, president, then assumed his position in the chair, which promises to be no sinecure. Four resolutions were put through which were supposed to be the least contentious, and one was government for Ireland the same as Canada and the other colonies enjoy.

There are at present 89 motions to be brought before the House. It is to be a 6-hour working day, with a promise of plenty of overtime, but the Reception committee has provided certain forms of recreation after each session, such as boxing tournaments, vaudeville at the Lyric, etc.

Ben Tillett, of Britain, will be present at the conference.

LATE STRIKE NEWS

FOUR WERE STABBED.

(Canadian Press.)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 24.—Four men were stabbed, two probably fatally, and two others were badly beaten near the entrance of the American Steel and Wire Co. Newburg plant this morning, in the first serious local disorder of the steel strike. The trouble broke out when a street car stopped near the plant to let off men bound for work at the mills.

(Canadian Press.)

PITTSBURG, Sept. 24.—While the steel strike districts are quieter this morning, interest has centered in the statement of Wm. Z. Foster, strike leader, that he will discuss with the National Executive the advisability of calling out all union trainmen and Great Lakes seamen in sympathy with the steel workers.

CONFERENCE ENDED IN A DEADLOCK

Milk Producers Demand $3.10 Per Eight Gallon Can.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—It was announced this afternoon that the long secret conference of milk producers and distributors with the fair price committee of the Board of Commerce had ended in deadlock. D'Arcy Scott, of Ottawa, on behalf of the National Dairy Association, persisted in the demand that the milk producers of Canada receive $3.10 per eight gallon can delivered at the dairy. Representatives of the distributors maintained their offer of only $2.75 per can. There will be a further conference.

Port Hope, Sept. 24.—Mr. Wakeford, who owns a large flour mill at Canton, a few miles north of here, was found dead last night on the side of the road between his mill and Mrs. Callender's residence, where he had been boarding.

The coroner was called, but after making full investigation into all the circumstances of the case, did not consider an inquest necessary. A brother and the deceased's mother live in Hamilton, where the remains will be interred. Mr. Wakefield had lived in Canton about 10 years and was a highly respected citizen.

STRATFORD IN TIME MUDDLE

STRATFORD, Sept. 24.—Considerable confusion reigns in Stratford to-day over the time question. Acting on the by-law recently passed, the schools, stores, civic offices and some factories reverted to standard time, while the G. T. R. shops, post office, express company, newspapers and several factories still retain daylight saving time. Some hardship is entailed for pupils of the Collegiate and business colleges, who have to use the trains to come in and out of the city each day, as they arrive long before school opens and have to leave before it closes.

TRADES UNIONISM GROWS

Giant Strides in Organizations in Great Britain.

London—An enormous increase in membership of British trades unions is shown in a trade union congress report, just issued, which gives the present total membership of bodies affiliated with the trades union as 4,895,000 as compared with 2,232,000 just before the war, and 4,532,000 in 1918.

The most startling increase noted is the membership of the Agricultural Laborers' Union, which was only 36,000 last year, but to-day is 100,000. Seventeen other unions have made increases during the past year of more than 10,000.

Y.M.C.A. MINSTRELS HELD A PRACTICE.

The first practice of the Y.M.C.A. Minstrels for their brand new show in November was held last night at the Y.M.C.A. There was a big time. Almost 40 of Peterborough's best young male voices combined to produce wonderful harmonies. It was a most enthusiastic gathering and there is no question but what the Y.M.C.A. Minstrels will put on a show which will be the best ever presented in Peterborough, and will compare favourably with any in Canada.

Mr. Huycke has abundant material for solo, quartette and specialty work, and there are far more ambitious embryo end men than can possibly be used, but this will ensure the selection of eight end men, who will be real good. Every number on the programme will be new, and some big surprises are in store for the waiting public, in the shape of novelties introduced for the first time.

The Y.W.C.A. are co-operating, and the girls will take part in the chorus and solo work, which will give a greater and more pleasing variety to the programme.

The next practice will be held at the Y.M.C.A. next Wednesday, October 1st, at 7.00 sharp.

The Y.M.C.A. gymnasium will be ready for the coming season on Monday, Sept. 29th, when the school boys' classes will commence. The classes for Business Men, Seniors and Employed Boys will not begin till a week later—October 6th.

It is hoped that former members, as well as returned soldiers and all desiring to take advantage of work in the gymnasium, under a qualified instructor, will keep the date of the commencement in mind.

To Discuss Invitation

EXECUTIVES OF THE NATIONAL RAILWAY UNION MET TO-DAY--STRIKE MAY BE DEFERRED.

MAY ACCEPT OFFER

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Executives of the National Railway Union met early to-day and began a discussion as to whether they would accept the Government's invitation to negotiate further before calling a nation-wide strike. It was generally believed they would accept the offer to arbitrate. Thomas Cramp, President of the Railway Union, announced that in case no agreement was reached, the strike would become effective at midnight Friday, instead of at noon.

Conference To-day.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Sir Eric Geddes, the Minister of Transport and the entire Executive committee of the National Union of Railwaymen, conferred for two hours and a half this morning over the railway wage question which is threatening a nation-wide railway strike. At the end of this tie the conference took an adjournment unitl four o'clock this afternoon. Before the session it was stated by the President of the Union that if the conference failed to avert a strike the walkout would begin at midnight Friday night.

The whole Executive committee of the National Union of Railway Men particiapted in the conference held this morning with representatives of the government relative to unions threatened nation-wide strike, according to Sir Eric Geddes, Minister of Transport.

The President of the Union said today that if the strike should be ordered it would begin at midnight Friday night. The Cabinet was in session yesterday afternoon for three hours and discussed the situation. An announcement after the meeting said the government was willing to continue negotiations with the Union, it being declared a "misunderstanding" existed. Members of the Union are now working under an agreement with the government by which the men will continue to draw their war-time wages until December 31. The sudden demand for an immediate settlement, therefore, came as a surprise yesterday and there were hints that the Union's action was of political significance.

THE WEATHER

Late last evening there was a particularly brilliant display of the Aurora Borealis, or Northern Lights. For some time the whole sky was aflame with quivering pinions of variegated light. While such displays are supposed by some to foretell colder weather, it is doubtful if they actually have any influence on the weather at all One thing is certain, however, and that is that the overcharged atmosphere seriously interferes with the smooth working of the telegraph lines. Apparently also there is a hidden connection between these electrical displays and the number and size of spots on the sun.—W. P.

The Fiume Situation

CROWN COUNCIL OF ITALY WILL MEET TO-DAY AND DECIDE PROGRAMME TO SUPPRESS D'ANNUNZIO.

SERIOUS CRISIS

(United Press.)

ROME, Sept. 25.—With all parts of the country aroused over tenseness of Fiume situation, Italy is nervously awaiting the decisions of the Crown Council, which meets to-day for the first time since 1882. Apparently only Premier Notti and Foreign Minister Tittoni know the proposals which will be made for the program to suppress Gabriole D'Annunzio but it is generally believed they will be drastic.

Nitti's adversaries assert that his resignation will solve the Fiume crisis and quiet the country.

A Strong Man.

(Canadian Press.)

ROME, Sept. 25.— Cabinet ministers do not conceal the enormous gravity of the situation and serious difficulty, not to say the impossibility of finding a satisfactory solution to the Fiume problem. They do not wish to use force against Capt. D'Annunzio, wishing to avoid fratricidal conflict and it is said that this hesitation may be partially due to the fact that troops ordered against the poet's forces might refuse to obey orders. Persuasion, it is said here, is useless without agreeing to Capt. D'Annunzio's conditions— annexation of the port of Fiume and the Hinterland to Italy proper. The advisability of the Cabinet resigning has been examined but the idea has been abandoned, since a ministerial crisis would not help to solve the problem, nor is there a man avilable with greater authority or more energy than Premier Nitti, who is generally considered the strongest statesman possessed by Italy.

AMERICAN BANKS OPEN IN GERMANY

GERMANY WANTS TO SELL POTASH TO AMERICA WITH WHICH TO IMPROVE COTTON MANUFACTURE.

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 25. — Leading American banks have completed arrangements for opening branches in Germany, according to a despatch from Berlin to the Daily Mail.

A memorandum issued by the German Foreign Office indicates that Germany will press her demands for special recognition at the International Cotton Congress, in New Orleans. She is expected to offer supplies of potash which the Germans believe, will improve the fibre of American cotton.

ACTION FOR $10,000 WAS DISMISSED

CHARGE HEARD AGAINST PETERBORO SALESMAN.

On Tuesday and Wednesday at the Assizes at Ottawa, an action was tried of Percy P. Hawn against G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P. of Peterborough, for malicious prosecution. The Crown Attorney, G. W. Hatton, Police Magistrate Dumble, Assistant City Clerk Charles Curtis, Chief of Police Daniel Thompson and Sergeant Blade, who made the arrest, were present as witnesses.

Mr. Hawn had been employed as salesman for Mr. Gillespie in his garage, and acted as manager, and when Hawn left for Ottawa, after he had been paid by Mr. Gillespie, he took two tires with him which he had obtained from the Express Company without advising Mr. Gillespie. Mr. Gillespie was not aware of his taking these tires, and when he found out he had taken them a charge was laid, after Crown Attorney Hatton and the Chief of Police were consulted, and upon this Hawn was arrested. Hawn afterwards rang up Chief of Police Thompson and Mr. Gillespie, from Ottawa, and offered to make restitution. The Chief of Police and Mr. Gillespie consulted Crown Attorney Hatton and the Crown Attorney promised to lay the matter before Police Magistrate Dumble, which he did, and Police Magistrate Dumble dismissed the proceedings upon restitution being made. Sergeant Blade was notified to release Hawn upon restitution being made, and afterwards Hawn brought his action for malicious prosecution.

The above gentlemen wer called as witnesses, including Mr. Gillespie, and the jury brought in a verdict dismissing Hawn's action, and Sir William Mulock entered judgment for Mr. Gillespie, dismissing the action with costs.

His Lordship in his charge to the jury said in part: "I think that the defendant had good grounds for believing that Hawn had stolen the tires, and that he laid the information for the honest purpose of bringing Hawn to justice."

The plaintiff was represented by Mr. F. Hughes, of Hughes & Agar, Toronto, and the defendant by Mr. A E. Fripp, M.P., of Ottawa.

Political Outlook Uncertain

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—Members on the Government side of the House are this morning frankly more uncertain than ever at to the political outlook. The whole problem of parties and policies is "up in the air." It is the Montreal Star that, by advocating the re-establishment of the old party lines and the national policy, has made the latest contribution to the subject. In declaring for Protection as a necessary policy, the Star is following the lead of such papers as the Montreal Gazette and the Toronto Mail. The Mail doesn't object to a Unionist Party, as it is Protectionist. The question asked here is, "If Protection is the leading plank of a party is it not really a Conservative Party, whatever name it may be called?

Observers are examining again the position of Liberal Unionist members of the Cabinet on the tariff issue. Although only one of them is a high protectionist, none of them are rabid low tariff men. The new Minister of Agriculture comes from British Columbia, a province that is not free like the prairies, and Tolmie reflects the British Columbia view. Sifton and Calder, the one from Alberta and the other from Saskatchewan, are naturally low tariff,but they are not so keen on the matter as to put the issue of custom tariffs in the first place among their creeds. Rowell is not a Free Trader and moderate Protection would not frighten him. Guthrie is even less a Free Trade man. Mewburn doesn't take much interest in general politics but he comes from Hamilton, which is not a low tariff city. Ballantyne frankly favors Protection and MacLean would not be much opposed.

A Re-organized Conservative Party

A re-organized Conservative Party, with Protection as its chief plank, does not appeal to many Conservative Unionist members as at least a clear-cut movement, but what could such a party do, faced with the concentrated antagonism of the West, unless it got strong support from Ontario and at least a measure of help from Quebec?

What about the Liberal Party in all this? Its stand on the tariff has been definitely taken at the National Convention, and it is unreservedly a low tariff stand. In the event of a contest between National policy and low tariff men, the Liberal Party would attract all the latter—that is unless there are separate Farm Parties in the West and in Ontario.

The Liberal Party to-day has more homogeneity than the other Party, whatever it is. Unioist or Conservative, but the Liberals themselves seem, perhaps unconsciously, to be experiencing something of the uncertainty that pervades the Government ranks. There is a tendency among some of them to wait and see what is going to happen.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING WAS HELD LAST EVENING IN INTERESTS OF CAMPAIGN

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE DISCUSS PLANS FOR THE DRIVE NEXT WEEK.

An enthusiastic meeting of those interested in the success of the Red Triangle Drive was held last evening at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel. Mr. George A. McDonald, chairman of the Drive Campaign, was in the chair. The Red Cross organization, which has had so much experience and been so successful in campaigns for the Red Cross, knowing the good work done by the Red Triangle, have consented to take up the organization of the drive and push it through to a successful conclusion. Representatives of the Great War Veterans were present and will lend all the assistance they probably can.

This campaign was originally planned for last spring, but was deferred owing to local conditions. The amount asked for is only $7,500.00 and will be used to assist in carrying the Red Triangle work along among the returned soldiers until April first next.

Mr. MacDonald introduced the speakers, and in his remarks asked for a real energetic drive on the part of the canvassers, and predicted a ready response by the citizens of Peterborough.

Some good speeches were made by men who have been overseas in the interests of the Y.M.C.A. Mr. George A. Macdonald, chairman of the drive, and Dr. John Brown of Toronto, Territorial Secretary for Ontario and Quebec, and formerly superintendent of the Military Department of the "Y" and Captain F. Wilson, aide to Colonel Burkes, who was in charge of Y. M. C. A. work in England and France, were present and spoke on military work overseas, the reconstruction programme and work in the Red Triangle Clubs, Red Cross Workers, members of the G.W.V.A. and of the Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors, were keenly interested. Mr. George Macdonald in his closing remarks stated that he thought that there was no question of the success of the campaign and he felt that Peterborough would do its share and that the objective of $7,500 would be reached if not passed.

Where the Money Will Be Spent.

During the war the local "Y" marked time in the matter of improvements to the buildings, as the Directors felt that all their efforts financially should be directed toward the support of the overseas military work. But now that Canada's soldiers have nearly all returned the building has been redecorated and made as attractive as possible for returned men. The major portion of this money will go to pay for these improvements. The remainder of the money will be spent in hospital work and the Red Triangle Clubs, as the Y.M.C.A. plan to keep this work up until April next, as it is still badly needed. Funds are needed urgently and some Canadian cities have raised large sums of money and are now entering on a second campaign this year for the same objects. This is the first campaign of the local "Y" this year and the directors and co-workers feel confident that the citizens will "loosen up" and show that they have every confidence in the work which the Y.M.C.A have done and are still doing and will continue to do for the returned men.

Returned men are behind the campaign heart and soul and will have a team out when the drive is on. Running out of funds the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. announced that the Red Triangle Clubs would be closed, but a monster petition was circulated in Toronto among the Veterans and others asking that the work be continued at all costs as it was invaluable. Mayor Thomas Church of Toronto, made a personal appeal to the Y.M.C.A. to keep open their Red Triangle Hut in Toronto as it could not be dispensed with. The decision was reversed and the work is still being carried on, but funds are urgently needed at once.

Last night's gathering was a preliminary and the workers will meet at the Y.M.C.A. Friday evening at seven o'clock for team organization, and next Tuesday the drive will begin, and Wednesday, the last day of the drive, it is expected that the objective will be reached.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(Special to the Examiner)

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—All doubt as to the attitude Wall street would take toward the steel strike seemed dispelled when, after three full days of strength in the face of the strike developments, opening prices today were again higher than the previous close in almost all leading issues. U. S. steel opened at 103 7-8 up 1-8 Bethlehem B at 98 1-2 up 7-8; U. R. Stores at 110 up 3-4; Studebaker at 214 3-8 up 3-8; American Steel Foundary at 93; Mexican Pet at 212 7-8 up 3-4 and Baldwin at 32 1-4 off 1-4.

The market was irregular during the first thirty minutes of trading. Baldwin receded to below 180. All the Steel shares firmed up during the morning.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Efforts to keep U. S. Steel under 103 were unsuccessful near the close, but Bethlehem was forced down under 96. Crucible was up over five points on the day. Sugar stocks acted well and Cuba Cane moved at 37. Retail Stores was some higher and held above 110 in late trading.

Creamed potatoes with cheese makes a pleasant change.

Silk underwear should always be laundered with a cool iron.

The Conservatory Orchestra which will assist at the organ recital on Monday evening held a very interesting rehearsal last night and will practice again on Saturday evening. The orchestra under the direction of Mr. Gliddon will play Handel's "Largo" from Zerxes an excerpt from "Lombardi" by Verdi, and Mr. Gliddon will play the "Last Chord" by Sir Arthur Sullivan, accompanied by the full Orchestra and organ. The music lovers of the city may look forward to a most delightful evening, on Monday. Tickets for the recital are 50 cents and may be had from members of the Ladies Aid and at the Conservatory of Music.

Will Fight Application

WINNIPEG STREET RAILWAY COMPANY SEEKS HIGHER FARES—WATERED STOCK.

WHAT BOOKS SHOW

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 25.—A bitter fight begins to-day against the application of the Winnipeg Street Railway for an increase in fares to six cents and the abolition of workmen's tickets and cheap Sunday fares. The latter two are four cents.

Watered stock, to the extent of over $300,000, exists in the book capitalization of Winnipeg Electric Railway Company, it was learned on reliable authority at the City Hall today. Practically all of this overcapitalization was created between the years 1905 and 1915 by McKenzie and Mann.

Quoted dividends to the extent of over $7,500,000 were paid.

According to Company officials the tram system was operated from November, 1918, to the end of July, 1919 at a loss of $107,600. The statement shows that gross earnings for this nine month period were $1,874,744 and that operating expenses were $1,666,645. This leaves net operating revenue of $208,099. But from this fixed charges, amounting to $315,699, must be deducted, which leaves a balance of $107,600 on the wrong side of the ledger.

THE SUGAR MUST BE DISTRIBUTED

FRUIT PRESERVERS WILL GET THE BENEFIT OF LARGE SUPPLY OF SUGAR TO BE RELEASED.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept 24.—Distribution of 200,000 pounds of sugar, held by the Coco Cola Company, was ordered yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Auld of the Board of Commerce, and will be distributed to fruit preservers through wholesale firms.

INVESTIGATING THE BIG STEEL STRIKE

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Investigation of the nation-wide steel strike by the Senate Labour committee, which begins to-day, was called to determine the situation in any way can be relieved by Federal action. John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers' organization, has assured the committee he would present "Labour's side" of the controversy and he was summoned as the first witness. Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States' Steel Corporation, was summoned to present the other side of the controversy, but will be unable to appear until next week. He will be asked to make a detailed statement and then submit to cross examination.

BICYCLE RIDERS IN POLICE COURT

Bicycle riders have been having a race meet lately on Hunter street, between Sheridan street and the Hunter street bridge. The road is in bad condition owing to the work on the new bridge, and bicycle riders have been in the habit of taking the sidewalk on the north side, and swishing down the incline at a great speed. The police have continually warned them but no heed was taken, and to-morrow morning a number of the speed kings will be asked what they have to say about it by the Magistrate.

One heavy motor truck had the audacity to leave the road at this point and ascend to the sidewalk. Pedestrians were squeezed between the truck and the stone wall at that point, and no notice would have been taken of it if Police Sergeant James Reid had not happened along, and ordered the driver back.

WILL SUBMIT BY-LAWS PASSED BY THE COUNCIL

RESIDENTS COMPLAIN OF SHUNTING ON BETHUNE STREET.

A bylaw passed the City Council last night and will be submitted to the ratepayers on October 24th along with the Gummed Paper Company by-law, authorizing the city to exempt the club house and the land of the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association from any taxation excepting school taxes and local improvement.

Ald. Taylor moved and it was seconded by Ald. Phelan, and no dissenting votes were recorded.

The city originally agreed to place no taxes on the veterans' property whatever but they later found that they had not this power as the Ontario Legislature had provided for exemption from taxes for the veterans if approved by the ratepayers except school taxes and local improvement.

Mr. W. Head, of Bethune street, was present with a complaint and told of nights of sleeplessness due to box cars of squealing pigs left on the siding, and locomotives filling with water from the stand pipes, at the dead of night.

Mr. Head asked the council to stop the railway from continuing this nuisance as he and his neighbors wanted some sleep in the near future. Ald. J. Edgar, chairman of the Railway Committee, assured Mr. Head that the city would do all they could to stop it.

The meat inquiry it is expected will be resumed with a view to an early fixing of profits. Sub Commissioner J. L. EXHIBITS WERE NUMEROUS AND ATTRACTIONS BETTER THAN USUAL —FINANCIAL SUCCESS WAS ASSURED ACCORDING TO STATEMENT OF DIRECTORS.

PETERBOROUGH REPRESENTED

Lakefield Fair yesterday afternoon was a gratifying success to the directors, and the hundreds of farmers from the surrounding townships whose automobiles enable them to travel in ease distances that used to be undertaken only on occasions of necessity. Intermittent rains in the morning kept the directors uneasy until the noon hour when the sun shone forth with its golden radiance of autumn to temper the cool west winds and touch the air with a warmth of departing summer. Late in the afternoon when the ticket men made their returns to the secretary-treasurer, Mr. Thompson Braden, there was every assurance of a satisfactory credit balance that would be increased by the receipts from the evening concert.

In the old days the farmers used to make a day of the Fair, but their time has seemingly taken on a new value, and with motor cars they can leave home after dinner, enjoy all the social and other attractions of the Fair and return in time for supper at the family board. This was particularly noticeable yesterday, and will soon lose whatever novelty it now presents. New times and new conditions reach out even to semi-rural agricultural exhibitions. The crowd included quite a number of the citizens of Peterboro, and if the County Council had called the roll they would probably have found a quorum present from the Warden to the Clerk. Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., was there too, and Mr. Ernie McDonald, the U. F.O. candidate over in the east riding, also showed signs of realizing an election campaign was closing its first day and that the busiest month in his career had opened before him.

The exhibits were fairly numerous in all the classes with a fine showing of carriage horses. The skating rink housed the indoor exhibits of flowers, fruits, ladies' work and dairy products, and on one side Alford's lunch enjoyed, without any extra charge, the music of the Heintzman Hall exhibit in charge of Mr. Oscar Freeburn and Mr. Bruce Hutchison. Outside there were displays of automobiles, clothing, hardware and other things, most of which were shown by Peterborough firms. There was a miniature midway, and all the departments of the big Fairs, including a horse ring in front of the grand stand that closely followed Peterborough's arrangement.

The Races.

A race card of two events provided an interesting diversion to the accompaniment of the Chemong Indians' band of eighteen pieces, conducted by Mr. Taylor. In the meantime the people took advantage of every opportunity to discuss their common interests, such as health, friends, crops, prohibition and politics, while the young folks had their own affairs to look to, and the small boys including the Grove school pupils, found attractions their elders had long forgotten. Four heats in the free-for-all were required to decide the division of the purse for the first two places between William Elmhirst of Indian River and Richard Elmhirst, of Lang, the former winning out behind "Doris Patch." Mr. Harry Winch was the official starter, and Messrs. R. J. Munroe and T. Eakins were the judges.

The results were as follows:

FIREBUG AT WORK IN BRANTFORD

(Canadian Press.)

BRANTFORD, Sept. 25.—The concern of the activity of a firebug here, following about ten incendiary fires, was increased this morning when it became known that Fire Chief Lewis had received two threatening letters form an incendiary enclosing sketches, showing places he would attack within few days, and warning the Chief to look after innocent children. The incendiary says he is out for revenge against the city and will get it. Yesterday there was a mysterious attempt to fire the Heid block in the centre of the city.

HOUSE WRECKED BY A BOMB

(Canadian Press.)

BATAVIA, N. Y., Sept. 25. — Black handers are believed to be responsible for the wrecking by a bomb of the two story building of Carl Trimarchi, in this city, early to-day, killing three persons and injuring four.

The house was literally blown to pieces. One child was thrown into the street by the force of the explosion.

The GUARANTEE that covers the PAINT that covers the SURFACE

THERE are plenty of reasons why you should use B-H Paint—but the one outstanding reason is told in the B-H Guarantee.

This is not like ordinary guarantees—it is a very definite and far-reaching one. It is a "hard and fast" commitment on the part of the well-known manufacturers of this product; by it they bind themselves to the use of a pure white lead and pure zinc in correct proportions.

It is these important basic ingredients that give to B-H Paint its remarkable covering capacity. These ingredients in proper proportion—when mixed with pure refined linseed oil and turpentine—ensure that your house will be properly painted with a smaller quantity of B-H Paint than you would have to use if you contented yourself with a paint of lesser quality. Do not, then, permit your desire to be economical to lead you on the "false economy trail" of cheap paints. That way lies extravagance. Only by using a high-quality paint, such as the B-H guarantee ensures, can you be certain of real economy which comes from the use of a paint that covers well and lasts wonderfully.

CASES TO BE TRIED AT FALL ASSIZES

ONE CHARGE OF MURDER AND TWO NON-JURY CIVIL SUITS.

Two non-jury civil cases are set down for trial in the Supreme Court, before Chief Justice Mulock here next Tuesday.

Hart vs. Greenland.

The plaintiff claims $2,101.43 on a mortgage made in her favor by the defendants on November 5th, 1918, in Havelock.

The defendant, Arthur Greenland, states that on September 12th, 1918, he entered into an agreement for the sale of the property covered by the mortgage sued upon and of the butcher business and chattels connected with it. Greenland had $500 in cash and there was the mortgage for $2000, leging misrepresentation by the He deposes that he and his wife were strangers in Havelock and knew nothing of the business conditions there but relied on the statements of plaintiff and her agent, Alex. R. Merrill. These statements led him to believe that the payments required by the mortgage and other expenses of the business could be easily paid from the proceeds of the business and property. He had moved from Toronto. He made no payments on account of the mortgage in principal or interest but moved back to Toronto, and almaking the total consideration $2,500. plaintiff, presents a counter claim that the conveyance be set aside, that the $500 with interest be returned and damages of $800.

Gordon & O'Brien are solicitors for the plaintiff.

Strong vs. Strong.

Mrs. Mary Ann Strong, wife of Henry Strong of Cavan township, claims alimony at the rate of 36 a week, the costs of the action, payment of $145, accounting of proceeds of sale of plaintiff's crops and calves, delivery of her horses, waggon and poultry and further relief that seems meet to the Court.

Plaintiff was a widow and defendant a widower when they were married on June 23rd, 1915. Plaintiff then had $1,500 and certain furniture. After the marriage, Mrs. Strong asserts, her husband induced her to buy a farm in Hope township and a team of horses for $150, and harness. She also bought a cow and some poultry. Strong has two unmarried sons and he insisted that they live on the plaintiff's farm. Mrs. Strong says she paid $50 to satisfy a bank claim against her husband and advanced him loan of $16 to meet another suit. Certain other sums were also advanced to him. Plaintiff claims that her husband used obscene and abusive language to her, violently pushed her against a wall, causing her much suffering and frequently flourished pieces of furniture over her head, threatening to dash out her brains. By such intimidation she says she was induced to part with her money to the defendant.

On Sept. 29, 1917, at defendant's request, plaintiff granted a lease of the farm to Stanford Strong, son of the defendant, at the rent of $30 a year for the purpose of giving him an excuse for avoiding military service and not bona fide for the purpose of working the farm, which he abandoned shortly afterwards, paying no rent.

The defendant denies all the allegations.

J. Guise Bagley, for the plaintiff; Gordon & O'Brien for defendant.

ACCUSED OF MURDER.

For the murder of Philip Yarnoff, at Havelock, on Sunday, June 22nd, five Russians are separately accused. They are Alexander Martinuk, Sam Zikuski, Michael Bahri, Thomas Kornchek and P. Rotyuski. They ware committed for trial on June 30 by Magistrate Langley.

FINED FOR WALKING ON THE TRACKS

A SMALL GRIST IN POLICE COURT THIS MORNING.

William Martin, Waterford Street, last Monday passed a standing street car with 2 horse and buggy. It cost him $8.10 this morning for the privilege.

Canadian [illegible] railway policemen made one [illegible] periodical visits to the city this week and landed three local men in Police Court this morning for using their railway tracks as a sidewalk. John Smith, 554 Chamberlain Street; E. G. Clarke, 571 Aylmer Street, and Edwin Barrie each paid $5.10.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

INCREASE IS MUCH APPRECIATED

The Employees of the Brinton Carpet Co., certainly do appreciate the increase in their wages. The Carpet Factory seems a significant little place to most people, who are quite unaware of the excellent goods that are produced by most competent work people. One also has to give the Company credit for reinstating the men who enlisted and have returned fit enough to carry on with their former jobs. It takes quite a while for these men to settle down but the Superintendent is very patient and seems to have the "knack" of handling them. Wishing the Company every success.

Ninety Third

P.S.—By the way, have you noticed this last few weeks what a lot of young men who had weak hearts while the war was on, have paid $10.00 to go up in an airplane? Yet while the war was on they were offered free board and lodgings and a trip half way round the world and money to spend on the way. Funny isn't it? Figure it out for yourself. I wonder if they would have gone up for $2,000?

Happy Mothers

Many mothers who in order to keep the home neat and attractive, the children well fed and dressed, continually overdo.

The experience of motherhood alone causes a severe strain upon the system, from which many women recover slowly, and serious feminine disorders may develop unless great care is taken to prevent them.

To such women Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is invaluable. For many years this root and herb medicine has been recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills, restoring them to a normal, healthy condition.

Mrs. Walsh's Case

Avonport, N. S.—"I have obtained great benefit by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had five children and have taken the Vegetable Compound before each of them was born, except the first one, and if I was pregnant again I would take it. I was always troubled with a bearing down feeling when on my feet but since taking Vegetable Compound I feel a lot better. I hope you will publish this letter if it will help some other suffering women."

MRS. SEYMOUR WALSH,
Avonport,
Nova Scotia.

A Word to Childless Women

There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in many cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

THIRD DOSE RELIEF! FIFTH DOSE! DIARRHOEA STOPPED

Diarrhoea does not need to persist for any length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. No other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a condition of prostration and very often total collapse.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only prompt and effectual in checking the diarrhoea, but at the same time acts as a stimulant, strengthening the heart and braces up the whole system, and one of its principal points is that it does not leave the bowels in a constipated condition.

Mr. W. H. Arnold, Fort Qu-Appelle, Sask., writes: "A few years ago while out threshing I had a severe attack of diarrhoea. Nothing I took seemed to do me any good. I was getting worse all the time. Hearing that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry was good for diarrhoea I went into town and procured a bottle. After the third dose I felt relief and after I had taken the fifth dose the diarrhoea had stopped. I always keep it in the house and would not be without it."

SHOULD BE DENIED.

The statement is frequently being made at public meetings of soldiers and in general conversation, that the Dominion government has given an honorarium of $500,000 to Sir Arthur Currie as recogition of his services as commander-in-chief of the Canadian forces. No such grant has been made to General Currie, and the Government should lose no time in issuing an official denial of the report that is being circulated. Its frequent repetition has the effect of causing dissatisfaction among the soldiers. "If the government can afford to give General Currie half a million dollars it can do something for us," is a remark that is often heard when the gratuity question is being discussed, and wherever the report originated, it has spread quickly and is believed by many soldiers. General Currie, it should be understood, has received no financial reward for his services other than the war gratuity paid to all Canadian officers and men, and somebody in authority at Ottawa could set at rest the rumour by a few words to that effect. Even officials of the G. W.V.A., notably the vice-president of one of the Toronto branches, who should be well informed on such matters, have been repeating the report about General Currie's honourarium.

THE RED TRIANGLE DRIVE.

When the Red Triangle Drive was held throughout Canada last Spring, on behalf of the Y. M. C. A. work for soldiers and returned men, the Peterboro Campaign was postponed in order that the Drive at the Great War Veterans' Association should not be interfered with. The citizens of Peterboro are now to be given their opportunity of showing in a practical form their appreciation of what the Red Triangle has done for Canada's soldiers. On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, Sept. 30th and October 1st, there will be a whirlwind campaign in this city with $7,500 as the local objective. A very strong committee, headed by Messrs Geo. A. MacDonald, W. R. Breifogle and Vincent Eastwood, will be in charge of the canvass, and a ready and hearty response should greet the appeal that is being made. It is a significant endorsation of the worth of the Y.M.C.A.'s Military Department that the Great War Veterans are co-operating in the Drive and a team of veterans will participate in the canvass.

Peterboro has surely no desire to fall behind the rest of the country in support of the Y. M. C. A. and next week's campaign gives the city a chance to get on even terms with the other communities which achieved their objectives in the general drive. The activities of the Red Triangle did not, of course, terminate with the signing of the armistice. As long as there is a Canadian soldier overseas there will be work for the Y. M. C. A.'s Military Department, not only in England but on the transports and at the Canadian ports and on the trains. And naturally the work among returned men has increased in proportion to the number of men who have come back. There are Y. M. C. A. secretaries at all dispersal points to assist the soldiers in any way possible, while in Quebec, Montreal and Toronto the Red Triangle Huts provide sleeping and eating accomodation for all returned men at moderate rates. These huts are of the greatest value to the men just back from "over there" and are extensively used, the Red Triangle Hut in Toronto being a headquarters for returned men. The Y. M. C. A. also gives six months' membership privileges in any of the local branches in Canada to any discharged man who wishes to apply for same.

In fact columns could be used to tell of the splendid work the Y. M. C. A. has done and is doing for the Canadians who fought in the great war. At this late stage it surely, however, is not necessary, to dwell length upon the Red Triangle activities. The people of Peterboro have been able to form a rather comprehensive idea of what has been accomplished, and are no doubt convinced that the Y. M. C. A.'s achievement is one of which any organization might justly be proud. It is upon the record of that work that the "Y." makes its appeal for a subscription of $7,500 from the people of of this city. The sum is not a large one, compared with the objective of other drives that have been held here, and the desired amount should be readily forthcoming if the citizens see the need of subscribing.

A FARMERS' STRIKE.

A strike of the farmers as a protest against the activities of the Board of Commerce is advocated editorially in the current issue of the Farmers' Sun. It should prove interesting reading for the labour man, who will hardly relish the suggestion that their own favourite method should be turned against a movement that is supposed to be going to make conditions better for the consumer.

Here is what the Sun says:

Ever since Ontario farmers made beef, hogs and milk, rather than grain, their chief money crops, they have been fairly heavy purchasers of millfeeds. In addition to the coarse grain sproduced on their own farms they have been obliged, in order to keep up production in the more finished lines, to buy large quantities of concentrates.

The coming year, because of limited yields following upon an unfavourable season, Ontario farmers will have to purchase more heavily than for years past if the normal output of meats and dairy products is to be maintained. And mill feeds of all kinds are abnormally high. Cotton seed or oil cake cannot be laid down at the farmer's door much, if any, under $100 per ton. Bran at Montreal costs $45 per ton, and shorts $55. It is not long since oil cake could be bought for less than bran costs now. Bran is nearly double the price it was four years ago, and shorts have more than doubled.

In the face of these conditions milk producers are naturally asking higher prices for their milk. They must have higher prices if they are to make ends meet.

But, when milk producers propose to increase their charges, this man O'Connor steps in and says there must be no advance until a committee appointed by himself has decided whether it is called for or not. And on the committee appointed to settle this point there are ten city people and one farmer! An equvalent would be to sue satan and hold the court in hades. Moreover the committee appointed by O'Connor has until the end of October to state its findings, while the price producers are to receive for their winter milk should be set on the first of October.

If I were the Milk and Producers' Association I would go ahead and fix a fair price and, if O'Connor and the consumers he represents objected, I would go on strike just as Union Labour does when Labour thinks it is not getting a fair deal. A farmers' strike, cutting off food supplies from the city altogether, would bring the interests that have for years had the long end of things at the expense of agriculture, more quickly to their senses than this object could be accomplished in any other way. Let us have a show down. It has to come so time and may as well come now.

THE HEARST PLATFORM.

In an address to the people of Ontario in announcing the Provincial elections, Sir William Hearst outlines his platform—the word his is used advisedly for the government failed to call a convention for the purpose of considering a policy, and the programme outlined by the Premier will be as new to his followers as it is to the public generally. However, there are very few of the seventeen planks of the Hearst platform that are novel and the most striking are those lifted out of the platform of the Independent Labour Party, promising a pension fund for mothers and the establishment of a minimum wage. Sir William Hearst in his manifesto makes a further effort to conciliate the workers by promising them direct representation in the cabinet. The labour men will, however, be inclined to ask why these reforms were left until the eve of an election. They know that the government refused to make any progressive movement along these lines during the time that it has been in power and will be inclined to look upon the adoption of new measures at the eleventh hour as guided more by the hope of winning votes than in a desire to be of service to the province.

Sir William to the farmers promises the "greatest possible assistance to agriculture in every shape and form." That is surely a general and a widespread offer, but viewed in the light of the government's record in regards to agriculture, a record that has been so unsuccesful that the coming election finds the farmers united to oppose the government candidates in every rural riding, the promise loses any weight it might otherwise have had. Cheap light and power, too, are to be supplied the farmers, but the latter need not be reminded of the fact that the Hydro-Electric development will be carried on just as effectively under any other regime as under that of Sir William Hearst.

For the people generally the Premier offers "measures to reduce the high cost of living." That sounds well and does not commit the government to anything. Sir William does not elaborate this point, which is a pity. The electors of Ontario are doubtless anxious to learn how the government proposes to deal with the cost of living, handicaped as it is by a somnolent Attorney-General whose masterly inactivity has done much to earn for the Ontario Cabinet the name of "The Seven Sleepers." Measures to reduce the cost of living with Hon. Mr. Lucas as Attorney-General! Will Sir William Hearst please tell us how they are to be effected.

The returned soldiers are not overlooked in the Premier's grab-bag. They are to have "special consideration," whatever Mr. Hearst means by that, and Brigadier-General Ross, member for Kingston, is taken into the cabinet to prove the sincerity of the government. The returned soldiers' representative you notice, however, is selected by the Premier and not by the ex-service men. In this Sir William was wise, for had the choice been left to the soldiers themselves they might have selected Lieut.-Col. Machin with very embarrassing results to the Premier.

The other proposals in the Hearst platform cover little new ground. The manifesto has overlooked nobody, unless it is the Personal Liberty League. There is something promised for nearly everybody else—and in that respect Sir William has left little undone.

THE memory of Robert Jaffray is still green. Following George Brown, his personality dominated The Globe. . From 1888 to 1914 his presidency of The Globe emphasized its leadership in Canadian journalism, and laid broad and deep the foundation of The Globe's commercial success.

Robert Jaffray's devotion to Liberalism was conditional on that party's devotion to policies for the development of Canada and the betterment of Canadian life.

In this, and in his generous attention to the up-building of The Globe's news gathering organization, Robert Jaffray carried on the task the founder set for himself in 1844.

The Globe is not, and never will be, a party or political organ. It is a Great Family Newspaper. Throughout its long career it has possessed strong, courageous, upright men to carry on its policy of unswerving advocacy of the rights of the people.

The "Big Interests" have never influenced its decisions—nor gained the slightest control over its policies.

As the principal stockholder of The Globe, Robert Jaffray showered his care and attention upon the paper—building up its departments, giving them greater scope, being constantly in touch with its editors on all matters relating to The Globe's policy on political and general questions. When death called Robert Jaffray, on Dec. 15th, 1914, he left The Globe bigger and better for what he had done to further George Brown's ideal.

To-day its President, Mr. W. G. Jaffray, and The Globe directors and staff, are carrying on its affairs with a view to increasing its wide circle of influence—giving it more and more a place in every Canadian home.

The Globe is free to speak the thing it believes without consideration of any interest in finance or politics, other than the interest of the Canadian people.

The actual ownership of an important semi-public institution such as The Globe necessarily is a matter of public interest and the question frequently is asked: "Who owns The Globe"?

Mr. W. G. Jaffray, as President of The Globe Printing Company, in the 75th Anniversary Number, March 5th, 1919, said:—

"It is my conviction, as publisher of The Globe, that I should hold aloof from any financial investments the advancement of which possibly might conflict with the public interest. As chief owner of The Globe, it has been urged upon me to state in the first place, that the control of the capital stock of The Globe is in the hands of myself as the largest shareholder, and that the remaining shares necessary to constitute the majority holding are held by other members of the family of the late Senator Robert Jaffray; in the second place, that my holding of stocks other than Globe stock is limited to a very few shares of small value in two or three privately owned companies, which shares have been and still are for sale at the first reasonable market. This statement should convince readers of The Globe that there are no financial relationships to influence its direction and its policies."

The Globe can give no greater guarantee of its integrity than this, not that it doubts its readers' belief in its sincerity, but its publishers wish to impress upon all readers and prospective readers that their sole ambition is to produce a newspaper in keeping with the wishes of its founder, and thereby continue to deserve a place in every Canadian home.

A CONFIDENTIAL CONVERSATION

CHAPTER LXXV

I sat for an hour without moving stunned by what Mr. Frederick had told me. I went over our conversation, every word seemed fairly burned into my memory so fearfully had they hurt me. That Neil, my Neil, the father of my boy should be dishonest; should knowingly cheat and deceive people was almost unbearable. Yet once more was I filled with distrust, once more had veered entirely around in my thoughts.

I had been so sure that in this last analysis Neil would prove himself all I thought him; that in this talk with Mr. Frederick I should learn that all my fears, all my forebodings had been useless, that the cruel gossip I had heard had been nothing but gossip, and without foundation, that the reaction was terrible.

"Can I ever believe in him again? Can I ever be happy?" I said aloud as I got up and weakly, like an old woman climbed the soft carpeted stairs to my room, the room which I had so delighted in, and which now I looked at almost with loathing as I recalled what Mr. Frederick had said. People were blaming Neil for living as we did—perhaps they were also blaming me. Maybe they thought I wanted him to be dishonest so I could have a handsome home cars and all the luxuries we enjoyed. The thought was torture.

I deliberately made a round of the house. Even into the kitchen did I go, impressing upon myself the luxury with which I was surrounded. Could it be true that Neil was really taking money from widows and orphans to buy all this? I tried to refute it in mind; tried to say no he hadn't done so! Everything we had had been honestly earned, but I couldn't. In the light of what Mr. Frederick had told me, I couldn't!

I knew he would not willingly hurt me, that while he was blunt he was also kind. He had probably softened much; things perhaps were worse than he had told me. No wonder he as well as Lorraine tried to save me from the mortification which would have been mine had adhered to my plan to enter society. No wonder he had advised me to wait until he had 'a lok in.' I wondered if he had seen Mr. Powers—he had said that he might. Why didn't I think to ask him. I wouldn't fail to do so next time he came. He, everyone, had a great respect for the big banker, and his opinion.

I started to order the car, then halted. The cars, too, were they not bought with other people's money? Was not Neil criticised for having them also? No, not until I knew more of what was true, and what false would I use the cars. I would walk.

It may have been a morbid streak in me that made me choose the oldest, plainest dress in my wardrobe. Then I took little Robert in his go-cart and walked for an hour. When I came back I felt better physically; but my mental distress had been increased.

I had met Lorraine Morton. She turned and walked with me, looking in surprise at my costume.

"Where oh where is the stylish Mrs. Forbes gone, oh, where oh, where has she gone?" she sang out at me.

"Lorraine will you answer me a question, and answer it truthfully? I asked without preamble.

"If I answer it at all I will tell the truth," she bantered. I was sure she had no idea of what I was going to say.

"Are people talking of our extravagance, our new house, cars and all the other things when they speak of us?" I couldn't say Neil's name. It stuck in my throat.

"Why—Barbara—" Then: "Yes, Barbara, they are! I never should have told you, had you not asked. But they say he takes the money given him to invest, and uses it to make a splurge, to live on. I am sorry you asked me. I am afraid you will connect me only with disagreeable things."

"I wanted the truth."

"I know you haven't been to blame. You didn't know."

"I have been to blame. I should have made it my business to know"

Sunday, Sept. 28, will be Rally Day in the Presbyterian Sunday school.

Attended Induction.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Choate and several others attended the service conducted by Archdeacon Warren, inducting the Rev. Arthur Archibald into Lakefield and Warsaw charges.

Mr. Archibald is warmly welcomed as he was here eighteen years ago. He will conduct Sunday school and preaching service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Next Sunday, Sept. 28th, will be a special Thanksgiving service. It is many months since the Anglicans have had the privilege of worshipping regularly in their own church.

Some minister will be sent to conduct service in the Baptist church next Sunday morning.

On Friday evening, Sept. 26th there will be a meeting of the Referendum executive. All members are requested to be present at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church.

The King's Daughters Girls' Club will meet on Friday afternoon in the hall over Mrs Calder's store. All girls and young women are welcomed.

Tags to raise money for the township referendum expenses were sold at the School Fair and realized $17.80.

The telephone men were around today and we hope that, at last, we may have telephones that are some use.

WHEN APPETITE FAILS AND HEALTH DECLINES FOLLOW THIS SUGGESTION

REQUIRES ONLY A COUPLE OF SMALL TABLETS AFTER MEALS TO FIX YOU UP AGAIN.

A New Blood-Food Called Fersozone Sure to Restore You Quickly.

Every day comes the good news of wonderful cures with Ferrozone.

In Peterboro it worked marvels for Louis Meehan—put him right on his feet—made him entirely well.

"About three years ago," says Mr. Meehan, "I had the Grippe which left me in a very run-down condition that finally developed into Dyspepsia. I was unable to eat but a few things and had a craving for acid. I gave up treating with the doctors because they did not help me and on the advice of a friend used Ferrozone. It not only cured me of Dyspepsia and Biliousness, but has built up my strength to what it was before I had the Grippe. I can recommend Ferrozone as an ideal restorative."

Ferrozone gives you force, energy, vim.

It strengthens the stomach, cures indigestion, prevents headaches — guarantees good health.

Thousands use Ferrozone—they all feel better; try it yourself— sold in 50c. boxes, six for $2.50, at all dealers or direct from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Music In The Home

DOES THE FINISH ON YOUR PIANO CASE SNOW SIGNS OF "CHECKING?"

How many housekeepers have felt annoyed when they found the finish of the piano case showing little cracks? "Checking" is the technical term. Every varnish finished piano will show a certain amount of such checking in time, but few people who ever make any complaint seem to know this. Manufacturers claim that there are no pianos over two years old with cases which are not checked. They only say that some woods do not show this checking as plainly as others. It is an actual fact that there are some people who, because the purchase of a piano is to them an important event, claim that the warrant given with the instrument covers the rusting of strings and pins; who even say that a piano should not go out of tune in a year, or in two years. They do not mean to be unreasonable; they are so unconsciously, but they do not know anything about pianos.

It is quite impossible to prevent "checking" in piano cases, just as it is quite impossible to prevent pianos going out of tune; wood and steel always being affected by weather or atmospheric conditions. Varnished or polished surfaces are especially sensitive to sudden changes of temperature and cannot always be expected to maintain a glass-like finish. The polish or finish of a piano is really a solid body of three dimensions of length, breadth and thickness; a small fraction of an inch thick, many inches wide and more inches long. It must expand or contract with every change of temperature. Something has to give, and the varnish on the piano is that thing. This being the case, the owner of the piano should feel assured that it is the nature of the finish to do so, but that it will not peel off more than will the glaze on china. There is one thing [illegible] rarely think of when they claim that the piano in their house has not been subjected to sudden changes of temperature. The house where it stands is not always kept as clean as it might be and the rugs and carpets are not swept daily, hence when the joint fit of house-cleaning day, engendered by such conditions, arrives, the windows are opened wide to let out the cloud of dust that is sure to arise and a cold draught of air sweeps in on the piano. The cold the weather the warmer the house from artificial heat, just before the windows are opened. Here is a condition which is not only bad for the case, but very hard upon the piano as a musical instrument. Under such conditions the finish on the case will check just about as rapidly as a delicate cup will break when plunged into very hot water. The delicate child is hustled out of a room where a cold draught is coming in from an open window, but the piano is never given a thought. The fact is that a piano is primarily a musical instrument — and a sensitive instrument at that—but as far as the case goes, it is only cabinet work—household furniture, which no one should ever expect not to show signs of wear and tear.

MUSICIANS SHOULD BE PAID FOR THEIR SERVICES.

When there is under discussion the raising of a fund for some charitable or religious purpose, the first thought is to get several musicians to give a concert "under the patronage of Mme. So-and-So," the performers give a day or two of their time, all told, to preparing and presenting a programme for which the society people get the glory.

How would it be to call on other professions or businesses for the same amount of time for the earnings of the same period and apply that to the charity?

For instance there is the lawyer who gets his $50 to $200 a day; the surgeon who gets a like amount for an operation; the merchant whose profit is $25 to $100 a day; the banker who makes much more?

Why not ask them for the day's time, just as the musician is asked for his? Would it be as willingly given as by the musician? It is not fair to ask $10 to $20 worth of time from the performer and let the lawyer off with buying a dollar's worth of tickets.

In this respect, the musical fraternity is the most generous of all classes and has given more in proportion to all forms of public aid, such as the Red Cross, and to charity.

But why not urge the other business and professions to do their share?

THE PIANO'S FRAMEWORK.

Few persons are aware of the enormous strain of so many tightly stretched wires on the framework of a piano. At present the total pull of the strings in a concert grand aggregates 42,000 pounds. Not many years ago an abnormally high pitch called "concert pitch" was in vogue (fortunately now obsolete) and at this high pitch the strain reached nearly 60,000 pounds. No wonder that the structure of a modern piano is strongly and heavily braced!

The pianos of a hundred years ago had much thinner wires, and less tightly stretched, consequently the whole structure could be made lighter and less solid.

THE TEST OF MUSICIANSHIP.

There is a certain class of music students who aim no higher than to play things at top speed. They have an eye merely to brilliance in execution, and in so doing they miss the real spirit of the composition. Music is not an apotheosis of mechanics, although, it is true, agility is a necessary achievement in playing. Technic, however perfect, should always be subordinated to the true art of music. As a matter of fact the most stringent test of real musicianship, so far as the artistic side is concerned, is the rendering of a slow form. For in this, the phrasing, the artistic concept, the beauty of tone is fully revealed, whereas in swift playing, the fault may be obscured and hidden, thus deceiving the listener into the belief that the player is an artist.

Let tecnic be your servant — not your master.

PETERBOROUGH'S SHARE

The great work conducted for "Our Boys," "Over There" and in looking after the comfort in England before sailing home, as well as on the troopships and later on the troop trains and in the demobilization centres and military hospitals in Canada, will be completed by April 1st, 1920. In the meantime money—considerable of it, although not as much as before—is required to carry the work to a successful conclusion. Peterboro's share is only $7.500. This is mostly for the National Red Triangle Fund but it includes an allowance that was set aside to place our local Y.M.C.A. in first class shape to look after the needs of over 200 Returned Men who are now using the building almost daily. Every Y.M.C.A. in Canada—including our Peterboro Association—has given its local returned men a six months full membership ticket free of charge and tens of thousands of them are using these privileges. We want the men to know and feel that we are glad to have them back home with us NEXT

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

ANOTHER INDUSTRY TO LOCATE IN PETERBORO

RATEPAYERS WILL BE ASKED TO APPROVE OF THE AGREEMENT WITH AMERICAN FIRM— SECURE CORDAGE WORKS.

THE CONDITIONS

Another American manufacturing company has decided to locate a Canadian branch in Peterboro following the lead of the Western Clock Company if the ratepayers approve of the agreement which has been drawn up by City Solicitor Widdifield and representatives of the Company at their head office, Nashua, New Hampshire. The Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Company have been negotiating with the city since the early part of the summer and had representatives in all parts of the provinces seeking for likely centres. They finally narrowed the selection down to Brantford and Peterboro, with this city as a favourite. Brantford offered them a new plant and many other concessions but prompt work on the part of Industrial Commissioner S. R. Armstrong backed up by the City Fathers secured this rapidly growing industry for Peterboro.

Representatives Here in August.

Mr. V. E. Nunez and Mr. Brown representing the Company were in the city on August 28th and Mr. Winthrop, L. Carter, Treasurer and Mr. Nunez appeared before the Committee of the Whole Council on September 11, and were informed that their proposition, the outline which they gave, would be acceptable. Mr. Nunez congratulated the City Fathers on their business acumen a thing which he had noted in Canada and which he said seemed to be lacking in some places across the border.

Secure Old Cordage Works Plant.

The Company will open up in the old Cordage plant now owned by the Stickley Motors, Limited who wish to be rid of the plant as soon as possible and have offered it to the city at a cost of $50,000, the offer holding good until November 1. A short time ago an Appraisal Company valued the plant with heating apparatus, which is included in the price of $90,000, at $152,561. The city is to purchase the plant at a total cost of $50,000; put in repairs at an estimated cost of $7,000 and rent it to the Gummed Paper Company at an annual rental of 7 per cent. of the cost of the plant plus the cost of the repairs The lease will last for a period of five years at the end of which time the Company will have the option of either buying the property at the same price which the city paid for it or renew the lease for another five years. The present fixed assessment of $10,000 which was granted the Stickney Motors, will be allowed to stand and in addition the company will pay school and local improvement taxes.

A Good Financial Investment

Even if at the end of the five years lease the Company decided to close down, the city would not have a white elephant on their hands as they would pay five and a half per cent. for the money to purchase it and would receive from the Company seven and one half per cent. in the form of rental and in addition the city would own property greatly increased in value as present values go, as the company agrees to keep up repairs after the initial repairs made by the city. If on the other hand the ratepayers voted nay to the agreement and the plant remained empty there would be no business assessment on it and judging from past experience the assessment would be lowered and by having it occupied the benefit of the school taxes on the business assessment will be received. The rental will more than pay the interest on the money invested ad the balance, which will be about one and a half per cent. on the whole amount will go towards paying for the property. In addition the Company will pay insurance on the property for the city.

Mr. Widdifield at Head Office.

Mr. C. R. Widdifield, the City Solicitor left last Saturday for the head office of the Company at Nashua and reports that they have a most magnificent plant. Mr. Widdifield drew up the agreement with the officials of the Company and returned this afternoon and a special meeting of the City Council was called to ratify it.

The Growth of the Company

Starting twenty years ago in the city of Boston with a barrel of glue and a ton of paper and turning the receipts of the sale of the coated paper into more materials the industry has had a phenomenal growth. They left Boston in 1911 when they were burnt out and located at Nashua with thirty hands. They now have a most magnificent plant there with 750 hands and another factory at Middletown, Ohio, where at present 25 hands are employed with a day and night shift and the Company is contemplating doubling the capacity of this plant at once. A plant is now being built in England and when the Peterboro plant is in operation they expect to do a total annual business of over half a million dollars.

What they Manufacture

The Company manufactures gummed paper, wax paper, even sometimes on various brands of breakfast foods, labels, postage stamp paper, craft paper and a fibre which is now widely used in the place of string. They make corner stays seen on fibre shipping boxes and also manufacture for wrapping bread which wrap sixty loaves a minute. They started in this line of business when various centres in United States and Canada compelled the bakers to wrap their bread and considerable quantities of their wax paper was sold for this purpose. In order to make the wrapping of bread more popular they invented the bread wrapping machine and they are now selling in Canada in large numbers through a subsidary company. This is one of the reasons why the company are so desirous of opening up a Canadian branch, to supply paper for their machines without the handicap of the 42 per cent. duty. Another reason is that they can purchase all materials here. This wax paper will likely be the principal product manufactured in their Canadian branch. The Company also does a $150,000 business in photo papers but this will not likely be manufactured here at first but will no doubt be developed later.

"Canada has a Great Future."

Besides the reasons mentioned for the Company locating in Canada, they intend to branch out in the export business and they wish the benefit of the British preferential tariff. They also have faith in Canada's future development.

"If we didn't feel confident that Canada is on the eve of a tremendous development and expansion we would stay on the other side but we think you are going to have a tremendous immigration of the better class," said Mr. Nunez on September 11 to the Committee of the Whole Council.

Likely Employ Thirty Men

As with all good companies they are cautious about making promises as to employment but Mr. Nunez stated here that they would likely start with about thirty men but as their yearly rental amounts to $4,000 they will likely increase that figure as soon as condition warrant.

Their Annual Sales.

Ten years ago the Company's sales amounted to $7,000 a month, now it is $300,000 a month and still mounting. The orders for bread wrapping machines are also increasing and thus their sales of waxed paper is increased. Although the waxed paper of other companies may be used on the machines the Gum Paper Company employ a number of mechanics who are situated throughout the North American continent and, who are at the disposal of the owner of a bread wrapping machine, free if he uses Nashua Wax paper on his machine.

No Opposition by Council.

The City Council passed the by-law which is to be submitted to the ratepayers on October 24th along with another by-law, without a dissenting vote although Ald. Edgar questioned the wisdom of parting with a property in five years at the same price which was paid for it.

NEW MILK SUBSTANCE MAY BE FUTURE DRESS

You'll dress yourself in milk some day! Nonsense, you say. But listen. In France, they are now taking milk and robbing it first of its fat. Then it is converted into curds by means of rennet. After the curds have been [illegible] boiled, exposed to the air and treated with acetone, a substance is obtained as plastic as putty, as translucent as alabaster; a substance which can be moulded or rolled. The product can be made so soft that it can be used as a substitute for silk in the manufacture of fine underwear; or it may be made solid enough to serve as a good imitation of ivory.—Edmonton Bulletin.

FOCH'S FAMOUS DESPATCH AT BATTLE OF THE MARNE.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—Many versions of Marshal Foch's famous despatch to French General Headquarters during the first battle of the Marne have been published.

Raymond Recouly, whose book on [illegible] has just been published, has been permitted to search the records of the French Army Headquarters, and finds the original despatch from Foch to Joffre reads thus:

"My centre is giving way, my right is retreating. The situation is excellent. I am attacking."

To remove wrinkles from garments which cannot be pressed to advantage, the following plan may be resorted to: Fill the bath-tub with hot water so that it steams copiously, hang the garment where the steam can penetrate its folds, close door and windows and leave for several hours.

GUM TENDERNESS —A TOOTH-MENACE

It is true that four out of five people over forty suffer from gum-shrinkage, or Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). But many people even under thirty have Pyorrhea. Women, particularly after the baby comes, are peculiarly subject to Pyorrhea. At such time they cannot be too careful about their teeth.

Pyorrhea commences with tender gums, or with gum-bleeding, at tooth-brush time. Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame and then shrink. The teeth become exposed to decay at the base and tiny openings in the gums become the breeding places of disease germs which infect the joints—or tonsils—or cause other ailments.

Beware of that first gum tenderness! Try Forhan's for the gums. It positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. No ordinary tooth paste will do this.

And Forhan's cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All druggists.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this to-night, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

DISTINCTIVE EXHIBITS

The Lakefield Fair this year presented a larger number of special mercantile displays than usual. Most of these, however, came from outside firms, only two being noticed from the Lakefield village merchants.

THE J. C. TURNBULL CO. DISPLAY.

A very practical exhibit was made by the J. C. Tusnbull Co., Limited, of Peterborough, in a prominent section of the main building, and came from "Turnbull's Economy Baasement." It consisted of a well set up display of "Tropic" Ranges, manufactured in Peterboorugh by Adam Hall, Limited. It was a very seasonable display and attracted constant crowds seeking for information. These "Tropic" Ranges possess the merit of being adapted for wood or coal, and are constructed to give long service. They have also the merit of being economical in fuel consumption, are handsomely finished and enjoy a splendid reputation for cooking and heating. The samples shown had a large oven 20x22 inches; a 24-inch fire box and six 9-inch covers, with reservoir and hot air warmer and tile closet.

There was also shown a fine display of "Wear-Ever" aluminum utensils, the superiority of which is now so well known by every housekeeper. They cannot rust—there are no joints, seams or soldered parts in which dirt may collect—they cannot chip or scale—are pure and safe. There is little danger of food burning, and even though an accident should happen the utensil can be cleaned without injury. The salesman in charge of the exhibit used a forceful argument by advising the people to "replace utensils that wear out with utensils that "Wear Ever."

A very handy and complete Kitchen Cabinet was also exhibited, equipped with all the culinery conveniences that saved time and steps. The ladies took quite a liking to this feature of the display, and it is safe to conclude that several orders were booked during the afternoon.

All were invited when in Peterborough to visit the "Rest Room" of the Turnbull Store, and meet their friends there, and look through the different departments of this large establishment.

Mr. J. C. Telford was in charge of this exhibit, and showed a live interest in his interviewers.

THE CHEVROLET CAR.

Two fine specimens of the Chevrolet Motor-Car was sent to the Fair by the Manning Garage, Water street, Peterborough, which was represented by Mr. Howson and his sales experts. The styles shown were the "Baby Grand" and "Four Ninety" designs, and they had many admirers during the afternoon.

The Chevrolet Company, instead of adding more power to move the car, has cut down weight and made it easy for the power to make itself felt. Lightness of moving parts made of steel, has led to increased engine efficiency and to economy of fuel. This scientific light-weight construction is the reason why the Chevrolet does so much for so little. The cylinder heads are detachable. The motion at any time. The removable cylinder head is adjusted in a few minutes. In the selection of the material the greatest care is taken. The crankshaft, camshaft, and connecting rod are drop-forged Vanadium steel. The pistons are of aluminum composition. It will be seen by this that the automobile engine builders appreciates his responsibility and understands what is expected of him as his share toward building the dependable, trustworthy Chevrolet.

Men stood around and inspected these two fine Chevrolet models and were heard to remark; "That's the car for me." or, "That's the car I'm going to buy next." The members of the Manning Garage, 398 Wate. street— Messrs. B. W. Manning and Mr. Howson—were familiar faces to many of the farmers at this Fair, having hosts of friends who place confidence in what they say about the "Chevrolet." And it is safe to say that the exhibit was the means of securing several good prospects to be closed shortly.

HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO DISPLAY.

Members of Heintzman Hall, Peterborough, secured the central position in the Main building for an attractive exhibition of their instruments. There was shown a fine mahogany "Cecilian" Player Piano, in satin finish, a beautiful Heintzman & Co. Upright Piano in oak, a mahogany "Canada" piano, and a handsome specimen of the superb sounding Brunswick Phonograph.

This outstanding exhibit of musical instruments and accessories drew large crowds of visitors and the musical recitals which were given during the day proved to be drawing attractions.

The high position and prestige of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co. piano to-day is an evolution the past sixty years. And it can be said that because of their excellence, these pianos have obtained a preeminence that marks them among the unrivalled. One of the best local evidences of the firm's progress is the remarkably growing success of Peterborough's Heintzman Hall, and under the new management of Mr. W. Lawson, this growth is continuing to increase its popularity and growth,

The preference shown Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co. grand and upright grand pianos is due above all else to remarkable individuality of tone—whilst it is none the less noted for its beautiful touch and durability.

The exhibit was in charge of two of Heintzman Hall's enthusiastic salesmen, Messrs. F. B. Hutchison and Oscar Freeburn. The firm's city show rooms, Heinzman Hall, Royal Bank Building, corner George and Hunter streets, extend a hearty welcome to all visitors here.

COLONIAL GLASS CO. DISPLAY.

A very handsome and unique exhibit of rich cut glass was made in the Main building by the Colonial Glass Co., of Lakefield. This was their first showing at a Lakefield Fair, and attracted many admirers. The varied specimens of rich cut glass shown were much admired for their brilliancy. The designs were the result of much careful effort to produce exceptionally rich patterns. The appreciation of the trade has been greater than expected, so that orders have been difficult to fill promptly. Samples of beautifully patterned water jugs, tumblers, bowls, vases, bon-bon dishes, etc., were exhibited, and the effect was very pleasing, showing a highly creditable degree of perfection. Mr. Leggott, of the Colonial Glass Co., was in attendance at his exhibit.

TRUTH

An open letter by W. K. Kellogg.

I am firmly convinced that truth only convinces in the end.

No matter how a man or an institution may try to detract the public's mind from the main issue by a wilderness of words, his product stands or falls upon the truth or untruth of his statement.

The public always is finally convinced by truth and truth alone.

So, disregarding the claims and counter-claims of the imitators, simply make this one statement that

Kellogg's

Try—compare any other corn flakes on the market, then buy of your Grocer one package of Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes, in the Waxtite wrapper—you and your family will eat every bit of it.

If this is not the best Corn Flake you ever ate, your grocer will refund your money. It costs you nothing to find out the truth and it is vety much worth your while.

VISITS PETERBORO AFTER AN ABSENCE OF TWENTY YEARS

MR. R. E. FROST, NOW OF VANCOUVER, SEES MANY CHANGES IN THE CITY.

After an absence of over twenty years a former resident of Peterboro, in the person of Mr. R. E. Frost, now a prominent druggist of Vancouver, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Frost of Otonabee.

Mr. Frost sees many changes in the city during those years spent in the west and thinks that Peterboro has made very rapid progress. He spoke of the neat and sanitary appearance of the streets and also of the many important industries which have been added during the past two decades.

In company with his brother Mr. W. C. Frost, of the Quaker Oats staff, he made an inspection of that plant and was very much pleased with it.

After spending a few days around the city renewing old acquaintances, Mr. Frost leaves for his home in Vancouver, B. C.

THE GRAND PROGRAMME OF BETTER PICTURES, TO-DAY, FRIDAY & SATURDAY

DAINTY EMMY WEHLEN .... IN ROMANTIC COMEDY.

The romantic comedy-drama entitled "A Favor to a Friend," with the beautiful Emmy Wehlen as its star, is the headline attraction at the Grand Theatre to-day.

Among the most popular of the feminine stars of the screen, Emmy Wehlen has an enormous following of her own, who will be glad to learn that in her latest Metro vehicle, this comedy of favors, she will once more return in a part that permits her wearing many new and gorgeous sartorial creations of her own design.

The story is one of action and thrills, pulsating through a plot which depicts the attempts of a young Western girl who comes East to New York to claim her deceased father's estate, and who, upon her arrival, becomes entangled in a series of adventures in rapid succession.

It is said to be by far the best thing that Miss Wehlen has done on the screen, and in it she is well supported by the handsome Jack Mulhall, Hugh Fay, Joseph Kilgour, Effie Conley, Jack Miller, Jr., Harry Todd and Fred H. Warren. Arthur Martinelli photographed "A Favor to a Friend," and Maxwell Karger, Director General, personally supervised the entire production.

"The Woman Under Cover" Portrays Newspaper and Theatrical Life Faithfully.

"The Woman Under Cover," which will be shown for the first time today at the Grand Theatre presents striking realism in its portrayal of the atmosphere surrounding two well known vocations—that of the newspaper and that of the theatre. Moreover, there is a murder involved, which is solved by the star feminine reporter on a leading daily.

In order to depict the theatre scenes in the earlier part of the picture, George Seigmann, the Universal director who guided the filming of the production, rented for an entire week the Morosco Theatre in Los Angeles, a famous playhouse which has seen the entry of scores of shows which later ran successfully on Broadway. Mr. Seigmann also called into conference several newspaper men to give their sanction and suggestions to the newspaper scenes.

"The Woman Under Cover" was filmed from the stage production "Playing the Game," by Sada Cowan, and Fritzi Brunette is featured as the "sob-sister" of the daily newspaper. Without doubt this versatile player will acquire thousands of new admirers by reason of her work in this photodrama. George McDaniels is seen as John McHenry, city editor of the Morning Leader, the newspaper about which much of the dramatic action revolves.

HAUNTING MUSIC FOR 'HIS BRIDAL NIGHT'

THE SHOW IS ONE OF THE BIG SUCCESSES OF THE SEASON.

Margaret Mayo's delightful comedy with music, "His Bridal Night" will be the offering at the Grand on Saturday matinee and evening Oct. 4. The piece possesses a sustained story It presents a complication of farcial situations resulting from a bridegroom's mistake regarding twin sisters one of whom he has just married The plot is based on the substitution of the sister he did not marry. Of course the substitution is discovered, but not until the audience has been treated to a series of situations that bring the laughs at a fast and furious pace. "His Bridal Night", originally presented as a straight farce, has been interpolated with numerous catchy songs by Frederick V. Bowers. Altogether it is a very pleasing show and never fails to win the encomiums of theatre-goers. Prominent in the Robert Knight, long a featured member strong company of fun-makers are ber of big comedy productions; the Crisp Twins, remarkable alike for their strong resemblance to each other and their acting ability; Frank Cullen, one of the best known of character actors; Charles Bennett, Bertha Julian and Beatrice Lett.

NOTED PIANIST AT GRAND TO-NIGHT

WILL BE IN PETERBORO FOR THE REMAINING THREE DAYS OF THIS WEEK.

Mr. Don Alfonso Zelayu the celebrated pianist will be the star vaudeville attraction at the Grand for the remaining three days of this week. Mr. Zelayu is noted for his skill and versatility and his appearance in this city while anticipated some weks ago was not expected so soon. He is a son of the President of a South American republic and being a millionaire many times over is not dependent upon his profession for a living. His appearance on the vaudeville stage is a natural expression of a predominating faculty for music as interpreted by the piano.

FAMOUS FEMINITY AND FILM FUN COMING TO THE GRAND THEATRE

To see a great motion picture production, and at the same time to see and hear the living participants in its making will be the unique privilege of the show-going public at the Grand on Thursday and Friday, October 2, 3, when the famous California nereids of the films, Mack Sennett's Bathing Beauties, will appear in person on the stage simultaneously with the screen showing on the comedy king's latest and biggest production, "Jack Canuck in Berlin".

Sennett's fame has been chiefly earned by his two reel films burlesques, issued by Paramount and made by him for this great releasing agency? "Jack Canuck in Berlin" is wholly a Sennett enterprise put forth only on a state-right basis. It is five reels of continuous hilarity. with German royal bluff and bluster as its butt, and on it the "Griffith of Comedy" has expended all of his wealth of inventive genius in broad satire.

The girls will be seen (and heard) in the same elaborate and bizarre surf raiment worn for the camera lens. They will, as it were, step down out of the screen to carry their message of vigorous health and physical perfection in elaborate poses and a staged sketch.

Lesson in Scientific Complexion Renewing

Everyone has a beautiful skin underneath the one exposed to view. Bear that in mind and it will be easier to understand the correct principle in acquiring a lovely complexion. Nature is constantly shedding the top skin in flaky particles like dandruff, only much smaller in size. In abnormal conditions, or in advancing age, these particles are not shed as rapidly as in robust youth. The longer they remain the more soiled or faded they become—that's the immediate cause of a "bad complexion."

It has been discovered that ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, will absorb these worn-out particles. The absorption, while hastening Nature's work, goes on gradually enough to cause no inconvenience. In a week or two the transformation is complete. The fresh, healthy-hued, youthful underskin is then wholly in evidence. You who are not satisfied with your complexions should get an ounce of mercolized wax and try this treatment. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.

Wealth consists not in store of riches but in contentment and serenity.

A want of proper domestic economy has ruined the peace of many a family. There are women who could carry off their husband's stores on their backs and not half try. There are men who fancy when they marry that they are annexing something far more valuable than Cuba, and find later that they have on hand nothing more than a combined album. Godey's Lady's Book and medicine chest. There are two sides to the picture of home; a man who has a good wife has no right to complain though the whole world be against him, for he's in the majority.

The model housekeeper of to-day who is cultured and refined, and yet enjoys domestic life, who knows how to care for the money brought into the home by the husband, how to use it wisely and well for the comfort of her family, certainly understands domestic economy and should be an object lesson held up for study in the town in which she lived.

STEEL STRIKE SYMPATHIZERS IN A GUN BATTLE

THE STRIKE SITUATION

GOVERNMENT HAS ARRANGED TO HAVE MAILS CARRIED BY AEROPLANES IN EVENT OF A STRIKE—FOOD FOR LONDON AND OTHER LARGE CITIES A PROBLEM.

OUTLOOK HOPEFUL

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 26.— Leaders of the National Union of Railwaymen expressed confidence this morning that an order for a general strike would not be necessary as a result of to-day's conference with Premier Lloyd George and other members of the Cabinet. The Executive committee of the Union conferred for a long time before proceeding to the Ministry to resume negotiations. Immediately after their conference members of the committee stated that the resumption of negotiations had not altered any arrangements already made in connection with calling the strike. Should such action become necessary, local secretaries would call out the men at midnight. In that event orders should be received from the central body.

When J. H. Thomas and other members of the Executive committee of the Union arrived at the Ministry at noon, immense crowds had assembled, awaiting the result of the momentous discussions. George Nicoll Barnes, Minister without portfolio, attended the conference for the first time. Others who were present were George P. Roberts, food controller, Edward Shortt, Secretary for Home Affairs, Sir Eric Geddes, Minister of Transport and Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister for National Service and Reconstruction. The Cabinet had held a meeting before it opened its conference with the Union representatives.

Aerial Service.

The strike will affect probably more than 600,000 men. The Government has arranged to have mails carried by airplane, and to have large motor cars from government services made available for the conveyance of supplies to big towns which will be seriously affected. The locomotive engineers have announced that they would join in the strike, but it is stated that the government has arranged to have many men who drove engines during the war make runs on the principal mail service routes. Tens of thousands of extra automobiles, trucks and 'buses will be turned out on to the great highways of England to carry passengers and freight from place to place.

Outlook Hopeful.

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 26.— Government officials and representatives of the Railway Union were to gather for another conference at noon to-day. Prospects for a settlement were regarded as more hopeful, but the Premier, the Secretary for War and the Food Minister were taking precautions to-day to maintain food supplies in the event of a strike.

If the strike is called 660,000 men would be affected and London would be threatened with starvation. The Government was mobilizing thousands of trucks at depots throughout the country and preparing to form automobile lines to operate between London and the seaports. With London's meagre reserve stock it was estimated a serious food shortage would occur within a week and the entire country would face virtual starvation in a fortnight.

New Scale for Railway Shopmen

(Special to the Examiner.)

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 26—Over a hundred delegates representing organization of railway shopmen in various parts of the Dominion of Canada at the Trades and Labor Congress met in the Sons of England Hall here, last night, to hear reports on the conditions prevailing in outside points. Announcement by Robert J. Tallon, President of the Canadian Division of the Railway Department of the American Federation of Labor, states that within a week negotiations will be reopened before the Canadian Railway War Board, for the establishment of a wage scale and conditions similar to those provided in the agreement signed between the American Executive of the railway employees and President Wilson. This will mean a basic rate of 72 cents an hour for mechanics on all railway lines throughout Canada as well as the adjustment of nearly 240 technical rules dealing with general conditions among employees. The question of hours will not be touched, the railway shopmen in this country having enjoyed the eight hour day for over a year and a half.

R. C. HILLIER HONOURED BY I.O.O.F.; IS ENTERING BUSINESS IN TORONTO

PRESENTED WITH CABINET OF SILVER BY PETERBORO LODGE AND A GOLD RING FROM THE DISTRICT —FAREWELL BANQUET TENDERED LAST NIGHT.

HAS HOST OF FRIENDS HERE

On the eve of his departure for Toronto, where he is entering the electrical business on a partnership basis, Mr. R. C. Hillier was the recipient of splended tokens of esteem and remembrance at a banquet in his honour in the I.O.O.F. Rooms last night. Peterborough Lodge, of which he is a member, presented him with a case of twenty-six pieces of silver, and the District Lodges gave him a valuable gold ring with the three links raised upon it. Mr. T. C. Elliott presided, and the large assembly included many of the district officers. The formal address was read to Mr. Hillier by Mr. P. I. Bentley, of Millbrook, District Deputy Grand Master. Mr. James Vallery made the presentation on behalf of Peterborough Lodge, and Mr. Wm. Vance, of Millbrook, presented the gift from the District.

A fine programme of music and speeches was thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. W. H. Barry presided at the piano, and the vocalists were Messrs. Hodgson, John Smith, Fred. Hartshorn and Albert Lee. Mr. Hillier thanked the members for their kind expressions and handsome gifts. He leaves for Toronto on Saturday, and the good wishes of his many friends in Peterborough will go with him. Mr. Hillier has held a responsible position in the switchboard department at the C.G.E. Works.

CANADIAN PACKERS TO BE INVESTIGATED

PRESENT SESSION OF THE BOARD OF COMMERCE PROMISES TO BE INTERESTING.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Sept. 26.— Evidence of the connection of Canadian Packers Limited with allied packing interests of the United States will be presented to the Board of Commerce, inquiring into the high cost of living, according to the statements of W. H. Price, K. C., Ontario government counsel, when the Board resumed its sessions here to-day. For the first time in this city, Judge Robson, chairman of the Board, sat with W. F. O'Connor, vice-chairman, and the presumption is that the Board expects something highly important at this session. Vice-Chairman O'Connor took occasion to reply in general terms of strictures aimed at him by members of the House of Commons the other day. In brief, he explained that he did not say all the things he was said to have said, or things he was said to have done, and he added, in justice to the press, that no newspaper published the statements attributed to him.

He was elected as the representative to the Trades Congress of Canada, which position he will hold until the next convention of the International Union five years hence. The Barbers decided to increase their sick benefit rate from $5 to $8 a week, and to increase the members' dues by twenty-five cents a month. The Union's reserve fund is half a million dollars. There were 865 delegates at the convention, representing 43,000 members.

THE STEEL STRIKE

LITTLE APPARENT CHANGE IN THE SITUATION TO-DAY—THE INVESTIGATION.

"ALL SOLID STEEL"

Canadian Press:

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—There was little apparent change in the steel strike situation to-day, although officials of the steel companies reported more men returning to work at various points. Union officials said "All solid steel." Forty thousand workers in the Bethlehem steel plants may be called out on Monday.

Canadian Press:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. — The right of the employees to have some voice in determining the conditions under which they work is the paramount issue in the strike of steel workers, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labour, told the Senate Investigating Committee, to-day. "It has been said that most of the men taking part in this strike are of foreign birth and not naturalized citizens. That may be, and no doubt is true, the largest proportion of steel corporation employees are of foreign birth, but these men were brought here by the companies," said Gompers.

RAILWAY STRIKE WILL BECOME EFFECTIVE IN GREAT BRITAIN AT MIDNIGHT, IT IS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED BY THE LEADERS

MOST SERIOUS STRIKE IN THE HISTORY OF ENGLAND IS DUE TO TAKE EFFECT AT THE CLOSE OF TO-DAY—WILL PARALYZE TRANSPORTATION AND ISOLATE LONDON AND OTHER BIG CENTRES FROM THE WORLD—CONFERENCE FAILS TO REACH A DECISION.

United Press.

LONDON, Sept. 26. — The railway strike will become effective in Great Britain to-night, it was announced officially by the union leaders to-day. The announcement was accompanied by the statement that to-day's conference of government officials and union representatives had failed to reach an agreement.

Previous to resuming negotiations in Downing street, the railways representatives announced that the continuance of the parleys would not alter the decision to strike at midnight unless the negotiations developed favorably.

The Exchange Telegraph Company said it understood on good authority that J. H. Thomas, the head of the railway workers, had definitely decided on a strike.

LONDON, Sept. 26. — All the Cabinet ministers have been working at full pressure to prevent what was recognized as promising to be the most momentous strike that has ever occurred on the British railways; likewise before the break took place, James Henry Thomas, the railwaymen's leader, declared in answer to an inquiry, "God knows I am trying hard to bring about a settlement."

Immediately after the breach, Mr. Thomas began consultation with his colleagues of the railwaymen's unions.

LONDON, Sept. 26. — The conference between the railwaymen's representatives and the government for an attempted adjustment of the differences on the wage question to-day resulted in a failure and a general strike on the railroads has been ordered to take effect to-night at midnight.

Prohibition Interests Members of Parliament

THERE ARE THREE FEDERAL PROHIBITION ENACTMENTS ON THE BOOKS AT THE PRESENT TIME—NEW SCHEMES ARE BEING DISCUSSED.

FEDERAL CONTROL

Special to the Examiner.

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—Prohibition, both in its relation to the Ontario referendum and to the Federal situation, continues to be a subject that interests members of Parliament, at a time when ordinary affairs of State seem to have lost much of their zest. There are at present three Federal prohibition enactments: the Special War Order-in-Council, the Doherty Act, and the Canada Temperance Act.

THE THREE ENACTMENTS.

The Orders-in-Council prohibit the importation, manufacture or inter-Provincial shipment of liquor during the war and for one year thereafter. There is grave doubt, however, whether, in spite of their wording, these Orders will have effect after the proclamation of peace. For this reason, the Government introduced legislation last session to confirm them. The bill passed the Commons, but was thrown out by the Senate.

The Doherty Act of 1916 supplements Provincial legislation in prohibiting the transportation of liquor into a province for a purpose or use prohibited by that province.

The Canada Temperance Act, originally passed in 1886 and familiarly known as the Scott Act, makes provision for local option covering a whole county, in contrast to the Ontario local option laws for instance, which deals only with individual municipalities. The Canadian Temperance Act was used freely in Ontario in the early days, and also in the Maritime Provinces.

Its use was revived in Ontario in the era immediately previous to Provincial prohibition, for the purpose of supplementing local option by making a whole county dry, instead of leaving a town or two in the district wet.

Perth, Huron and Welland are cases where the Canadian Temperance Act has been utilized in recent years. The coming of Province-wide prohibition made all party measures unnecessary.

NEW PROPOSALS.

Possibilities now before the Government and receiving the attention of the caucus are the re-introduction of the bill to confirm the Orders-in-Council, an extension of the scope of the Doherty Act, or the introduction of entirely new legislation. Among the new proposals suggested in one that the Federal Government should assume a much closer control of the liquor than it has at present through the Department of Inland Revenue. It is suggested, for example, that the Government, through a board, should be the only agency to import or manufacture liquor, and that liquor should be sent into a province only through a similar Provincial Board, responsible for its distribution there within the law. The objects of such legislation would be to make easier the enforcement of the law, both Federally and Provincially, and to guarantee the quality of the liquor, either imported or manufactured.

Such a scheme is being thoroughly canvassed in Ottawa this session and is receiving a good deal of support. For the present, however, it is not considered likely that any such comprehensive or constructive plan will be brought down.

EXTEND DOHERTY ACT.

What is more is some extension of the Doherty Act. There are a number of proposals, but the one most frequently heard is that the Act should be amended to allow any province under it to prohibit entirely the importation of liquor within its bounds. In Ontario to-day, were it not for the temporary war time Orders-in-Council, liquor could be imported into the Province for private homes, for it is not against the law of Ontario for a man to have liquor in his house. Ontario could make this an offence, but there is no likelihood that she will do so. As the Doherty Act now stands, therefore, it does not help Ontario to become "bone dry" under the suggested extension. Such a result could be brought about except for private stocks already on hand, but it would be done only upon application of the Province itself. With all this talk of possible action, there is another body of opinion of considerable strength within the prominent ranks, and also within the Opposition, that nothing should be done, but that the Orders-in-Council should be allowed to lapse, leaving the Doherty and Canada Temperance Acts as they now stand.

DUBLIN, Sept. 25. — Viscount Northcliffe has just bought for $4,5000 the little house in which he was born at Chapelizod, near Dublin.

PRINCE OF WALES TO TAKE REST

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Sept. 26. — The Prince of Wales is going to take things easy in Winnipeg Oct. 10 to 14 to rest up a bit, after a strenuous trip through Canada. "The Prince wishes to visit the city informally and as a result it is probable that no formal receptions will be tendered him by the province," Premier Norris said yesterday. The Prince has completed a weary trip," said Mayor Gray, "and should be given an opportunity to rest a while in the city instead of being expected to attend public functions."

GOOD CROP IN NORTHERN ALBERTA

A BUMPER HARVEST IS BEING GATHERED IN THE PEACE RIVER DISTRICT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

EDMONTON, Alta., Sept. 26. — Northern Alberta is at present one of the busiest parts of Canada and a bumper crop is being gathered in the Peace River and Grand Prairie districts, such as the north country never had before, and there is likelihood of the railway from Peace River to Edmonton being taxed to its limit to move the crop out to market. Soldier land settlement is finding top country the most favourable area for its purposes and hundreds of soldier farmers are being located on lands within the fifteen miles zone, while in some cases they are voluntarily settling considerably beyond that distance.

A vigorous hunt for oil is also going on in the Peace River district as well as down the Mackenzie river and various other prospecting enterprises, including gold and copper, have been under way during the summer. The transportation companies of the Athabasca and Mackenzie rivers have had an exceptional run of business through the season. The whole north is stirring. The government estimate of the grain crop in the Peace River disrict, in Grande Prairie and Pouce Coupee, is approximately 5 million bushels of wheat, oats, barley and rye. Other estimates have been pulling the yield as high as 8 million bushels.

FIREWORKS AT THE LABOUR CONGRESS

VERBAL BRICKBATS HURLED AT THE CHAIRMAN.

Special to the Examiner:

HAMILTON, Sept. 26.—The Trades and Labour Congress had hardly got under way this morning when pandemonium broke loose and the proceedings for a few minutes being nothing but disorder. Anathema after anathema were hurled at the chair, but lost their sting in the general uproar. The trouble was precipitated by Delegate G. C. E. Waters, returning fraternal delegate to the British Trade Union Congress. He claimed that yesterday he had been refused an opportunity of defending himself concerning his visit to Paris and the Peace Conference.

President Moore pointed out he was merely sustaining a point of order, and had no intention of muzzling Delegate Waters.

"It's an absolute crime not to give a man a chance to defend himself," raved a delegate. At last the uproar died away, and President Moore explained that Delegate Waters, as returning fraternal delegate to the British Trade Union Congress, would present his report.

POLICE IN A BATTLE

LONG RANGE GUN BATTLE WITH STRIKE SYMPATHIZERS AT SCENE OF STEEL STRIKE—THREE MEN ARRESTED.

CASUALITIES UNKNOWN

(United Press.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Steel strike sympathizers engaged in a long range gun battle with State and local police at Clairton early to-day. The firing occurred between five and six a.m., when about a dozen strike sympathizers are alleged to have begun firing on men en route to the mills. It was dark and the flashes from the guns revealed the attackers' whereabouts.

State and local police, who have been expecting trouble, were lying in wait. They immediately returned the fire. Then, giving chase, they captured three men, whose guns they said had been fired and reloaded. It is not known whether any of the strike sympathizers were hit.

SAYS CONFERENCE WAS A BENEFIT

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Sept. 26. — "Strikes would be almost eliminated if enough similar conferences were held," Premier Norris declared when asked about the Industrial Conference in the Capital. "Great good will result from the conference from the very fact that Capital and Labour met and discussed questions from both angles. Each learned the other's side of the question as they never before had the opportunity of learning them. There was good fellowship on all sides and there was agreement in all but two questions, the eight-hour day and collective bargaining."

"BURN PARIS TO SAVE FRANCE"

NOTABLE SPEECH BY PREMIER CLEMENCEAU.

Canadian Press:

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Premier Clemenceau's remarkable address in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, in which he asked for ratification of the treaty of peace with Germany was made on his seventy-eighth birthday. The Premier recalled how at one crisis, the Allies had to decide whether to defend Calais or Paris. "A few days later," he continued, "Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain asked me what I had decided. I replied, France made Paris, Paris made France, I would burn Paris to save France."

LETTER CONCERNING PROHIBITION

Editor of Examiner:

Dear Sir,—With your permission, I will examine an article in your issue of Wednesday, purporting to be a resolution passed by the G.W.V.A. of Parkdale, Toronto. The following is found in the first paragraph of the article in question, and to this I will direct attention:

"Denouncing the License Act as 'stupid,' and the Ontario Temperance Act as 'atrocious,' and 'a maker of criminals'; and affirming their intention of resisting the tyranny of "petticoat Government,' Parkdale G. W. V. A. went on record last night as favouring the sale of beer and wine, and advocating an affirmative answer to all four questions in the referendum as the means of attaining that end."

Now, it is quite clear that the above article affords us material for the following subjects: 1st, A stupid License Act; 2nd, an atrocious Ontario Temperance Act; 3rd, the tyranny of petticoat Government; and, 4th, the injunction of the G.W.V.A. of Parkdale to vote "Yes" on all four questions of the referendum ballot.

Let us notice then, subject No. 1, "A stupid License Act." Yes, what fools we were to sanction, by our vote, the sale of distilled damnation to our fellow-men. Certainly, a license to murder, or steal, or gamble, or deprive the drunkard's wife and child of food, and clothing, and shelter, is all wrong and makes criminals, but we have seen our folly, for the licensed bar or saloon was and is a withering curse.

Then let us look at the 2nd subject, viz., "The Ontario Temperance Act." This is the greatest boon this province has ever enjoyed. Think of it, the writer has been in crowds of people and masses of men and has not seen three drunks in thrge years. Think of it, 30,000 people at our city Exhibition and not one intoxicated person seen in the great concourse of people in three days. Think of it, the cheque is given now to the wife instead of to John Barkeeper. Ask the merchant about it, and he will tell you that prohibition certainly spells prosperity. Boots or beer? The boy or the bar? Your ballot decides.

Now, what about the "tyranny of petticoat Government?" What a pity that we so soon change our politics. Two years ago this petticoat government was very popular. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were collected for the boys overseas. Thousands of wives, mothers, daughters, sisters and sweethearts were praying and planning and knitting and sewing, all for the comforts of the boys far away, and all these women folk belong to this tyrannical petticoat government. Soldiers, this is not your spirit, we will apologize to these grand women for this, "the most unkindest cut of all." Yes, and the nursing sister who sat by the soldier's cot, and wrote his last letter home, was a member too of this government.

Just a word in closing about the fourth subject. We are asked to vote "Yes" on all four questions of the referendum ballot. But a vote "Yes" on the first question will bring back the licensed bar, and the G. W. V. A. denounce the License Act as 'stupid.' Better be consistent. No dodging issues. If a man wants the bar back, let him come out plain and make his statement.

Now, sir, having been in touch a great deal with returned soldiers, and knowing their spirit, I must believe that the man who was big enough to leave his home and friends, place his all upon the altar of consecration to God, King, country and civil and religious liberty, who fought for the oppressed of France and Flanders and of the world, is too big to withhold his help from the broken hearted wives and children of the drink slaves of Canada.

Put your cross to the right of your ballot,
In the space 'neath the caption "No,"
And you strike the key of liberty
From the curse of a nation's woe.

C. E. Rose.

Peterborough, Sept. 25, 1919.

MR. F. H. DOBBIN ISSUES NOTE OF CAUTION

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR: The word of caution uttered by Ald. Turner at the recent meetin of the council is both judicious and timely. Something of this sort was also the burden of the remonstrance made by Trustee G. N. Gordon as to the excessive proposed cost of the new school and equipment.

While no one will doubt the good intentions of the Board of Education, looking to be adequate in handling this porposition and viewing the future requirements of the city, it will not do to assume that because there has as yet been little or none of public expressed objection that such is not thought of.

Many have expressed the idea, as remarked by Ald. Turner, and before by Trustee Gordon, that we may be putting too many eggs into the one basket—considering the price of eggs. Many do hold to this view, and many are right. Because of which.

The section outside the city, around Brownton, is served as a township suburb by May's school house. Just now it is inadequate for the purposes. The township anticipating that this section will presently come into the city and take the school with it, is reluctant to build and add to the capacity of the school. The township is level headed in its position. The new school when opened will not relieve the congestion for it will not be open to pupils outside the city.

It is true that when union comes about pupils may attend the new school but claim will immediately be made to enlarge the May school on the ground of convenience. Shall we have to exploit another bylaw to raise funds?

It is this approaching situation that impresses citizens as to the advisability of removing some of the eggs from that basket. To lessen the capacity of the new building from 20 to 14 rooms and be ready and willing to enlarge the May school by six rooms when the time comes.

This proposition may look like anticipating the future, but that is exactly what the board is putting forward only in a way of concentration in one building. Let us not concentrate just now but procrastinate to our ultimate good.

So far as either approval or dissent from the public is concerned, look at the situation. Your Council spent eight months of honest, tedious and painstaking effort to get down the cost of the bridge to within reasonable distance of the by-law voted amount. Nights of discussion, dreams of publicity from people in the press. Silos full of unsolicited advice. Mandates from this, that and the other public bodies. Now along comes the School Board and plunks down a propositon to spend quite as much as the voted amount for the bridge on one school and no one expresses surprise.

Shall we say that the Council should adopt the methods of the Board. If so, why not adopt the Board itself. Put the Council where the Board is and we may be jolly well sure that it will not spend as much as the overhead bridge will cost, because it has to raise the money and the Board has not. Is it because the Board is working on a vision and the Council on another million-dollar issue of new debentures when the projects in hand are cleaned up.

We can often size up a proposition by comparing it with something else. Why should this school cost three hundred per cent more than the Turnbull building? Cost as much as three such buildings, even with the stated advances in material and wages. Steel is lowered in cost. The Turnbull building provides ample light, is absolutely safe, is gracious in appearance and in appointments. And has nearly the floor capacity of the proposed school. If it were on a suitable lot it could, at an expense of $15,000.00, be turned into a perfectly appointed and capacious school.

Shall we assume, and such assumption may be right, that lack of remonstrance comes from the fact that in the long gamut of increasing prices and costs, people have become dulled and saddened That "what's the use" is the prevailing remark. That things have got so costly that the rich and poors might just as well go with the tide. That this latest demand is only another of the blows that killed father.—Respectfully,

F. H. Dobbin.

NAMES ADDED TO THE VOTERS' LISTS

Between eight and nine hundred names have been added to the voters' lists by the Appeal Courts, which are now closed in the city but are still sitting in the other parts of the county. Although the work of getting the lists was bad it fell away behind Toronto, London and Windsor in this respect and Belleville, with a list of 6,500 names had over 300 appeals Before the appeals here the lists contained 10,340 names and has now between eighteen and nineteen hundred. One polling sub division in the south ward had thirty per cent of the appeals in the city and another polling sub-division in the same ward had not one appeal. East City had only 30 appeals.

Conditions at the polling sub-divisions this year will be unique, because the elections and referendum take place on the same day. Besides the Deputy Returning Officer there will be four scrutineers instead of two a former elections. Both parties will have a stalwart on hand and besides the Referendum Committee and the Citizens' Liberty League will each have a scrutineer.

In former years there were twenty-two sub-divisions in the city for either Provincial or Dominion elections but this year Chief Enumerator J. F. Strickland has been authorized to add six sub-divisions to each polling subdivision which has over 250 names. This permission was granted because the Deputy Returning Officer will have double the number of names to handle over former years as he has both the referendum ballots and the election slips. Instead of 22 subdivisions here this year there will be 43 as all of the sub-divisions have considerably over 250 names on their lists except three and a majority of them contain over 500 names.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26TH, 1919.

SIR WILLIAM "THE LIFTER."

The Globe describes the Hearst policy as a "lifted" platform— a description that is at once significant and fitting. Its principal planks promise reforms for which the Libertal party has contended for years; reforms that have been brought forward by the Opposition in the Legislature, only to be ruthlessly voted down by the government which now embodies them into an election policy. And now the Government press hastens to greet the platform with columns of applause, conveniently forgetting that the Liberals had long ago advocated all the progressive legislation that Sir William Hearst has now unblushingly incorporated into his campaign "manifesto." But in spite of all that the Premier has borrowed, his policy fails to measure up to the Liberal standard. His vague promise in regard to the agricultural policy of the government for instance contains nothing as definite as the Liberal offer of rural credits and demonstration farms. And all Sir William promises the returned soldiers is "special consideration." Compared with the definite platform of the Liberal party in regard to the ex-service men, the Government's policy is shadowy to say the least. Sir William might as well have completed his "lifting" and taken the whole Liberal platform as his own. He would have had something to work on then.

WORK FOR OFFICIALS

Those who realize the danger of the vote on the temperance policy being interfered with because of the effect of an election campaign being carried on simultaneously are not the only individuals who will regret that the Ontario Government has seen fit to carry on the general election on the same date as the referendum. The returning officers and their assistants who will have charge of the work of registering the opinions of the electorate have a legitimate grievance inasmuch as they have the heaviest task before them that has ever befallen election officials. The election vote would be sufficiently awkward in itself to handle, complicated as it is by the fact that the extending of the franchise to women has doubled the length of the voters' lists and also because that there will be three, four and five candidates in some ridings, but when all this work is augmented by the task of counting the referendum ballots with four questions to be considered and rigid care to be taken to exclude spoiled ballots, the labour before the officials on the night of October 20th looms up in formidable proportions. From the present outlook Ontario may know that night what the composition of the next legislature will be but the province may have to wait several days before it will be definitely known what liquor policy is to govern.

ADJECTIVES NO DEFENCE.

The charges made against Hon. Arthur Meighen of sending a telegram in code from Winnipeg to Sir Robert Borden at Ottawa asking that one thousand floating soldier votes in the last general election be distributed among four Manitoba constituencies in which there was fear that the Unionist forces might be defeated, is too serious to be dismissed by a general denial by the Minister involved. Mr. Meighen's remarks, in which he declared there was nothing "but an attentuated, oblique, safety-first insinuation," nothing but a fragile, circuitous, yellow-tinted innuendo that mars and discredits the very name of Parliamentary controversy," are picturesque, but they make a poor defence against the indictment. Mr. Meighen's memory was bad. He could not remember sending the message, but admitted that he might have done so, while, according to the Minister, the Premier seems to be also suffering from forgetfulness, for Sir Robert, he said, had no recollection of receiving the telegram.

Mr. D. D. McKenzie, Liberal House Leader, who made the charge, declared that at the proper time the original message could be produced, but the government met the accusation with a blunt refusal to appoint a Parliamentary committee to investigate the whole matter. It is not to be expected the people of Canada will be satisfied with such a curt dismissal of charges of manipulation of votes. They will not be satisfied with the statement of Mr. Meighen that there was nothing wrong about the telegram. On the contrary they will be inclined to ask, with Mr. McKenzie, why the message should be sent in code if there was nothing wrong about it? If the government had the legal right to apportion the soldier's vote as they saw fit, then they have been guilty of putting into force an election act that utterly defied the rights of the people. On the other hand if the law did not give them that right, they have acted most shamefully in the manner in which the soldiers' vote was apportioned. In either case there is material for investigation, and Mr. Meighen will have to line up some defence more potent than the peculiar adjectives he used in the House to save the name of the government.

THE Y.M.C.A. EFFORT.

Failure to subscribe the objective in the Y.M.C.A. drive next week would be to leave a black mark on Peterborough's war record that so far has been blemished by not a single failure. In this campaign the citizens are only asked to do what other communities throughout Canada did last spring, next week's effort having been postponed in order to allow the Great War Veterans a clear field for their drive. Peterborough is now asked to fall in line with the rest of the country and contribute its quota to the Y.M.C.A. war work and to the activities that are to be carried on in Canada.

In this connection the National Council of Y.M.C.A.'s of Canada has issued a pamphlet entitled, "A Great Reconstruction Agency" which doubtless a good many citizens have read with interest. For the benefit of those who have not had an opportunity of looking over this resume of the past, present and future work of the Y.M.C.A., the Examiner calls attention to the following extract which in itself furnishes many admirable reasons why next week's drive should be a success:

The Young Men's Christian Association has emerged from the war with an experience in social service unparalleled in the history of any institution except the church. It has gained a knowledge of work among men that should make it one of the foremost reconstruction agencies in Canada to-day.

Under the most trying circumstances it has "won out," earning the esteem and confidence both of the men it served and the generous people at home who committed large sums of money to its stewardship.

Vast quantities of war stores and machinery are being sacrificed as of no further use, but the Y.M.C.A. was not a "war industry" or an emergency institution, and it would be a calamity if the unique knowledge and experience gained by the Association through its war work were scrapped with the shells and guns.

An outstanding lesson of the past four and a half years is that the real task of the Y.M.C.A. has only begun, and its heavy war budgets would not seem justifiable to-day if the service rendered the troops in the field were not made the guide and inspiration of its regular service, similar in spirit, throughout the cities, towns, villages and rural communities of the Dominion.

Being a human organization, the Canadian Y.M.C.A. has made some mistakes, but it stands ready to profit by its errors, in each of which it seeks to find a guide to more efficient service. Fortified by the success of its work for the men in khaki, the Association presents a programme of social service for men and boys which, in its moral aspect, is the biggest thing in Reconstruction at present before the people.

When you help the "Y," you help construct the men who will reconstruct Canada.

THE STRIKE PANACEA

The great strike of the steel workers of the United States is hardly begun when notice is given by the United Mine Workers of America that they will strike on Nov. 1 unless they get meanwhile an advance in wages of 60 per cent., together with shorter hours and some other things. If the demand of the miners is not conceded in whole or part, a strike will take place, stopping the production of coal and necessarily causing the price of whatever coal is in stock to rise. If the demand of the miners is conceded in whole or part, the increase in wages, and reduction in hours of work will make the production of coal more expensive, and cause the price of coal to rise. So, no matter what course the trouble takes, the price of coal is going to increase. And as coal is one of the chief bases of industry, the cost of all manufactured goods will be boosted by the increased price of coal. This is not a pleasant prospect, particularly when, in consequence of the strike of steel workers, the cost of production of steel, which is another of the chief bases of industry, must now increase and in turn boost all other industrial prices.

In view of the already distressing cost of living in America to the whole public, and of the many grave warnings which are being heard that the world is on the verge of catastrophe owing to the industrial and agricultural ruin of Europe caused by the war, a catastrophe which can only be checked by great industrial and agricultural productivity in the happier regions which have that potentiality left, it is reasonable to ask why such a tremendous strike in America as that of the steel workers could not have been delayed, or why such another tremendous strike as that of the coal miners should take place. The defence is that the workers are hit hard by the cost of living, and must look after their own interests. But inasmuch as such an argument used by the whole working world, and put into effect as it is being greatly put into effect, must mean that the cost of living is pushed up as fast as wages can be, the strikers can gain little by increased wages for themselves for the time being, while all the world is hurt and a stage is approached where a great deal of industry is certain to collapse and a vast deal of wages to disappear altogether.

This truth has emphatic expression in a letter recently sent by J. T. Brownlie, Chairman of the Executive Council of the Amalgamated Society of British Engineers, to the Secretary of the Parliamentary Committee of the British Trades Union Congress.

In this letter Mr. Brownlie—who is, by the way, a labor leader with a long record of often fierce fighting in defense of union demands—quotes as highly important a statement made not long ago by Mr. Hoover: "There is no use of tears over rising prices; they are to a great degree a visualization of insufficient production." And Mr. Brownlie himself writes: "The mere raising of nominal wages, without an increased production in the necessaries of life, is no solution of the difficulty"

He writes, too, that, as labor unions are now more powerful than ever before in all their history, so have their responsibilities been increased in the same proposition, and he adds: "However much we may reject the criticism of those who are not trade unionists, we cannot evade our responsibilities to the community." And the first responsibility, he insists, is to increase production.

At any rate, the certainty is that in the present stage of the world's distress, no strike is justifiable until every possible means of conciliation and arbitration has been tried. Anyone, be he employer or employed, what at this era puts difficulties in the way of settlement of industrial differences by amicable methods is guilty of conduct little if any short of criminal.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto Star describes the Liberal policy as progressive, and the Conservative policy as cautiously progressive — a sort of "ear-to-the-ground" progressiveness as it were.

The ratepayers of Peterborough have to vote on two by-laws the same week as the referendum. It is to be hoped that those who vote "no" on the latter occasion will not get into the habit and vote against the by-laws.

DOMINION POLICE RAISE THIRTY-FIVE CENTS A DAY

Thirty-five cents per day for all ranks is the increase recently granted to the Dominion Police. The new scale of wages has just been announced, but it is understood that all will receive back pay from April 1, 1919. Under the old scale first year men received $3.00 per day, but could go as high as $5 a day. New men starting on will now receive $3.35 per day. The present strength of the force is about 250.

How to Kill Dandruff So It Won't Return

By a Specialist

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well-known fact. We appreciate therefore, the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. For this reason it is a pleasure to give herewith the prescription which a famous scalp specialist states he has found after repeated tests, will completely destroy the dandruff germs in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair-growth after years of partial baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you—6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger tips. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. While this preparation is not a dye it is unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color.

CHAPTER LXXVI

I meant what I said to Lorraine Norton when I met her in the park: that I should have made it my business to know where so much money came from; how so young a man as Neil could make enough to afford such luxuries. Yet when I had tried to find out—I had accomplished nothing, only angered Neil.

Suddenly there came to me the murmured sentence I overheard when father was leaving us, and had warned me to try and persuade Neil to 'go slowly.'

"'A house of cards!" Who else had used that same expression? Why Mr. Frederick, of course. He had said he was afraid Neil was building 'A house of cards' that afternoon we drove in the park, and had our first talk together.

Lorraine insisted upon walking home with me. She was really distressed and plainly showed it.

"You are not to blame," she repeated when she finally left me. "And remember I know you are not, and will be just the same friend no matter what people say. I will do all I can for Neil too. I shan't allow anyone to malign him when I am around."

"Thank you, Lorraine. That makes two."

"What are you talking about, what makes two?"

"Nothing—I was talking to myself. Pardon me." I meant it made two real friends I still had, Lorraine and Frederick. I think I perhaps might have felt all that had happened more even than I did had I been the sort of woman who has many intimates. I wasn't. Most of my friends were out of the city, so I heard little gossip as while I had many calling acquaintances, Lorraine was almost my only intimate friend.

Ought we not to give up our beautiful home? Had we the right to live in it? Would Neil consent to retrench to an extent that would amount to anything? I walked back and forth, from room to room, restless, uneasy, wanting dinner time to come so that I might see Neil, talk to him, and at the same time dreading to again accuse him of being—not quite fair in his business methods.

"Perhaps we will rent the house," I said to myself; then took pencil and paper. I would make a list of everything we owned. It might be necessary some day. I would have it ready. It would at least keep me so busy I couldn't think.

I knew we owed many bills, I had fingered a sheaf of them when I was looking for a pad to use for the inventory. I was going to commence. Neil never talked in small sums, he seldom paid small bills, unless they happened to be at some place we weren't accustomed to trade, and not always then. I ran them through. I saw that the total amount was very large. I must speak to Neil about them, and we must not run any more. So I laid them on top of the desk. If they were in plain sight I would not forget them.

Then I went up stairs—I would commence the inventory with my own room.

I became so engrossed in my task that time passed unheeded. Each article I put down held some association. I lingered over many, admiring them, wondering if the time ever came when others had them if they would appreciate their beauty as I did.

"Where are you, Bab?" Neil called, the first intimation I had that he was at home.

"Upstairs. I'll come right down."

Neil was in the library pouring himself a drink from a bottle in the cellarette. Something he had done so seldom lately that I showed the surprise I felt. When he brought those men home with him it had been a common occurence. But since he had been staying out so much, it had been almost untouched.

"Don't look as if I were committing the unpardonable sin because I am taking a drink," he said impatiently, taking another.

"Oh Neil, don't! I so want to have a good talk with you. And you never are the same when you drink."

"I've had all the talking I can stand for one day. Frederick came into the office this afternoon, and I thought he never would go or let up on the talk. If you don't let me alone I shall go down to the club for my dinner." He sank into a big easy chair, and closed his eyes.

I quietly left him there. Mr. Frederick had been with him. It pressaged good—I hoped.

To-morrow—Neil's Aunt is to Visit Them Rather Inopportunely.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy, Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache, and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full oppressive burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excessive development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralise the acid and, make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralises the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid such as bisurated magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

A Sad Case.

Virtues of the Onion.

Onion eaters, as medical men have noted, are rarely ill, and that because onions clear, as nothing else does, all the poisons and impurities and germs from the body. Onions, in fact, are strong disinfectants, and if sliced raw and put about a sick room would gather to themselves all the infectious germs just as well as an expensive disinfectant would.

It is for that reason that it is extremely dangerous to eat a cut or skinned onion that has been exposed to the air. It has cleared the air, but gathered to its raw surface what it has cleared.

Medically, onions are excellent for insomnia, and they aid digestion. Further, an onion diet is one of the cures for rheumatism. This is due to the large proportion of sulphur oil in onions.

It is that oil, too, which produces a beautiful, clear, and velvety complexion. Bretons, great onion eaters, are noted for their smooth skins. Onion juice, too, give immediate relief from the pain of wasp and other insects' stings.—Answers.

EAT LESS AND TAKE BITRO-PHOSPHATE TO PUT ON FLESH

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

Frederick S. Kolle, M.D., Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says that weak, nervous people who want increased weight, strength and nerve-force, should take a 5-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate just before or during each meal.

This particular phosphate is the discovery of a famous French scientist and reports of remarkable results from its use have recently appeared in many medical journals.

If you do not feel well; if you tire easily; do not sleep well, or are too thin; go to any good druggist and get enough Bitro-Phosphate for a two weeks' supply—it costs only fifty cents a week.

Eat less; chew your food thoroughly, and if at the end of a few weeks you do not feel stronger and better than you have for months; if your nerves are not steadier; if you do not sleep better and have more vim, endurance and vitality, your money will be returned, and the Bitro-Phosphate will cost you nothing.

Canada's Debt.

Canada's debt is now about two billion dollars, of which three-fourths are held in Canada itself, one-sixth in Great Britain, and one-twelfth in the United States. Canada is now practically independent in a financial sense. The bulk of the debt is from the Canadian people to that section of it which invested in bonds during the war.

DRAINAGE OF HILLSIDES

Wet Surfaces Greatly Improved by Tile Drains.

Only by Keeping Individual Milk Records Can the Dairyman Weed Out All His Unprofitable Cows—Monthly Milk Record Sheets Are Furnished Free.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE erosion of hillsides and the flooding of the land below by the eroded material has long been a worry and an economical loss to many farmers in hilly and mountainous sections. This can frequently be prevented, and the method employed depends on the conditions existing, such as the nature of the soil; light or heavy, the steepness of the slope, and the type of agriculture practiced; pasture or tilled crops.

Wet hillsides used as sheep pastures may be much improved by what are sometimes called "sheep-drains." These are merely shallow open ditches about 30 inches wide on top, nine inches wide on the bottom, and 15 inches deep for removing the surface water, and carry it in a definite channel to a suitable outlet at the base of the hill. The removed earth should be thrown out on the lower side to form a sort of embankment to the drain. The grade of the ditch should not be so steep as to give the water sufficient force to destroy the drain by either washing away the banks or digging the drain itself deeper and thus making it dangerous for the sheep and lambs. Sub-drains are sometimes necessary.

A system of terracing is quite universally used to prevent destructive washouts on hillsides. The terraces are made perfectly level and of any width and then carefully seeded to grass. At the time of rain the water spreads out evenly over the surface of these and then flows gently over the slope below without sufficient force to wash away any portion of the hill and thus prevents "gulleying."

For the drainage of tilled hillsides a system of under-drainage is sometimes used successfully. The amount of erosion of the land largely depends on its condition. If the surface soil can be kept firm the erosion will be lessened. Soft spots on the hillside, though, frequently occur as a result of seepage water from above which has penetrated the surface soil and reached an impervious layer and thus deflected to the surface on the side of the hill. Water flowing over this with considerable force will naturally wash it away more easily than the firmer soil free from this seepage water.

If tile drains are so laid to intercept this seepage water, considerable erosion can be prevented. If the hillside is comparatively steep, drains laid at an angle to the incline will be more satisfactory. They will naturally intercept all of the water flowing through the soil above them. Also the grade will be less and the drains are not so liable to be affected by the water moving slowly through them. If the slope is not very steep the drains may be laid down the incline with satisfactory results. Here the tile drains the land on both sides and no double draining results.

In this underdrainage the general benefits are again obtained. The water level is lowered, thus giving more root capacity to plants and the prevention of surface washing by allowing the water to penetrate through the soil to the drains, thus carrying much plant food to the roots of the plants.—R. C. Moffatt, M.A., O. A. College, Guelph.

Methods of Keeping Cow Records.

Four things are necessary for keeping cow records:

1. A monthly milk sheet, ruled so that there shall be a column for recording the weight of the morning and evening milking of each cow for each day of the month, though some use a sheet ruled for three days only, and estimate the weight of milk given for the month from these three days, which may be consecutive, or on the first, tenth and twentieth of the month, making ten-day periods between. The Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto, will furnish (free) monthly milk record sheets to those interested.

2. A milk scale — preferably one having a dial face and two hands, one of which shows the net weight of milk in the pail, when properly set. This scale costs about five dollars.

3. A four to eight bottle Babcock test, where it is desired to know what each cow's milk tests in fat. This will cost from eight to twelve dollars complete. (If a member of a cow-testing association or convenient to a creamery or cheese factory, arrangements can usually be made to test the samples, hence the tester is not needed, but a progressive dairyman should have his own testing outfit and use it.)

4. The fourth and most important requirement is "The-will-to-do." Without this, milk sheets, scales, testers, etc., are valueless. By having scale, sheet, pencil, sample bottles properly labelled, etc., all conveniently arranged, it takes but little time to keep a record of each milking cow in the herd.

We would add a fifth need, which is some form of permanent record book for monthly totals and tests, as milk sheets, and notes or records of testing, are likely to be lost and not available for reference. But if these are recorded once a month in a permanent form, they will prove a source of help in breeding, feeding and weeding dairy cows. — Prof. H. H. Dean, O. A. College, Guelph.

A Qualified Actor.

They were arguing about qualifications for successful careers, and a famous playwright, who was one of the party, maintained that the stage offered the easiest opportunities for beginners. As some doubt was thrown on this claim, he produced a letter from a man who wished to be engaged for his new play, which was about to be produced. The letter ran as follows: "Rev. Sir:—Wishing to go on the stage, would like to appear in your play. Have been a market gardener for some years, but having gone bankrupt, have decided to take up acting, the same requiring no capital. I am no longer young, but six feet two in my stocking feet. Have mastered a book on elocution, and am fond of late hours."

Nature and the Indian

The Indian never liked work but he wanted his squaw to get well as soon as possible so that she could do the work and let him hunt, therefore he dug pappoose root for her, for that was their great remedy for female weaknesses.

Dr. Pierce uses the same root—called Blue Cohosh—in his "Favorite Prescription" skillfully combined with other agents that make it more effective.

Women who are worn out, who suffer from pain at regular or irregular intervals, who are nervous or dizzy at times, should take that reliable, temperance, herbal tonic which a doctor in active practice prescribed many years ago. Now sold by druggists, in tablets and liquid, as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Send 10c. to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

WOODSTOCK, ONT.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Pierce's Medicines. I had nervous prostration and was completely 'down and out.' I was so bad the doctors considered mine a hopeless case. I was much discouraged and was ready to give up when I began taking the Favorite Prescription and the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines put me on my feet again and gave me the only real relief. Being a nurse I have recommended Dr. Pierce's Medicines to many, especially the 'Favorite Prescription.' I know of many a young mother to whom I have recommended 'Favorite Prescription' that has been wonderfully helped.

"I am glad to lend my name in connection with Dr. Pierce's Medicines, knowing how good they are."—MRS. A. L. MILLER, 815 John Street.

An Author's Luck

A curious illustration of the "luck" with which some books meet is shown in the history of Henry Seton Merriman's novel, "The Grey Lady." The first edition was brought out among the holiday issues of 1895, and although favorably received by the reviewers and described as "intensely dramatic," "with fresh, vigorous plot," etc., very little attention in general seems to have been paid it, and for eighteen months the first edition was sufficient to meet all demands. Some time later, however, a second edition was published, appearing with a specially designed cover in gray and gold. Far from repeating the experience of the first edition, the second was sold out almost immediately and orders were received for fully half of the third edition. It is but another curious instance of that fickleness of the literary taste of the public.

Beer to Allay Discontent.

Owing to the unrest and discontent among the workers in the north of England the British Government has decided to increase the barrelage of beer, which leads the rhymster in the London Post to remark:

So it wasn't the Bolsheviks' teaching
That so much unsettled our mood;
Nor the need of improvements far-reaching
In hours and wages and food.
It wasn't a heart choked to bursting
With pity for Germans. No fear!
The Briton's malaise was a thirsting
For stronger, more plentiful beer.

J. J. ASTOR'S FIRST WIFE, NOW LADY RIBBLESDALE, HAD ROMANTIC CAREER

WITH the marriage of Mrs. Astor to Lord Ribblesdale, the curtain now goes up on the fourth act of a striking life drama, in which a woman, long accounted the most beautiful in America, arrives at the greatest social heights.

Lady Ribblesdale's first husband was John Jacob Astor, one of the richest men in the world. Her wealth, beauty and distinction finally made her not only a leader of New York's four hundred, but in London society as well, with King Edward as guest at more than one of her entertainments.

There was a momentary darkening of the social skies when Queen Mary showed her disapproval of the Astor divorce, but that was perhaps before she understood all the circumstances. At all events, Mrs. Astor has now crowned her social achievements by wedding a man who has much to offer her besides a title and a leading position in English society.

From her early childhood in one of the most cultivated homes of Philadelphia, Ava Willing's extraordinary beauty attracted interested attention. She grew up in an atmosphere of devotion and homage.

And when John Jacob Astor began to look about him for a wife, he followed the custom of the men of his family. He selected the most beautiful and distinguished girl he could find—the daughter of Edward S. Willing of Philadelphia, connoisseur in objects of art and descendant of an old and proud Quaker family.

It is still the first act of the drama we glimpse through the eyes of a Kansas City woman, who was invited to a luncheon back in 1890 in Philadelphia. At her side sat Ava Willing, then a girl of twenty.

"She was the loveliest creature I ever had seen," the Kansas City woman said. "It wasn't merely that her features were regular, her coloring rich and harmonious. It was rather the regal way she carried herself, and the way her head was set on her shoulders. I cannot describe it adequately, but at all events her appearance gave me a new standard of feminine beauty.

"I saw her three years later at the Chicago World's Fair, and the change in her face was pathetic. She was in a wheel chair and her husband was walking beside her. But Mrs. Astor looked anything but happy. She was still lovely, of course, but the warm interest in life that had shone out of her expressive face was gone. She looked inexpressibly sad and forlorn. It occurred to me then that millions hadn't meant much to Ava Willing."

It was not surprising that some of Miss Willing's Philadelphia friends should look upon her marriage to young Astor as somewhat in the nature of a mesalliance, in spite of his princely fortune and the fact that his bride would have an opportunity to succeed his mother as leader of New York's exclusive set.

What Ava Willing thought may perhaps be read between the lines of her conduct. Gossips said John Jacob Astor—Col. "Jack" he became after the Spanish-American War—was inclined to be parsimonious where his wife was concerned, however freely he spent money on others. They had it that the lovely bride was not indulged in a private bathroom in the Southern hotel where they stayed on their honeymoon, but that she was obliged to walk the length of the suite to a bath at the end of the hall.

However, she accepted her role, and in an incredibly short time was letter perfect in the part of subsocial leader, with her famous mother-in-law as chief.

After her son, Vincent went to school the younger Mrs. Astor took her little daughter, Alice Muriel, now 17 years old, and went more than once for a summer or winter in England.

Sometimes her husband went with them, but not always, and finally there came a summer when he left them in Europe and came to America, took his son out of school and went sailing with him on the yacht Nourmahal for parts unknown.

It was said he didn't wish Vincent to be humiliated by the announcement he knew was coming. Three days after they departed, Mrs. Astor arrived in New York and the suit for divorce was immediately brought.

After the separation, Mrs. Astor went back to Philadelphia, taking her little daughter, Alice Muriel, with her, and leaving the son, Vincent, then 17 years old, to the care of his father. Little Alice—she is called Muriel now—wrote to her father that her mother was very sad, and the colonel showed the letter to many of his friends.

But the expected reconciliation did not take place. Mrs. Astor, who had been a great social success in England, and had won the friendship of King Edward, returned there, only to be snubbed by Queen Mary.

Mrs. Astor decided to return to the United States, but did not stay long on this side, restlessly moving from one place to another, then returned to England, taking some great house in Grosvenor Square, only to give it up in a day or a week and take another. She had her private fortune, left by her father, and she received an alimony variously stated as from $60,000 a year to $350,000.

Meanwhile, two pretty young girls were being prepared by a clever mother, so goes the story, for social conquest. She was a mother from whom much can be learned by those who wish to become learned in such matters. She had decided that her daughters looked better on the tennis courts than anywhere else. She made them learn tennis, and to play the game so well that they could look well while playing it.

It is said she designed that the older one should catch the eye of John Jacob Astor, the tennis loving divorced one. But it was not upon Katherine Force the millionaire's eye fell with favor, but upon her younger sister, Madeleine, who even then was reported to be engaged to William Dick, who is now her husband.

A yachting party was suggested and Astor told the girls they could invite anyone they chose. Madeline chose William Dick, but he didn't have a very good time. Miss Madeleine was monopolized by the host, and the marriage followed.

When informed of it, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor was in England, but she had not a word to say, nor did she disclose the slightest interest.

She remained in England until the Titanic disaster, in which her former husband was drowned, giving the third act its high note of tragedy. She was invited by her successor to attend the funeral, but did not accept, coming home soon after and adopting the name of Mrs. John Astor. Undoubtedly she could have resumed her social leadership had she so desired, but after the marriage of her son to Helen Dinsmore Huntingdon, she returned to England, where she was variously reported to be engaged to Lord Curzon, Lord Ravenswood and a titled Austrian much younger than herself.

Lord Ribblesdale has had a popularity in British society by reason of his personal bearing, rank and sporting proclivities, as great as that possessed by the former Mrs. Astor in America. Long known as "the handsomest peer in Parliament," he is an imposing figure and has long been famous in many walks of life.

Lord Ribblesdale during his first matrimonial tie—that with Charlotte Monckton, daughter of the late Sir Charles Tennant, who died in 1911—was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Asquith.

PLAY FAIR.

DON'T JUMP TO CONCLUSIONS.

What is the difference between remedy and cure? Any disease which is liable to recur cannot be indefinitely "cured." You may dispel the germs from the system—but that is simply remedying it.

A man suffers for years with Rheumatism. After trying numerous treatments without success, he takes Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules, and is restored to perfect health again.

A year or so later Rheumatic symptoms appear again. What does he immediately conclude? That it is his old trouble returned; that the medicine he took had only a temporary effect; that he will never again be well. This impression is the one we wish to eradicate—because it is entirely false. Whenever Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules are given a fair trial they remedy Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuritis, Neuralgia, or any of their kindred diseases.

T.R.C.'s won't make you immune from the above diseases. They will remedy them and drive them from your system, but whenever you feel an attack coming on, start using T.R.C.'s again.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.00.

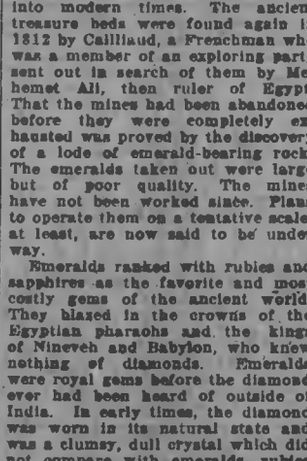
EGYPTIAN RICHES

DISCOVERY OF PHARAOH'S GREAT EMERALD MINES

A British expedition that set out from Cairo recently rediscovered what are believed to be the mines from which the pharaohs of old Egypt obtained their treasures of emeralds, says the Inter-Ocean Syndicate. The ancient tunnels honeycomb a barren ridge of hills between the 24th and 25th degrees of latitude in Upper Egypt a few miles west of the Red Sea. Some of the excavations were shored up with timbers which were still intact and the floors were scattered with tools, lamps and baskets of ancient workmanship. Some of these objects, antiquarians say, date back to 1660 B.C. When the mines were first worked is not known, but they were still productive in the time of Cleopatra. Lost for centuries, the tradition of the old mines lingered into modern times. The ancient treasure beds were found again in 1812 by Caillaud, a Frenchman who was a member of an exploring party sent out in search of them by Mehemet Ali, then ruler of Egypt. That the mines had been abandoned before they were completely exhausted was proved by the discovery of a lode of emerald-bearing rock. The emeralds taken out were large but of poor quality. The mines have not been worked since. Plans to operate them on a tentative scale, at least, are now said to be under way.

Emeralds ranked with rubies and sapphires as the favorite and most costly gems of the ancient world. They blazed in the crowns of the Egyptian pharaohs and the kings of Nineveh and Babylon, who knew nothing of diamonds. Emeralds were royal gems before the diamond ever had been heard of outside of India. In early times, the diamond was worn in its natural state and was a clumsy, dull crystal which did not compare with emeralds, rubies and sapphires in brilliancy. The fact is not generally known that the art of cutting diamonds, which brought out the lustre of the stones and made them the flashing gems the world knows to-day, was not discovered until the fifteenth century. Emeralds to-day have the same rank as gems they had at the dawn of history. They are fashionable and highly prized now as in the days of the world's earliest royalties. Good emeralds are rare and becoming rarer. Carat for carat they are as valuable as diamonds.

Taking things as they come and selling them at a profit begets success.



TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good even colour, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the same troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

COINAGE OF ANCIENT BRITONS

The collection of ancient British coins formed by the late Sir John Evans, K.C.B., has been presented to the British Museum by his son, Sir Arthur Evans, president of the Society of Antiquaries and a trustee of the museum. In a letter conveying the gift to the Keeper of Coins, the donor explains that he feels that private individuals should do what lies in their power to make up for the deprivations the museum has suffered from Government parsimony during the war. The gift is the most important donation received by the National Collection for over half a century. It numbers over 1,700 coins. The Evans collection is in several ways unique. Sir John Evans specialized in this series of coins, and his collection formed the basis for the studies which resulted in the publication of his "Coinage of the Ancient Britons," in which there was given for the first time a satisfactory record of the history of England in the two centuries preceding the Christian era. One of the most important results of Sir John Evans' researches was to show that at the time of the Roman Conquest the Britons were by no means savages. They worked their own gold mines, and for over a century had an extensive coinage in four metals, chiefly of gold, and several denominations—which shows that they had a wide commerce and a certain degree of civilization. The history of the origin and evolution of ancient British coins is an interesting chapter of numismatic science which, while it may be paralleled in other lands, can nowhere be studied so fully.

France's Sugar Factories.

Prior to the war there were 206 sugar factories in France producing 700,000 to 800,000 tons annually. Of these only about 60 factories making 150,000 to 200,000 tons of sugar are outside the invaded regions.

JAPANESE DOLL

There are those in Japan who regard with disfavor, despite their excellence in the eyes of foreigners, the dolls wearing the "latest thing" in costume, that it has become more and more the custom to display in shop windows. These dolls, they say, represent the decadence of the ancient Japanese art of doll making. They are quite overdone. They lack the simple art of the Japanese doll of an earlier period. They are nothing but window mannequins. The criticism seems to be founded on fact, for although there are some who maintain that doll making is still one of the Japanese fine arts, no modern doll maker seems to have succeeded Kibaure Matsumoto, with whom ended, in 1889, the doll-making traditions of the pre-Restoration period. More than that, the modern theatre and now the motion pictures have supplanted the puppet shows that long provided a fine incentive to the men who made dolls for them, and created a great number of dolls which everybody recognized as characters in the national drama. The older dolls, moreover, were not dressed in real clothes, but painted to represent different styles of costume; and a finished doll, like any other work of art the world over, was expected by the connoisseur to reveal something of the personality of the artist. No wonder the mannequins in the shop windows look to some Japanese like the decadence of a fine art.

DO YOU REALIZE

The Shoe Situation?

Whether the people believe it or not, the Boot and Shoe Manufacturers are asking more for their goods wholesale than we are selling the same Boots at to-day. When buyers realize that, there will be a rush to secure a supply of Shoes before the inevitable rise in prices comes. Just be one of the wise ones, and come to-morrow (Saturday) for some of our Week-end Specials.

We are selling at REDUCED PRICES in spite of the fact that our next supply will cost us more than we are getting for the same Boots. For this last Saturday in September we are giving extra Bargains to finish up the month with a record business, and also make up for the closed days this week.

WHY EXPERIMENT?

Food scientists claim that the leavener is largely responsible for the flavor, texture and wholesomeness of your home baking. That on no other one ingredient does so much depend. It is important, therefore, to use a baking powder that you know possesses the necessary leavening qualities.

HARTLEY H. DEWART WILL ADDRESS WEST PETERBORO LIBERALS OCT. 2

CONVENTION TO NOMINATE CANDIDATE FOR LEGISLATURE WILL BE HELD IN VICTORIA HALL NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT—MR. GILLESPIE'S NAME WILL BE SUBMITTED TO THE ASSEMBLY.

LADIES ARE INVITED

The Liberals of West Peterborough will hold a convention in Victoria Hall on Thursday, October 2, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Provincial elections. Mr. Hartley Dewart, leader of the Liberals of Ontario, will be the principal speaker, and a fine programme of music will be presented by the Great War Veterans' Band. Mr. G. A. Gillespie has consented to have his name submitted to the convention, which should be largely attended. This will be the first opportunity of the electors of this riding to hear the new Liberal leader. A special invitation is extended to the ladies of the city and country to assist in the work of the convention and to take part in the nomination and to hear Mr. Dewart's address on Provincial questions, and especially on the policies of the Liberal party.

RETURNED MEN'S VIEWS ON "Y"

Since it was announced a few days ago that an appeal is to be made to the citizens of Peterborough next Tuesday and Wednesday for $7,500 to help wind up the great work that has been done during the past five years by the Y.M.C.A. in connection with the war and the return and demobilization of the men in Canada, hearty approval of the movement has been expressed by returned men who have had a chance to test for themselves the value of the work of the Y. M. C. A. It is expected that the demobilization of the soldiers and the work connected with the war that has been done by the Y.M.C.A. will be completed by next April. The funds that are being asked for are Peterborough's share of what will be required to carry the work to completion. Those who are co-operating in the campaign in Peterborough are the Red Cross workers, who this year will not have to make any appeal for funds for that worthy cause, the Great War Veterans, the National Y. M. C. A. Council and the directors of the local Y.M.C.A. The following are expressions of opinions by some of the returned Peterborough boys about the work of the Y.M.C.A.:

Sid. Martin, late 93rd Canadian Signal Corps: "I do not know what the boys overseas could have done in some circumstances had the Y not been present to take the place of home. On my return to this country I find in the Red Triangle Club the same homely atmosphere as 'over there.'"

Fred. Preston, Canadian Heavy Artillery: "The Y.M.C.A. is the best institution that ever crossed the Atlantic. Other societies were alright, but they were on a small scale and could not meet our needs the same as the Y."

Harold J. Devey, 3rd Canadian Divisional Ammunition Column: "The Y did all in its power for the comfort of the boys and succeeded in relieving to some extent the hardships the troops were forced to undergo."

Claire Stuart, 21st Battery: "The Y was always a good friend of mine overseas. It followed up the 'pushes' and was the only place where coffee, chocolate, etc., could be procured."

PETERBOROUGH'S SHARE

The great work conducted for "Our Boys," "Over There" and in looking after the comfort in England before sailing home, as well as on the troopships and later on the troop trains and in the demobilization centres and military hospitals in Canada, will be completed by April 1st, 1920. In the meantime money—considerable of it, although not as much as before—is required to carry the work to a successful conclusion. Peterboro's share is only $7,500. This is mostly for the National Red Triangle Fund but it includes an allowance that was set aside to place our local Y.M.C.A. in first class shape to look after the needs of over 200 Returned Men who are now using the building almost daily. Every Y.M.C.A. in Canada—including our Peterboro Association—has given its local returned men a six months full membership ticket free of charge and tens of thousands of them are using these privileges. We want the men to know and feel that we are glad to have them back home with us NEXT

ANNUAL HARVEST FESTIVAL SERVICE WAS HELD LAST EVENING IN ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

REV. CANON W. ALLEN OF MILLBROOK WAS THE SPECIAL PREACHER FOR THE OCCASION—SPECIAL MUSIC SUPPLIED BY THE CHOIR.

The Harvest Festival service at St. Luke's Church last evening deservedly attracted many people. The church was tastefully decorated with autumn fruits and grains, flowers, and leaves. The Rev. Canon W. Allen of Millbrook, was the special preacher of the evening and with him were associated Rev. W. H. White, rector of St. Luke's and Rev. R. B. Grobb, rector of All Saints' Church. The choir under the direction of Mr. Cyril Devey was augmented by a few members from St. John's choir.

The Sermon

Canon Allen took as his text Timothy 4:8, "But godliess is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come."

In opening, Canon Allen stated that the phrase, "a good thing", was commonly heard to-day. Men used it generally in referring to worldly success of some sort. But to his mind it was "a good thing" not to get, as the aspiration of the world seemed to be, but to give. It was a good thing to give thanks to God. Not with our lips, however, but with our lives. Thanksgiving was a great and important part of godliness. When one thought of the gifts God had bestowed upon us it was impossible to keep from having a thankful heart.

Unrest in the World To-day.

Canon Allen then went on to say that the text had a great bearing on our modern life. The ambition of the world to-day seemed to be to grow rich. This, however, was temporal, not eternal. The modern world was characterized by unrest and discontent. The anarchy in Russia was more noticeable than here but nevertheless the unending series of strikes showed an atmosphere of discontent at home. But discontent and unrest were always characteristic of the ungodly.

Godliness with Contentment Great Gain.

Canon Allen then quoted Timothy 6:17, "Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy," and Timothy 6: 6, "But godliness with contentment is great gain. For we brought nothing into this world and it is certain we can carry nothing out." Life to-day seemed to center about money. When Thanksgiving Day came we would read in the newspapers of Canada's great wealth and unending resources, which boiled down to a matter of dollars and cents. Life was a daily grind to meet the cost of living. And what an imperfect life this was. We were developing our bodies and minds but we were leaving out the spiritual element.

Co-ordination Of Material and Spiritual

On the other hand, the Christian idea was expressed by Paul when he said not to trust in uncertain riches but in the living God. God did not ask us to give up worldly matters to such an extent that we would become hermits. What was required was a co-ordination of the material and spiritual worlds. This was sound reasoning for Paul was a practical man. Could anyone say in the face of the war just over and the sacrifices made in it that Christian men were unfitted for the problems of this world? Godliness was profit not only because it held promise of the life to come but of this life as well.

"We brought nothing into this world and it is certain we will take nothing out," Canon Allen continued. "We must put first things first and second things second; everything in its proper place. The promise sooyyiiiiiiiiooaaeeeefdyylqi a eess ssiiiiaaaaeeessssddd gw fg wkilnnnaar ise of the text is extended to all mankind poor as well as rich."

Concluding Canon Allen stated that we were living in a time of great movements and we should align ourselves with some great spiritual movement. The blood that was shed in Flanders was shed for us that we might make a better world. Would we, then, by our indifference make the shedding of that blood in vain?

THE FIUME SITUATION

LITTLE CHANGE IN CONDITIONS — STATEMENT OF ITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER.

United Press:

BERNE, Sept. 26.—An unconfirmed report received here to-day from Italy said that the Duke D'Acsta has planned to proclaim a Military Dictatorship there, overthrow the Nitti Cabinet and announce the annexation of Fiume and Dalmatia, regardless of consequences.

Canadian Press:

ROME, Sept. 26.—Tomasso Tittoni, Foreign Minister, declared during a meeting of the Crown Council to-day that the Peace Conference would not permit Italy to annex Fiume because such action would authorize the Czecho-Slovaks to occupy Techen, the Jugo-Slavs to move forces into Klagenfurt, the Greeks to claim Thrace, and the Roumanians to annex Banat.

RECORD FLIGHT BY LOCAL FLIER

"VIC" DALLIN FLIES FROM TORONTO TO KINGSTON IN 70 MINUTES.

KINGSTON, Sept. 25—Lieut. Dallin, who is to perform flying stunts in a German Fokker biplane at the Kingston Industrial Exhibition arrived in the city by air yesterday afternoon.

In his biplane he left Toronto at 2.15 p.m. and arrived in the city at 3.25 making a non-stop flight of 160 miles in one hour and ten minutes. It is claimed that by this flight he has established a new world's record for speed in flying.

Lieut. Dallin has been sent here by the Bishop-Barker Aviation Company, of Toronto. The company now has three machines at the fair, two Curtiss machines for carrying passengers and the Fokker machine for exhibition purposes. Lieut. Dallin's home is in Peterboro. He served for some time at the front in the R.A.F. and had a good number of engagements with the enemy as a result of which he bagged several Boche planes.

Owing to the inclement weather the aeroplanes were not extensively patronized yesterday, only six persons taking flights.

There is always hope for a man until he loses his self respect.

FUNERAL OF LATE JAMES J. DUFFUS

The funeral of the late James J. Duffus took place from the family residence, 389 Romaine Street, at nine o'clock Wednesday morning, September 24th, to the Sacred Heart Church, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father J. J. O'Brien. Rev. Father Galvin performed the service at the cemetery, assisted by the Rev. Father O'Gorman, Rev. Father McGuire, and Rev. Father McAuley.

It was one of the largest funerals ever held from the Sacred Heart Church, and the large gathering of sympathizers and friends who turned out to pay their last respects to the deceased was a silent tribute to the esteem in which he was held. The pall-bearers were Senator George McHugh, Lindsay; Messrs. John Lang, ex-M.P., Keene; Thomas Christie, Norwood; Robert Fair, Richard Nicholls, Peter Milloy, Louis Downer and John Grady, of Peterborough. The honorary bearers were Warden John McIntosh and Mr. George B. Nicholls, representing the County Council, also Mr. J. T. O'Connell.

Deceased was a member of the Holy Name Society, the Canadian Extension and the Altar Society.

Among those from out of the city who attended the funeral were: Messrs. Richard Spratt and Michael Egen, of Lindsay; Mathew Galvin, Campbellford; Monsignor Casey, Lindsay; Father Leonard, Kiltmount; Father Meagher and Patrick Clancy of Lindsay.

BRIDGE TEAMSTERS WENT ON STRIKE

MEN WANT A STRAIGHT DOLLAR AN HOUR.

Five of the nine teamsters employed on the Hunter Street Bridge work went out on strike to-day at noon for a straight dollar an hour or eight dollars a day. At present they receive six dollars. They maintain that $6 a day for a team, a wagon and a driver is not enough. They asked for the advance, but were refused by the Russell Townsend Company, and left their work at noon. One teamster stated to-day at noon that a man with one horse and cart receives $5 a day, and that it is not a fair deal that a man supplying a heavy waggon and two horses should receive only one dollar more. He said that it would not feed the extra horse.

WESTWOOD WANTS HYDRO SERVICE.

The hamlet of Westwood and a certain section of Asphodel township want Hydro service if obtainable, and the Council has passed a resolution asking the Commission to prepare estimates of the cost of construction, rates, etc. Now is the time for the residents from Havelock to Trent River to get busy if they want a supply of the Provincial juice when the rest of this section is served with an up-to-date system.

DECLARE AUSTRIA BANKRUPT

VIENNA, Sept. 26.—Reports were circulated here to-day that the Government, owing to the food and fuel shortage, plans to declare Austria "bankrupt," and place the country's administration in the hands of the Allied mission here.

FARMERS REVEAL UNITY IN E. PETERBORO FIGHT

U.F.O. MEETING IN LAKEFIELD FOUND OLD GRITS AND TORIES GOING OVER THE TOP TOGETHER IN OPENING ELECTION CAMPAIGN.

STRONG ARGUMENTS PRESENTED

(Special to The Examiner.)

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 26. — On Thursday evening a meeting was held in the Queen street theatre in the interests of the United Farmers of Ontario. The meeting was well attended

Mr. J. E. Galvin was in the chair and spoke briefly about the object of the meeting. He understood that the organization of farmers was causing an uneasy feeling among the villagers but he explained that the interests of the farmers were identical with the working classes. He introduced Mr. Anderson, the county president of the U. F. O.

He said: "Premier Hearst says he will welcome the farmer candidates, but there was no welcome for the farmer candidate in North Ontario. Probably Premier Hearst meant he'd welcome Tory candidates. Farmers must look after their own interests. The central association of the U.F.O. had nothing to do with the bringing out of candidates; the individual ridings are doing this. The biggest part of the farmers' thinking is done from what he gleans from the newspaper. The Farmers' Sun is the only paper owned, edited and controlled by farmers. The farmer voting according to party reads the newspaper, which is the party organ, and these newspapers are owned and controlled by the monied interests to have all the conners. Let a man who has grafted a few hundred thousand from the government die and he is lauded to the skies as a great man, but let the farmer die and all that will be said of him is that he is a great worker—just about what one would say of an old plug of a horse. The only use people have for the farmer or the farmer's wife is that they must be good workers. They say the farmers are coining money and that they are profiteers. If that is so why don't more people go to the farms instead of to the cities. There is no armed guard holding them off.

Rural Representatives Needed.

Farmer representation is needed and needed badly. In the county of Oxford a test was made into the cost of the production of milk and it was found in 1918 that it cost $2.18 to produce 100 lbs. of milk. Now we are expected to sell milk and and products of milk at a distinct loss. In the investigation held in Toronto the board of commissioners only included one farmer and on strong protest being made, another was added over night. We are not only for the farmers' interests, but for the interests of the labouring man. We do not want the monned interests to have all the control. Now, in regard to the enormous war debt, it is claimed that four things must pay it, mining, fishing, lumbering and agriculture, and the last the most important of the four. Now if agriculture is to be the greatest factor in paying off our war debt should not the agriculturist be entitled to a word in just how the money is to be spent.

Mr. Anderson took his seat amid loud applause, and Mr. Galvin, in a few words expressed his regret that it was not possible to have a lady speaker, but the organization is still so new that the reserve of speakers is not large and the lady they hoped and expected to have had become ill from overwork and could not be present. He introduced Mr. Arthur Brethen, the organizer of the U.F.O. in the district.

Clubs Are All United.

Mr. Brethen began his address by expressing regret that Mrs. Laws, whom they expected to have present to address the meeting was unable to be present owing to a breakdown from overwork. She is a clear-cut, convincing speaker and a lady. The movement has grown so rapidly that speakers are scarce. Mr. Brethen was born on a farm and has been a farmer all his life and knows the conditions that he speaks about. The farmers' movement had its beginning in the farmers' clubs. He was one of the first members of the farmers' club, and the movement spread and had almost reached the stage where it would extend to a county organization, but the movement has outgrown the club and become a vast army of farmers who are co-operating and demanding a representation among the law makers of our land.

If the farmer had struck the world would have starved, but the farmer stayed on the job and has earned the right to his independence. We expect to get better conditions from the ballot because while we do not for a moment expect that all our candidates will get in, some surely will. Now the question comes in, "Why a farmer candidate in East Peterborough?" Well, why not, as we are a rural riding. We do not expect to run a farmer candidate in Toronto or in the large centres. Now the U.F.O. member is not necessarily against the government or against the opposition, he will not be tied to either party, but will vote on measures according to their merits.

Are Slaves of Old Parties.

Party politics have made slaves of us here in this country. In the British parliament it is no unusual sight to see a man or body of men rise and vote with the opposite party on a measure, and it is not an act that is in any way shameful or to be apologized for. In Canada it is counted almost a disgrace for a man to vote against his party. This party system is the curse of our country. The Times, formerly the News, of Toronto, has failed because it was too fiercely partizan. The issues of temperance and the Union government have made a new order and party lines are breaking and men are becoming more independent.

Appeal to Women.

Ladies are now removed from the barred list, which included the insane and the alien and the criminal, and are allowed to exercise their privilege of the franchise, and it is hoped that they will profit by the mistakes of the men and steer clear of partizan politics. Mr. Purvis is in the audience and he will give a great treat as he is a splendid speaker.

The prosperity of the farmer and the business man in small towns is identical. Their interests lie together and they depend on one another. More information will be given at the next meeting and questions will be welcomed as to the aims and ideals of the U.F.O.

Mr. Brethen was heartily applauded. The chairman called on Mr. E. N. McDonald, the U.F.O. candidate, to take the platform.

The U.F.O. Candidate.

Mr. McDonald explained that a farmer candidate was nominated after requests had come in from all parts of the riding, so a convention was called last April in Norwood and it was unanimously decided to elect a farmer candidate for E. Peterborough. In June another gathering was held in Norwood and to his great astonishment Mr. McDonald was the fortunate man selected to bear the standard of the U.F.O. The vote was not unanimous at the first ballot, but his two opponents are working hard in his interests now, not seeking pay or graft or good positions, but who are interested heart and soul in the cause and will stay in to the end. Some one said the U.F.O. is due to spontaneous combustion in the rural districts. At another meeting, which it is expected will be held in Lakefield, the platform will be explained more closely. However, one plank is the taxation on land values. Now in this village there is a piece of property valued at $200,000 and exempt from taxation. That is not fair, as the property is lying idle and its power undeveloped, which would mean, if developed, cheap electric power for Lakefield. Other planks are proportional representation, the referendum and the recall of members who are not fittingly representing their ridings in parliament. The farmers in parliament will prove that they will carry out their traditional qualities and will stick on the job and they will also prove to be hard knockers. Mr. McDonald made a favourable impression and was given a good reception.

W. E. Griffith's Speech.

Mr. Griffith, reeve of Belmont, and president of the Havelock Farmers' Club, was the next speaker. Mr. Griffith believes in organization, as it makes for unity and unity means strength. Now why NOT a candidate in East Peterborough? This is a riding with a large rural majority and why not a rural representative? Not a word against Mr. James Thompson, the present member, who is a good man and a gentleman, but he is tied to his party, Mr. Griffith announced amidst laughter of the audience, not to think he had been a Grit, for he was a dyed in the wool Tory. Now party does not count or should not, and the farmer needs representation and who deserves it more or as much? The farmer cleared the land in Canada and made it productive, and why should he not say how the land he made prosperous is to be governed.

Soil Must Pay War Debt.

Hon. Thomas White, late Minister of Finance, says our war debt has to come out of the top six inches of soil. Now who is going to do this but the farmer and the labourer, the man with the shabby overalls, the coarse boots and the old straw hat. If he can do that he should have representation in parliament. According to present conditions the farmer has become the hewer of wood and the drawer of water—he and his wife has the status of a slave. The farmers are awake and are thinking for themselves and will legislate for the best interests of farmers. Now in East Peterborough we have a genuine, producing farmer as our candidate and Lakefield and Norwood are very much mre dependent in the rural districts for prosperity than Havelock which is called the railroad town, and Lakefield and Norwood should support the farmer candidate.

Farmers For Prohibition.

Unity of numbers means power and united effort will mean victory.

You all know where the farmer stands on the question of the referendum.

This is a golden opportunity for the ladies to exercise the privilege of the franchise. They have seen the failure men have made of the country's government so they can profit by the example.

Mr. Griffith was heartily applauded.

ALICE JOYCE SHOWS HER OLD TIME SKILL AND DARING IN THE SADDLE

Alice Joyce, in "The Cambric Mask," shows that old-time skill and daring in the saddle which made her such a favorite in her earlier Western Features. She then was headed for fame as a serial star had not her path in photoplay been changed to gentler roles, in which she has won highest fame.

In this swift-moving romance, adapted from the novel of the same name by Robert W. Chambers, Miss Joyce not only gives an exhibition of wild riding in the night, but she also does a clever bit of gun play. Her role makes her a spy in the ranks of a band of White Riders who are leading to death in a swamp the man she loves but who believes she is one of the conspirators. Her father leads the band.

Unsuspected and undetected, she gallops among the band, ranges her horse against that of her sweetheart, slashes the ropes at his wrists and slips a pistol into his hand. Then, to give him an opening dash, she drives her horse among the others, stampeding the entire outfit.

There are other big, dramatic scenes, also, in this Alice Joyce picture, which will be seen in the Empire theater on Friday and Saturday. Tom Terriss directed the picture.

WONDERFUL PIANIST ENTERTAINS AND THRILLS A LARGE AUDIENCE.

Last night's bill at the Grand Opera House was one of the best this season It will be shown again today and to-morrow giving Peterboro theatre goers an opportunity of seeing and hearing one of the best programme's of the vaudeville and motion picture circuits. The headliner in the vaudeville turn is Don Alfonso Zelaya, a celebrated pianist who has to be seen and heard to be appreciated. This wonderful interpreter of all kinds of music from grave to gay is a son of the Ex-President of Nicaragua. Don Zelaya loves the classical works of the music masters but for the indulgence of his audience intersperses his program with a little ragtime melody that pleases. It was a concert all in itself and many will regret that it was not made possible to secure the services of Don Zelaya for a concert programme such as he is capable of giving. This is his first appearance in vaudeville, having devoted his previous efforts to concert work in the large cities of the United States.

Several interesting picture features concludes a very acceptable programme.

DAINTY ENID BENNETT'S LATEST PHOTOPLAY

"PARTNERS THREE," A STIRRING STORY OF DESERT LIFE

Popular Paramount Star Ideally Cast in Role of Exceptional Strength Which Affords Her Rare Opportunities for Dramatic Effort. To be Shown at the Allen Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Driven by necessity, Agnes Cuyler, a refined girl, is compelled to accept a position as a dancer in a cafe and dance hall. While dancing among the tables one night, Grant Haywood, a drunkard and coward, seizes her and attempts to kiss her. She slaps his face and for this insult to a patron, she is summarily discharged.

Haywood, who is smitten by the girl's charms, follows her out of the resort, pleads remorse, begs her forgiveness and promises to make amends. Disgusted with her life, she ultimately accepts his proffer of marriage, and they go westward.

When it is too late, Agnes discovers the real character of her worthless husband, who is an abusive sot. As they are driving across the desert in an automobile, she tries to prevent him from drinking a whiskey flask, whereupon Haywood brutally throws her out of the machine and leaves her to make her way to town as best she may.

Losing her way, Agnes falls exhausted and is found by Hassayampa Hardy, a desert rat, who takes her to his abode dugout. In the town, Haywood becomes fever-stricken and delirious, so that if he had purposed to do so, he is no position to tell anyone of his wife's plight in the desert. Agnes tells her story to Hardy, and it develops that he had been defrauded out of a valuable mining claim by Haywood for which he had sworn to kill him. When Agnes recovers her strength, Hardy takes her to Sandflat, where she obtains employment at waitress in a railway eating house.

While serving table one night, Agnes meets Arthur Gould, a penniless young man of education, who is forced by ill health to live in the desert. When she gives him food, he is thrown out of the restaurant. She gives him refuge in her own cottage, whereupon the tongue of scandal gets busy. Hardy arrives in town after striking it rich, and he forestalls the scandel mongers by taking Agnes and Gould with him to his dugout.

Meanwhile, Haywood recovers and searches for his wife, his quest taking him to Hardy's place.

Haywood sees Hardy scooping up his rich ore, and meeting Agnes, hypocritically tells her that he has reformed. After stealing Hardy's claim notice, he induces Agnes to return with him to town. Unknown to her, he has drained the water barrels, thereby forcing Hardy and Gould to return to town.

Gould falls exhausted, and Hardy proceeds to the town for assistance.

While dusting Haywood's coat, Agnes discovers the stolen claim notice. She accuses him, and a quarrel follows. Haywood is choking her when Hardy bursts into the door. Haywood escapes by means of a window, and, followed by Hardy, flees into the desert. Hardy shoots a hole through the gasoline tank of Haywood's auto, and then, when Haywood is seeking to drink water from a canteen, Hardy perforates it with a bullet.

Haywood sinks exhausted, and when Hardy is satisfied that his enemy's end will be that to which he exposed his wife some weeks previously, he returns to his dugout to find Agnes and Gould safe. He tells them the story of Haywood's fate, and it is quite apparent that the friendship of Agnes and Gould has ripened into love.

In addition to this splendid photoplay, the Allen will show the first episode of the new serial, "The Red Glove." The policy of the new theatre with its beautiful decorations, good music and better class pictures is attracting more friends daily. By opening the doors early, everyone is assured of a good seat and a splendid programme of good pictures every day.

"THE RED GLOVE" PACKED WITH THRILLS

WILL BE SHOWN AT THE ALLEN FOR THE FIRST TIME TO-DAY.

Those who are going to follow the newest serial treat of Marie Walcamp fame have some thrills in store for them. Gorilla servants, a disappearing band of villains called "The Vultures," a hidden valley where the vultures literally disappear from sight, a pool of lost souls and crackerjack love story are features of the newest Universal serial. "The Red Glove," filmed from Douglas Grant's splendid novel "The Fifth Ace." The first episode will be shown at the Allen on Friday and Saturday, and the succeeding ones every week on the same days.

Having scored splendidly in three Universal serials, Marie Walcamp has just completed the fourth and from all advance reports it is the best of the lot. It was adapted from Douglas Grant's well known novel of western life. "The Fifth Ace" and when completed was called "The Red Glove" for the reason that the secret of the location of "The Pool of Lost Souls" was inside of an old red glove. Don't miss the opening episode.

UNABLE TO WORK FOR FIVE MONTHS

TORONTO MAN HAD GIVEN UP HOPE OF EVER GETTING WELL—TANLAC RESTORES HIM.

"My wonderful improvement since taking Tanlac has astonished many persons who knew how sick I was before," said W. H. Haston, of 6 Cavell street, Toronto, Ont.

"I had suffered from stomach trouble for seven or eight years," he continued, "and couldn't get a thing to relieve me. My appetite failed, nothing agreed with me and gas would form on my stomach and bloat me up terribly. My heart would palpitate so I could hardly get my breath, and I finally got so bad off that I had to quit working. I fell off considerably in weight and felt that my case was hopeless.

Since taking Tanlac I feel like a new man. I have gained eight pounds, my appetite is just fine and I eat three big meals every day and haven't a sign of indigestion. A few bottles of Tanlac have done me more good than everything else I have ever taken taken put together, and I never miss a day from my work now. I am glad to recommend Tanlac, for it certainly fixed me up all right."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Nurse Girl: "Oh, ma'am, what shall I do? The twins have fallen down the well."

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce ow Parmint (double strength), and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

WILL OF FORMER LAKEFIELD LADY

Elizabeth Moore widow, formerly of Lakefield, then of Toronto, who died on October. 20, 1918, by a will of August 4, 1916, leaves $100 to her sister, Mailda Anne Cornish, made up of household effects. The balance of the estate is bequeathed to her son Ericson Ivan Moore, and consists of interest on notes $705; bank stocks, $1,346; cash $91; altogether $2,043.

LAKEFIELD FAIR

age. The young men's fancy caught the new Whitney and Diagonal Cloth Overcoats, Tapioca and Basket-wear Overcoats and Waterproofs, etc.

In the new Suits, the natty waistline effect and close-fitting garments were in evidence. "True-Knit" Underwear, Scarfs for men, Hats and Caps, Mufflers, Sweaters and several examples of juvenile clothes completed the display, which was a faithful exemplification of the large and attractive new stocks now on view in the "Oak Hall" Store, 409 George street, Peterborough, Mr. J. Maher, manager.

OUTSTANDING DISPLAY BY THE DUFFUS GARAGE

To the progressive proprietor of the Duffus Garage, cor. Charlotte and Water streets, Peterborough, belongs the credit of putting up by far the largest exhibit on the grounds, consisting of automobiles, motor trucks, and several other motor power inventions. In fact, it was stated on good authority, that it was the second largest and most comprehensive display of its kind ever shown in Lakefield by one dealer, the largest display being one made by the same exhibitor last year. It consisted of—

One Ford Sedan.
One Ford Coupe.
One Ford Touring Car.
One Ford One Ton Truck with stake body and pneumatic tires.
One Gray Dort "Special" five passenger car.
One Dodge Bros. Car.
One Ford Power Maker, attached to a Ford car.
One McCartney milking outfit with power attachment complete, in operation.

So great was the interest taken in this display by visitors that Mr. Duffus and his representatives were kept busy demonstrating the features of the different machines.

The Ford automobiles shown were the accepted standards, possessing those attarctive features which have compelled so wide a sale in Canada and the United States.

The Gray Dort and Dodge Bros.' cars which have been selected by Mr. Duffus as running mates for the Ford are sure to be good cars or they would not have been picked for the Duffus Garage. Of the beauty of the Gray Dort there can be no question, and for a medium car it has established an enviable sales record. The Gray Dort "Special" is an achievement of interest to every motorist and prospective motorist. The Dodge Bros.' machine has a record that most motorists consider to be an enviable one. The more carefully its specifications are investigated the more surely will the expert be impressed with them.

The Ford models of One Ton Trucks for the use of farmers and others furnished ample evidence of the wisdom of studying these speedy and convenient machines. Farmers using trucks save a lot of haulage cost.

A most interesting display was made of the "Power Maker" or in other words, the power attachment which can be placed on the rear of a Ford car for cutting wood, chopping feed, running a fanning mill, pumping water, driving cream separator or churn and various other uses. A cord of hardwood can be cut in two lengths in 88 minutes.

The McCartney Milker made by the McCartney Milking Machine Co., of Ottawa, had a special interest to dairymen and farmers; and is claimed to be an improvement on other machines of a similar nature. The Duffus Garage has the local agency, and is fully prepared to demonstrate its efficiency to any one so desiring.

This exhibit was in charge of Mr. J. S. Selkirk, and assistants, who had many admirers and interviewers during the day.

Don't Be a Slave To Your Nerves

Good Advice to Nervous People

People who are excessively nervous, tired out and all run down, who get the jumps and fidgets, who can't concentrate their minds on work, have fits of blues, trembling, nervous headaches and dyspepsia and that "don't give a hang" feeling so common to nervous folks, may take it as a certain fact that their trouble is due to impoverished or devitalized nerve force. Their nerve cells are starving and when they give out entirely, complete nervous prostration or breakdown is the result.

A splendid treatment for weak nerves is found in the famous Ferro-Peptine, composed of six of the best nerve vitalizing elements known to modern chemistry. These tablets go straight to the nerve cells and begin immediate action. Take a Ferro-Peptine tablet, wait ten minutes and watch yourself perk up. They feed your famished nerve cells, start healthy blood circulation and normal digestion. Then you brighten up, put on a smile, get some of the old-time "pep" back in your system and feel as happy as a clam at high tide. Ferro-Peptine is absolutely harmless, contains no dangerous habit-forming drugs, is easy to take, inexpensive and all leading druggists sell it on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back.

DELCO LIGHT DISPLAY.

The representatives of the newly-constituted electrical firm of Messrs. Miller, Powell & Watson, of Peterboorugh, set up an interesting exhibit on the Fair grounds. The members of this young firm are all practical electricians, with their place of business at No. 498 George street, formerly Alexander & Miller.

The Delco Light exhibition shown was an interestiug revelation to the farmers, because it showed how city conveniences can be brought to the country. The many uses of Delco Light has been specially interesting to rural home owners. Thousands in the United States have had it installed in their houses, barns and other outhouses. Electric light and power plants for farms and country homes can now be installed by Messrs. Miller, Powell and Watson.

Delco-Light will furnish sufficient current to operate a motor, from the smallest up to one-half horse power in size. Most light farm work can be accomplished with a one-sixth horse-power motor. Practically all light machinery can thus be motorized at slight additional cost.

Electric lighting on the farm received important attention from this firm, and the installation of rural lighting outfits is a hobby.

This firm also exhibited the Shinn-Flat Lightning Rod, a scientific protection from lightning, in which farmers were specially interested.

THIEVES GIVE THIS CITY WIDE BERTH

Crook gangs must have given the Peterboro Exhibition the go by as not one complaint was made by the Directors of the Fair to the local police department. In other years crooks and would be crooks have been yanked by the collar into court and given their dues but this year sees the cells empty of any light fingred gentry. The gangs evidently scented good pickings at Lindsay's fair as they lifted a number of rolls of greenbacks, looted five stores and the C.P.R. ticket office and then evidently left the town on the banks of the Scugog in a stolen car.

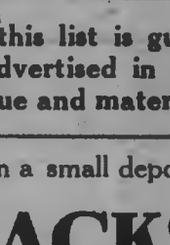
AFTER SUFFERING A WHOLE YEAR

Mrs. King Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.



Iola, Kansas.—"I was a constant sufferer from female trouble for about a year. I had pains in back and stomach, in fact all over me, and was all rundown. A friend of mine was cured of the same trouble by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and it gave me health and strength and made a new woman of me. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly, and you may publish my testimonial as it may be the means of helping some other suffering woman."—Mrs. IRENE KING, 105 West Campbell Street, Iola, Kansas.

The great number of unsolicited testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory, many of which are from time to time published by permission, are proof of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, in the treatment of female ills.

Every ailing woman in the United States is cordially invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free, ready to help you health and may save your life.

LEAVING THE CITY

The friends of Mr. Chas. Gentleman in this city, will regret to learn that he has resigned his position as salesman with "Heintzman Hall." During the past four years his courteous manner has made him accessible to many friends, who have esteemed him for his straightforward character and sterling qualities. Mr. Gentleman has been for along time a faithful employee of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Limited, Toronto, where the company hopes to retain his services for that city, and where he has his permanent residence at 46 Melbourne avenue. His Masonic brethren here will miss him from their connections, at which he was always a welcome visitor.

WORKERS SHOULD HAVE SHARE IN PROFITS, BUT NOT IN THE LOSSES

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Employers should give their workers a paid-up interest in the business and a share in the profits without requiring them to share in factory losses, is the opinion of Viscount Finlay, formerly lord high chancellor of England. He expressed his ideas in an address at a luncheon given in his honor here.

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, aspirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drunk before breakfast for awhile will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

DREAMS SHOW DESIRE.

Those of Children Are Frank, While Adults Are Camouflaged.

A London physician has made written records of dreams of over five thousand school children between the ages of eight and sixteen years, and finds that they support the belief that a dream is merely the expression of some desire, but changed in expression by one's subconsciousness in order that it may not awaken the sleeper. Frequently subconsciousness itself is caught napping, and the sleeper awakens in a fright and says that he has suffered from a nightmare.

Again the subconscious mind does its work so cleverly that the wish or desire of the sleeper is often disguised so that an expert in the study of dreams has difficulty in uncovering the theme, but the London physician found that the dreams of children are fairly frank, while those of students from 18 to 22 years were so thoroughly camouflaged that he abandoned their study.

The eating element dominated in children between the ages of eight and 14, being more common with the children of the poorer classes than with those well-to-do. It appeared, too, that an appreciable increase in these dreams was noted toward Christmas. What seemed unusual was that dreams in which fear was dominant were more common among boys than among girls, while with both sexes the fear of an old man was the most common. The fear of animals was also common, but the type of animal differed with the sex of the dreamers, as the boys were in fear of lions, tigers and bulls, while the girls were terrorized by dogs, mice and snakes.

The war had great effect upon the dreams of boys, but little upon the dreams of girls, the war dreams being rare with either sex under the age of 10. As with adults the dreams were frankly egoistic. It appeared, too, that from the age of 10 there came a marked falling off in dreams in which eating figured, and an increase in those which fear dominated.

The result of this careful investigation supports the modern theory of dreams in which theory science is now greatly interested, especially that branch of it which concerns itself with mental troubles.

No Part Nigger.

"That picturesque old gentleman sitting there under the tree must be at least an octogenarian," commented the motorist who had stopped for a drink of water in a village. "Say, looky yar!" truculently returned the villager addressed, "You're talking about my Uncle Rip! He's eighty-two years old and can't take up for himself, but I want you to understand, by thunder, that he ain't no part nigger!"

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Wheels Within Wheels

By FREDERICK L. KEATES

(Copyright)

The watches began to disappear from Wallenstein's about a week after John Beckwith's commencement there as a salesman. The manner of their disappearance was, for a time, as puzzling a mystery as the name of the song of the sirens.

Jacob Wallenstein, the proprietor, who took great pride in his brilliant Chestnut street jewelry store, said little on the occasion of the first loss, though he no doubt did a good deal of thinking and kept a wary eye on his assistants; but when gold watch number two, value sixty dollars, was missed, things began to liven up considerably.

The disagreeable affair placed Beckwith in an uncomfortable position. Being a new, untried salesman, he guessed that a big share of the general suspicion would rest on him. Uncommonly sensitive as to his honor, he chafed sorely under the incubus of doubt which intangibly threatened it, and he determined to do his utmost to find the culprit.

He felt it impossible to continue to work for very long under a cloud of distrust; for, as he was very fond of remarking, one could never tell what dirty trick chance might play a fellow.

There were two other clerks in the store; decent fellows, respectively Brown and Nevin by name. There was a young man of twenty, Ted Galvin, who wrapped packages, made deliveries, and dusted; and Despard, a silent, grumpy man, who repaired watches and jewelry.

After carefully considering the situation, Beckwith decided to keep a close watch on Despard. Your taciturn man is usually a mark for the arrows of suspicion. Some of Despard's actions, he thought, were "off color," but nothing definite came of the doubt, for either the man was innocent or he was much too cunning to be caught napping.

Despite the general watchfulness, it was not long before another valuable watch was stolen. It was missed on a Saturday evening. All that day, owing to a special reduction sale, the store had been crowded with people, but Beckwith, Brown and Nevin swore that they had taken the greatest care to show only one watch at a time, and to see that it was handed back before they submitted another.

No sooner had the discovery of the missing watch been made than Nevin startled every one by pronouncing his stock of diamond rings incomplete. Two had been stolen.

"Twenty-five-dollar ones, they were," he said, gazing helplessly around.

Mr. Wallenstein looked black. "I don't understand it," he said, frowning. "I have noticed that this sort of thing happens during my absence from the store. I don't know what to make of it."

He passed his fingers through his thick, black hair, and stared hard at his employees.

"Gentlemen," he said, after a long pause, "if you are certain no stranger has robbed you during the rush today, the culprit must be in the store, and if you have the welfare of the business at heart, as I believe you have, you will each personally permit yourself to be searched. Does anyone object? It is very unpleasant, of course, but I must ask the innocent to submit gracefully in order that the guilty may be arrested. I trust no one objects?"

His sharp eyes rapidly scanned their faces for any tell-tale expression of fear. There was no sign of concern apparent on the features of any of his employees. Only on the face of Despard was there a look that was strange, and he was scowling menacingly.

"I object to being searched," he said shortly and sharply.

All eyes were turned on him, and Mr. Wallenstein's face hardened as he stared at him. Despard reddened, then paled.

"Very well," said the jeweler stiffly, with a hint of threatening in his voice. "I trust you know what is best for yourself. You must see that such an attitude cannot be of benefit to you. However, this time I will ask merely that you all show the watches you carry. Do you refuse to comply there, Despard?"

Despard's sole answer was the pulling forth of a commonplace, three-dollar gun-metal watch.

Mr. Wallenstein nodded. "Very good," he said, curtly, and turned to the others.

Nevin's watch was a common gold-plated one; Brown's was a ten-dollar thin model, pretty well worn; Galvin's was a huge silver monstrosity, a hundred years old (so he said), and once the property of his great-grandfather; Beckwith's was the humblest of them all—a nickel timepiece that had been dropped on the floor more than once and still kept fair time.

"That will do," said Mr. Wallenstein. "You may go. But, gentlemen, I want you to understand that I shall call upon you, when necessary, to submit to a thorough search. You are responsible for the goods placed in your care, and you have got to account for them. I make no charges, but something must be done in the matter and I must be permitted to do it in my own way, pleasant or unpleasant."

When his employees had gone home, Mr. Wallenstein, left alone, searched the store, and the two rooms above it, from floor to ceiling, in quest of hidden goods, but his search was in vain.

"This is getting serious," said the exasperated jeweler. "I ought to have insisted on a thorough search before I let them go. Still, I feel convinced they're honest, although Despard, perhaps, is a trifle doubtful. The wisest thing is to have him watched. I'll get a detective at once. I have let the thing go too far already."

In spite of all precautions, however, and notwithstanding the many watchers, the thefts continued. The employees were now searched each time they left the store. The hired detective was positive that the culprit was one of the assistants, and while it was not impossible for one of them to purloin an article and slip it into his pocket unseen, it seemed absolutely beyond belief that the booty could be carried off under the very nose of everybody.

One day an odd idea occurred to Beckwith. As luck would have it, that same day his opportunity to test it arrived. At about five-thirty he went upstairs to the washroom to wash himself preparatory to going home. There he found Galvin, who, having hung his waistcoat on a hook, was about to wash his hands.

In an instant Beckwith made up his mind. Hastening downstairs, he went up to Brown.

"Say, Brown," he whispered hurriedly, "help me a minute. I'll explain afterward. I'm going up into the washroom. When I have reached the top of the stairs I want you to call up to Galvin. When he comes to the head of the stairs, ask him whether he took that package to Mrs. McCarthy's this afternoon; we know he did, of course; hold him there a couple of minutes; ask him to whom he gave it, and what they said. This is important; will you do it?"

"Sure," said Brown, wonderingly. "What's the matter? If you look like that, you'll have the detective come over and sit on you."

Beckwith hurried upstairs without replying, and Brown's voice promptly called out: "Hello there, Galvin!"

Galvin was drying his face as Beckwith reached his side.

"Hello!" answered Galvin, crossing the room and standing just out of Beckwith's sight, at the head of the stairs.

In an instant Beckwith had Galvin's huge, great-grandfather's watch out of the pocket of the suspended waistcoat. The first thing he noticed was that one of the hands had fallen off.

"The thing isn't going," he said to himself. He placed it to his ear.

"Ah, ha!"

He said no more, but hastily unfastened the silver chain and put the watch into his own pocket.

Galvin was still at the head of the stairs. "Sure I did. D'yer think I swiped the package?" he demanded indignantly. "What d'yer take me for, anyway?"

"All right, Galvin," said Brown. "My mistake, that's all."

"I ain't no thief," growled Galvin, entering the room. "That Brown gives me a pain in the neck."

Without staying to turn off the running water, Beckwith hurried down the stairs. As he entered the store, Mr. Wallenstein, who was counting some gold watches in a tray prior to placing them in the big safe for the night, uttered a tremendous oath.

Everyone in the store turned to him in startled amazement, and the detective hurried over to his side.

"There's a sixty-dollar gold Elgin missing here!" cried Mr. Wallenstein.

A couple of customers, not liking the look of things, made a move to go.

"Lock the door," ordered the detective. "Everybody stay where they are."

Beckwith, with conflicting emotions of doubt and assurance warring within him, went up to his employer and whispered to him.

Eagerly Mr. Wallenstein held out his hand, and Beckwith handed Galvin's huge watch to him.

Without a word, the jeweler quickly opened the back of the watch, and then the inner cover. All eyes were fixed on him, and heads were craned forward as he revealed the interior of the uncouth timepiece.

An exclamation of wonder broke from the group of watchers, for there, in place of wheels and springs, was snugly ensconced the missing gold Elgin. It fitted into the larger watch with some room to spare, and a little cotton wool had been hastily stuffed in as packing.

At once all was commotion.

"Arrest the scoundrel!" cried Mr. Wallenstein, crimson with anger. "Arrest him!"

"In the washroom, second floor," said Beckwith, nodding to the detective.

The man sprang up the stairs, followed by Beckwith. Entering the washroom, they were surprised to find it empty. Even Galvin's waistcoat had gone; for, discovering the loss of his watch, the guilty one had been quick to grasp the situation, and had fled. The open window showed the way of his escape.

Standing on a chair, the detective leaned out of the window and noted the strong lightning-rod wire which ran loosely down the wall, close to the window.

"Nervy, all right," he muttered. "Good, stunt, too, that old watch of grandpa's."

The Colon Is the Home of Health—Keep It Clean!

FALL HOUSE CLEANING is at hand. It's a hard job, at best. But consider what an impossible task it would be if the house hadn't been getting its regular daily cleaning all these months!

Long before this no one could have lived in it. The accumulated dust and dirt, which is fairly easy to down day by day, would have so clogged the quarters that they would be uninhabitable.

Your Colon is the house where your health lives. It has different "rooms" in which your daily physical welfare "lives". These "rooms" are long and narrow. So they are easily clogged. And when constipation clogs them, your health has to get along the best it can in a home that isn't fit to live in, any more than a house clogged up with dust and dirt is fit for you and your family to live in.

Nujol is the broom that will keep this "home of health" in perfect order all the time.

Nujol is the only helper that will do this without turning things topsy-turvy and upsetting all the "rooms"—just as house-cleaning does.

By daily use of Nujol you can free yourself from all the disease-risk, discomfort and inefficiency that come from a clogged colon.

Nujol is not a medicine. Not the least particle of it is absorbed into the system. It is a clear, tasteless, odorless, absolutely HARMLESS softener and lubricant. A baby can take it with perfect safety. It doesn't upset the stomach or anything else. It simply keeps the home of your health CLEAN and COMFORTABLE.

King John's Lost Treasure.

The idea of making use of the electric apparatus used in locating ores to discover King John's lost treasure has been put forward by Capt. Hugh Pollard in an English paper. He recalls the fact that, several years ago, Sir William Hope informed the Society of Antiquaries that the ford of the Wash where the treasure was lost in the thirteenth century was reclaimed in the seventeenth, and that the land lies between Walpole and Long Sutton in Lincolnshire. Now this treasure of King John's is of extraordinary interest. Not only did it contain loot from half the castles and churches of England and John's own jewels, but the crown of King Alfred as well. At the close of the seventeenth century King Alfred's jewel, now in the Ashmolean Museum, was found some distance north of the site of Athelney Abbey in Somersetshire. The gem is made of pure gold and contains colored stones covered by a thick crystal, through which is seen the miniature of a man clothed in a green Saxon tunic. It is formed of enameled mosaic on a blue ground. The man is seated on a throne with a crown on his head and holds a fleur-de-lis in each hand. Round the edge are the words in Anglo-Saxon: "Alfred had me worked." Some say the figure represents Alfred himself. If so, perhaps the crown which the gem depicts is the one which the elements wrenched from the unworthy hands of John all that long time ago, and the one which, it is to be hoped, the twentieth century will recover.

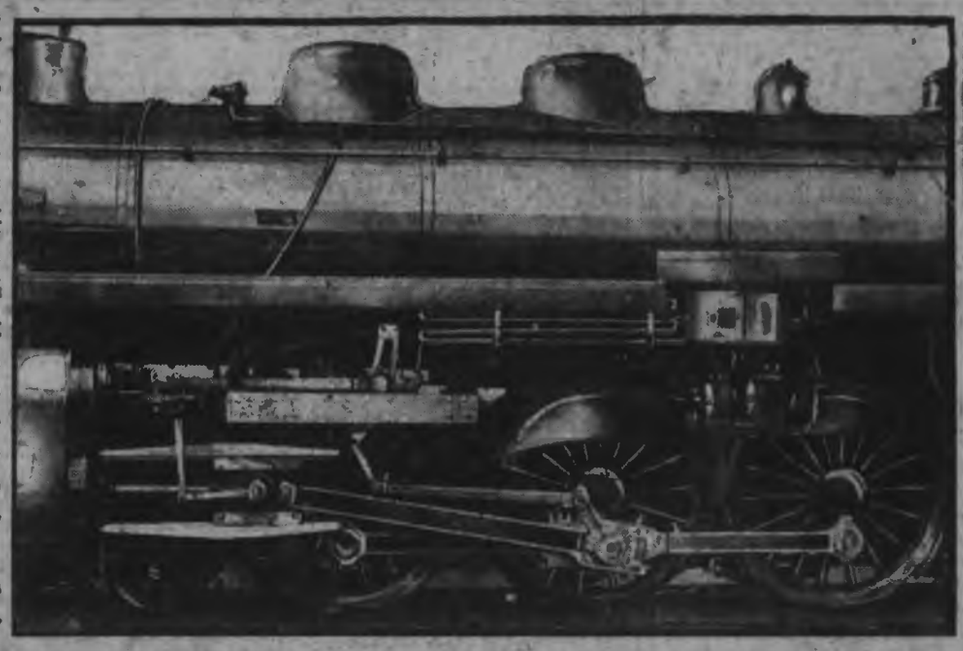
A C.P.R. PRINCELY TRAIN



Close View of Machinery of new C. P. R. Locomotive 2300 used to draw the Prince of Wales.

Possibly the most interesting feature of the royal C.P.R. train carrying the Prince of Wales through Canada is the lack of ostentation and display, which is in accordance with the express desire of His Majesty the King, that the Canadian tour of the Prince of Wales be carried out upon lines as democratic as possible. The aim of those responsible for the arrangements of the Prince's tour, has been to achieve elegance, efficiency, and withal simplicity.

The C.P.R. has set in motion a combination of rolling stock that will compare favorably with any passenger accomodation on the continent of America, and will surpass similar railway equipment of Europe.

His Royal Highness travels in Lord Shaughnessy's private car, which his lordship has placed at the disposal of the guest of the nation. This has been re-upholstered in Royal blue and gold, but is otherwise very much as it is when in regular use.

In addition to the "Killarney" the train has a second private car, the "Cromarty," belonging to Commander J. K. L. Ross, which has also been loaned for the tour. The "Cromarty" is a splendid car, finished in satinwood and fitted with every comfort imaginable. The remainder of the train consists of the compartment car "Empire," the dining car "Canada," two sleeping cars, the "Carnarvon" and the "Chester," and the car "Chinook," with two baggage cars at the head of the train.

The engine and several of the cars, notably the "Chinook," the compartment and baggage cars, have been completed for the occasion, but are specially interesting in that they are the first of a new series that have been adopted for the entire C.P.R. system, and are equipped with everything that is modern in railway carriage building. At the close of the journey these cars will be drafted into the regular service, and then the Canadian public will enjoy the distinction of travelling in cars that will have been a portion of a royal train.

During the visit the Prince of Wales will live on the train for about two months, making the "Killarney" his headquarters throughout the trip. The train is accordingly equipped with modern devices and conveniences. Nothing has been overlooked from the handle set at the royal bedside to regulate the temperature of the stateroom, which is a standard appliance in Canadian Pacific equipment to the telephone that brings him in touch with all parts of the train.

To those versed in engineering the chief interest will centre in the remarkably powerful engine that is to haul the nine heavy steel cars.

In order to distinguish it from all other cars on the line, the "Killarney," bears the coat of arms of the Prince of Wales, having beneath it the inscription "Ich dien." The first compartment is also devoted to observation, a compact little room fitted with a lounge, easy chairs, a table and electric fans. On rainy days or in cold weather the passing scenery may be viewed more enjoyably through the large windows on either side, than from the platform outside. A speed recorder adds interest to the constant enticement of the journey, while an air pressure gauge indicates the application of the brakes by the engineer.

Next to the observation compartment comes a section devoted to the Prince's secretary, after which one reaches the bedroom to be occupied by His Royal Highness in person. A rich simplicity characterizes this compartment, which is finished in white mahogany inlaid with a fine line of ebony outlining the panels. Built into the walls across the end is the bedstead, finished with little ornamentation in the white mahogany of the room. Over the bed may be pulled a roller curtain to protect the occupant from the dust and draughts of the ventilators in the ceiling. The door is a full length mirror and an oval glass is set above the minute dressing table, in which will be reflected the youthful countenance of the heir to the British throne. The fittings of the dressing table and toilet are brass in harmony with the woodwork and a large receptacle is screwed into the wall to hold a capacious thermos bottle for hot or cold drinks during the night. Next to the royal bedroom is a second stateroom, with two berths similar to the first assigned to the secretary. Then in a niche in the wall is a shower bath as inviting as white tiles and porcelain can make it.

The central portion of the car is devoted to the dining room which is tastefully decorated in royal blue. Beneath the little extension table is a heavy pile carpet of blue, with six chairs upholstered in tapestry to match. The curtains and even the drawers of the sideboard carry out the color scheme, for the silver table service reposes between divisions of blue tapestry velvet. Between the sideboard and the window is a secretaire with pens and paper ready for many social notes that will be imposed upon the Prince and his secretary. Above it is a miniature bookcase, just large enough for a few delightful volumes specially furnished and all by Canadian authors.

The revelations of the remainder of the car would delight the heart of any Canadian housewife. With steel walls finished in imitation mahogany, a kitchenette, pantry, icebox service counter, charcoal heater and chef's bedroom, have been fitted into limited space beyond the dining room. The stove may be tiny but it is complete, and an extra gas ring hangs on the wall ready for an emergency.

The members of the Prince's immediate suite will occupy the "Killarney" and dine with him in the exclusive dining room laid for six. Six more can be accommodated in the "Cromarty", a special car is provided for the remainder of the party. The main diner is a pleasant place where tables for four and tables for two are placed in the windows down each side of the car. The rich brown tones of the Cuban mahogany walls and ceiling combined with the green hangings and upholstery, and accentuated with inlaid lines of satinwood, are soothing to the eye. The diner will accommodate thirty persons at a sitting.

The "2300", the pride of the builders of the Angus Shops, has been specially designed by W. H. Winterrowd, chief mechanical engineer of the C.P.R., who has combined in the powerful locomotive all that is modern and successful in engineering. The new machine is the first of a series of 16 engines just turned out at the Angus Shops. With her number painted in gold leaf and her ebony sides finished in the shimiest of black enamel, the overpowering effect of the "2300" is all the more noticeable if by chance she comes alongside one of the early type locomotives such as the "82," with her clumsy wooden cow-catcher, her shrunken boiler, tall smoke stack and enormous whistle. Since the days when the "82" first hauled her load of light wooden cars railway builders have fashioned engines capable of drawing the heavy steel cars commonly used in America today. Although the "2300" according to the test made out in Outremont, can haul eighteen passenger cars at full speed with ease, the "82" would be taxed to the utmost to transport two cars. The modern locomotive weighs 480,000 pounds, and carries a tractive effort of 42,000 lbs. The great tank of today has a capacity of 8,000 gallons, while that of the past generation has only 2,500. Yet it is interesting to note that the height of the smoke stack and the width of the engine are practically the same today as they were 26 years ago. Another interesting point in connection with the mammoth engine and tender is the fact that the whole under frame of the tender was cast at one time, a feat which is rarely attempted.

CANADA'S LARGEST ENGINEERING PROJECT

Hydro-Electric Power Commission Carrying on Wonderful Power Development Work at Niagara Falls—A Second Panama Canal

Operating the largest shovels in the world, and reversing the flow of a river, the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario is carrying on an enormous engineering project at Niagara Falls, practically without the use of steam.

There are many startling phases to this work, which is the largest engineering feat attempted in the Dominion of Canada, and the biggest engineering job at present being carried on in the North American continent.

In order to get water to the new power house which will be erected just above Queenston, the Commission will utilize four and a quarter miles of the Welland River, causing this sluggish stream to flow backward and to take water from the Niagara River instead of emptying into it above the Falls. Connecting with the Welland River is a power canal, stretching from Queenston and encircling the city of Niagara Falls, Ont., which will be eight and a quarter miles long when completed.

The original survey for the Niagara development was made in 1916, and the construction work begun in May, 1917. The commission expects to have the new plant in working order in 1922. War conditions handicapped the engineers, but this year's operations were begun on a gigantic scale. A trip over the right of way will impress the observer with the vast scope of the undertaking which, in its completed state, will cost approximately $27,000,000.00.

Two miles above the brink of Niagara Falls a steam dredge is gnawing away at the channel of the Welland River, removing in generous chunks the river bottom and a portion of Hog Island, which guards the entrance to this historic creek. The lone dredge and its attendant tugs are the only pieces of equipment engaged on the entire Niagara development which are not owned by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. They, with six or seven switch engines, are the only apparatus in use on the development which require steam in their operation.

Even the drills employed on the rock deposits of the canal right of way are operated by air, electrically compressed. A mile or two inland a huge clamshell swung from an aerial cableway, drops into the river and then emerges, bringing with it generous bites from the river bottom, which are deposited on the river bank at the foot of the tower from where the operator directs the activities of the clamshell. Deposits of earth and clay along the north bank of the river reveal the effectiveness of the clamshell in this particular portion of the development.

A short ride from Niagara Falls over new roadways built by the commission from crushed limestone removed from its right of way, brings one to the canal proper, where the activities of huge electric shovels, electric trains and gangs of men present a striking picture. The weary householder painfully feeding the furnace, shovel by shovel, from the ton or two of coal, his winter's supply, will marvel at the enormity of the electric shovels which pick up from eight to ten tons of material, lift it 70 feet into the air and deposit it into waiting cars, all within the short space of 40 seconds.

Trains, hauled by electric locomotives, convey the mud and clay to the dump at St. David's. The boulders and rock from the canal are borne away to the stone crusher on the cliff above Queenston, and converted into material for roadways, railroad roadbed and riprap which will line the shores of the canal.

The stone crusher, which has a capacity of 4,000 cubic yards, is well worth a visit. The rocks from the excavations are cast into a trough opening into gigantic steel jaws which grind and munch, breaking the largest pieces into smaller bits that are carried away on a belt conveyor. A series of crushers reduce the rocks to a form where they may be utilized for building purposes and stored for future use.

Fifty-five miles of railway, all electrified, and tapping five trunk lines, are required in the construction work on the development. On this railway the commission has in operation more electric locomotives than any railway system in Canada. At present 2,000 men are employed on the big job. These men are housed and fed by the commission. A surgeon, an ambulance and a hospital maintained by the commission are at the disposal of the employees in case of accident. The adoption of the newest safety devices has minimized the danger of accident on the development, and the commission has devoted a great deal of time to safety first propaganda in order to safeguard the men in its employ. About 2,500 acres, or 50 per cent. of the lands acquired by the commission for its right of way, have been converted into farms, and the produce from the farms is sold to the employees of the commission. The commission maintains its own telephone system on the development, and it has connections throughout the province. Garages, machine shops and office buildings line the right of way.

By establishing its power house at Queenston the Hydro-Electric Power Commission is enabled to take advantage of the full drop of both Niagara Falls and the Gorge, a total drop of 305 feet, affording 100 per cent. more electric power from the same amount of water. The largest electric units in the world, 55,000 horsepower generators, will be installed in the power house, to produce electrical energy for distribution throughout the Province of Ontario.

This great work is a striking example of the big vision and initiative of Sir Adam Beck, under whose direction the commission carries on its functions. This work is one which gives the people of Ontario just cause for pride in achievement.

(Contined from page 11.)

Women a Great Factor.

Mr. Purvis, of Sunderland, was the last speaker and he began his remarks by reference to the ladies who were well represented in the audience.

The women's votes have become a great factor in the forthcoming election. In Ontario North a by-election was recently held and the farmer candidate carried the day, the newspapers gave the credit to the young men, but the fact that the ladies were exercising their power to vote counted very greatly. In Ontario N. a by-election is at present on to elect a member to take the place left vacant by Col. Sam Sharpe. There are three candidates, a Conservative who is running as a Unionist, a Liberal who figures as an Independent, and Mr. Halbert, the candidate of the U.F.O. The organization of farmers has rolled up like a giant snowball till one wonders where it will stop. A member in Grey Co. said he saw the trend of the times and thought he must seek a safe riding, where people don't vote but simply mark their ballots. The agricultural department is not by any means adequately looking after the rural interests. Why do they not look after the poor service given by the Express Co? Why not look into the rural telephone lines and arrange with the Bell Telephone Co. for better [illegible]? Why not look into the embargo on hides, which is reducing the price of hides while the price of shoes steadily advances?

Why does not the Department of Agriculture inquire into the price of milk, which is being sold at less than the price of production?

There is an arbitrary price on wheat, while the miller advances the prices of shorts, a by product. The agricultural department is united too closely to the big interests and is not representative of the rural interests. It is to the interest of the towns and villages to stand by the U.F.O., because if they do not the farmer can and will resort to the co-operative plan of buying and selling.

The farmer is expected to stand still with bayonet fixed at an imaginary foe, while the Dominion Textile Co., the pork packers and the milling companies rob him.

North Ontario and Manitoulin have paved the way and elected farmer candidates and it is possible that after October 20th the farmer may be in possession of the citadel at Queen's Park.

The farmer is tired of being the under dog and he is coming into his own. He wants the rights accorded to manufacturers and the big interests. He wants a voice in what concerns himself. There is a great hue and cry at the increasing reduction in the rural population, but better economic markets will attract people back to the land, protection is played out. Farmers are compelled to organize to call on the towns and villages to assist agriculture to its lawful place.

Mr. Purvis was heartily applauded and as the hour was late the meeting was closed by the National Anthem.

WHEAT PRICES SINCE YEAR 1259

The earliest information on wheat prices in England is contained in a work called "Agriculture and Prices," which gives the price per bushel since 1259. The same or other sources of information carry down until the present. Wheat in 1259, the earliest date for which any price records are available, was worth 17c. per bushel. It dropped to 9c. in 1287 and 1289. Until 1580 wheat never got over 50c. per bushel—most of the time it was between 10c. and 20c., but in 1550 it crossed the 50c. line, and for the next forty-five years ranged between 25c. and 95c. per bushel. In 1595 wheat crossed the dollar line for the first time in history. It was under a dollar for twenty-seven years out of the next hundred, goin gas low as 90c. in 1634. During the eighteenth century wheat sold at above a dollar most of the time. It sold up to $2.68 in 1709. By 1801 a price of $3.68 had been made, the highest price in history coming in 1812 when $3.85 is the price recorded for that year. From 1764 until 1855—a period of 122 years—wheat was always over a dollar a bushel. In 1866 it dropped to 94c., and from then until 1900 only passed the dollar mark twice. Prices since the war have not broken previous high records.

Let a woman have her will, and she'll give herself away.

RAILWAY STRIKE PARALYZES INDUSTRY IN ENGLAND

Special Treaty

DOCUMENT MAY NOT BE PRESENTED TO THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT —ELECTION ISSUES.

THE ORIENTALS

OTTAWA, Sept. 27.—It is not likely that Canada, for the present at any rate, will become a party to the special treaty now under consideration by France, Great Britain and the United States. W. F. MacLean asked Hon. C. J. Doherty yesterday if the treaty would be laid before the Canadian Parliament. The Minister of Justice, although pointing out that the pact differed entirely in kind from the general treaty of peace, did not say definitely whether or not it would be laid before the House. With the session so far advanced, however, it may be safely inferred that it is not the government's intention to deal with the matter now.

The proposed three-sided treaty specifically does not include any of the British Dominions unless they choose to be included. Even among the three main contracting parties it does not come into effect until all three sign. France and Great Britain have already signed, but the United States' Senate has not yet given its approval nor is it certain that it will do so. Meanwhile the treaty remains in-operative and the Canadian government probably feels it is useless to consider the question seriously until the American decision is made. There are those, however, who think that Canada should take her stand with France now, whether or not the treaty is finally made ineffective by the non-participation of the United States.

If the government finally decides that Canada should join the Alliance the treaty like all others could be signed by the Governor-General in Council without submitting it to Parliament. Opinion here, however, is that the government would not think of signing on its own responsibility, a document of such vital moment to this country.

Oriental Problem.

Another International issue was before the attention of yesterday's House—the Oriental problem. It is unfortunate that this inflammatory subject should have been raised at this time, when the League of Nations, with Canada's participation, are hoped to be our harbingers of International concord.

Canada's place in the League, however, does not mean an abridgement of her rights to determine her own citizenship and her own franchise. Some national privileges have been guarded jealously by the United States and other parties to the covenant and indeed are accepted as a part of the contract.

It is only by an accident that the Oriental controversy has arisen here. It hinges on the use of the provincial franchise as the basis of the Federal vote. Such a provision was in the regular Election Act preceding the War Time Election Act and it is also in the temporary measure, which came to an end in August. In the interim by-elections act of the spring session of 1919, the clause was inadvertently omitted. Without the amendment proposed yesterday by the Solicitor-General, British Columbia, although not allowing Orientals, even British subjects, to vote in Provincial elections, could not prevent their voting in Federal contests. Without discussing the merits of the case, it is obvious that the stand taken yesterday by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and A. R. McMaster in favour of the Oriental will be unpopular in British Columbia, where feeling always runs high on this most vexed of all coast problems. H. H. Stevens, government member for Centre Vancouver, pointed out the practical objections raised by British Columbia people.

The incident will add even more to the strength of the government in the Victoria by-election, where the Minister of Agriculture, Tolmie, is running, and also in the great general elections. Academic arguments like those of Lemieux and McMaster may be interesting and though compelling, but, in practice they lose votes quickly in the Pacific province.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT AND ORGANIZED LABOUR CLASH IN FIRST BATTLE IN ALL HISTORY FOR A FINISH FIGHT

BOTH SIDES ARE HIGHLY ORGANIZED AND ARE PREPARING FOR A BIG FIGHT—FOOD MINISTRY SPRANG A BIG SURPRISE WHEN IT REVEALED THE EXISTENCE OF SECRET FOOD RESERVES IN LONDON SUFFICIENT TO SUPPLY THE CITY FOR SIX WEEKS—MOTOR LORRIES IN OPERATION THROUGHOUT ENGLAND.

THE GOVERNMENT HAS ESTABLISHED A POWERFUL DICTATORSHIP

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Great Britain to-day was involved in the most extensive strike in the country's memory. Stoppage of the entire railway system at midnight opened the first battle in England's history directly between the Government and Organized Labor. Both sides were highly organized and were preparing to-day for a finish fight.

With more than half a million men affected by the walk-out, and the country's whole transportation system paralyzed, the Government's first precaution to-day was to prepare against starvation.

The Food Ministry sprang a big surprise when it revealed the existence of secret food reserves in London which, it was estimated, are sufficient to supply the city for six weeks. Stocks in other parts of the Kingdom, it was declared, will enable Britain to subsist for at least eight weeks.

Motor lorries, stationed in all parts of the country, early to-day have been in operation between the seaports and food depots in the inland cities. The difficulty of milk distribution offered the worst problem, but an attempt will be made to complete a few trains for this purpose, and it was believed the nation's babies will be spared any suffering.

The Government has established a virtual Food Directorship, endowed with almost limitless power. The Navy will be used to help feed the country, the first time in history that the sea forces have been called to serve in such a capacity.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Inquirers at all steam railway stations in London this morning received the uniform reply of "No trains running," as a result of the strike order issued at midnight by the National Union of Railwaymen. While a number of underground lines in this city continued operation during the early hours to-day, it was declared the decision of the Underground Motor Union last night to support the National Union of Railwaymen will result in a complete tieup of the subways to-day. The Government, having failed in its negotiations with the Union to adjust the situation, is said to be prepared to operate the railroads with armed forces if necessary, but its definite program for meeting the conditions before the country has not yet developed. It has issued orders, placing all England under war regime, so far as food and fuel is concerned, and it was stated yesterday the mails would be carried by airplane. So far the employees of the Irish railroads have not struck. One of the most disquieting features of the situation is the possibility that the miners and transport workers, who with the railwaymen form what is known as the "Triple Alliance," may also strike. Government spokesmen declare the action of the union officials in quitting the conference with the Cabinet has "closed the door" to further negotiations. On the other hand, President Cramp, of the Union, declares the organization is ready to continue conversations. Several papers, commenting on the strike, urge an immediate summoning of Parliament, and there are some indications this will be done. It is contended that the nation does not know the full story and that only searching debates in the House of Commons will reveal it. All shades of opinion in the London press, except the "Labourite Herald," condemn the National Union of Railwaymen, action of which in declaring strike is described as a "Wanton war on society and an attempt to starve the country into submission." An appeal to people to support the Government in the fight to a finish is made. The Daily News, which is always sympathetic to Labor, says, "There was no shadow of semblance of excuse for the strike" adding "There is ground for the hope that the sense of wantoness of the wrong done the nation may bring a swift end to the strike." J. H. Thomas, Union Leader, and several of his colleagues, are credited by some newspapers with having tried to avert the strike, which is attributed in these quarters to alleged extremists who captured control of the Executive Committee of the Union.

WALKOUT APPEARS TO BE COMPLETE.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 27.—So far as could be learned at noon members of the National Union of Railwaymen had walked out in a body and the stoppage of service was complete. Subway trains had come to a complete standstill, shortly after ten o'clock. In the big freight yards motor cars, driven by soldiers, were carrying off perishable articles which arrived on late trains from outlying sections. C. T. Cramp, President of the Union, interviewed Sir Eric Geddes, Minister of Transport, this forenoon. This is considered an indication that the men and the Government still maintain friendly terms toward each other. Mr. Cramp declared, shortly after noon, that his presence at Whitehall this morning had nothing to do with the reopening of nego-

NO CHANGE IN THE STEEL STRIKE

BOTH SIDES ARE MARKING TIME UNTIL THE FIRST OF NEXT WEEK.

(Canadian Press.)

PITTSBURG, Sept. 27.—The close of the first dweek of the Steel Workers' strike was not expected to see any radical changes in the situation. Both sides to-day virtually marked time waiting for Monday, when both Steel Companies and strike leaders expect a change. Steel Company officials said they did not expect any considerable number of men to return to the mills, but did look for a general influx with the beginning of the new week.

KINGSTON MAN WAS ACQUITTED

JUDGE REBUKED THE AUDIENCE FOR APPLAUSE IN COURTROOM.

(Canadian Press.)

KINGSTON, September 27.—After being out for three hours the jury returned a verdict acquitting James Hartwick of the murder of his stepson, Frederick Hartwick, near Parham.

This was the result of the sensational trial in which Fred Hartwick's wife gave evidence against her father-in-law.

The court room was crowded even at an early hour, when the verdict was brought in this morning. When the foreman announced the verdict there was great applause, which Justice Lennox rebuked, saying that it was no credit to them.

There were affecting scenes when Hartwick reunited with his family in the court room. He has been in jail since February, and remarked "Now I suppose that I had better go down street and buy a straw hat."

NEW UNIVERSITIES DICTIONARY PRESENTS SUBJECT INSTRUCTIVELY.

One of the first things that must be learned by the young man or woman who sets out to become a thoroughly competent stenographer is the proper use of punctuation. Morris W. Croll, Ph.D., of the Department of English, Princeton University, has contributed an interesting and highly instructive chapter on this subject in The New Universities Dictionary being offered to the readers of this paper.

Professor Croll explains how the number of punctuation marks in common use has gradually increased with the development of the art of printing. Through the use of these signs the meaning of printed or written discourse is rendered clearer to the eye of the reader. How and when to use each of the twelve marks now employed is fully explained by Professor Croll, and the rules he lays down can be easily learned.

The remarkable success which has attended this dictionary offer shows that the people of this city appreciate the opportunity given them to secure at a nominal cost such a valuable educational work.

Fiume to be Occupied

ITALIAN GOVERNMENT WILL SEND TROOPS TO THE SCENE—CIVIL WAR THREATENS ITALY.

A DEADLOCK

(United Press.)

ROME, Sept. 27.— Fiume is likely to be occupied by Italian government forces the "Popolo Romano" reported to-day.

A despatch to the "Epoca" from Trieste says it is learned that D'Annunzio has sent a special appeal to King Emmanuel, entreating him not to abandon Fiume, but to insist that it be Italian territory. Despatches from Milan say that mothers and widows of men who fell in the war have wired the King, urging the annexation of Fiume.

(Canadian Press.)

ROME, Sept. 27. — Alarmist reports are current in this city, one of them being that civil war is imminent. On one side would be ranged Nationalist and Militarist factions, which would be opposed by Socialists. Several generals are credited with the intention of heading the militarist faction with a view to controlling the government, it being said that they believe the weakness of those in power since the armistice, caused the present deadlock. Some of these generals have already been mentioned as being in league with D'Annunzio before the Fiume raid with the object of overthrowing by force the Nitti cabinet and replacing it with a military dictatorship. The navy is reported as being ever more dissatisfied than the army, having, according to naval officers' statement, suffered more from the lack of consideration of their Anglo-French colleagues, who have acted as if they were masters of the Adriatic and have favoured Jugo-Slav claims. Foreign Minister Tittoni is said to have expressed the belief that the first thing to be done in the present serious situation was for the cabinet to resign.

U.F.O. MEETING EAST PETERBORO

The first gun in the political fight in this riding was fired this week when Mr. E. N. MCDonald, the U. F. O. candidate, held a meeting in the town hall here. The meeting attracted a fair sized audience, but the chief speaker, Mr. H. V. Hoover of Harold, missed his connections and failed to put in an appearance. Mr. Brethen of Norwood, Miss Barrie of Dummer ,and who, by the way was a former school teacher at Blairton, and Mr. McDonald, were the speakers, and they presented the arguments for a United Farmer representative for East Peterboro. Mr. Jas. Thompson, M. L. A., who was present, was asked by Mr. McDonald to speak and responded briefly, touching on a few points that had been brought out by the previous speakers.

Mr. McDonald intends to have another meeting here in the near future, when prominent speakers will be present.

PRESENTATION TO THE LAW SOCIETY PRESIDENT

MR. F. D. KERR HONOURED BY HIS ASSOCIATES-- PRESENTED WITH SILVER TRAY.

THE ADDRESS

At a special meeting of the Peterborough Law Association, the President, Mr. F. D. Kerr, was presented with an inscribed silver tray and the following address was read to him:

F. D. Kerr, Esq.,
President,
Peterborough Law Association.

Dear Mr. Kerr:

The Members of the Peterborough Bar have felt that your recent marriage has given them a happy opportunity of giving expression to the high fraternal regard which they have for you personally and to the appreciation which they have for you as a leading lawyer in this community and the President of our Association.

Your brothers in the profession have always had the very highest admiration for your keen judgment and fine discrimination and the admiration has been most decidedly enhanced since the step which you have recently taken. Your own popularity, great as it is, must give way to the popularity of the lady who is now your wife.

As a mark of our affection and esteem we ask you to accept this tray together with the sincere wishes of every member of the Bar that there may come to you and Mrs. Kerr the blessing of long life, full of material prosperity and rich in domestic felicity.

Yours fraternally,
Ozias Laplante, Vice-President;
Joseph Wearing, Secretary
Peterborough Law Association.

After the presentation Mr. Kerr replied in a happy speech on behalf of both himself and Mrs. Kerr, who had at the same time been presented with a bouquet of roses and stated that he hoped before his term of office closed to have the pleasure of seeing the tray in use among the members of the Association around his own fireside. His Honour Judge Huycke also spoke for a few moments in his usual eloquent and gracious manner and the meeting closed with the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow."

TO CUT DOWN ON HOME WORK

THE EDICT GOES FORTH, AND COURSES IN HIGH SCHOOLS ALSO CHANGED.

OPERATIVE FORTHWITH

Collection of Insects and Plants Are to be Discontinued.

Hon. Dr. Cody, Minister of Education has implemented a promise which he made some months ago. He has sent out to the teachers of the continuation schools, high schools and collegiate institutes an edict that they are to ease up on the homework which they have been accustomed to giving students. This injunction is also accompanied by regulations changing the courses of these schools, the object being to relieve the pressure of studies in those departments. The changes are to become operative forthwith.

Too Much and Too Hard.

"The homework assigned to junior pupils is often too great in amount and too difficult in character," Dr. Cody states in the circular which is being sent out. "The pupils in the lower forms are at a critical period in their lives when nature's energies are largely needed for physical development. There must be time for rest and recreation. Judgment and experience are required to adjust the work to the strength and capacity of pupils and to select such exercises as will justify the time spent upon them. The Principal, therefore, should consider it an important part of his duty to keep in close and careful touch with the homework required by the members of his staff, and to exercise a restraining influence on inexperienced and overzealous teachers."

Certain Lessons Discontinued.

Dealing with the revision of the course, the Minister orders that in arithmetic the topic of contracted methods of multiplication and division of decimals be dropped. Further relief is to be afforded by the teachers showing care in the presentation of the subject. During the first year, while the topics prescribed in the course are being dealt with and are comparatively unfamiliar to the young pupil, only the easier problems under the different rules are to be attempted. The more difficult problems, he says, will lose some of their difficulty if left for review in the second year. Further, it is not intended that the business forms prescribed in the syllabus of arithmetic should be memorized by the pupil.

During the war the history course has been increased, and in future the great war is to be studied only in suitable perspective where it forms part of the prescribed course in history, that is, in the lower school.

No More Collecting of Plants.

Much of the pressure, Dr. Cody says, complained of in the elementary science of the lower school has been due to over-elaboration in the preparation of note-books by pupils. While the note-book is a necessity and must be prepared, it is to be regarded as a means to an end and not as end in itself. The Inspectors are to continue examining the note-books in elementary science, but chiefly for the purpose of learning the details of the year's course, and they will base their approval of the course on the character of the teaching and on the laboratory practise of the pupils, rather than on the preparation of elaborate note-books. The work of making and mounting collections of insects and plants is to be discontinued.

The circular also sets out certain revisions in lower school physics, both general, first year and second year, and chemistry. The art course is also changed.

DEPICTS MISERY IN SAXONY.

BERLIN, —The Freiheit, in an article dealing with a fund that is being raised in the United States in behalf of the needy residents of the Erzebirge district of Saxony says that German-Americans not only are sending funds, but milk, cocoa, rice, and sugar, which will alleviate the "fearful misery" there.

The situation in Erzebirge is described by the Freiheit as deplorable It says 50 per cent. of the children of the poorer classes are without Winter clothing and shoes: that children 10 years of age often weigh only thirty pounds and that tuberculosis is increasing among the people at an alarming rate.

U.F.O. IN EAST PETERBORO PRESENTS STRONG LINE UP AGAINST THOMPSON

WERE READY FOR PROMPT OPENING OF CAMPAIGN WITH PROMINENT MEMBERS OF THE OLD PARTIES TAKING AN ACTIVE PART—STAUNCH HELPERS FOR MR. M'DONALD.

WOMEN ARE ORGANIZING

Although there have been rumors that the Liberals of East Peterboro are considering the chances in the Provincial elections of John Dewart, a school teacher and returned soldier and a near relative of Hartly H. Dewart, it is generally expected that the contest will be confined to James Thompson, the present member, and Ernest McDonald, the candidate of the United Farmers. Mr. Thompson has little hope of the Grits making it a three-cornered fight, in which his fortunes would be improved by the distraction of the farmers' attention, which is now strongly focussed upon himself.

It is already evident that Mr. Thompson will need all the help he can muster. The farmers' meeting in Lakefield on Thursday night, proved conclusively that the old party lines have been more extensively blotted out in the rural constituency to the east than was believed possible before the Government's announcement started this puzzling political race. Ardent Liberals and Conservatives of the far-away days of only four or five years ago, appeared together on the same platform, apparently zealous evangelists of the strangely new U. F. O. gospel. Their example is bound to influence farmers who find the bonds of the old party faiths hard to cast off. These volunteer lieutenants in Mr. McDonald's camp went into action together at Lakefield. There were no signs of looking backward, and their eagerness and the vigour of their speech indicated a zeal and force which, if maintained, will doubtless rally many of waverers during the next three weeks.

Apparently, too, the U. F. O. convention at Norwood, at which Mr. McDonald was nominated, has left no trace of bitterness in those who were also suggested as candidates. Wallace Anderson, of Dummer, and W. E. Griffith, reeve of Belmont, were both speakers at Lakefield, and, if they are representatives of Mr. McDonald's assistants, he will not lack reinforcing ability on the hustings.

It is early yet to survey the eastern riding, although there has been considerable preliminary manoeuvring, in which the Farmers' clubs have shown an activity that doubled them to hold the Lakefield meeting in the very first days of the campaign. The unity of the farmers in the economic field has been to many of them an object lesson of the possibilities of further co-operation in politics. Others remember the opportunity they let slip through their fingers in 1911, and there are not a few who have not forgotten the deal of 1896. The first reports from the southern townships are considered very encouraging. There is a strong U. F. O. sentiment in Otonabee, Douro and Dummer, with apr omising outlook in Asphodel, Belmont and Methuen. The villages are set down in the doubtful column. The success of the Farmers' clubs has begotten a spirit of confidence that is being revealed in the attitude of the U. F. O. workers toward Provincial and National problems. The Lakefield addresses were calculated to quicken the class consciousness of the farmers. They are fully aware of the importance of their industry, both as a necessity to the urban communities, and as a primary asset to the whole country, and this realization has inspired them with an independence that was never so pronounced as now. Their pride is appealed to in the reminder that if their labor and production is to pay off a large proportion of the Dominion's debt, then they should be up in the front seats in the Parliaments to which they are claiming a title they have too long overlooked, while they contentedly labored on the "back forties."

Hence, when "Jim" Thompson asks why East Peterboro should have a U. F. O. M.P.P., the farmers reply in kind: "Why not?" It is the new appreciation of the importance of their industry and of their class that is arousing in the mind of every intelligent farmer something of the so-called soviet spirit, the right of appointing representatives from their own ranks, to share in the administration of the affairs of the country that is so largely dependent upon their labor.

Undoubtedly they will secure a big vote from the women of the townships, a large number of whom are organized for the prohibition referendum and who know that the U. F. O. are frankly in favor of making the Province dry. The women of the farmers' homes will likewise be inclined to judge the U. F. O. political movement on its performance as a community business effort. From that illustration, they may be depended upon to give a large support to Mr. McDonald. These are some of the elements in the contest now confronting Mr. Thompson, and last minute promises and the parading of a Hydro scheme at the last hour will not avail with farmers who carefully weigh Mr. Thompson's performance during the past eleven years. East Peterboro is predominantly a rural riding and its temper is identical with the rural mind in similar constituencies. It may therefore be observed in view of the strength and enthusiasm shown at the opening of the local campaign, that the U. F. O. candidates will give their opponents a real battle until the last vote is in.

In Victoria John Carew has declined renomination and farmers of this vicinity interpret his retirement as a timely retreat before the U. F. O. forces led by Mr. Sandy, who it is believed will carry the riding with a big majority over Dr. Wood. These are only opinions, it is true, and opinions seem to be of little value at this stage of the campaign; but they all indicate the feeling in those constituencies where the old order has been upheaved by the new forces of Labor and United Farmers. The prospect is certainly full of interest and the progress of the fight that looks more like a mob scene with factions opposing one another than the old-time conception of a political contest.

"See America First" This Summer

Now is the summer of summers to know your own land. Mountains and valleys as magnificent as the Alps—landscapes as alluring as the world knows—lie before us here.

Years ago Goodrich began saying "See America First, and see it in your motor car". Goodrich cries it louder this summer of 1919. The scenery is the same; the roads are better.

As in previous years, it is a wise safeguard, when setting out on your motor tour, to equip your car with Silvertown Cord Tires.

You find their supple cable-cord body gives a special comfort in easy riding for long travel. And what means more to your trip, their dependability and dependability eliminate time from the load of unstable things your mind and car must carry.

Your best insurance against the trials of rough country roads is the tires with the Twin Red Diamonds on the sidewall. "See America First" on Silvertowns.

Alcohol is a Poison!

No Man Ever Revived Who Swallowed Five Ounces at a Single Dose

FOR centuries the human race has been under a delusion about alcohol. Modern Science has pronounced alcohol a deadly narcotic poison.

Five ounces of alcohol will kill a full-grown healthy man within ten hours. Taken in smaller but repeated doses alcohol lets him live longer but gets him in the end. All alcoholic beverages are poison, slow or swift—but sure.

Medical Science Has Established These Incontrovertible Facts

Alcohol is a racial poison.

Alcohol is a national curse.

Alcohol is a blight on the home.

Alcohol injures the individual and lowers his vitality.

Alcohol decreases his efficiency, makes him more susceptible to disease and shortens his life.

No man ever revived who swallowed five ounces of alcohol at a single dose.

The unconsciousness or coma produced by alcohol if not broken within ten or twelve hours is followed by practically certain death.

Alcohol as medicine has been expelled from the American Pharmacopoeia upon the authority of the American Medical Association comprising 81,000 physicians of the United States.

Beer drinking produces degeneracy and affects children yet unborn.

Pneumonia is fatal to alcoholic patients.

Surgical operations are much more dangerous to habitual beer drinkers.

Alcohol lowers resistance to disease.

Alcohol lowers the efficiency of the liver, kidneys, heart, arteries and nervous system, and produces organic disease.

Deaths among moderate drinkers in the prime of life exceed those among total abstainers by 74%.

2.51% Alcohol in Beer Makes it Poison

(2.51% Alcohol by weight equals 5.46% Proof Spirits)

Witnesses—

Major Dr. J. W. McCULLOUGH
Secretary Board of Health for Ontario

"The Public should learn that alcohol is a poison in the same class with opium, cocaine, and other deadly drugs. The money annually wasted in alcohol would pay the public health bills of a continent over and over again."

DR. CHARLES J. HASTINGS
Medical Officer of Health for City of Toronto

"Of the various habit-forming drugs, alcohol stands out as pre-eminently the greatest curse to humanity. The role played by this drug in the lowering of efficiency and in the actual production of organic diseases is such as to make it essentially a problem of preventive medicine and one demanding immediate action by administrators of Public Health.

LATE DR. J. T. GILMOUR
Formerly Superintendent of the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph

"I have never known a single case of wife murder that was not committed under the influence of liquor."

THE BEER of the Ballot contains 2.51% alcohol by weight, 11% stronger than the Ontario Temperance Act allows, and five times as strong as the limit allowed for beer defined as non-intoxicating in Great Britain and the United States.

A quart of 2.51% beer contains approximately one ounce of alcohol.

Five ounces of alcohol will kill a full grown man.

Three glasses of the Beer of the Ballot contains as much alcohol as a glass of whiskey.

Beer drunkards are coarser, lower, and more disgusting than wine or spirit drunkards because beer specially attacks the finer faculties of the brain, and stagnates the natural processes of waste elimination in the body.

The evils of beer are the evils of alcohol, and "then some."

When you are asked by the Referendum Ballot if you are in favor of beer containing 2.51% alcohol by weight—which is equal to 5.46% proof spirits—in shops, bars, or anywhere else, or if you favor repealing or amending the Ontario Temperance Act, vote

"No!"—Four Times—"No!"

And Sustain the Ontario Temperance Act as It Stands

SAVE yourself, save your family, save your country for the destiny God intended, unhandicapped by "booze".

Be careful—mark your ballot after each question with an X under the heading "No" or your vote will be lost to Temperance.

THINKS THE FARMERS SHOULD BE SATISFIED

Mr. I. B. Lucas in referring, in Lindsay, to the action and methods of the U. F. O., in the campaign which they had launched, like many others (many farmers included) could not understand why the U. F. O. deliberately put up a candidate against every Conservative farmer representative in the Hearst Government, with the exception of possibly one. Even Messrs. Henry (Minister of Agriculture), McDiarmid and McDonald, all good men who were taken right off the farm into Parliament, were being opposed by farmers. This was hard to understand in the face of the facts that they were giving their best services to the country and at all times seeking to advance legislation in the interest of agriculture. The Attorney General intimated that there was something else behind the U. F. O., and that farmers throughout the country should not be side-tracked or hoodwinked by manipulators of the U. F. O. who worked from headquarters at Toronto.

HERTZOG ANSWERS SMUTS.

Will Co-operate Only for Complete Independence from Britain.

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa. — Speaking at a Nationalist meeting here, General J. B. M. Hertzog, who headed the Nationalist delegation that visited England, replied to the appeal of Premier Smuts for unity among the parties of the Union of South Africa.

General Hertzog declared that the Nationalists desired eventual complete independence from Great Britain and would not co-operate with Premier Smuts if co-operation meant the abandonment of this ideal.

A PUBLIC SERVICE.

The local Referendum committee is doing a public service in seeking to educate the electors as to the method of voting upon the referendum. There is so much danger of misunderstanding and confusion in connection with the referendum ballot that any effort to make the situation clearer should be appreciated. The committee have hit upon the plan of holding a series of educative meetings at which the ballot will be carefully explained and the audience given an opportunity of marking an imitation ballot, a model polling booth being established for that purpose. This will be a practical opportunity to learn how to avoid losing your vote on the referendum by spoiling your ballot—a feat that is by no means impossible in view of the fact that the voter must be careful to answer all four questions and must not mark anything on the ballot but a cross in the yes or no column opposite each of the four questions. Thousands of women who have never had an opportunity of voting before will have a chance to do so on this occasion, which increases the need of a campaign of education such as is being undertaken by the Referendum committee.

STILL SLEEPING.

"Measures to reduce the High Cost of Living" are promised in Sir William Hearst's election manifesto. The Premier might have given some weight to that particular plank in his platform if he had been able to announce that Hon. Mr. Lucas, the Attorney-General and a "sleeping partner" in the Queen's Park cabinet, had been asked for his resignation on the ground that he had shown himself totally inefficient and that in order to implement the Premier's promise of attacking the high cost of living it had been found necessary to secure the services of an Attorney-General energetic enough to carry out his duties. The Board of Commerce depends upon the Provincial Attorney-General's Department to carry out the Board's orders when there are prosecutions to be made. In the case of Ontario, however, the Board is depending upon a broken reed. The first definite profiteering case came before Mr. O'Connor at Hamilton on September 16th, and after hearing the facts the Commissioner decided that a prosecution was necessary, and the Attorney-General's department was notified. It only required Mr. Lucas and his officials eight days to get busy and to notify the Crown Attorney at Hamilton to enter a prosecution. A little mental arithmetic will show what chance there is for an energetic carrying out of the Commerce Board's orders, if there should happen to be half a dozen cases at one time in which prosecutions are desired. There seems to be only one place in public life for the somnolent Attorney-General. He has ideal qualifications for the Senate, where he could sleep just as comfortably and without hindering the progress of the province—at least to the same extent.

THE COMING CONVENTION.

The convention of the Liberals of West Peterborough on Thursday evening next week will undoubtedly be a large and enthusiastic one. The Liberals of the riding are anxious to place their candidate into the field and get to work, realizing that the prospects before the party, both here and throughout the Province, are promising, to say the least.

The Conservative administration has been too long in power and has been cursed by too large a majority. It has grown stale and inert, indifferent and autocratic. Dry rot has set in and has made such progress in the Government that nothing will cure it. The whole structure will have to come down and be succeeded by a healthy, virile and active Liberal policy if Ontario is to maintain her proper place among the provinces. The people realize that the time has come for a change. Everything points to a steadily increasing sentiment against the Conservative regime: in fact, resentment against the Hearst administration is strong even among Government followers. Many of these have come out openly against the Government, which is having difficulty in lining up its candidates. West Peterborough being only a sample of conditions elsewhere.

So strong indeed is the dissension in the Conservative ranks that the Government was afraid to call a convention, but instead, prepared a platform by stealing from the Liberal and Labour policies.

The Liberal party on the other hand will go to the people, united on a progressive and advanced policy, a policy that was prepared in the democratic way by a representative convention, attended by delegates from all parts of the Province.

Peterborough Liberals therefore welcome the coming convention as the first gun in the battle of progress against reaction. The convention will be doubly appreciated, inasmuch as it will bring to Peterborough Mr. Hartley Dewart, M.P.P., the fighting leader of the Opposition, whose addresses in the past few weeks in various sections of the Province have aroused great enthusiasm. The opportunity to hear Mr. Dewart is one that no one should miss.

THE G.W.V.A. POLICY.

Realizing the value of newspaper advertising, the Provincial Command of the Great War Veterans' Association is wisely employing this means of placing their policy in regard to the re-establishment of Canada's soldiers before the people. The War Veterans' platform is one that is worth advertising, and misrepresented as it has been in some quarters until there was a danger of the aims of the Association being totally misunderstood, not only by the public but by many of the returned men, it is well that the Provincial officials have seen fit to give wide publicity to the facts.

As set forth, the G.W.V.A. policy is:

First—Increased pensions and gratuity for widows and orphans.

Second—Full care for disabled comrades.

Third—Aid for all returned soldiers—to be limited only by the country's ability to pay.

Contrasted with the United Veterans' League slogan of "$2,000 or Bust," the G.W.V.A. policy is impressive and reasonable. The Veterans stand first for justice to the widows and orphans of the men who will never come back; realising that they should be the first care of the country, for whom they died. The soldiers who have returned crippled and disabled declare the Veterans stand next in line for consideration and then comes the question of aiding the other returned men.

This is a policy in which the G.W.V.A. will find the people solidly with them, and they show wisdom in seeing that the public is thoroughly acquainted with their aims.

THE U. F. O. WEDGE.

The statement is made by an unnamed member of the U. F. O. that it is contemptibly unfair on the part of the Globe to state that "the action of the U. F. O. in rushing candidates into the field in most of the traditionally Liberal seats and leaving a large number of Conservative seats uncontested can have but one result. It will bring about a ruinous division of the men and women in this Province who believe that the Hearst Government has outlived its usefulness."

Let us look squarely at the facts. The Farmers' Sun gives a list of fifty-six U. F. O. men in the field. This is two more than the number on Thursday morning, for the U. F. O. candidates in Centre and South Simcoe have dropped out, and there is no assurance that others will be nominated. The official organ of the U. F. O. gives also a list of fifty-five constituencies in which up to Wednesday no nomination had been made by the U. F. O. In the case of West York, Mr. James Simpson has since entered as a U. F. O.-Labor candidate. Correcting the list of the Sun in the particulars mentioned, we find that there are fifty-five seats in which candidates endorsed by the U. F. O. are running, and fifty-six in which the Farmers have no nominee. These fifty-six are as follows, the letters C for Conservative, L. for Liberal and Lab. for Labor, showing the representation in the House just dissolved:

Addington, C	Ottawa, W., L.
Brant, S., L.	Oxford, N., L.
Brockville, C	Parkdale, C.
Carleton, C.	Parry Sound, C.
Cochrane, L.	Peterboro, W., L.
Dundas, C.	Pt. Arthur, C.
Durham, W., C.	Rainy River, C.
Ft. William, C.	Riverdale, C.
Grenville, C.	Simcoe, Centre, C.
Hamilton E., Lab.	Simcoe, S., C.
Hamilton, W., C.	St. Catharines, C.
Hamilton E., C.	Sault, Ste. Marie, C
Hastings, E., C.	Stormont, C.
Hastings, N. C.	Sturgeon Falls, L.
Huron, Centre, L.	Sudbury, C.
Huron, S., C.	Timiskaming, C.
Kenora, C.	Toronto, N. E., C.
Kingston, C.	Toronto, N.E., C.
Lanark, S., C.	Toronto, N.W., C.
Leeds, C.	Toronto, N.W., C.
Lennox, C.	Toronto, S.E., C.
London, C.	Toronto, S.E., C.
Muskoka, C.	Toronto, S.W., C.
Niagara Falls, C.	Toronto, S.W., C.
Nipissing, C.	Victoria, N., C.
Ontario, N., C.	Wellington, W., C.
Ontario, S., C.	Wentworth, S., C.
Ottawa, E., L.	Windsor, L.

Of the fifty-six members whose seats are not contested by U. F. O. nominees only nine are Liberal. There is one Labor seat occupied by the late Mr. Studholme. This leaves forty-six Conservatives, who, so far as the U. W. O. are concerned, may go in by acclamation, as compared with nine Liberals. The lesson is too obvious to need pressing home. The U. F. O. are contesting a far higher percentage of the Liberal seats in the Legislature than of the Conservative seats. To pretend that this is not so is to attempt to throw dust in the eyes of the electorate. The U. F. O. members are entirely within their rights in determining what seats to contest, and when discretion is the better part of the valor. But to say that the effects of their activity are likely to be felt as much by Government as by Opposition candidates throughout the Province is to talk nonsense.—Toronto Globe.

DELCO-LIGHT

The Complete Electric Light and Power Plant

Lights like Home

Pumps the Water

Pays for Itself

ANY one of over 75,000 users will tell you that Delco-Light pays for itself.

In money.

They will tell you that the pleasure and comfort of Delco-Light cost you nothing.

Delco-Light does work on the farm. Saves time for more productive things. Its electric power will, in most cases, save enough time to pay for the complete Delco-Light plant in three years.

The electric light you get free.

CHORES are non-productive work. Cut down chore time and you can do things worth money to you. Wm. Schneekloth says the electric power from his Delco-Light plant saves him 8½ hours a week on the churn, separator and washing machine alone—over 40 working days in a year. Think of the money he can make in those forty days.

On the Helms farm at Belleville they use Delco-Light power for the chores—in milking and feeding stock, in pumping water, in ironing and washing—and save 19 hours a week, or about three months of one man's work in the year. Here's a hired man's work for three months which Delco-Light does. The cost of operating Delco-Light is less than the cost of oil for oil lamps.

But operating the small machinery around the farm is only a part of the work which Delco-Light does for you. Take the question of pumping water; with Delco-Light you can have water under pressure at taps anywhere on the farm. You can water stock easily and quickly. You can have hot and cold water in the house. S. W. Cooke & Son, of Maysville, have a big herd of Holsteins. Delco-Light has pumped the water and done the milking for three years. They figure that their saving is not less than $1,800. As Mr. Cooke says, they could pretty nearly afford a new Delco-Light plant every year. And remember this saving does not include the convenience and comfort and saving of electric lights.

J. H. Lackey raises Polled Jerseys and Poland China Hogs. He, also, needs a lot of water. His Delco-Light outfit enables him to get along without two men he formerly hired.

AROUND the house there is a great big saving of time and work for your wife—time she can very well use for her chickens or her garden or her dressmaking. A. F. Hinnenkamp tells us that Delco-Light saves his wife 416 hours of housework a year by operating an electric iron, a vacuum sweeper and a washing machine. Besides—no lamps to clean, no matches to use, no danger of fire, lots of light.

C. F. Tressin adds in the time saved from cleaning lamps and makes a total of 547 hours a year. Think of all the things your wife could do with that extra seven weeks. And then you have electric light. You can't know the joy and comfort of electric light till you have experienced it. Just press a button and release a flood of bright, clean, safe light. No matches. No lamps. No danger. Delco-Light gives four times as much light from a gallon of coal oil as a lamp gives.

DELCO-LIGHT is a complete electric light and power plant, easy to install and easy to care for. It will give twenty-four-hour-a-day electric light and power service.

Delco-Light is direct connected. There are no belts to slip, break or be replaced.

It is self-cranking. Pressing down a lever starts the engine.

It is air-cooled. There is no water to carry, to freeze, or to boil away.

There is only one place to put oil.

A simple mixing valve regulates the fuel supply. There is no complicated carburetor.

Ball and roller bearings cut down friction to a minimum.

Long-life batteries mean economy.

You need to know more about Delco-Light. We have fully illustrated literature showing Delco-Light in operation. Write your nearest distributor for it.

Throughout this advertisement we have quoted from letters received from Delco-Light users. Each of these letters is accompanied by an affidavit. We have prepared a folder reproducing some of these letters, and with photographs of some farms where Delco-Light is used. Your nearest distributor will be glad to send this book to you.

NEIL'S AUNT IS TO VISIT THEM RATHER INOPPORTUNELY

CHAPTER LXXVII

Was Neil's conscience troubling him that he was so impatient now-a-days? He never used to be so. This occurred to me when I left him in the library. I felt disappointed that he would not talk to me. Ever since his western trip he had refused to really talk of anything with me. Yet in spite of the disappointment I was happier because Mr. Frederick had been with him. I wondered what he had said to Neil; if he had told him of what was gossiped concerning his business; if he had advised him—offered to help him get straightened out? Someway I felt sure he could make everything come right—if only Neil would let him.

I gave the bills I had laid upon the desk only a fleeting thought. I had spent so much money run such big bills without a suspicion of a doubt that it was the right thing for me to do, that they seemed of little consequence. What mattered was Neil. If by being associated with men of 'shady character' his business was ruined, his character assailed, he must disassociate himself with them. Of course, regardless of what even Mr. Frederick had told me, Neil had been led astray by these men. They were all older than he, most of them much older. He was full of enthusiasm, anxious not only to make money, but to prove his ability in the business world. Really even now I cannot but think he cared more for that than for the money. He loved flattery especially in regard to his cleverness in outstripping others financially. I had been so proud of him that I had fed his vanity lavishly ever since I married him. Others had also—until lately.

I was rather anxious too because his aunt, Mrs. Carter who lived next us at home, had written she was coming to pay us a visit. I knew how strictly economical she was. how little she thought or cared for show of any kind. I wondered if she would be inquisitive, and if she would either hear or guess at the reports concerning Neil.

When I read her letter to Neil he looked anything but pleased.

"It's rather a bore having her just now," he said, "but I suppose there is no help for it. If I hadn't visited her I never should have met you, and she was awfully good to me then. I wish she had selected some other time though—there are a lot of men in town that I must spend a good deal of time with. I am afraid she will feel I am neglecting her. You must take her around a lot, and ask some people here to meet her to make up for my inability to do much to entertain her."

I thought of this also while I sat in my room until dinner should be announced, and while Neil rested in the library. I also hated to have her come. Of course I should take her out, the theatre, etc. But I would ask no one to meet her, save Lorraine and Mrs. Price, a plain sort of a woman about Mrs. Carter's age. A woman who had a good social position, but no money to speak of and who always accepted invitations where she thought she would have a good meal.

Mrs. Carter was coming the next day but one. I must talk things over with Neil before she arrived. I should go mad if I had to go on feing, thinking as I did for another week or two.

"Do you feel rested?" I asked when dinner was announced, and he rushed upstairs to freshen up a little. "Don't hurry so, the dinner can wait a moment."

"I feel a lot better! I must have dropped off to sleep as soon as you came upstairs. What have you been doing sitting here in the dark?" Until he spoke of it I had not realized that I had not switched on the lights.

"Thinking —you aunt comes day after to-morrow, you know."

"Yes, and if Frederick is still in town we'll invite him up to dinner while she is here. I want to talk to him, we can be excused immediately dinner is over, yet aunt will feel flattered to meet him. He's just the sort she likes."

"I guess he's the sort everyone likes. You think a good deal of him yourself, don't you?"

"In a way, yes. He is inclined to be an old woman about some things." I thought I knew to what he referred.

White Ants Adopt Policy That Will Work Trouble For Australian Workers

ONE of the most significant of recent developments in the realm of Australian Labor is the adoption by the Provisional One Big Union Council of what is known as the "white ant policy." This policy, which was pursued in America by the I.W.W., consists in the formation of branches of the One Big Union "on the jobs and in the workshops" throughout the country, quite irrespective of the particular union of the men thus employed. In other words, instead of the One Big Union maintaining itself as a great federation of all unions it will, under the scheme just adopted, seek to become a union itself canvassing for recruits, and, everywhere, seeking to gain adherents at the expense of the individual trades unions. The result of this policy in some part of the United States has been to break up many of the smaller unions, and to place a tremendous power in the hands of the central organization. Here in Canada the danger of the "white ant" policy has created a great deal of opposition among labor men to the One Big Union idea.

Now the I. W. W. is, to-day, a prohibited organization in Australia. It was formally banned just two years ago, when the Government, having defeated the great attempt on the part of the extreme labor section to bring the industry of the country to a standstill, by means of a general strike, took vigorous action against the I. W. W., prosecuting and imprisoning many of its leaders, and pronouncing it an illegal organization. Officially the I. W. W. "went out," but the extinction was much more apparent than real. Within a very short time of the official decision, there began to be discussed, up and down the country, a new labor organization, conceived on even wider lines than the I. W. W., and known as the One Big Union. The tremendously rapid growth of this movement has been one of the most remarkable features of Australian labor politics during the past eighteen months. Outwardly, it professed to have no connection whatever with the I. W. W., and, indeed, there can be no question that many of its members were opposed to the I. W. W. methods. Nevertheless those who were most intimately acquainted with the inner workings of the "new octopus" recognised how faithfully it was modeled on the I. W. W. scheme; whilst the frankly I. W. W. element in the organization have evidently been only waiting for a favorable opportunity to capture the union for a more thoroughgoing revolutionary policy.

In this effort they have been instructed and aided by the Workers' International Industrial Union, which, like the One Big Union, rose up out of the ashes of the I. W. W. This union has made the white ant policy one of the mainstays of its political creed, and, as the result of a carefully organized and persistent propaganda, its members have, at last, so effectively gained the ear of the Trades Hall One Big Union leaders that these leaders have indorsed the job organization or white ant policy. The policy, however, has by no means secured the undivided support of all the members of the One Big Union, and a split in the ranks of the union seems to be inevitable. The whole situation is indeed one of extreme complexity. Although One Big Unionism has undoubtedly made tremendous strides throughout the Commonwealth, achieving wholesale conversions quite dramatic in their extent, nevertheless, a very large and very influential section of labor has never taken kindly to the scheme. The obvious threat which it contains to the integrity and authority of the individual unions made its objectionable to many from the start, and now that the council has adopted a policy which confirms "the worst fears," a much more decided alignment on one side or the other may, surely, be looked for.

A Jocular Rebuke.

Mrs. Lloyd George recently released an amusing story about her husband.

It appears that when he was Minister of Munitions his famous "beauty chorus" of young lady assistants attracted the favorable attention of some young gentlemen clerks working opposite them in Whitehall.

These made various overtures by waving of handkerchiefs, and so forth, which were disregarded. Eventually some of them produced pocket mirrors, with which they threw the sun's rays into the young ladies' faces, and on to their work.

Formal complaint was thereupon made to Mr. Lloyd George, who addressed a minute to the head of the department where the offenders were employed, inquiring, "Who are these unmannerly youths who have been casting reflections on my young ladies?"

The Banjo.

The modern banjo was introduced into England from America, to which country it was probably taken by the African slaves, who originally obtained the idea from India. The unmusical name "banjo" seems to have been derived from "banya," the name of a Senegambian instrument of the guitar species.

The oceans occupy three-fourths of the surface of the earth.

"A Joan of Arc Machine"

SHE withstood everything in the field and above all was, and still is, the last and only car to survive until the cessation of hostilities"—Extract from letter received by Ford Motor Company from a British Soldier, in Africa.

Over shell-torn roads, through water soaked fields, second only to the tanks in its power to climb debris and crater holes, the Ford car made a world famous record in the fighting area of the great war. In France	-	700 cars out of 1,000 were Fords

In Egypt	-	996 cars out of 1,000 were Fords

MADAME ROLAND IN ENGLAND; THIS GREAT FRENCH WOMAN ADMIRED BRITISH DEMOCRACY

LIKE Bonaparte, and every other cultured person of the time, Madame Roland had read Deloime's book on the British Constitution through and through. In various letters to Sophie she alludes to it with admiration, saying that it had inspired her with understanding and love of England. This admiration of England and things English was common enough in France at the end of the eighteenth century, and anyone pretending to education could read English books and was familiar with English history and English literature. The history of the seventeenth century was especially studied, for the republican interlude which established the people's sovereignty was a very interesting precedent to young reformers, who were careful to note that once their authority was acknowledged, the said people had gladly given their allegiance to a constitutional monarch. This happy English compromise between democratic and absolute government was attractive to some minds, but the more doctrinaire of French theorists preferred to flirt with the idea of a monarchical republic such as Mably had outlined. Some of the men whom the Revolution was to make famous had been in England and were saturated with English ideas. Brissot lived for two years in Brompton, "a little village outside London," well away from the fogs, and had worked there at journalism. Danton stayed for a while in Liverpool street. Marat as a poor medical student had lived in Edinburgh, Newcastle, Oxford, and Dublin. Madame Roland bought herself a "stout muslin dress" for London, as being more suitable than a silk one, packed up a few other clothes, and on the first of July, 1784, left Amiens for Boulogne.

The land of England was seen to be divided by quickset hedges, "whence result compartments which give to the whole the enchanting appearance of a vast and magnificent garden." There were flowers in front of the cottages and paths along roads for the convenience of people on foot. "It is evident that man, whatever he may be, is here reckoned something, and that a handful of rich people does not constitute the nation."

One exciting afternoon they went to the Parliament House — the day that the young Prime Minister, Mr. Pitt, introduced the India Bill. Madame Roland was told that the point of the bill was to take absolute power away from the East India Company and vest it in the crown. It seemed that the company had frequently abused their power by making peace or war without reference to the Home Government. Mr. Fox proposed that a commission should be appointed for the management of Indian affairs. The question occupied all English minds at the moment, but, naturally enough, Madame Roland, in spite of her theoretical interest in Caribbees and Hindoos, did not find it very interesting. They were quite glad to get out of the British House of Commons and walk across St. James' Park to Mr. Townley's house, to see his beautiful collections of classical antiquities.

The weeks in England went all too soon, and just before leaving, Madame Roland, feeling perhaps that she had not derived enough instruction from her tour, jotted down a few more observations such as the fact that in England — knives and forks are left on the plate and changed during a meal as often as the plate; that it is usual to remove the cloth from the dinner-table after dinner and to sit round "a naked table" of valuable wood. With sentimental regret in her heart and a jumble of information in her mind, Madame Roland drove to Dover and embarked in the midst of a thunderstorm for her native land. The visit to England had been an unqualified success. — From "Madame Roland," by Mrs. Pope-Hennessy.

INJURED BY A STRAW CUTTER.

Mr. Matthew Gardiner, north of Millbrook, had the misfortune to meet with an accident on Monday of a severe nature. He was cutting corn with a straw cutter and in some way missed his hold on the crank, the revolving wheel struck him on the arm, breaking it above the wrist, and he received a severe gash in the hand.

The teacher's last question was meant to be a real poser.

"What is it that pervades all space?" she said. "Which no wall or door or other substance can shut out?"

Little Willie had an answer ready. His hand shot out.

"The smell of onions, miss," he said promptly.

Picturesque Periwigs

THE bill now before the British Parliament, having for its object the admission of women as barristers, has raised not a few questions, largely unforeseen, and not amounting to a great deal from the point of view of real importance, but still calling for decision. Amongst these is the question of wigs. Are the women barristers to wear wigs, or are they not? If it is found inconvenient for them to wear wigs when they appear in court, is the ancient and traditional custom to be abolished altogether, or is a clear-cut distinction to be made, right at the beginning of the new era, between the man barrister and the woman barrister?

It all raises an issue full of the most interesting highways of exploration and the most intriguing by-paths. Before one knows it, for instance, one has pounced upon the great prototype of all woman barristers, and is away on a discussion as to the correctness or otherwise of the traditional cap and gown in which the lady Portia is wont to make her appearance before the court of Venice. Shakespeare, of course, had really but one country. National customs, national dresses, and national manners besides those he was accustomed to troubled him but little. His Roman soldier was very much of an English soldier, his Bohemian peasant very much of an English peasant, and the way in which seventeenth century England spoke and thought. And so if he had ever troubled himself very much about dress, which he never did, his Portia would, in all probability, have appeared in cap and gown. For, in Shakespeare's day, there was no official costume for the members of the bar, and the barrister was wont to plead his case in the ordinary civilian costume of the time, into which the false-sleeved gown and round cap entered so largely. But she would not have worn a wig, for the day of wigs was not yet; there the traditional Portia is undoubtedly right as to costume.

It was not, indeed, until the end of the seventeenth century, when the general custom of wearing wigs was dying out, and the false-sleeved gown and cap had long disappeared, that the bar, which declined to move with the times in the matter of its official dress, was gradually left in possession of what has, ever since, amounted to a uniform. However, the whole of the present controversy centres round the question of the wig. The gown, whether made of stuff or of the much-desired "silk," presents no difficulties, and neither do the bands. It is all a question of the wig.

Now the custom of wearing a wig, as a recognized part of the costume, dates from the early days of the seventeenth century. It started in France, when Louis XIII, being greatly struck with the "long fair locks" of the abbe Le Riviere, attained by the simple means of a periwig, adopted the style for himself, and so set the fashion. By the time of Charles II, the wearing of the periwig, or peruke, or perruque, had become general. Pepys records the fact that he paid £3 for one; but it was not until the time of Queen Anne that periwigs, or wigs, "for short," really came into their own. Then did they appear in the full glory of an ever-changing, though fast-stabilizing fashion. Thus James Stewart in his inimitable "Ploucecosmos, or the whole Art of Hairdressing," first published in London in 1782, tells how the wig gradually came to "declare the man." He speaks of "the huge tie-peruke of the man of law," of the "long bob or natty scratch" of the tradesman, and the "hunting peruke of the country gentleman": whilst "the merchant men of business and of letters were distinguished by the grave full bottom, or more moderate tie, neatly curled." The general fashion of wearing wigs began to wane early in the reign of George III, but in the professions, each with its special, distinctive wig, the custom died hard, and wigs were worn well into the nineteenth century. Gradually, however they disappeared, until the courts of law became the only place where they found abiding favor. And now even this citadel is at least threatened.—The Christian Science Monthly.

A soiled cuff attracts the eye

YOUR cuff is the most exposed portion of your shirt. It soils the quickest. And everyone knows how PROMINENT a soiled cuff is. It seems a magnet that draws all eyes.

A soiled cuff irritates a particular man. He keeps pushing or pulling up his shirt sleeve to hide it. It causes him to change his shirt when the body of it is still fresh and clean.

The Double Wear Cuff is a boon to the particular dresser. When the cuff gets soiled just turn it. It folds easily and lies perfectly flat whether turned in or turned out. And just think of the comfortable feeling it gives you to know that you can turn your cuff, if you should happen to get it soiled unexpectedly when down town, and it's inconvenient to go home and change your shirt.

Hard on Their Wives.

It is an unheard of thing to discuss his women-folk with a Persian. The most one can do is to refer to the "mother of his son." While, if his children are all daughters, they must not be mentioned at all.

The bridegroom does not even see his wife until after the ceremony. The woman then leads the secluded life of the harem. She has no society, save that of slaves and servants.

Divorce, however, is a simple matter. It depends almost entirely on the husband's will. A man can repudiate his wife if she is bad-tempered, extravagant, very thin, invalid, or blind. Only, if he does so, he must refund her dowry. To avoid this act of restitution, many a husband has been known to ill-treat and beat his wife, till the woman applies for a divorce; then there is no necessity to pay anything.—Tit-Bits.

Comradeship

Admiral Sir David Beatty

ADMIRAL Sir David Beatty, when speaking at Leicester a few days ago, said:—

"We have been through four and a half years of a great struggle. We have all learned something—the true value of comradeship. Comradeship has enabled us to win the war."

Realizing the significance and truth of this statement the Citizens' Liberty League appeals to the people of this Province to develop the spirit of comradeship, mutual forbearance, toleration and sympathy. Let us be fair-minded, less rigid, more reasonable, and more willing to give and take.

Samuel Gompers

The workingmen of Ontario appeal for better beer — non-intoxicating beer—beer containing 2.51% alcohol by weight —THE BEER OF THE BALLOT.

Samuel Gompers, the world's greatest labor leader, stated the workingman's position clearly when he said:—

"The normal men, the men of Labor who work eight hours a day and no more, the workmen who earn decent pay, the workmen who have comparatively comfortable homes, they do not want the artificial spirit. The man of normal spirit finds comfort in pleasant surroundings; he does not need, and, as a rule, will not partake of intoxicating drinks; he shuns the effects of intoxicants. What we now ask is that the men of Labor, the masses of our people, shall have the opportunity to drink a glass of beer of not more than 2¼% by weight of alcohol in that beer, and I am told you cannot drink enough of that character of beer to get drunk even if you tried."

Scientific tests, practical experiments and thorough research prove that beer of even greater strength than 2.51% of alcohol by weight, is absolutely non-intoxicating. (The results of these tests have been filed with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals).

As no harmful results can possibly come from drinking beer of this quality—is there any fair or logical reason why the working men should not have the more palatable beer for which they are asking—THE BEER OF THE BALLOT?

Support the working men and the Citizens' Liberty League in the endeavor to obtain a fair, just and reasonable compromise on the present too drastic prohibitory legislation.

ORGANIZATION OF REFERENDUM MOVEMENT IN PETERBORO

This week finds the organization of the Referendum Movement in Peterboro practically complete. An immense amount of work has been done, and while a lot of it has been done without flourish or demonstration, it will be none the less affective. Friends of the movement can rest assured that nothing that will help is being overlooked, and while there is as yet some things to perfect the back of the campaign has been broken and well on the way.

Fifty Committees have been selected and are at work. These include the Executive Committe, Five Wards Committee and forty-four committees assigned one to each polling division or polling place for the district immediately surrounding the location. In the usual municipal or indeed political election, the twenty-two polling stations in the city generally suffice. But as the possible vote, this time, is over one hundred per cent. more than before accommodation has to be provided. The full list of stations will be announced.

The Ward Committee takes care of the ward organization. The Polling Division Committee of the interests in the division. By this means nearly six hundred good men and women are at work and already the results begin to show. Several of the sub-committees have already completed the canvas of the territory and report an overwhelming majority for what is termed "The Four Noes." In several districts assurances were freely given that will warrant the conclusion that there will not be one adverse ballot cast in that section.

Following is the complete list of committees and the officers having matters in charge:

WAR WASTE IN BRITAIN

STORES VALUED AT $464,190 LOST DUE TO CARELESSNESS.

The details of the British Government's expenditure for the year ended March 31, 1918, indicate a great waste of the country's money.

The total expenditure on the army was $3,624,000,000. Included in this sum were the following items: Regimental pay, extra pay and messing allowances, $748,500,000; cost of provisions, $520,500,000; separation allowances, $568,000,000, and clothing $260,000,000.

According to accounts stores to the value of $464,190 were lost through a fire at an ammunition dump in France. An investigation of the cause of the fire showed that it originated in a hangar adjoining the dump used as a billet, and was apparently caused by matches or cigarette ends thrown on a rubbish heap in the hangar. The rubbish heap contained waste, explosive and other inflammable material. No restrictions on the use of fire or lights in the hangar appeared to have been in force, and ordinary precautions do not appear to have been exercised. The report tersely ends the question by the four-word statement: "Disciplinary action was taken."

The waste of food supplies for the Chinese laborers in France is also referred to. Considerable quantities of food were condemned shortly after arrival in France, the cause of deterioration being generally attributed to the length of time the goods had been in transit. Special measures taken to secure the consumption of the supplies were unsuccessful, owing apparently to their having been purchased in South China, whereas the labor had been recruited in North China, and on the director of labor reporting that a ration containing these commodities was almost unsuitable for the north Chinese people its issue ceased. The total loss in connection with the whole transaction is considerable, but the approximate figure of the amount involved has not yet been ascertained.

PALACE IS TO LET

The riverside home of Henry VII and Queen Elizabeth is to let.

The building known as the "Old Palace," Richmond, was originally built in 1125, and was restored and enlarged by Henry VII. It is of great historical interest, as three monarchs, Edward III, Henry VII and Queen Elizabeth, died there, and practically every English sovereign has stayed at the palace.

The present occupant of the building, J. J. Middleton, holds the building on a crown lease. He made an attempt to purchase the freehold shortly before the war with the intention of presenting the building to the nation, but having spent $50,000 in restoring the property into something like its original condition, he objected to the demand of the Treasury Department that before they named the price the building should be revalued, a course which would have inflicted upon him a fine for his own improvements. Thus the deal fell through.

Among the documents preserved in the palace is a record by Archbishop Whitgift of the last days of Queen Elizabeth, dated four days after her death. Many prints and engravings and other historic articles of untold value will be at the disposal of the incoming tenant, but the present occupant will need satisfying that the buyer of his lease will preserve and care for both the building and its contents.

SUMMARY OF METAL MARKETS

MACHINERY DEALERS REPORT GOOD BUSINESS

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for week ending Sept. 25, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment:

The strike in the steel mills of United States has a very direct interest for the whole Canadian steel, iron and machinery trade. Stocks in the warehouses of this country are fairly well filled, but warehouse business is not the kind that keeps things going, for most of the tonnage goes direct to the mills and is shipped direct to the purchaser, warehouse prices being higher and less popular in consequence. Canadian steel mills are in good shape to take care of many lines, but not so in plates particularly, a hold-up of which would be poor business were it continued for any length of time.

There is a big demand for structurals in Ontario at present, and one of the dealers took occasion to remark that now that the United States mills stand in danger of being shut off, the rush sets in to buy structurals. Big tonnages are in the offices of architects and fabricating concerns, and although it is late in the season it looks as though the much-talked-of buying movement in structurals has set in.

Good Business.

Machinery dealers report good business. In fact many of the best houses are getting all they can handle and a little more. They find it difficult to secure the machines as rapidly as needed.

Speaking of the machine tool situation, it is interesting to note that there is much export business going to United States firms at present. For instance, Sweden is in need of quite a large list of machine tools, and the chances seem to be that Germany will get the business. The reason is this, that Germany can undersell United States in Sweden to the extent of between fifty and sixty per cent. Prices, the rate of exchange and the low value of the German mark all help to stimulate this movement.

Prices remain firm in all lines in the machinery field. Many cases have values up to war times, and there does not seem to be any good evidence in sight that a reduction is even being considered.

HALBERTISMS

(From Farmer's Sun)

"We've got to have our own men inside those doors of government, so that when a petition is presented it will not be dropped into the waste basket as soon as we leave and the doors are closed."

"We are in the midst of a fight in North Ontario and all the powers of Ottawa are being centred there. But we'll fight a clean fight and go down to defeat before we will do anything that is not manly, regardless of what they do. But I believe we are going to win in spite of them."

"When the top six inches of Canadian soil must pay the war debt, and when only 30 per cent. of the people are cultivating the soil, it is going to be no boy's job."

"We have been exploited by the profiteers who practically had the government of the country by the throat."

"We will never have true democracy until we have the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God. To-day we are busy pulling each other down."

"It is all right to pray for good leadership and unselfish service, but I want to tell you, ladies and gentlemen, the time to pray is while you mark your ballots."

"I am not buying cigars for the farmers in North Ontario. A man who will buy your vote with a cigar will sell his own."

"Both Grits and Tories lied to us before and they will do it again. It was their fault then, but it's your fault if they do it again."

FROM ACTIVE FIGHTING TO FISHING IN WILDS OF NORTHERN ONTARIO

A VETERAN FIGHTER'S UNUSUAL RECORD—DR. JAMES A. BUCHAN RESIGNED COMMISSION TO SERVE AS PRIVATE.

WORKED IN PETERBORO

He was peacefully fishing on the bank of a river in Northern Ontario. Every now and then his float would bob down in a swirl of the dark water, and then after a brief struggle another "gold eye" would flop helplessly around on the bank beside him .The idea of publicity did not appeal to him at all, partly because he did not like it, and partly because the fish were biting.

Quiet and thick-set, the lines of his face hinting at big reserves of will power, Dr. Buchan looks an unusual man, and his record bears out this impression.

With Scottish Rifles.

In spite of the fact that he was almost fifty years of age when the war broke out, Dr. James A. Buchan, D.V.S., McGill '94, fought his way into the army and to service in the front line as a private with the 16th Battalion of the Scottish Rifles in 1915, with whom he fought through the long, hard winter of '15-'16, and the costly battle of Loos, until he was wounded. Few men of his years can boast of having seen service in the ranks, and still fewer have given up commissions and "cushy" jobs in Blighy to serve as a private in the front line, but Dr. Buchan is a real fighter.

Born near L'Original, Prescott County, Ontario, on February 9th, 1866, Dr. James A. Buchan lived in that neighbourhood the greater part of his life until the war. On his return from the front he moved to Toronto with his family, but his health being greatly impaired as a result of injuries received in the trenches, he found it necessary to go north this summer, and is rapidly regaining his strength at Low Bush, Northern Ontario.

Wanted To See War.

"I don't know what you want to get my story for. It isn't as if I'd enlisted for patriotism or a sense of duty, or anything like that. I simply wanted to see the war, and even if I had known what was going to happen I would still have gone. I've always gone everywhere when there was anything going on. I was in the Klondike in '98, and in Cobalt and Porcupine when they were opened up. Just curiosity, that's all.

From Officer to Private.

"As soon as the war broke out my wife said to me: 'Well, I suppose you'll manage to get there somehow.' And I did. They turned me down for the battalion they were raising around my home town, L'Orignal, in Prescott County. They all know my age too well down there. I was fifty-three last February. I went over to England in January, 1915, and got a commission in the Army Veterinary Corps. They detailed me to Woolwich, and I saw that I was booked to wander around a stable in England for duration unless I got out. I never was cut out for an officer anyway. You weren't supposed ever to speak to a man in that outfit except to give an order, and I didn't like it, so I went to the colonel nad tried to resign. My resignation was refused, so I just went absent without leave one day a week for three weeks, and tried again. This time they accepted my resignation. Then I tried to enlist, but the recruiting officer laughed at when I gave my age as 37. This was in May, 1915. A couple of weeks later there was another urgent call for men, and this time I got through.

"When they noticed my name they let me transfer to the Scottish Rifles. I'd enlisted in the London Fusiliers. We trained up in the north of Scotland till we went to France in September, 1915.

Buried By Shell.

"There is no use saying anything about France. Everyone knows what it was like. The only big battle I was in was Loos. That cost a lot, but it was part of the price we paid to learn. Less than two hundred men of our battalion, answered the roll after that show, but I didn't get a scratch. Got mine in June, '16. I was walking up and down the trench during a bombardment, trying to keep my nerve up, when a shell lit very close and buried me up to my shoulders. I dug myself out, and carried on for the rest of the day, but next morning my whole right side was very stiff, and the M. O. sent me down the line. They told me that the concussion had broken a blood vessel in my head and caused paralysis in my right arm and side.

Back in Canada.

"I was six months in King's Hospital in London before I got my discharge as unfit for further service, and I got home just before Christmas, 1916. My family didn't even know that I was on my way home when I walked in on them.

"When I got back I started to work for the Matthews-Blackwell Co. in Peterborough, as meat inspector, and a little later went to the civic abattoir in Toronto. But I kept getting worse and worse. Sometimes my right leg would go back on me, and I'd fall like a log. I got so thin that a man could stretch his fingers right around my arm. Before the war I weighed 160 lbs., and I was down to 118 when I first came north. The last time I was weighed I went 145, and you can't get your hand around my arm now," finished Dr. Buchan, triumphantly.

HOW TO MARK YOUR BALLOT

A matter that has caused some perplexity is with regard to marking the ballot to be used when voting at the polls in taking the Referendum vote on October 20. For the first time we have offered a ballot that will be used to express for the person marking it opinions on four questions. The omission to mark the ballot, except as directed by the provisions of the Act will result in the ballot being spoiled. So the person and voter has to be careful.

It has seemed to the Referendum Committee that some preliminary education with regard to this marking would be a good and useful thing, so arrangements have been made for special meetings to be held in the coming week, at which people will be asked to attend, hear explanations and afterwards mark an imitation ballot.

Such a meeting will be held in George Street Church Sunday School room on Monday evening next, 29th at 8 o'clock. In the room will be arranged three stations, so-called booths, for use of the gathering in voting. It will be practically what is known as a "straw vote." While it may express the wishes and intentions of those present the duty will be educative as well. So that on going to the polls each will have had previous experience of how to do it to express the wish with regard to Prohibition and the several questions on the ballot.

On this same Monday evening, 29th a similar meeting will be held in Charlotte Street Sunday School, Reid street, at the usual hour, and for the same purpose. All interested are invited to attend. The evening will be illuminative and interesting. Short addresses will be given on the subject and the work, and these addresses will assist in clearing up doubts as to position to take and how to take it. During the week further announcement will be made of additional meetings to be held at convenient places in the city. The East Ward will have one and the South ward, as well. If people will attend one or more of these meetings, they will learn just how, and can afterwards advise others who may not find it convenient to attend, or who may have been out of the city at the time.

The Executive Committee will be glad to supply imitation ballots to any society or organization that wishes to use them for above purposes. Requests can be phoned to Mr. A. B. Cunningham, at phone 1261W, 331 Reid street.

ADVISING YOU TO PURCHASE YOUR FURNITURE REQUIREMENTS IMMEDIATELY

OAK HAS ADVANCED FROM $85 A THOUSAND TO $300 A THOUSAND

You Can Save from 50 Per Cent to 75 Per Cent By Purchasing Immediately

Next Season we predict that it will be extremely difficult to secure Furniture for as you can see by the above quotation the prices have advanced to such a point that next year they will be out of reach. On the London market they offer $425 a thousnad for oak and if it were not for the present difficulty of securing ships to transport the material our Canadian factories would be unable to secure lumber. We have greatly enlarged our furniture department and are now receiving deliveries of merchandise that we purchased months ago. Even with our greatly increased floor space we find it impossible to handle the large shipments that are arriving and furthermore in a few weeks the Christmas furniture will be at our door and we must have room to display it. Hence our determination to reduce our stocks. If you intend purchasing furniture the prices are more favorable now that they will be for many, many months to come. - - -

AN EXAMINER INTERVIEW WITH DON ZELAYA, THE NOTED PIANIST

PLAYED AT MOUNT ST. JOSHPH THIS MORNING—LIKES PETERBORO AND EXPECTS TO MAKE RETURN VISIT ON CONCERT TOUR.

Zelaya has delighted thousands of people all over the world, not only with his wonderful music, but also with his intensely delightful personality. An interview with this gifter South American revealed some of the traits which are never seen by the public. He is different than the average artist on the stage in that he plays merely for the love of playing, and not for any pecuniary benefits he may receive.

Born the son of an immensely wealthy Hidalgo of Nicaragua, Don Jose Santos Zelaya, who served for nineteen years as President of his Country, he obtained the benefits of a liberal education, both in America and the accomplished schools of the Old World. He started studying music with Madame Teresa Carreno, the greatest woman pianist the world has ever produced, and, after leaving her studio in Paris, he started on concert tours throughout the world at the early age of fourteen. His father asked him to drop his music and Zelaya, the younger, complied and entered West Point, the great American military academy. But his heart was in his music, and he abandoned his studies there and started out again to delight the public with his interpretations of the music of all the great masters.

Played at St. Joseph.

He was given a special invitation by the Mother Superior of Mount St. Joseph to play there and this morning at ten o'clock he played some of the world's best classical music before the Sisters. Zelaya is also extremely witty and his audience rock with fits of laughter with his descriptions of what is called music, the ordinary jazz. He varies his programme by speaking on the psychology of music and it is really instructive to hear what he has to say about it.

This afternoon he will play the following well-known productions.

Valce Poetic (Tchoulkousky.)
The Rosary (Nevin-Zayala) with the left hand only, and a number of popular pieces which he will also describe.

His evening performance will include the following:

Grand Etude de Concert (Liszt.)
Valsette Arabesque (Chaminade.)
Spanish Dance (Mouroski.)

Father Dead.

His father died fourteen weeks ago in New York and his son already a millionaire, fell heir to a vast fortune, made in the coffee and rubber industry in South America. But he was restless and seeking new faces and scenes to satisfy his volatile temperament, for which the Latins are noted, he decided to come to Canada and that is how the people of this country are able to hear this great artist. Disregarding any money that he may receive he brought his music to the theatre and thus reached thousands of people who would never have been able to hear him if he came on a concert tour. He stated that this is the first time that he ever played before a 25c house and also that later he is going to tour Canada en concert, when $1.50 will be the cheapest seat. He was favorably impressed with Peterboro and especially noted the cleanliness and the newness of the city. After leaving Peterboro he goes to the Davies Theatre in Pittsburg, where he plays for one week after which he leaves for New York to abandon his tour for a time. To-day is the last time to hear him. Zelaya served in a useful capacity during the war. He was attached to the Intelligence Department of the United States Secret Service, but, needless to say, he has nothing to say regarding his work then.

AN OPEN NIGHT AT THE Y.M.C.A.

The Y.M.C.A. is now ready for the coming Fall and Winter season and the friends of the Association are invited to visit the building, during the course of this evening, and see the recent improvements which have done much to facilitate supervision and add to the appearance of the Association.

No set programme has been arranged, but a team of old timers, just returned from overseas service will meet a team of Ex-Collegiate boys in Basket ball. The line up will be as follows:

Old Timers	Ex-Collegiate
Walter Flowers,	Russ Pogue,
Art. Horsfield	Tom Pogue
Claire Stuart	Fred Brooks
Chalmer Nicholls	Jack Thirnbark
Elmer Brown	Allan Stevenson

It is certain that with such a line up, many spectators will be present to see the match. The ladies are also invited to be present and will be guided through the building.

Simple Home Method Easily Erases Wrinkles

Thousands have reported great success with the famous saxolite wrinkle removing formula. One ounce of pure powdered saxolite is dissolved in a half-pint of witch hazel and the solution used as a face wash. The effect is almost magical. The deepest wrinkles and crows feet, as well as the finest lines—whether due to age, illness, weather or worry—are immediately affected. No one need hesitate to try this simple lotion as it will not harm any skin. Any druggist of course can supply the ingredients.

When you have that tired, careworn look and you want to freshen up for the afternoon or evening, bathing the face in the saxolite lotion will produce a wonderful transformation. You will find this more refreshing than an hour's rest.

LIEUT DALLIN'S RECORD.

Flight From Toronto to Kingston on Fokker Machine.

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—The report that Lieut. Dallin made a world's record in aeroplane flying yesterday is causing a good deal of comment among airmen. The report states that Lieut. Dallin left Toronto for Kingston in his biplane yesterday afternoon at 2.15 and made a non-stop flight of 160 miles in one hour and ten minutes. Local fliers state that the German Fokker biplane used by the officer would not enable him to make the trip in the time, even with the aid of a wind of a velocity of sixty miles per hour blowing in his favor, while the Weather Bureau authorities give the wind as blowing only 26 miles per hour between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the northwest. There was a slightly higher wind pressure prevailing after three o'clock.

Lieut. Dallin arrived at the Kingston Exhibition at 3.25 and performed a number of flying stunts while there.

P. G. Ericson, of the Aeronautical Supply Company, is somewhat skeptical that the Fokker biplane could have made the trip in the time stated. "It would have needed at least a 65-mile velocity of wind blowing behind the flier, and I do not think that there was any such force of wind," said he this morning.

WINNIPEG. — Manitoba farmers are becoming more prosperous, according to Fred. Axford, Inspector of Legal Offices, who bases his assertion on the paucity of suits against the agrarians. Mr. Axford says the number of actions brought against farmers is decreasing every year.

PRESENTATION TO REV. A. A. STRIKE

REV. MR. AND MRS. STRIKE FORMERLY RESIDED IN PETERBORO.

A very pleasant event took place at the Methodist parsonage on Friday evening, Sept. 19. This date was the 25th anniversary of Rev. A. J. H. and Mrs. Strike, and as a celebration of the occasion a large number of the congregation assembled at the parsonage and presented this popular pastor and his wife with a handsome silver dish in which were 440 shining quarters fresh from the mint. Mr. James A. Tompkins, who has been over 50 years S. S. Superintendent, read the address and Mr. C. H. Bradford, the genial and most successful treasurer of the church, made the presentation. Mr. and Mrs. Strike were very much surprised and both responded in a happy manner, expressing their appreciation, not only of the gift but also of the spirit which prompted this action on the part of the people. A choice programme was rendered.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the congregation and an evening long to be remembered by the Methodist people of Grandby was enjoyed by all.

Ross and Glenn Strike, the only members of the family, were present, and the address emphasized the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Strike's two gallant soldier boys, who responded so readily and so bravely to their country's call, and who though battle-scarred and wounde , have been spared to return.

Mr. and Mrs. Strike will be well remembered in Peterboro, Mr. Strike having been principal of the Ashburnham school many years ago.

A MOTHER'S TRIALS

CARE OF HOME AND CHILDREN OFTEN CAUSES A BREAKDOWN

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown.

The woman at home deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness headaches, back aches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are the cause is simple and the cure at hand. When well it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one always unfailing way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new blood abundantly, and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired, or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and

There will be no melancholy in your fall-time if you will surround yourself with flowers. Get the habit of having flowers in your home. Growing plants will engage your pleasant attention and will help to beautify your life. No home is well furnished if flowers are left out of the plan.

Every event is an occasion for flowers.

Y.M.C.A. AS A RECONSTRUCTION INSTITUTION

The Young Men's Christian Association has emerged from the war with an experience in social service unparalleled in the history of any institution except the church. It has gained a knowledge of work among men that should make it one of the foremost reconstruction agencies in Canada to-day.

Under the most trying circumstances it has "won out," earning the esteem and confidence both of the men it served and the generous people at home who committed huge sums of money to its stewardship.

Vast quantities of war stores and machinery are being sacrificed as of no further use, but the Y.M.C.A. was not a "war industry" or an emergency institution, and it would be a calamity if the unique knowledge and experience gained by the Association through its war work were scrapped with the shells and guns.

An outstanding lesson of the past four and a half years is that the real task of the Y.M.C.A. has only begun, and its heavy war budgets would not seem justifiable to-day if the service rendered the troops in the field were not made the guide and inspiration of its regular service, similar in spirit, throughout the cities, towns, villages and rural communities of the Dominion.

Being a human organization, the Canadian Y. M. C. A. has made some mistakes, but it stands ready to profit by its errors, in each of which it seeks to find a guide to more efficient service. Fortified by the success of its work for the men in khaki, the Association presents a programme of social service for men and boys which, in its moral aspect, is the biggest thing in Reconstruction at present before the people.

When you help the "Y." you help construct the men who will re-onstruct Canada.

The Campaign Here.

At a meeting of workers held a few nights ago for organization purposes, representatives from the G.W.V.A. were present to assist in the campaign. One of the men, Pte. W. Primeau, spoke of the very fine work the Red Triangle had accomplished at points where he was located. If they had done nothing more than to provide the entertainments they did for the men in the fighting zone and in Britain, they had accomplished a great deal. Pte. Primeau stated he was pleased to be able to testify of the excellent work done by the Red Triangle.

DAIRY PRODUCTS GOING HIGHER

PRICES AT THIS MORNING'S FARMER'S MARKET.

Prices of dairy products continue to sore with, seemingly, the sky as the limit. Butter sold at 63c a pound on the market this morning, and eggs were quoted at 60c a dozen. There were a few Irish Cobblers on the market at $2.75 a bag and 25c a dozen was asked for corn. Apples were 50c a peck, and an eleven-quart basket of green tomatoes brought 35c. Chicken was 35c a pound, and muskmelons sold at all prices around 15c and 20c. There were good tomatoes at $1.25 a bushel, with a reduction if a larger quantity was taken. The dealers seemed very anxious to get rid of them. Grapes of various kinds were ticketed at 30c and 50c. There were plenty of squashes and garden truck but only a few plums, and they sold only by the dozen.

LOCAL I. O. D. E. MET YESTERDAY

INTERESTING ADDRESS ON RECONSTRUCTION BY MRS. BRUCE.

Mrs. Smith, National Educational Secretary of the Independent Order of the Daughters of the Empire, elaborated on the plans of the I.O.D.E. in regard to war memorials at an open meeting held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the green room at the Y.W.C.A. She told those present that the Chapter were planning to supply copies of the Canadian War Records' pictures in the form of booklets to every school in Canada and further that scholarships were to be provided for university students on subjects of national interest. Mrs. J. C. Davidson, President of the local Chapter, occupied the chair. Mrs. Bruce, the new National President, took as her subject, "Reconstruction work that the I.O.D.E. is planning to do."

Mrs. Stewart, the Organizing Secretary, gave some interesting details of the system used to increase the number of Chapters in the country.

tiations. None of the early newspaper trains left London, but the managements of newspapers, anticipating strikes, made arrangements two to three days ago to distribute papers by motor cars and motor lorries. Several members of the Cabinet went to Downing Street this forenoon and remained there in continued consultation throughout the morning, keeping in touch with the strike situation.

LONDON, Sept. 27.— Sir Robert S. Horne, Minister of Labour, last night summarized the Government's standpoint in the controversy with the National Union of Railwaymen as follows: A new standard wage was proposed by the government equal to an average of at least one hundred per cent over pre-war wages and guaranteeing to every adult worker, irrespective of any fall in the cost of living, permanent minimum wages of 60 shillings per week, compared to 18 to 20 before the war, extra payments for Sunday and night duty and overtime which would equal another 20 per cent. on the pre-war wage; a reduction in the hours of labour from ten to eight, and in some cases from twelve to eight. In any event men would, until December 31, continue to receive their present aggregate earnings, and in the meantime the government would continue negotiations. There has been no question of reduction of the present wage on December 31 if the cost of living remains the same, in which case the men would receive the full aggregate wages they now receive as long as extra cost of living does not fall below 110 per cent. above the normal and remain there for three months.

A GOLFING MIRACLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A golfing miracle was accomplished at the Forest Hills Field club in New Jersey, when George Steward and Fred Sleppmyer halved the eighteenth hole in one. Steward teed off first, hitting an iron shot for the hole 145 yards away, and watched his ball trickle into the hole. Then Sleppmyer stepped up and drove off. His ball dropped upon the green and after a short run, clicked against the back of the cup and fell into the hole for a "birdie" one.

BIG RAW SUGAR PURCHASE.

Would Suffice to Operate Atlantic Refineries Until Summer.

MONTREAL.—Coincident with the renewed strength in the securities of Atlantic Sugar, the Street has a story regarding the possible very large profit the company has in a recent purchase of raw sugar.

It is understood that a short time ago the company contracted for the purchase of approximately 50,000 tons at a cost of $10,000,000. At the time the purchase was made, raw sugar was below 6½ cents a pound, and has since advanced to a figure which would make a profit on the total purchase of well up towards a million dollars. The purchase provides the company with sufficient raw sugar to keep its refineries working at full capacity till next summer.

D. Lorne McGibbon, president of the company, being asked whether the above story was correct, while unwilling to discuss the profit end, said the story was substantially correct in that the company had been fortunate in securing a sufficient amount to keep all the plants going until next summer.

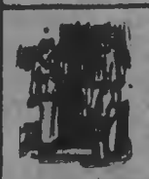
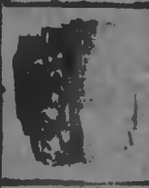
Hearst's Magazine—a Liberal Education



Compare any magazine with Hearst's. Count the features—see if it has twenty-six as has Hearst's for October. First compare simply the contents of reading matter. Then compare it article by article, story by story, picture by picture with Hearst's. Compare the writers—their skill and reputation. Contrast the ordinary magazine story with the splendid fiction you will find in Hearst's. Contrast the old-fashioned, long-winded magazine article with the snap and sparkle of those in Hearst's.

Half of Hearst's is serious—though never dull or priggish. For instance: G. K. Chesterton writes of the Labor Problem, Marie Corelli of Anarchy, B. C. Forbes tells how big business men grow rich, and so on. In lighter vein are Walt Mason and K. C. B. For those who prefer fiction, Dana Burnet, Maurice Level, Robert W. Chambers, Arthur Somers Roche, Albert Payson Terhune and Bruno Lessing contribute wonderful short stories. See if you can find their equal in any two other magazines.

Do you like the "best sellers" before they become moving pictures or even books? Four great serials in Hearst's for October. Government Morris starts his new novel "Better Days" in this issue. In the same number are novels by Arthur Stringer, Edwin Balmer and B. Phillips Oppenheim. Maybe you like books, pictures, plays, poems, science! Do you want to learn something about Galsworthy's latest book, of Rupert Brooke's poetry, of the latest play, of motion art, of the newest wonders of science? Get Hearst's for October at the nearest newsstand.



The object of Hearst's is to entertain and enlighten. Through all its entertainment, however, runs a certain serious purpose—a definite mission. And that mission is to discuss, elucidate and solve—so far as is possible—the vital questions of family and public life that people everywhere are thinking and discussing.

If you are interested in a magazine a bit beyond the ordinary—if you don't particularly care for a magazine that will make you think—you won't want Hearst's this month or any other. But if you want the wisdom of the world's great writers; if you want the works of the world's real leaders; if you want the thoughts of the world's great thinkers, don't fail to make room in it each—starting today with October—for your regular copy of

Mrs. Daniel Hartwick, Mountain Grove, Ont., writes: "I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and have found that it is a good remedy. When my little girl was 1-2 years old she had a very bad attack of bowel complaint. Nothing prescribed by the doctor seemed to do her any good. She got worse, until we thought we would loose her. MACK SENNETER'S LITTLE QUEEN'S

WHERE DID THEY COME FROM?—A ONCE OVER THE RECORDS.

After surveying the charms of the beauteous California peaches, Mack Sennett's bathing girls, who appear in their gorgeous surf raiment in living tableaux in an elaborately staged number at the Grand Theatre Thursday and Friday, in connection with the great Sennett Comedy, "Jack Canuck in Berlin", an old theatrical man exclaimed:

"For the love of Mike, where did Sennett ever find these stunning little queens" The California comedy king only recently anticipated his query in telling for the first time how these Pacific nymphs got into the movies.

Marie Prevost, the winsome little girl who has the leading part in "Jack Canuck in Berlin", was a school girl in Los Angeles. She had just come out of a convent in Canada when her father died. Her family consisting of her mother and little sister, needed help, and she went around the movie studios as the quickest way to get action financially. Harriett Hammond, one of the prettiest girls in the nature dance and other scenes, came to the screen for the benefit of her health. She was studying to be a concert pianist. The family doctor recommended an outdoor life and Miss Hammond bethought herself of the movies.

Phyllis Haver was an art student at the Chicago Institute as well as in Los Angeles.

Marvel Rea, one of the most admired of the girls in the prologue, got into the movies in a queer way. She was born on a big cattle ranch in Northern California There she learned to ride bucking bronchos and shoot. Her family sold out the ranch and went to Los Angeles One day a little cowgirl was passing a high board fence in Edendale and asked what it was Someone told her it was the Sennett Studio. "Can I go in?" she asked. Ordinarily, it is about as easy to go into a bank vault, but Mr. Sennett happened along just then and gave her permission. She wandered around for a while and wandered out. At the gate, the casting director, by Mr. Sennett's orders, was waiting He asked her how she would like a job. She gave him a quick reply

Roxanna McGowan was the daughter of an army officer. She had been in one boarding school after another all her life until education palled upon her. After her summer vacation, spent at a fort, where her father was stationed, they started back to Philadelphia to be polished some more. At the station she got a sudden hunch, bought a ticket going west instead of east, landed in Los Angeles and got a job.

That's a fair sample of the way the girls got in. Alice Maison, the little dancer, came in as a professional dancer.

None of the Sennett girls are of the professional chorus girl type.

WHO IS YOUR NEIGHBOUR?

A theme that will have a universal appeal is found in "Double-Crossed," a Paramount picture starring Pauline Frederick, at the Empire Theatre on Monday and Tuesday. This is the fact that not one of us really knows all about the person nearest to us in daily life. For instance, in "Double-Crossed," a devoted young wife learns for the first time of a youthful slip on the part of her husband whom she adored and whom she had unknowingly placed upon a pedestal too high for any man. What happens when she found out her error and how a new and deeper understanding was brought about between them, is pictured by Miss Frederick with all the wondrous artistry of which she is capable.

When a man is sick he wonders if there is another man on earth capable of continuing his business in case he shuffles out.

"HIS BRIDAL NIGHT" AT GRAND THEAT R

"His Bridal Night," Margaret Mayo's sensational musical farce, which comes to the Grand on Saturday matinee and evening, October 4, was accorded the highest praise by the Philadelphia North American when presented in that city last season. The criticism follows: "His Bridal Night" proved to be one of the best farces that Philadelphia has seen in years. The farcial diet provided throughout a long period has been of such humdrum character that an invitation to a farce was somewhat to be dreaded. But "His Bridal Night" proved to be the exception, the reward that comes after a long space of "watchful waiting" for something with a touch of novelty, with the germ of laughter in it. The story is based on the fact that two young gentlemen of wealth are in love with two young ladies who are twins, and so much alike that their own relatives have difficulty in telling them apart. One of the girls, who is to be married, has been flirting with her sister's sweetheart, and the sister in revenge impersonates her immediately after the wedding and leaves with the young husband. The sister and the young man follow them and the complications that ensue are many and irresistably funny.

In the company that will present "His Bridal Night" here are Robert Knight, who has been in many of the leading comedy successes; the Crisp Sisters, vaudeville features of several seasons, who have been selected for the twins of the play because of their startling likeness to each other; Bertha Julian, Frank Cullen, Charles Bennett, Clarice Grey, Beatrice Lett and others.

ENID BENNETT STAR OF "PARTNERS THREE"

IS ADMIRED BY LARGE CROWD AT THE ALLEN

Has Won Screen Fame as an Actress Of Exceptional Ability.

Realism prevails in the production of "Partners Three," the latest Thomas H. Ince photoplay, featuring Enid Bennet, which is showing at the Allen Theatre to-day for the last time.

Much of the action of the story takes place on the great American desert, and to secure the proper setting, Mr. Ince sent his director, Fred Niblo and the entire company out on the desert for a week to shoot the locations. The players camped in tents out on the sand, amid cactus and sage brush. Large cans of water were taken out in the commissary automobile, but before the scenes were finished it was necessary to send a machine back for a new supply.

Director Niblo succeeded in getting some wonderful desert scenes. The supporting cast is excellent.

Casson Ferguson, a popular player, is leading man. John P. Lockney, a sterling actor, has a splendid part, while Robert McKinn will be seen to advantage in a heavy role. Lydia Yeamans has an excellent characterization.

DOROTHY GISH IN "BOOTS" NOT AFRAID OF A MOUSE

It you were a chorus girl in a London boarding house, and your job was to take orders from everyone who had lodging there and if one of the boarders wanted you to feed her pet mice, and you did, and one of them got out of the cage and ran right at you—Well, how fast would you run?

That is the situation that confronts Dorothy Gish when "Boots" her newest Paramount picture, will be shown at the Allen next Monday and to make matters worse, Miss Gish was being turned every second and that all attempts she might make to get away from that mouse would be indelibly registered on the film.

That had not been arranged for in the story, and it wasn't quite fair. Of course, she didn't think that all out during the time when she was threatened by this tiny rodent running around loose on the stage, because she was trying to listen to Elmer Clifton, her director, and at the same time save herself from the ferocious beast that insisted on getting right under her feet very time it had the opportunity.

There were tables and chairs and other things in the room and Dorothy made good use of them. The mice, by the way, have a lot to do with the story, and when the scene was finished Miss Gish consented to go through a little more of the ordeal in order to have the whole thing in the picture. Miss Gish is splendidly supported in this photoplay. Her leading man is Richard Barthelmess, who plays the part Everett White, the English secret service agent who is in love with boots. Fontine La Rue plays the part of a Bolshevist agent.

CHANGE IN STORE HOURS

Beginning next Wednesday, October 1st, and continuing throughout the winter months, ELLIOTT'S STORE will open and close a half hour later, making the store hours from 9 to 6 daily and from 9 to 9.30 p m on Saturdays. This has been decided upon in view of the fact that customers have complained during the last few months that the early closing does not give them sufficient time to complete their shopping and also the half hour later opening in the morning will be more agreeable and pleasant for the sales-staff in the cold, wintry days of the next few months.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

CROWING ROOSTERS A NUISANCE

I would like to know is there not a law prohibiting keeping crowing roosters in the city limits, if not I hope the Mayor and Council will have one right away (before a lot of ailing people will be in the asylum for want of sleep) they start crowing at half past two in the morning and keep everyone awake from a home and in hospitals it is too bad that anyone can be mean enough to keep such a nuisance in the neighborhood. It is enough to make one commit the crime of theft to do away with them

REPORT THAT DRAYTON WILL RUN IN KINGSTON DECLARED INCORRECT

KINGSTON, Sept. 26.—There is nothing definite yet as to who will be the candidate in Kingston for the Dominion House, and any report that Sir Henry Drayton has been asked to run here is incorrect. Nothing will be done until a meeting of unionists to be called in a few days, probably for Monday next, when two cabinet ministers from Ottawa will be invited to be present. There is a strong feeling that Kingston should, if possible, secure a local man. In any event, Ald. Patterson, local labor candidate will remain in the field.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Ten-Thirty Call

By PERCY WILSON

(Copyright.)

Snapper was looking over the yardmaster's shoulder when the operator handed the latter the order for an extra. As was not unusual with him on very slight provocation, the yardmaster immediately "went off the iron." "Where's that call-boy?" he demanded. "What's become of that red-head? Where is— Oh!" as he turned his head and came afoul of Snapper's smirking countenance, "there you are!"

"Yes, here I are!" mocked Snapper. "Go on, go on—say what you were going to. Don't mind me! Where did you expect to find me—in your lap?" The call-boy was aggrieved.

"What's the earliest you can call this extra for?" was the brisk query. "Ten-thirty?"

With an exasperating affection of indifference, Snapper let his eye wander to the clock, gaped a minute over the crew-board, and gradually came around to the book. "I reckon," he answered. Then, with sudden interest: "Who's to shovel smoke?"

"Oh, you take notice, do you? Now, that's what I want to impress on you. Listen."

"'Laying a hand to his ear,'" quoted Snapper from a favorite author, and suiting action to the speech, "'he gave close heed to the fiendish disclosure.' Go on."

The yardmaster was too accustomed to these burlesques to honor them with any attention. "Go for Burnside," he directed.

"He was let off."

"I knew that. Pay attention. He was to be off until midnight, unless we should need him in some emergency this morning; and this is the emergency. He promised to stay at home till nine o'clock, and not to leave town before ten." He glanced at the clock. "It's only eight-fifty-eight now. You ought to find him easily," winking to the operator.

"Sure!" returned Snapper. "If only I hadn't best one of me wings! What was it the coal-heaver wanted off for, anyway?"

"To rob a bank, maybe. Don't bother me; but go get him."

"Put his name down," said Snapper in disgust. "I'll get him."

The yardmaster entered the name and handed the call-book over. "Now, hustle," he directed.

Snapper thrust the book in his pocket and struck an attitude. "Beware, James Burnside!" he declaimed. "Your doom is knelled, and the avenger—"

The avenger was the yardmaster, and Snapper got through the doorway just in time to escape his foot.

"Hang that kid!" laughed the yardmaster. "He gets on my nerves, with his spouting and fool antics. But he's a good caller," he observed to the operator; "and, mind my word, he'll come back here with Burnside's signature in his book. Heaven knows where he'll find him, though, for Jim's tricky, and he'll dodge if he can. He did beg hard to be off."

In spite of his unhesitating assertion, the call-boy had very grave doubts about getting Burnside. The promise to remain at his boarding place for a call till nine o'clock made it unlikely that he would be there one minute later, while the additional hour did not give much time for finding him in a town of fifteen thousand people. What Snapper most desired to know was, where was he intending to go at ten? He had a suspicion that it had something to do with Kitty Carnigan.

Being too wise, however, to attempt to get this from the young lady herself, as soon as he had called these two of the crew who lived most convenient, he moved directly on the engineer, whom, in the usual order of convenience for himself, he would otherwise have called last of all. His information came without his asking for it.

"Who's to fire for me this trip?" the engineer inquired as he took the book.

"Can't you see?" said Snapper, laying a finger on the name.

"He!" laughed the engineer, "you'll not get Burnside. He's going out to Maple Park on the ten o'clock car with his girl and her folks to a basket picnic. He's keeping an eye peeled for you."

To lie in wait and take him from his inamorata as they were starting for the car would have suited the call-boy's dramatic longings most, but it was not an impossibility that the fireman had already forestalled this by an arrangement to meet the party somewhere along the line.

In this uncertainty the immediate thing to be done was to get on his quarry's trail. Snapper gritted his teeth and struck across the meadow. At the farther side of the run he stopped and, on a sudden thought, got down and examined both ends of the short plank that spanned it. Without doing anything more, however, he got up again and went on, and soon entered the Carnigan's rear gate. He had kept his eye sharply on the kitchen window, and flattered himself that he had stolen up unnoticed; yet, when he stopped at the kitchen door, Miss Carnigan seemed not surprised to see him.

There was something suspicious in this. To his inquiry she replied that Mr. Burnside had been there that morning, but had gone into town. Was he wanted?

Oh, no, he wasn't wanted. Snapper had merely noted that he had been looking poorly of late, and stopped to inquire about his health.

He sprinted to the corner just in time to see the fireman turn to the right a block ahead. On an easy trot the call-boy followed after. Overtaking a brakeman, Snapper asked if he had seen Burnside.

"Burnside?" said the man. "Yep; just passed here with throttle wide open and both pops up. Hit the curve and shot up that first alley"—pointing—"and he was going some. Why, I'll bet he was halfway up the side of that house when he made the turn, and I reckon you'll find his footmarks on the wall.

"He called to me to tell you to hurry up, kid," he said with a grin; "and you want to move lively, or he'll lose you."

Snapper knew this was all gammon. He glanced at his watch. It was almost nine-thirty.

"I'll look for those footmarks some other time," he remarked dryly; "I'm in a hurry now," and he started off afresh at a jog trot in the direction that had been indicated.

"There's that long-legged kid again!" ejaculated Burnside. "If he comes here to the kitchen, I'll slip out the front door and join you on the car somewhere. If he comes to the front, keep him till I can get to the other side of the run; and after he's gone, I'll come around by the street."

Snapper's schedule took him to the front door. There was no answer to his first ring, so he rang again; and shortly Miss Carnigan answered.

"Oh! it's' you, is it?" was her tart greeting. "What do you want now? It's a pity you couldn't have come around to the kitchen door."

"That's the fault of me tender heart, Kitty," returned the unabashed Snapper. "I want Jimmy Burnside, and I couldn't bear to break it to him suddenly. You tell him."

"Didn't I tell you he had left here?"

"Aw, quit it, Kitty! Ain't he going on the picnic with you? Sure!"

"Well," was the admission, "he came back after you left, but he's gone again. You might find him at his boarding house."

Snapper struggled to keep a straight face.

"I've been there once," he returned; "and the book of rules says"—he held his call book close to his nose and thumbed over some blank pages—"it says, here: 'Rule 188—In all cases of doubt or uncertainty, see for yourself.' I've got to do it, Kitty," and he pushed into the house.

"Oh, very well!" retorted the young lady, and followed through to where her mother and a younger sister were finishing the packing of the picnic baskets in the kitchen. "Now I are you satisfied?"

Snapper made no reply. Something of more immediate interest absorbed all his faculties, for his eyes had lighted on the top layer in one of the baskets. "Are those some of your own pies, Mrs. Carnigan?" he inquired in awed tones.

"Sure!" was the answer. "Whose would they be?"

"But, some that you baked yourself?" he persisted with an air of strong disbelief.

"Of course!"

"Mrs. Carnigan"—he wanted a calm, judicial answer to this quest—"are your pies as good as they used to be?"

"Well, I never!" cried Mrs. Carnigan, flinging up her hands. "If you ain't the blarneyer!"

Snapper was not a beauty. He was still growing; his joints were too loose, his feet too big, his clothes too small; yet when he opened his mouth to take in the piece of pie that was immediately cut for him, expanding until his freckles ran together and his whole countenance resembled nothing so much as a wedge disappearing through a large, rusty washer, he became, for the moment a sight that gave true joy to Mrs. Carnigan's domestic heart.

"That certainly was good," he murmured in heartfelt commendation as he swallowed the last of it. Then he met Miss Carnigan's anxious eye and gave a sudden impish start. "Gee, Kitty!" he exclaimed. "Someone's fell in the creek."

Stepping at the creek merely long enough to pull the plank out of the water and set it roughly in place, he hastened to the boarding house and went softly up to the firemen's room. He snickered to himself at hearing Burnside muttering objurgations inside and thrashing wet clothes about.

In this dilemma the pie furnished him a hint, for, as it sought a cozy corner of his anatomy in which to dispose itself comfortably, it gave him a gentle internal tweak. In an instant he had doubled up as though taken with a violent cramp and, falling against the door with a horrible groan, seized the knob.

The door was locked, but as he sank on down to the floor he kept up a piteous moaning. In another moment the door opened and he fell half inside.

"You—" began the fireman, then lost speech.

"Aw! sign the book," said Snapper, thrusting it at him. "And be quick about it, too," he added sternly. "I can't be fooling all my time on you."

Burnside mechanically signed.

"I hated to wet you up, Jimmy," said Snapper as he took back the book, "but—"

He slammed the door and raced down the stairs from the irate fireman.

NEW HAZARDS.

How War Has Affected English Golf Links.

A question of considerable interest is exercising the minds of many golf club committees in Britain.

In every quarter of the Old Country are courses which bear stern evidence of the military era from which Britain is just emerging—trenches, gun emplacements, barbed wire pickets, and firing ranges. Between 20 and 30 courses show scars caused by Zeppelin and Gotha bombs.

A writer in the London Mail, commenting on this matter, says:

Rapid progress is being made with the work of restoring these playgrounds to their former orderly excellence as tests of the game. "All the trenches have now been filled in" was an allusion I saw recently to an East Coast course. But as the players return—many of them from the battlefields—they wonder whether it is not almost in the nature of sacrilege to remove from the links every sign of this greatest period in our history—every sign which to future generations of golfers would rank as a sacred token.

Where the war scar affects the character of the hole as a just test of the abilities of two players, the problem has its difficulties. Your true golfer is a stickler for equity. I have heard of a case in point at Wimbledon Common, one of the oldest courses in the London district. It has been used during the war as a training ground for troops. It is about to be handed back to the three clubs which previously played golf over it.

One big bunker which could be just carried by the player who made a perfect drive has been enlarged to such an extent by the military authorities, who utilized it for machine-gun practice, that to carry it from the tee is now virtually impossible. A full shot would just about put the golfer well into it. Some players want it restored to its former size; others are wholeheartedly for its retention in its present form as a tribute to the men who fired thousands of machine-gun bullets into it in preparation for active service.

Much might be done to preserve these signs of a proud era by a little revision of the architecture of courses which would bring the new hazards into the range of reasonable obstacles. It would be worth undertaking.

"Pie" Helps Wig-makers.

Wig-makers of Toronto have trebled their business since October.

The supply of human hair has been hardly sufficient to meet the added demands of the trade, they say.

Influenza is given as the reason for the tremendous increase in wig making. Thousands of persons who were attacked with this disease have visited the city's wig-makers carrying the hirsute adornment of happier days and beseeching the experts to turn them out something life-like in the way of a toupe before their friends began to make personal remarks about their resemblance to a hard boiled egg.

"The loss of hair has been appalling," said a wig-maker. "The worst of it is that many persons whose hair had fallen out could not use it again. It was lacking in elasticity and life."

Wig-makers decline to estimate the poundage of false hair that is daily paraded on the streets of a large city.

Labor in Australia.

In the 1918 Yearbook of the Commonwealth of Australia the statement is made that in the calendar year of 1917 there were 444 labor disputes in the Commonwealth, affecting 173,970 workers, who lost 4,599,668 working days and a loss in wages amounting to over $10,000,000.

What is Indurated Fibreware?

EDDY'S Indurated Fibreware is wood without any of the drawbacks which are commonly associated with wooden household utensils. It is made in one piece without joints or hoops, it will not splinter, will not fall to pieces if dropped, and is impervious to taints and odors. And with all those qualities it has all the lightness and the resiliency of wood.

Eddy's Indurated Fibreware
Washtubs, Pails, Butter Tubs, etc.

are made from wood-pulp, ground so as to preserve the long fibres intact. It is moulded to the required shape, in a single piece, under tremendous hydraulic pressure. This welds the fibres into a homogeneous mass, stronger in texture than the original wood itself.

The moulds are then dipped in oil, put into huge ovens, and baked for hours with intense heat. This produces a hard, glazed surface, which is impenetrable to liquids, and which effectively wards off every outside taint.

The next time you buy a washtub, a milk pail, a household pail or butter tub, ask for Eddy's Indurated Fibreware. You will find it much easier to lift, much easier to keep clean, and much more economical than the ordinary wooden or metal container.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

SAY BACKACHE IS A SIGN YOU HAVE BEEN EATING TOO MUCH MEAT, WHICH FORMS URIC ACID

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure, and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

CONTROL OF PARTY SLIPPING CAUCUS TO FIND OUT STAND

MUCH SPECULATION AT OTTAWA AS TO WHAT IS GOING TO HAPPEN—SIR THOMAS WHITE AND SIR LOMER GOUIN IN CENTRE OF GUESS WORK.

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—Some called it 'piffling day' in the House. Others called it all fools' day. Still others, more discriminating, simply made it Mowat's day. Anyway, the statesman from Parkdale held most of the spotlight, while most of the other members took to the corridors. Mr. Mowat first took the floor with his resuscitated bill to provide model villages for returned soldiers. You will remember he occasioned a laugh with this bill last session, how his runways for chickens, etc., for the comfort and amusement of soldiers tickled the risibilities of the minor statesmen. Well, he brought it in again, and this time he had enlisted the support of that other heavyweight, H. C. Hocken. The latter argued that Toronto had too many people living in it, that it would be better if two hundred thousand of them were moved to Galt or Woodstock. It would give the others room to expand. He must have caught sight of himself in a plate glass window.

Once Again.

When this proposition had been embalmed in that receptacle for odds and ends, the Special Committee to Consider Soldiers' Re-Establishment, Hon. J. Ham Burnham, of Peterboro, had one inning with a resolution to run the nation like a departmental store. Isaac Pedlow followed with his bill to make Armistice Day Thanksgiving Day, which was left in committee to bring the star back into the spotlight with his bill to have electrocution take the place of hanging in cases of capital punishment. Right here McMaster, of Brome, contributed to the entertainment. He is against capital punishment, and in all seriousness he moved that capital sentences be replaced by incarceration, "not to exceed the lifetime of the accused." This brought a protest from Sam Jacobs, of Montreal, that this would be taking away a man's life without giving him death. Anyway the committee reported progress, and the House finally got down to serious business when it rose at 9.30 to give the members an opportunity to follow the body of the late Frank Cochrane to the railway station.

Whither the Drifting?

But the piffling in the House did not enter into the conversation of the members who gathered in knots in the corridors, or retired to the semi-privacy of room 16 that they might express themselves with greater freedom and fluency. For everybody in Parliament is trying to answer the same question, "Whither are we drifting?"

Sir Robert Borden's absence from the House, and the uncertainty as to when he will return, has seemingly left the Unionists without a head. Suspicion is rife, and the air is thick with rumors. Liberals will tell you that Hon. Arthur Meighen, who has been much out of the House of late, is busy with a Franchise Act, and that said Act portends a general election. This brings a laugh from others better posted, who ask, "Why should the Government bring on an election? It can get out with less trouble by resigning."

Franchise Act.

Anyway, it is known that the Franchise Act has been ready and awaiting for a year or more. It will be on the same lines as the Act to Govern Bye-elections, passed at the last session. When the original Act was prepared, it re-imposed the alien clauses of the Wartimes Election Act. Why these were so suddenly cut out is one of the puzzles of after war politics.

Hold Caucus To-day.

They are holding a caucus to-day to try and find out. They want to know how many Liberal Unionists are going to stick to the ship, and how many are headed back towards Liberalism. It is known that Hon. A. K. Maclean is ready to slip his cable and drift away as soon as the lous onesatf.... nar session is over, and some of the anxious ones are said to have called on Hon. Wesley Rowell yesterday, and enquired as to his intentions. His last speech, which roused the ire of Quebec, wa thought to have placed him beyond the Liberal pale, but there is still a suspicion that he may drop out for a period, and then come back as a brand new Grit.

But the man around whom most curiosity clusters is Sir Thomas White. He sits back and smiles, and everybody wonders what is back of his smile. The Montreal paper, La Patrie, voiced one suspicion yesterday when it suggested an alliance between Sir Thomas White and Sir Lomer Gouin. Also there is a wonder if Hon. Bob Rogers does not figure somewhere in this deal, with possibly Hon. James Calder using it as a life raft on which to float away from what he may consider the sinking Union ship.

All Guesswork.

All this, of course, is guesswork. It simply shows the divers directions in which Ottawa is thinking at this juncture. But one thing that must figure in the political future is that there is no longer any "solid Quebec." The old French province is practically split up the back. Sir Lomer Gouin, who has long been the local Czar, has met the fate of many another absolute monarch. He got is first intimation of what was coming at the Grit convention, when the younger element of French-Canadians, headed by Ernest Lapointe, Hon. Jacques Bureau, Lucien Cannon and others, ran out on him, and made Hon. W. L. M. King a possibility for Liberal leader. Having tasted the delights of victory over a man counted invincible, they are hungry for more of the same. Moreover, they have the ear of the habitant and the platform that appeals to him. They will be found running for Sir Lomer Gouin from now on. They have long suspected of intriguing with the leaders across the floor, with a view to combining Ontario and Quebec to resist the inroads of the western farmers. They can be counted on to raise the cry of a combination of the big interests to appease the common people, and to use the popular cries in Quebec to bring about the complete downfall of the alleged tyrant who has suffered his first defeat. In self-defence, Sir Lomer will have to form fresh alliances. He can't be true to Sir Robert Borden. That would simply consolidate Quebec against him. But he could tie up to Sir Thomas White, and with a straight protection policy probably gather in about 25 of the 65 Quebec seats. That, with Ontario sticking to its old National Policy principles, the Maritimes doing as usual, and British Columbia and Manitoba contributing, might give the new combination the largest faction in, if not an actual majority of, a new House.

Nobody Knows.

But again, all this is purely speculation. The feasibility of the White—Gouin combination added to old rumors may be te only foundation of this speculation. However, enough has been told to show the feeling in Ottawa to-day. Nobody knows where the other fellow is at. Nobody trusts anybody. It is as near political chaos as this Dominion ever saw.

By the way, one indication of the slipping control of the Cabinet over its followers is the determination of the Special Committee on Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment to consider the gratuity question. In its first report to the House the committee practically took the power to do this, and as the House adopted the report the necessary power was given. The excuse of the committee for practically reversing the policy of the Cabinet is that it is a committee of the House of Commons, and not a committee of the Government.—(Telegram).

The Red Triangle Drive

Canvas to be made of the Citizens of Peterboro on TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY NEXT, SEPT. 30th and OCT. 1st, by the Red Cross Organization and representatives from the War Veterans Association. This Campaign was deferred from last Spring, and a two day whirlwind campaign is confidently expected to raise the amount asked for which is to be used for the purpose of continuing the Red Triangle work until April 1st, next, and will use the last Red Cross Triangle Appeal to the public for this purpose.

The RED TRIANGLE IS A GREAT RECONSTRUCTION AGENCY

WHAT THE RED TRIANGLE Is doing in Canada.

SERVICE FOR RETURNING MEN

On Transport

A Y. M. C. A. Secretary travels on each transport and 25 of these men are constantly engaged in this work. They carry supplies, games, literature, gramaphones, lanterns, etc., for the educational and recreational activities of the troops. Each Transport Secretary has been chosen because of special qualifications for the work.

At Disembarkation Ports

Special Y. M. C. A. staffs at all these points—Halifax, St. John, Quebec and Montreal—meet returning men and attend to their needs in many ways, including the distribution of free drinks and eatables. Where men are detained in port, concerts, movies and hospitality in homes are provided.

On Troop Trains

A Y. M. C. A. Secretary travels with every troop train right through to destination. He carries equipment for the service and entertainment of the men and as far as circumstances allow, his program is similar to that carried on by the Transport Secretary. Free distribution of fruit, drinks and eatables en route is made regularly.

Red Triangle Clubs

At many large centres of population from Halifax to Vancouver, Red Triangle Clubs or Huts have been either specially built or leased for the accommodation of returned men. At these centres board and lodging are provided at rates below cost, and there the returned man finds "a home from home" until he is ready to proceed to his location.

For Convalescent and Wounded Men

Y. M. C. A. Secretaries are operating "Y" programs in 65 Canadian Military Hospitals, as well as in Camps and Barracks.

ATHLETICS AND ENTERTAINMENTS

The Y. M. C. A. promoted athletic activities for the troops and provided all the necessary equipment free. The extent of these operations outrivalled the ancient Olympic games, and the Corps Meet on July 1st, 1918, for which more than 70,000 men participated in the preliminaries, and at which there was an attendance of 30,000 troops.

THE WORK THAS IS TO BE Undertaken in the Near Future

BOYS' WORK

The National Boys' Work Committee will supervise and promote work among the boy members of the Y. M. C. A.'s in Canada, and will work with the National Advisory Committee for co-operation in Boys' Work in Canadian Standard Efficiency training among the 30,000 Protestant teen-age boys in the Dominion. The value of the promotion of the four-fold program under Christian leadership in connection with Bible Study groups, conferences, summer camps, the work among boys in High Schools, employed boys, boys on the farm, and special groups of under-privileged boys, will be a great factor in making good the awful war-shrinkage of Canada's man-power (60,383 dead; 156,799 wounded) by developing the country's boy-power in ideals of Canadian citizenship.

TOWN AND COUNTRY WORK

This new Department of the National Council will promote Y. M. C. A. work in co-operation with the church and other agencies among the boys and young men of the open country, villages and larger towns, not served by city types of Association buildings. This work will be organized on a non-equipment basis and will be a serious and practical effort to provide attractions in rural life and thus stem the migration into the cities.

INDUSTRIAL WORK

The Industrial Department will promote work in all parts of the country, and funds to assist local Y. M. C. A.'s to specialize in work among operators in the factories and plants in their communities. These funds will also be used to inaugurate work among men engaged in lumbering, mining and other specialized and isolated industries. What the Y. M. C. A. did for the boys in the trenches the Industrial Department will do for the great army of workers at home.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS

Y. M. C. A. work will be actively prosecuted among railroad operatives. Canada's future leaders in universities and colleges will be cared for by the Student Department. The promotion of a large program of physical activities conducted by Y. M. C. A.'s within their buildings will be undertaken by the Department of Physical Education. Sex Education will form the program of still another Department.

RELIGIOUS WORK

Whilst there is no distinctively "Religious Work Department," a large portion of the activities of all Departments is devoted to various phases of work which are more or less definitely religious in character. A special fund provides for stimulating and standardizing this work throughout the country, and co-ordinating with the churches.

Make this great campaign a complete success in appreciation of the great work done during the war, and which is being continued at home by the Red Triangle Association.

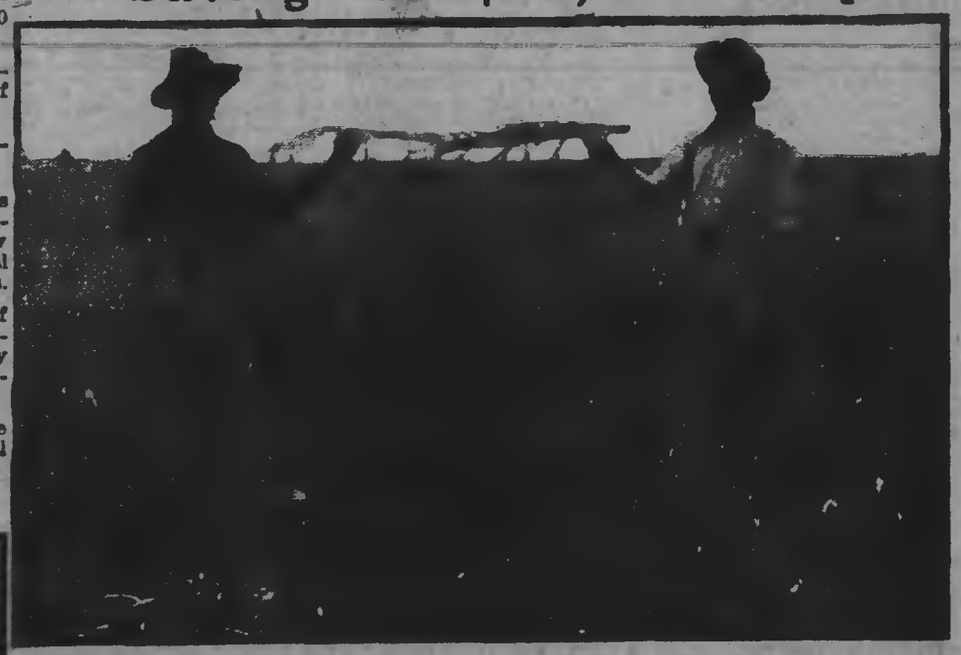
Saving a $16,000 Crop



Oats Grown With Irrigation Near Brooks, Alberta.

The story of the saving of a large oat and hay crop this year by J. E. Jett is typical of the stories that could be told by hundreds of other farmers in Southern Alberta, who are now harvesting big crops as a result of the timely application of water to their fertile land, though they may not have had to resort to the same means to get it there as Mr. Jett did.

Jett, with his brothers, ranches and farms about five thousand acres of land in Southern Alberta, about twenty miles from Taber and four miles from Grassy Lake, near the Belly River.

On July 23 last, Mr. Jett saw a splendid field of oats, which had given fine promise early in the season, burned practically flat by the hot sun and lack of rain, while his hay fields were scorched to a crisp. The oat field of some 160 acres appeared to be in such bad shape that it wasn't worth while to turn the cattle into it.

Jett had been looking up irrigation, and he decided to take a chance. Accordingly, on July 23, he wired a local firm in Calgary, some 150 miles away, bought an irrigation pump of some 3,000 gallons per minute capacity, and the pipes and machinery to go with it, had the whole outfit shipped in an express car to the nearest railway station to his farm, hired special motor cars and trucks to transport it to the scene, and employed a crew of twenty men to plough irrigation ditches on his fields and set up the machinery. The pump was attached to a steam traction engine, and the pump set to work pumping water over the oats and hay fields from the Belly river.

To-day, Mr. Jett is harvesting the crop. He asserts that the oats will run close to 100 bushels to the acre on the hundred-acre oat field, and that at the rate his hay is running, he will harvest some 200 tons. With oats at from 84 cents to 90 cents a bushel, and hay at from $30 to $35 a ton, as against a total failure, it is easy to figure out Mr. Jett's gain.

The cost figures, of course, do not include estimates on maintenance and depreciation of the power plant, as Jett was too busy harvesting to figure these out. At the same time, however, the fact that the plant was set up in such a hurry made the installation cost nearly double, including express, motor car charges, and the wages of extra men on the crew. According to the local firm, the average cost of the outfit and its installation, under ordinary conditions, should not exceed $3,000. Mr. Jett's estimate of cost of $4,000 also included the work of irrigating the crop during the irrigation period.

Irrigation experts warn against the hasty installation of pumping machinery on account of its cost and expense of operation, unless the situation is first thoroughly examined by an irrigation engineer. But Jett says there is nothing to it, and that he will never take a chance again of going without water on the land as long as it can be pumped from the river.

This story reads like a romance, and the manner in which Mr. Jett set about to save his crop shows that he is a man of initiative. The results he accomplished, however, are only what thousands of other farmers, who are more fortunate than he in having their land below the ditch, are obtaining. Needless to say Mr. Jett is now an enthusiastic convert to irrigation.

Voice Of The People

The story of Scriven's early life, who was the author of "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," is given in the Toronto Globe of the 26th inst. The Globe claims that the widespread interest in the author is owing to the publicity given by the Toronto press, without ascribing any credit to the press of Peterborough, Port Hope or Millbrook, where, in the vicinity of these places the author was buried, and where he was so well and favourably know in his lifetime, and where, in the first instance attention was called to desirability of marking his grave with a suitable monument.

PETERBORO MAN ARRESTED BY THE LINDSAY POLICE

Lindsay Post: Victor Gabriel Nicholson, of Peterborough, and formerly of Lindsay, was arrested here last night on a charge of chicken stealing. Nicholson has been offering poorly dressed fowl for sale to the local merchants at 15c a pound. Mr. Stevenson, a South Ops farmer, whose chicken roost was recently cleaned out, found piles of feathers in a swamp near his house, and it is believed this is where Nicholson made his headquarters. There have been numerous complaints of chicken stealing around the country lately, but the police are confident that they have their man. Nicholson has been remanded for a week and is now safely installed.

He admitted to the police that he had been engaged in chicken stealing. Just who owned the horse and outfit used by the accused has not been established. The police will make further investigation regarding accused during the period of remand.

$400 AND COSTS IN WHITBY LIQUOR CASE

WHITBY, Sept. 26.—A penalty of $400 and costs was imposed by Magistrate Willis on P. Uhrynowich, of Port Whitby, who on Saturday last was found guilty of having stored on his premises 33 five-gallon cans containing liquor.

The haul was made several weeks ago by Chief MacGrotty, who discovered the cans hidden under a pile of ties in the yard near the Uhrynowich house. The tins were apparently full of liquor, but examination led to the discovery that to the bole in the top of each a narrow tube was connected containing about a quart of whisky, the remainder of the liquid outside this tube being water, apparently, to judge by its odor, taken from the creek, which runs near Uhrynowich's house.

NOTHING LIKE IT FOR BRONCHITIS AND WEAK THROAT

Remarkable Cures in the Worst Cases Reported Daily.

CURES WITHOUT USING DRUGS

Doctors now advocate an entirely new mothod of treating bronchitis and irritable throat. Stomach dosing is no longer necessary.

The most approved treatment consists of a healing vapor resembling the pure air of the Adirondacks.

This soothing vapor is full of germ-destroying substances, and at the same time is a powerful healing agent. It is sent to the bronchial tubes and lungs through a skillfully devised inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket. Simplicity itself is the keynote of this splendid treatment.

CATARRHOZONE is the name of this wonderful invention that is daily curing chronic cases of weak throat, bronchitis and catarrh. Every breath through the inhaler is laden with soothing, healing substances that destroy all diseased conditions in the breathing organs, it can't fail to cure because it goes where the trouble really exists, and doesn't attempt to cure an illness in the head or throat by means of medicine taken into the stomach. Catarrhozone is a direct breathable scientific cure.

There is no sufferer from a grippy cold or any winter ill, that won't find a cure in Catarrhozone, which is employed by physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lands. Large size lasts two months and cost $1.00 and is guaranteed; small size 50c, sample size 25c, all storekeepers and druggists or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

SEVERE WINTER IS PREDICTED BY WEATHER SHARP

Prf. Albert F. Porta, a weather prophet living in St. Paul, Minn., makes some dire predictions concerning next winter. He says:

"Owing to a strange grouping of six mighty planets, such has has not been seen in a score of centuries, the United States next December will be swept by the most terrific weather cataclysm experienced since human history began.

"It will be caused by the hugest sun spot on record—a sun spot that will be visible to the naked eye.

"Since man first began to make records of events no sunspot has been large enough to be seen without the aid of instruments. This one will be.

"The sunspot that will appear December 17, 1919, will be a vast wound in the side of the sun.

"It will be a gigantic explosion of flaming gases, leaping hundreds of thousands of miles out into space. It will have a crater large enough to engulf the earth much as Vesuvius might engulf a football.

"Such a sunspot will be rich enough in electro-magnetic energy to fling the atmosphere of our planet into a disturbance without precedent or parallel.

"There will be hurricanes, lightning, colossal rains.

"It will be weeks before the earth will regain its normal weather conditions.

"There will also be gigantic lava eruptions, great earthquakes, to say nothing of floods and fearful cold."

"We are facing one of the most serious times the country has ever seen. We must cut our expenditures and hoard our resources or we will become financially bankrupt."

Saves Fuel and Food

The continued high cost of foodstuffs and household supplies require the strictest economy.

The most expensive foodstuffs are used in baking, so always be careful to use the right kind of Baking Powder, otherwise great waste may result.

Many thousands of people recommend

EGG-O Baking Powder

because it effects the greatest economy.

Its double action absolutely assures perfect baking at all times.

Egg-O also helps save fuel because it does not require so hot an oven as is required by other powders.

Always follow the directions*—one level teaspoonful to one level cup of well sifted flour. You use from a quarter to a half less powder when you use Egg-O.

When buying Egg-O the larger tins are the most economical size for family use.

SEVENTY-SEVEN CHILDREN CARED FOR AT THE CAMP

REPORT OF THE SEASON'S ACTIVITIES OF THE SUMMER CAMP.

The Peterborough Health Association beg to acknowledge generous donations to the summer camp from Mr. G. A. Gillespie, Mr. Wm. Hamilton, Mr. S. A. Oke; also to give a report of the camp, which was opened on July 21st, and continued to August 30th, with the exception of two rainy days. The 'bus called at each child's home with the nurse in charge and collected the children, starting at 8 a.m. and reaching the camp at between 9 and 9.30, and calling for them again and taking them home at 5 p.m.

Each morning, on arriving at camp, the children were given bread and butter and milk; at noon a hot, substantial meal, and at 4 p.m. bread and butter and milk. The children were obliged to rest one hour during the day, a large tent with clean camp beds for the purpose being provided. The rest of the time they spent playing games.

On August 9th, by the courtesy of Mr. Young of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company, the children were given a trip over the Lift Lock and through the lakes, which they enjoyed very much. There were forty-two children, ten adults, which included helpers.

The number of children received at the camp and cared for were 77. The smallest attendance was 19, on the opening day, and the largest was 35, during August.

WEEK'S BUSINESS AT LABOUR BUREAU

PETERBORO MEN JOIN WOOD CUTTING GANGS.

The Civil Re-establishment Bureau has been very busy this week. There were 65 local vacancies reported and 63 of them were filled by the Bureau. One man was placed out of town and nine were sent to the bush to recruit the wood-cutting gangs up to pre-war strength. The depletion of the wood gangs in the woods during the war has been a serious factor in the prices of furniture. Local furniture dealers report that the better grade of furniture cannot be obtained at any price from most of the factories, and that if any of it is obtained it has been bought months ago, and is sold sometimes before unpacked at advanced prices. The lower grades of furniture is not so scarce, but the demand is not so great as for the better grades. There were 78 applications for jobs at the Bureau this week.

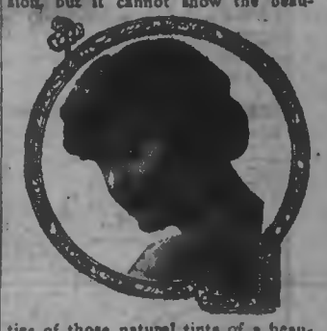
SPOTLESS COMPLEXION EASY TO HAVE Provided You Make Use of the Wonderful Calcium Sulfide in Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

The camera catches the expression, but it cannot show the beauties of those natural tints of a beautiful complexion. In fact a sweet expression is made a hundred times more enhancing when the complexion is lovely.



All you need do is to clear the skin of pimples, blotches, liver spots, blackheads, muddy complexion and skin eruptions by using Stuart's Calcium Wafers. These troubles seek the skin as one of the natural outlets of the body. And if you supply it with the proper materials it will pass off in the pores of the skin instead of ugly accumulations. Get a box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers in any drug store at 50 cents. You will then realize what it means to be prettier than your picture.

"GOING OVER THE TOP"

THE DOMINION DUSTLESS SWEEPER AN ASSURED UTILITY—OPTIMISM OF THE SHAREHOLDERS.

In the near future, it is safe to predict that the Blaney Dominion Dustless Sweeper is destined to become one of the best scientific inventions of the day, from a utilitarian standpoint.

In the present state of human affairs there generally is a hill to be climbed, especially in any good or great work. If the hands of the toilers weaken and the striving becomes disheartening, there is likely to come either delay or defeat. But to most workers who strive honestly for the highest accomplishment in whatever reform they may be engaged, there is seldom any uncertainty regarding success. If in any straits, we can be assured that, whether the appearances for the time may be, whatever hindrances, whatever "knocking" may be done, if the spirit of faith is a backer to our enterprise, and confidence remains to go forward to conquer and overcome discouragements go hand-in-hand, there will be no such thing as failure.

Some there were of our best citizens who have fancied that the Dominion Dustless Sweeper was a Utopian idea — an impractical invention — "not likely to ever amount to much." As Tennyson has it—

"Faith and unfaith can ne'er be equal powers; Unfaith in aught is want of faith in all."

And so, those of our citizens who may have been hearing or listening to the voice of pessimists regarding this street-cleaning enterprise, will be delighted to learn that—thanks to the results of good promotion work, the influence of a far-seeing management, and the wisdom and liberality of shrewd investors—this utility can now be considered as "up the hill and over the top."

Furthermore, there seems to have been no dark days experienced in floating this stock. It has simply unfolded itself, not only in a humanly, national way without any "balooning" or misrepresentation, but by sheer force of good, honest argument, truthfulness and unequivocal evidence.

To the discriminating investor, little difficulty is experienced in seeing the great necessity of healthful street cleaning. Health demands quick, thorough removal of far-flying dirt and dust. Water is the only known temporary relief, but the injury to pavements from the constant wetting has proved to be a very serious defect in this system. At present, there does not appear to be any better known system that will positively clean paved streets, and that will remove the coarse and fine dirt completely, than the Blaney system, employing the Blaney sweepers, as manufactured by the Dominion Dustless Sweeper Co., Limited.

And now, that prejudice is being removed, and extravagant conjectures overcome, company frankly admit that the [illegible] of their canvass are beyond [illegible] ectations. The real development [illegible] ne company has passed all peradventure. New shareholders are coming in, and old shareholders are prepared to increase their investments if deemed necessary.

Before the stock list is closed, those who desire to invest in this promising proposition, should lose no time in securing information from the Manager, Mr. H. M. Bishop, 560 Homewood Ave. 'Telephone 1258.

CURRIE REPLIES TO HIS ACCUSERS

RESENTS CHARGES THAT HE IS "BULLHEADED" AND UNCONCERNED ABOUT HIS MEN.

TORONTO, Sept. 27. — "That is my reply, which I entrust to my brother Masons to the charge that I am bull-headed, and do not care for the lives of my men."

Thus declared Sir Arthur Currie, Commander of the Canadian corps in France in the course of an address at Zetland Lodge, Canadian Night, when 500 Masons sat around the tables. The statement followed his production of a letter which he had written to the Fourth Army Commander advising the breaking off of the Amiens battle after it had progressed for five days. The Canadians were then the spearhead of the attack in this battle, and Sir Arthur had feared that its continuance would mean heavy losses and the initiation of offensives elsewhere

"There is one thing which will restore morale in an army or people and that is victory," he said. "It was because it was the only one able to take the ridge that the Canadian corps was withdrawn from the Lens area and sent up to Ypres." The casualties in this battle were 17,870, not 35,000, as often reported, Sir Arthur said.

TWO DRUNKS IN POLICE COURT THIS MORNING

Two dejected looking drunks decorated the furniture in Police Court this morning and answered lazily when their names were called, but they braced up when they were asked to contribute $14.10 each to the Police Court funds. They were found wallowing in a back lane near Water Street last night. Another pair of imbibers had more pep, and one took to the high road before P. C. Young arrived on the scene. The other was caught, but with a neat ankle turn, rendered the blue coat temporarily hors de combat and succeeded in escaping.

DENTAL STUDENTS MUST WAIT YEAR

College Overcrowded With Applicants Will Weed Out Seventy-five.

Seventy-five young men from Ontario who aspire to be dentists by profession must wait another year before they can begin at the Dental College. Ordinarily the college accommodates 125 first-year students, but this year 375 have made application. University officials have made room for 300, and the other 75 must wait or take a one-year pre-dental course.

To-day the elimination will take place. Those that have never taken physics or chemistry will have to go, and also a few of the younger ones, with whom a year will not count so much. Wednesday night the directors held a meeting to decide what should be done, and yesterday at noon the students gathered to discuss the situation.

Professor McLeod spoke to them on the advantages of the pre-dental course. It is used in New York, and may be used in Ontario in a few years. The medical course has been lengthened by a pre-medical course. Those that take the supplementary course will be guaranteed admittance next year at the college.

Recommends Internal Bathing for Piles and Constipation.

If people who suffer from constipation, piles and the many ills resulting from accumulated waste in the intestines would realize what the J.B.L. Cascade is doing for thousands of people who are being daily restored to perfect health by its use, there would be a J.B.L. Cascade in every Canadian home.

Mr. E. Nighswander of Green River, Ont., writes: "I purchased a J.B.L. Cascade from you about ten months ago and consider it the best money I ever invested. For years I have been troubled with constipation, ulcers in the bowels and piles, which all the money I spent on medicines and doctors only relieved temporarily. My J.B.L. Cascade has completely cured these troubles, and I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow-men to endorse the Cascade in the very highest terms. No amount of money could estimate the value it has been to me No home should be without one."

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfected invention for internal bathing. Keeps the system sweet and clean, cures constipation, headaches rheumatism and keeps you fit at all times. It is shown and explained at The Warne Drug Co.

Or him a sister's love attend:
No brother nigh to say good-bye,
Far from his native home he lies.

The blow is bitter, the loss severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
Our loss is great, we'll not complain
But hope in heaven to meet again.

Grieve not dear mother, but be content,
For I to you was only lent;
For love I lived for my country I died
You asked my Life, but 'twas denied.

And freedom shall awhile repair
To dwell a weeping hermit there."

HEFFERNAN.—In memory of our dear brother, Corp. Frank Heffernan, who was killed in action at Cambrai on Sept. 28, 1918, after spending over three years in France.
He was a valiant soldier of the West,
Who left his home when call for men was great;
Nor had he time or leave—Oh cruel fate:
To seek a mother's kiss, that gift so blest;
Nor scenes of Eastern home where joy and rest,
Endearing childhood's happy hours relate.

Now sleeps in France beneath an oaken cross,
"Who fell with the fall of the leaf and the year,"
And Cambrai is the word which echoes loss,
To those who loved his smile and words of cheer.
We'll not forget your sacrifice of love,
Consoling, sacred, perfect, dear one above.
—A Sister.

PACKERS ORDERED LOWER PRICE OF PORK PRODUCTS

CONSUMER HAS NOT YET RECEIVED ANY BENEFIT FROM REDUCTION IN PRICE OF LIVE HOGS.

AFTER PORK BARONS

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—The Board of Commerce to-day issued an order directing the owners of packing houses to sell to retailers pork and pork products at substantially the same prices as prevailed on March 10 last. The reduction in retail prices, which follows automatically, will amount from three to eight cents a pound. Lard drops fifteen cents in price. The order also directs that from the date of its issue all retailers who do not sell at a reasonable price in relation to cost will be deemed guilty of profiteering and subject to punishment under the Act, constituting the Board. Col. Price, representing the Federal Department of Justice, stated to-day that the consumer had not received any benefit from the reduction in price of live hogs, and the inference was that the packers had retained this reduction as profit.

Effective Next Month.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—Definite action to reduce the price of bacon and other products of the hog was taken to-day by the Board of Commerce, at present sitting here, when an order was issued that from and after October 15 next, pork and hog products sold for consumption in Canada by Canadian packing houses and other producers shall be sold at prices practically the same as those which prevailed on March 10 of this year.

The Board further orders that prices of such products shall be still further reduced if conditions warrant it, and an intimation was given that the Board will keep the industry under close surveillance to make further orders along this line if found necessary.

Hon. Dr. Cody's iew.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—At noon to-day Hon. Dr. Cody, Minister of Education, said he knew nothing of any engagement to speak in North Waterloo in the interests of C. H. Mills, the Conservative candidate, who says he is opposed to the O.T.A., nor did he expect to go into the riding. That was not because of Mr. Mills' attitude on any question before the electors. The people would settle the temperance question for themselves. "I suppose," he said, "Mr. Mills is entitled to his own views as a citizen."

ITALY WANTS TO RETAIN FIUME

ITALY'S DESIRES EXPRESSED BY VOTE IN CHAMBER OF DEPUTITIES.

By Camil Cianatara.
(Untied Press.)

ROME, Sept 29.—Italy, as represented by the Chamber of Deputies, officially placed herself on record to-day as urging that Fiume be incorporated within the national boundary. Voting by acclamation in last night's session, the Chamber unanimously affirmed that Fiume should be granted to Italy. Confidence in the Government's ability to obtain Italy's desires was expressed by a vote of 208 to 148, ten of the deputies not voting

SECOND WEEK OF STEEL STRIKE

BETHLEHEM STEEL COMPANY EMPLOYEES JOIN THE STRIKERS.

(United Press.)

PITTSBURG, Sept. 29.—The dawn of the second week of the steel strike brought what operators and labour leaders termed the crisis of the gigantic industrial struggle. Both sides were marshalling their forces for the admittedly crucial day. Early reports from the mills in the steel city district indicated a favourable increase in man power. Labor leaders were confident, however, that evidence of their real strength will be felt to-day when employees of Jones and Laughlin and the Bethlehem Co. answered the new strike call

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 29.—Approximately fifteen per cent. of the employees of the Bethlehem Steel Co. at South Bethlehem failed to report for work this morning, it is estimated by police authorities. The strikers made no estimate early to-day. There was no disorder.

STEELTON, Pa., Sept. 29.—Hundreds of workers at the Bethlehem Co.'s plant here reported for work here this morning in the face of the strike order issued.

Refused to Strike.

(United Press.)

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29.— The six thousand workers of the Bethlehem Steel Co. at Sparrows Point, refused to strike. The night force was on duty last night, while day shifts reported at the usual time to-day. The old wage scale agreement between shipworkers of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation and the United States' Shipping Board will end to-morrow. The workers have asked for more money and shorter hours.

Losing Ground.

The steel workers' attempt to extend the nation-wide strike to the Bethlehem Steel Co. apparently failed to-day. Reports indicated that in most of the Bethlehem mills the response was so limited that production will be little affected. In South Bethlehem, Pa., less than 20 p.c. of the men failed to report this morning, it was said. At Steelton and Tituaville, Pa., practically a full force was reported. Employees of the Sparrows Point, Mld., plant, voted overwhelmingly yesterday against joining the strike, and the plant was in operation to-day. Aside from the apparent initial failure of the Bethlehem strike the steel workers appeared to be losing ground in their fight for Unionization of the United States' Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries. In the all important district, reports indicated an increasing number of men returning to work. The Carnegie Steel Co. was particularly optimistic. The situation in the Ohio mills and the Gary areas showed little change. Announcement was made at the White House to-day that the round table "industrial, which expected to take up the steel strike will be held Oct. 6, despite President Wilson's illness."

NATIONALISTS DISAPPEARING

HENRI BOURASSA RETIRES FROM PUBLIC LIFE FOR ONE YEAR—HAIR IS WHITE.

Special to the Examiner:

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—It would appear from news received here that a once prominent and spectacular figure in Canadian politics has retired definitely to a quieter sphere of life. It is stated that Henri Bourassa, the originator of the Nationalist movement, and for many years the stormy petrel of Quebec politics, has taken a year's leave of absence from his paper, "Le-Devoir," and has retired to a monastery in Montreal, there to take a novena, with the probable ultimate purpose of entering the priesthood. It has been a matter of a general knowledge that the serious illness of Madame Bourassa diverted the attention of the former Nationalist leader from political affairs, that since her death recently his life has been that of a recluse. His once raven hair and beard are now almost white, and the once fiercy orator has been changed to a quiet and brooding man, who seeks consolation frequently in the sacraments of the Church. Mr. Bourassa has frequently before taken a retreat and a novena, but to-day it is said that his purpose is to devote the rest of his life to Church affairs. He has several children. To all intents and purposes the old Nationalist party is a thing of the past. Armand Lavergne, former first lieutenant of the "Master," is now without either a leader or a party. He has, however, intimated his intention of contesting East Quebec in the forthcoming bye-election on October 27th.

WILLIAM IVENS IN ST. CATHARINES

WAS REFUSED PERMISSION TO SPEAK IN THEATRES—CHAIRMAN SURPRISED.

Special to the Examiner:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 29.—The former Methodist minister, Rev. Wm. Ivens, who directed the Winnipeg strike, spoke before a meeting here last night on behalf of the Winnipeg strike leaders charged with various offences. Ivens said he was refused all the theatres in the city, and finally got permission to speak in the Grand Army of Canada Hall. F. H. Avery, a merchant, who presided, said the developments of the past few hours caused him to wonder whether they were living under a Prussian or a British Government. Ivens promised to address a big mass meeting to-night if he is allowed to speak. He stated that one man was arrested in Winnipeg, against whom no charge had been registered. To-night he promised to give a complete history of the strike. He stated that if he had been dictator of Winnipeg for three days or had tried to form a Sovier Government, he knew nothing of it himself. He said he held no office. His Church had asked his resignation because he sided in with the strikers, but as he believed he had a call from God to preach, and was not governed by man, this had deterred him and he preached on the streets. The Winnipeg Labour Church, he says, has a great membership with ten different branches. Policemen were in the hall last night.

Labour Pledges Support to Hearst

TRIED TO HANG MAYOR OF OMAHA

NEW FORM OF PASTIME DEVELOPED IN THE STATES.

(Canadian Press.)

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 29.—After night of mob rule, during which a negro was lynched, an attempt made to hang the Mayor of Omaha, Edward P. Smith, the County Court House burned, one man shot and killed, and perhaps forty others injured, the city was quiet to-day under the patrol of Federal troops from Fort Crock and Fort Omaha. The Mayor is at the hospital and was still unconscious early to-day as a result of the attempt made by the mob to hang him to a trolley pole because he advised against the lynching of William Brown, a negro who was in the county jail charged with attacking a white girl on the outskirts of the city early last week.

HEARST PLATFORM IS ACCEPTABLE TO THE LABOUR INTERESTS—LABOUR CANDIDATES WILL RETIRE.

SITUATION IN OTTAWA

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—Withdrawal of Labour's candidates from all constituencies in Ontario where Hearst candidates have a chance of election, and the tacit support by Labour of those who follow Hearst is the sensation tossed into the political arena last night. This comes as a direct result of the Labour Congress in Hamilton last week, when the platform of Sir Wm. Hearst was the topic of several meetings of Ontario Labour delegates. While only some of the delegates are here from Hamilton as yet and no official pronouncement on this momentous decision can be secured, it was stated on the very best of authority that the Ontario Labour leaders had decided:

"That the government of Sir William Hearst, had placed before the electors a platform containing a measure of fair treatment for the workers that was all that could be desired by Labour itself, and that, in view of this out and out stand for the people no Labour forces would work against the Hearst government candidates in any constituency.

"That wherever a straight Hearst candidate pledges himself honestly to support the people by carrying out the platform of Sir William Hearst, Labour will endorse the Hearst candidate, not officially and in the records, but by its work.."

AN INDEPENDENT.

That something of this kind has been in the wind for several days was quite well known in various circles in Ottawa, but the absence of the big Labour men at the Congress made it impossible to have the rumour properly certified. The withdrawal of the Labour candidate in East and West Ottawa makes those ridings difficult of retention by the present members of the Legislative Assembly is the general belief. Mr. Hamnett P. Hill, who will be selected at the official convention to-morrow night as the Unionist Party candidate has already pledged whole-hearted support to the Labour platform, which has been largely embodied in the Hearst platform. In East Ottawa, Controller Nap Champagne is going to run as an Independent Conservative. He does not want the Unionist Association endorsement, desiring to be a free agent in the House, but it is believed that if he will pledge himself absolutely to the Hearst programme and accept the endorsement of his party organization, he will get the endorsement of Labour. This startling change in the aspect of the political situation, coming as it does just three weeks from the time of the elections, has left the parties in the various constituencies rather breathless.

Labour has been preparing for some time to make its force felt at the polls, and it is pretty well assured that this is the first gun in the biggest labour campaign that has been evolved since the finish of the unlamented death of the misguided One Big Union.

To-night will settle the attitude of labour in Ottawa. A meeting has been called to decide whether to nominate candidates and to make selections in the event of contests being decided upon. If it is decided to do battle in the east riding, J. Lafortune will be considered as a candidate. He is said to stand a good chance, as he could fight Controller Champagne on all points, including that of race.

UNVEILING OF THE MEMORIAL SHIELD

FIVE MEMBERS OF ST. LUKE'S SUNDAY SCHOOL WHO FELL IN THE WAR.

At the conclusion of the Sunday school yesterday at St. Luke's church the shield presented by the Mission Society of the Church of England in Canada, in acknowledgment of the $100 Victory Bond to which the Sunday school scholars contributed during the winter, and which shield was dedicated at the Harvest Thanksgiving last Thursday, was unveiled by Miss Eva Patterson, president of the Girls' Bible Class of St. Luke's. Rev. Walter White rector of St. Luke's, in a short address, explained how the memorial had been presented, and showed pictures on the screen of the five hero members of St. Luke's Sunday school who fell in war. The names inscribed on silver maple leaves on the oak shield are: Sergt. Howard Curtis, M.M., Corporal Bert Carpenter, Gunner Percy Neil, Pte. Merton Adams and Pte. Fred Legon. The service was conducted by special prayers and Thanksgivings and the singing of Soldiers of Christ and the National Anthem.

CHANGE IN STORE HOURS

Beginning next Wednesday, October 1st, and continuing throughout the winter months, ELLIOT'S STORE will open and close a half hour later, making the store hours from 9 to 6 daily and from 9 to 9.30 p.m. on Saturdays. This has been decided upon in view of the fact that customers have complained during the last few months that the early closing does not give them sufficient time to complete their shopping and also the half hour later opening in the morning will be more agreeable and pleasant for the sales staff in the cold wintry days of the next few months.

THE COMPLETENESS OF THE GOVERNMENT'S PLANS SURPRISED THE STRIKERS—LONDON IS ON RATIONS AND RIGID WAR-TIME ECONOMY IS BEING ENFORCED—FIRST BATTLE SQUADRON HAS BEEN ORDERED TO PROCEED FROM SCARBOROUGH TO THE THAMES—NAVAL STOKERS AND ENGINEERS WILL SUPPLY A LIMITED SERVICE

SECRETARY OF RAILWAYMEN'S UNION DECLARES THERE IS NO HOPE OF BREAKING THE STRIKE

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 29 (by Ed. L. Keen).—Great Britain—a nation without transportation—expected to-day that the next forty-eight hours would prove the most intricate period of the railway strike. To-day and to-morrow, it was believed, would show whether the walk-out would be broken soon or whether the nation would have to face a long siege.

While all the strikers readily accepted the opportunity for a week-end holiday, it was believed to-day that many of them were becoming disheartened over the public hostility, and were likely to resume work. The Government promised limited service on the railways to-day. It was said that naval stokers and engineers will be utilised in this effort. The depots at Portsmouth and Chatham were the scenes of the liveliest activity, and the First Battle Squadron has been ordered to proceed from Scarborough to the Thames.

The completeness of the Government plans has surprised the strikers. The most disquieting feature of the situation to-day was the possibility of a sympathetic strike by the Transport Federation, which will meet to-day. It is feared that action may be taken to join the Dock Workers' Union in a general walk-out. The Seamen's and Firemen's Union, voting against a strike, has declared that it will remain loyal to the nation, and defeat the machinations of the Bolsheviki and hotheads of the industrial world.

The traffic situation was unchanged to-day pending the Government's attempt to operate the train service. Travel remained as difficult as when the strike began. Arrangements for the distribution of food are proceeding smoothly, an official statement issued from Downing Street declared.

It was stated that immediate use will be made of offers of service which were pouring in from all quarters.

J. H. Thomas, secretary of the Railway Union, declared that conditions will be worse to-day and every subsequent day. The Government need have no hope of breaking the strike by army divisions of cowardice. He said the strike could be settled in an hour if the Government granted to the other grades of railway workers the same concessions of principle made to the drivers and firemen.

London is like a city in a state of siege—besieged by a section of its own population. The full extent of the strike is gradually sinking into the minds of the people and affecting every person in one way or another. The economy machinery of wartime has been revived. Rigid war rations are imposed as strictly as when the Channel ports were threatened, and last night London groped about in wartime darkness. All unnecessary illumination was suspended. Coal dealers were notified that their sales must be rationed.

The general strike situation is improving, and the Government measures are working satisfactorily, it was announced in an official statement from Downing Street to-day.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—Improvement in the situation created by the general strike on the British railways was announced in official quarters this morning. The distribution of food was being carried out without friction, and volunteer help was being freely offered, it was stated.

Premier Lloyd-George, Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister of National Service and Reconstruction, and Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, Minister of Labour, were in conference throughout the forenoon to-day, while the strike committees were also in constant session.

James Henry Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, declared at noon that there were no new facts in the situation.

NOT MAKING ANY EFFORT TO GET TOGETHER.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—There were no surface indications early in the day that the Government and the railroad men were making any effort to get together to settle the strike, nor was there anything to indicate that the strike would immediately spread to the miners or transport workers. The labour leaders say they are unwilling to call out the miners or transport workers unless there is urgent need of their assistance, which the labour men declare is unnecessary at present. The stoppage of transportation, however, is automatically throwing thousands of miners out of work and causing the closing down of the pits.

ONE MOTOR LORRY COLUMN A MILE LONG.

While nearly every railroad in the United Kingdom is making some effort to run trains, the railway tie-up as nearly approaches completeness as the most ardent union man could hope. Meanwhile the Government, by inaugurating a system of motor lorry transportation, planned in detail during the war in case of a German invasion, is supplying the city with milk, and promises to keep a steady stream of food pouring into the large centres.

One motor lorry column a mile long brought food into London from the West to-day. The London buses and tramcars are still operating, but with the Subway shut down, their facilities are inadequate to accommodate the crowds.

The London business houses were again undermanned to-day through the inability of the workers to reach the city. The only relief for the city from the trials of improvised urban transportation system was the good weather which prevailed.

"CRISIS IS DEEPER THAN A MERE STRIKE."

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—The Government's efforts to operate a skeleton service were partially successful to-day on both the local and long-distance lines. The trains were manned by volunteers and loyal employees who are not members of the Union. The boat train running from London to Folkestone departed on time. The London and South-Western road is running electric trains to the suburban district south of the Thames, maintaining a half-hour service. The trains are operated by Union men who refused to strike.

The Government is worrying most over the food situation, realising that it must feed the people if their morale is to be maintained.

The strike's effects on industry are spreading. Scores of mills in the great Midlands industrial region are closing, and goods are piling high on the docks at the various seaports. The conviction is

RED ROSE WAR MEMORIAL.

Lancastrian Scheme For the Benefit of ex-Soldiers and Sailors.

Westfield Memorial Village at Lancaster is an endeavor to carry out in a practical way the "Imperial obligation" set out in Mr. T. H. Hawson's book bearing that title, namely, the duty of the country to its disable sailors and soldiers. Mr. Mawson has designed the village, and has been very largely the moving spirit in the scheme.

Westfield, the site of the new memorial village, is a beautiful house, with extensive grounds in Lancaster, within five minutes' walk of the town hall. Mr. H. L. Storey, eldest son of the late Sir Thomas Storey, and his brothers and sister have given Westfield House and estate, and Mr. Hawson has laid it out as a model village, which, in addition to providing accommodation for disabled service men, will be an object-lesson in town planning. Mr. Storey has also agreed to provide on the estate a small ornamental park, bowling green, bandstand, tennis courts, etc., and the public are expected to provide cottages, hostels, workshops, etc., as memorials to those who have fallen and as thank-offerings.

The village is designed to accommodate 200 men, and the proposal is to provide a hundred cottages (for married men with families), and three or four hostels for unmarried men. At present the mansion as it stands will be used as a hostel, but eventually, when the new buildings are erected, the house will be used as reading room, billiard room, club house, concert room, etc. A Lord Roberts workshop is to be erected on the estate, and there will be other workshops at which goods will be made by disabled men. In addition there are to be workshops and studios for craftsmen, designers and artists. It is proposed that various architects shall be employed, so as to give "variety in unity" in the erection of houses, hostels, workshops, and other buildings.

The design shows a grand avenue, facing on to Lancaster Castle and parish church at one end and on to a new church to be built at the other, and the corporation will construct a new road connecting the village and the district in which it is situated with the town. The village is intended to be a memorial to the Lancaster men of all regiments, and of Lancaster sailors, and service men of all kinds, who have fallen in the war.

NEVER KNEW THERE HAD BEEN A WAR

Though she lived within a few yards of the Coldstream Guards' Barracks, at Windsor, Mrs. Hannah Deadman, of Helena-road, who has just died, never knew that there had been a war. She was 92 years of age, blind, and partially deaf. Although she used to remark on the increased cost of living, and frequently asked questions as to the absence of her grandsons, who were serving, the secret was kept from her to the end.

BURGLARS VERY ACTIVE IN LINDSAY

DETECTIVE GREER AND CONSTABLE WOODS FOLLOW CLUE TO BOBCAYGEON WITHOUT RESULT—SUSPICION THAT BURGLARS ARE NATIVES OF LINDSAY.

A daring robbery was committed on Thursday night last in Lindsay, when the home of Miss Bridget O'Boyle was entered, and the sum of $90 removed.

Suspicion points to the same burglars who entered Armstrong's store, Richards' barber shop, and who tried to enter Gregory's drug store, as the same sized jemmy was used in the three cases.

Miss O'Boyle was alone in the house at the time, and as she is hard of hearing, she did not know that the house had been entered until the following morning. The door had been forced open with a jemmy.

In the meantime Detective Greer and Constable Woods worked all Wednesday afternoon in the East Ward, chasing clues. They received information that the two young men, one of them carrying a suit case, and the other one wearing a blue sweater coat similar to the one stolen from Armstrong's store, had been seen in the vicinity of the C. P. R. Station.

During the afternoon they were also told by one woman that she had seen the two suspects, and it was thought that they must have left town by the Bobcaygeon Road. A visit was made to Bobcaygeon, but with no result, and Detective Greer returned to the city.

It is now assumed that the young men doubled back on their tracks and entered town again by the Downeyville Road, entering the house of Miss O'Boyle and stealing away again.—Lindsay Warder.

TEACHER SHORTAGE 38,000

WASHINGTON, — The public schools of the nation began the new school year with a shortage of approximately 38,000 teachers. This estimate was made to-day by the National Education Association on the basis of questionnaires sent to 3,465 district and county school Superintendents in all States.

To meet the acute shortage, due in large part, Commissioner of Education Claxton, has said, to the low salaries paid, it is estimated that approximately 65,000 teachers were employed who were below the standard requirments in the school districts.

RED TRIANGLE DRIVE

FOR

$7,500

This Sum is Peterboro's Contribution to a Fund that is being used for the purpose of assisting in keeping the

RED TRIANGLE ORGANIZATION RUNNING UNTIL APRIL FIRST NEXT

This whole system is of inestimable value to the Boys who have been overseas, in the large centres in which it operates.

THIS IS SOME OF THE WORK ACCOMPLISHED:

THE GREAT WORK CONDUCTED for "Our Boys," "Over There" and in looking after the comfort in England before sailing home, as well as on the troopships, and later on the troop trains and in the demobilisation centres and military hospitals in Canada, will be completed by APRIL 1ST, 1920. In the meantime Money—considerable of it, although not as much as before—is required to carry the work to a successful conclusion. Peterborough's share is only $7,500. This is mostly for the NATIONAL RED TRIANGLE FUND, but it includes an allowance that was set aside to place our local Y.M.C.A. in first-class shape to look after the needs of over 200 Returned Men who are now using the building almost daily. Every Y.M.C.A. in Canada—including our Peterborough Association—has given its local returned men a Six Months' Full Membership Ticket Free of Charge, and tens of thousands of them are using these privileges. We want the men to know and feel that we are glad to have them back home with us.

THE LIVES OF THE BOYS AND YOUNG MEN of this Country must be conserved. Their bodies must be healthy, their minds clean and active.

The Local Y.M.C.A. is a medium that assists any community greatly to get these results.

SUPPORT THE RED TRIANGLE DRIVE TO-MORROW AND THE DAY AFTER to the very best of your financial ability, and you will be contributing to a Fund that will give as big dividends to your country as any investment you have ever made for it.

Do the very best you can—it will be appreciated.

A STORY WITH A MORAL

Here is a little story that may help some of those who are conscientiously worrying over the proper way to vote on the four questions on the referenum ballot to come to a decision. The incident has the merit of being perfectly true and the story is not without its moral for those who will seek it.

A former wine clerk in Peterboro, who still wears a white apron and stands behind a bar, but who dispenses ginger beer and "two per cent." instead of the more potent brews of before 1916 days, was talking to an Examiner representative about the referendum.

"I don't want to see liquor back in the bars," he declared, "but if it does come I'm going to run a garage."

"Why a garage" queried the puzzled newspaperman.

"Well, they smash up a car occasionally now," was the reply, "but imagine what it would be like if the bars were running as they used to be."

The scribe saw the point. A vision of the roads thick with motor cars driven by men more or less under the influence of the beverages that used to be sold over the bar brought a quick realization of the reasoning used by the former wine clerk in deciding upon a garage as a most profitable investment with the old conditions restored.

The incident is published as furnishing a new angle to the referendum problem. There is at least food for thought in the story.

MAKING IT CLEAR.

"If question one on the referendum ballot is marked "yes" by a majority of voters, Ontario will return to the wide open bar and liquor store, just as it was before 1916. And if anyone is quoting me as saying anything different, then they are quoting me wrongly."

This emphatic declaration made by Sir William Hearst last week should put an end to the campaign of those opposed to the Ontario Temperance Act to deceive the people. The Citizens' Liberty League, for instance, continues to announce that it is opposed to the return of the open bar, and yet every advertisement of the League winds up with the advice to vote "yes" on all four questions. In the face of the Premier's words as quoted above, it is impossible for anyone who is conscientiously opposed to a revival of the old conditions to vote "yes" on the first question, and any person or any organization that pretends to be against the return of the bar, and yet advises an affirmative vote on question one, is deliberately endeavouring to mislead the electors.

There are many people who are studying the liquor question seriously and who are trying to decide which policy will be the best for Ontario. Some of them may come to the conclusion that the sale of beer should be permitted, and wish to vote for that policy. They have no desire for the sale of liquor over the bar—are utterly opposed to the old system There are others who may decide in favor of government shops, and who are equally against a revival of the bar system. These two classes that the Liberty League is particularly endeavouring to delude by repeatedly urging upon them that it is necessary to vote "yes" on the first question, and repeal the Ontario Temperance Act in order that the particular system that they desire shall be put in force. "We're against the open bar way ourselves," declares the Liberty League, "so let us vote this Ontario Temperance Act out of business and then we will be able to get the beer of the ballot in government shops, or whatever we want. Nobody wants the bars back but we do want the other way."

That is a very ingenious argument, but to knock the props out from in under it, it is only necessary to point out that if the first question is answered in the affirmative, and the Ontario Temperance Act is repealed, then "Ontario will return to the wide open bar and liquor store, just as it was before 1916," to quote Premier Hearst. If you want the "beer of the ballot" and don't want the open bar, you must vote "no" on the first question, the Liberty League advertisements notwithstanding.

THE Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN.

The hearty support of the citizens generally is urged in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. Red Triangle Drive which commences to-morrow, and will be carried over to Wednesday. Peterboro is asked to subscribe $7,500, the money to be partly devoted to the Y.M.C.A. military work, and partly to the work at home—both of which are of great importance, and worthy of generous aid from the people of Peterboro. Of the Y.M.C.A. war work it is scarcely necessary to speak at this late date. Everybody has learned the story of how the Red Triangle helped the Canadian soldier throughout all the phases of his military life, from his first days in the training camp until he returned from overseas. And the Y.M.C.A. has not deserted the boys since they came back for every returned soldier is given six months free privileges at any branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Canada. There are 200 returned soldiers who are members of the Peterboro branch, and the fund which is to be collected this week will help to take care of these boys—a sufficient reason in itself for generously subscribing. Another important reason is that Peterboro owes a debt of honour to the Y.M.C.A., inasmuch as the city did not contribute its share to the Y.M.C.A. work when the general Red Triangle Drive was held last week. The local campaign was postponed in order that the Great War Veterans' canvas should have a clear field; so that Peterboro is now being asked to liquidate a debt that fell due many months ago. The city has never yet failed to make good when put to the test, and on this occasion, as with the other appeals that have been made here in the past, there is every reason to expect that the Red Triangle drive will culminate in a triumphal success. The merit of the cause is beyond dispute; the citizens should therefore make the work of the canvassers easy.

FIRE PREVENTION.

Canada's fire losses have, in the past few years, been so great and the majority of the fires have so patently been due to preventable causes that the people should heartily welcome the establishment of a Fire Prevention day, and should co-operate with the authorities in their endeavour to demonstrate the need of greater care and precaution. October 9th is the date selected this year and it is expected that the occasion will be suitably observed in the schools, where an educative campaign among the children is to be undertaken while the public generally is urged to assist.

The necessity for education along fire prevention lines is evidenced by the fact that the amount of the average annual loss of property by fire in Canada exceeds twenty million dollars, the loss for last year reaching a figure in excess of thirty million dollars. Seventy-five per cent. of these fires, it is said, could have been prevented by reasonable care on the part of individual citizens.

To give point to the observance of Fire Protection Day, the Dominion Government has issued a proclamation which recommends the following:

1. That all dewelling and their surroundings be carefully inspected by their occupants and all conditions likely to cause or promote the spread of fires removed.

2. That all public buildings, stores and factories be inspected and cleared of rubbish.

3. That fire drills be held for the children in all schools and for employees in all large stores and factories.

4. That special instruction on the subject of fire prevention be given by the teacher and by municipal officials in the schools and that such appropriate literature as may be made available be distributed to the pupils.

5. That legislation and regulations encated or issued by Dominion, provincial or municipal authorities dealing with fire prevention be given publicity by the municipal officials, and that by public meetings or otherwise as may to them seem fit, they endeavour to impress upon the citizens the national importance of safeguarding life and property from loss of fire.

AFTER THE WAR—A CENTURY AGO.

Statesmen and students of history will find it interesting and profitable to compare the conditions of the present day with those following the Napoleonic wars. The cases are not precisely alike, but warnings and suggestions may be drawn from the comparison. In the earlier period British manufactures and commerce had flourished during the war, and it was supposed that the condition would be continued, and that the continent of Europe would be eager to buy British goods. This expectation was not fulfilled. The continent was exhausted by war. The people had the greatest difficulty in maintaining life, and had not money to spare for anything but absolute necessaries. "The merchants of our country," says Harriet Martineau, "—the nation in general—had been so accustomed to the outward indications of prosperity at home during the course of the war that they had no idea that war was the great destroyer of capital, and that it essentially left all mankind poorer." The old "mercantile school" thought that the perfection of commerce was to exchange goods for money. But the continent had no money to exchange for English goods, and Great Briain, then under a protective tariff, would not buy what the continent had to sell.

The United States to-day is having a somewhat similar experience. The continent of Europe has need for American products, but has not the money to pay for them except in the form of depreciated currency; and the Saturday Evening Post the other day said that the United States could not go on indefinitely sending wheat, cotton, leather, and copper to Europe, and getting back only paper. The debt must ultimately be paid in goods.

Then as now radical movements followed the war. A French writer says: "The convention of 1815 had hardly been signed before England saw a formidable conspiracy of radicalism spring up in her bosom." Paupers, increasing in numbers as they went from parish to parish, spread desolation wider and wider. Discharged sailors and soldiers "swelled the ranks of indigence." In those days soldiers were shamefully neglected; we may congratulate ourselves upon a certain improvement in that respect. The wealthier classes endeavoured to meet the distress by alms-giving and the creation of useless employment. A soup-kitchen at Glasgow was the scene of a riot in which the kitchen and its equipment were destroyed.

William Cobbett, though denounced as a radical incendiary, was an advocate, not of violence, but of political action. The Government made the mistake of denouncing the agitation for political reform as seditious. Cobbett said that the country, instead of being disturbed or irritated by the agitation for reform, was kept by the hope of reform in a state of tranquility wholly unparalleled in the history of the world. But at Dundee, where political agitation had been discouraged, violence had broken forth and houses were plundered, "and this, too, among the sober, the sedate, the reflecting, the prudent, the moral people of Scotland." Samuel Bamford, another reformer of htat day, says:

"It was not until we became infested by spies, incendiaries, and their dupes— distracting, misleading, betraying—that physical force was mentioned against us. After that our moral power waned; and what we gained by the accession of demagogues we lost by their criminal violence, and the estrangement of real friends."

Some of the incendiaries were honest though misguided men, but one man who was engaged by the Government as a spy deliberately incited others to violence in order to make out a good case for prosecution. The Government itself was far from being free from blame. It persisted in trying to fix the reproach of sedition upon all reformers. "The Government," says Miss Martineau, "took the fearful course of sowing distrust of the poor amongst the rich. The demagogues did their own counter-work of exciting hatred of the rich amongst the poor. It was a season of reciprocal distrust. 'Divide and govern' may be a safe maxim for subduing a faction; it is the most perilous principle for ruling a nation."—Toronto Star Weekly.

QUESTION OF SCHOOL ACCOMMODATION

Dear Sir:—The letter from Mr. F. H. Dobbin in Friday's issue of the Examiner was very interesting, particularly the part referring to May's School.

While giving credit to Mr. Dobbin for his deep thought in school and public questions generally, I believe in this case he has not taken the right view on the question of School accommodation for this district. At the present time May's School is serving a very extensive section, and while being comfortably filled is not overcrowded.

Brownton or Byersville district has grown rapidly in the past and will do so again as soon as building becomes general. When this time arrives, more accommodation will be required. Anticipating that this district will eventually be absorbed by the city, I think the Board of Education has chosen an ideal location for the new school. The children from Brownton will be as near the new school as they are to May's School which does away with Mr. Dobbin's argument, that claims an extension for Mays' School on the ground of convenience. The children from Claraday district south of the Exhibition grounds, would be better served by attending King Edward School. Here you might say King Edward is already filled to capacity. Again the new school comes to the rescue. Take off from King Edward, the district comprising Chamberlain street, Albert street, and Monaghan Road, and tack them on to the new school. This would relieve King Edward and in few cases would the distance to the new school exceed that to King Edward.

Having disposed of the Brownton and Claraday districts, there is still the Hurlyville settlement and the district south of Lansdowne, West of Monaghan Road to the river. These two districts are liable to grow rapidly. The extension of the street railway to Crawford's Grove would facilitate this growth. May's School would provide accommodation for these districts for a good many years without any additions. If a union with the city was made there would have to be provision made for the children from the farming districts: these don't exceed 15 per cent. of the present attendance, but would have to be taken care of nevertheless.

The whole question is worthy of careful study, and I cannot conceive that the Board of Education would commit the City to such vast expenditure without first giving the question of present and immediate future requirements their due consideration.

The cost of the school is not the subject of my letter, but the redistribution of school areas that would have to take place in the event of a union being formed.

Yours Respectfully,
T. GLOVER,
Chairman,
May's School Board.

Montclair Health Officer Warns Against Spread of Disease.

MONTCLAIR, N. J.—"Don't shake every paw that is extended to you," says Health Officer John Gaub in a bulletin which he has issued warning the people of this town of the danger that attends indiscriminate handshaking. Mr. Gaub said the intensive political campaign which is coming to a close was not the inspiration of his warning. "The clean hand habit is a good one, and should be adopted by all," says the bulletin, "for it means much in promoting community health, due to the fact that the human hand has been shown to be the medium through which many diseases have been spread. Handshaking is almost universal, and while it stands for friendliness and sociability, it has its dangers. Medical men are agreed that the infection of influenza is often conveyed in this way."

The Promoter's Wife

BY JANE PHELPS

NEAL LAUGH'S AT BARBARA'S FEARS.

CHAPTER LXXVIII.

After dinner Neil announced that he had intended to go down town, really should meet some men at the club, but he was so tired they could get along without him. I was delighted. He was at home so little, we had so few of the long quiet evenings together which to me meant so much.

We talked of his aunt's approaching visit, of our boy, his cunning ways, and what we hoped to do for him. It was a never failing source of pleasure for Neil to plan the education of his small son. Then after a while I introduced the subject I knew would be distasteful to him.

"Neil we MUST talk things out. I shall be sick if you put me off any longer. I haven't had a decent night's sleep for a week. Won't you explain things to me—your business, so I can refute the stories about you?"

"See here Bab, you wouldn't understand if I tried to explain. And really there is nothing to tell you. Everything is going along all right."

"I know it is as far as money goes, Neil dear. But won't you stop associating with these cheap common men whom you go to Blanche Orton's with, and whom her servants talk of as being so common and cheap in their actions." I had no intention of telling him anything I had heard through Mr. Frederick, I had mentioned he had called, that was all.

"What a lot of cats women are! I thought Lorraine Norton was above gossiping. If some of your other friends had brought you that yarn I should not have been surprised. You wouldn't have my business friends here — I had to entertain them somewhere. And"—

"Bring them here now, Neil! I'll do my best to make it pleasant for them—and you." I said impulsively. I had no idea of making such a proposition when I commenced to talk.

"Not on your life!" he quickly replied, then flushed. I knew he was thinking of those women Mr. Frederick had spoken of, and that he knew he could not bring them to meet me."

"But why?"

"Lots of reasons. We will not discuss them please. It will not be necessary to entertain them as frequently after a bit. We have this deal nearly finished. I shall take a vacation from work for a while, although I have to stay in town."

"Is it true, Neil, that you sell stock in mines and things when you haven't any mines to sell, and that you give pretty engraved certificates for the money people entrust to you — and nothing else? Is it true that we are living upon the money of widows and orphans who have trusted you? Be honest with me Neil. I can bear anything, will help you all I can; but tell me what all this talk about your crooked business method means?" I had gone on desperately, not daring to look my husband in the face while I questioned his honesty. For that was what I was doing: questioning the honesty of my boy's father.

"Now see here Barbara! I may have done some things that old fogies like Powers call 'crooked.' But they aren't up in modern business methods. I don't MAKE anyone give me money. I give them stock with the understanding that there is a risk; it may turn out well, probably will. But they all understand, or ought to, that they are taking a chance. I wish you would not butt into my affairs. You have enough to do to run the house and take care of the boy."

"I read about that promoter—his name was Carter, the other day. They have arrested him because he sold oil wells, stock in them when he didn't even own the land. It has frightened me terribly, Neil." I would not plead with him to do right just because it was right, and because I believed in him—not yet. I would try other things first.

"The cases are not similar at all. My deals are all right." Yet even as he answered, he flushed painfully.

"We have been extravagant, Neil. I know we haven't run any bills you don't intend to pay; but there are a lot of them, some of them for big amounts. Can't we economize a little?"

"And give people the right to think I am hard up! I guess not. Now see here Bab. You attend to your own affairs, and give me the same privilege. I shall forget that I have a sweet, pretty wife soon, and think only that I have a meddlesome person named Bab who won't mind her own business." He kissed me, laughing, then changed the subject. Again I had accomplished absolutely nothing.

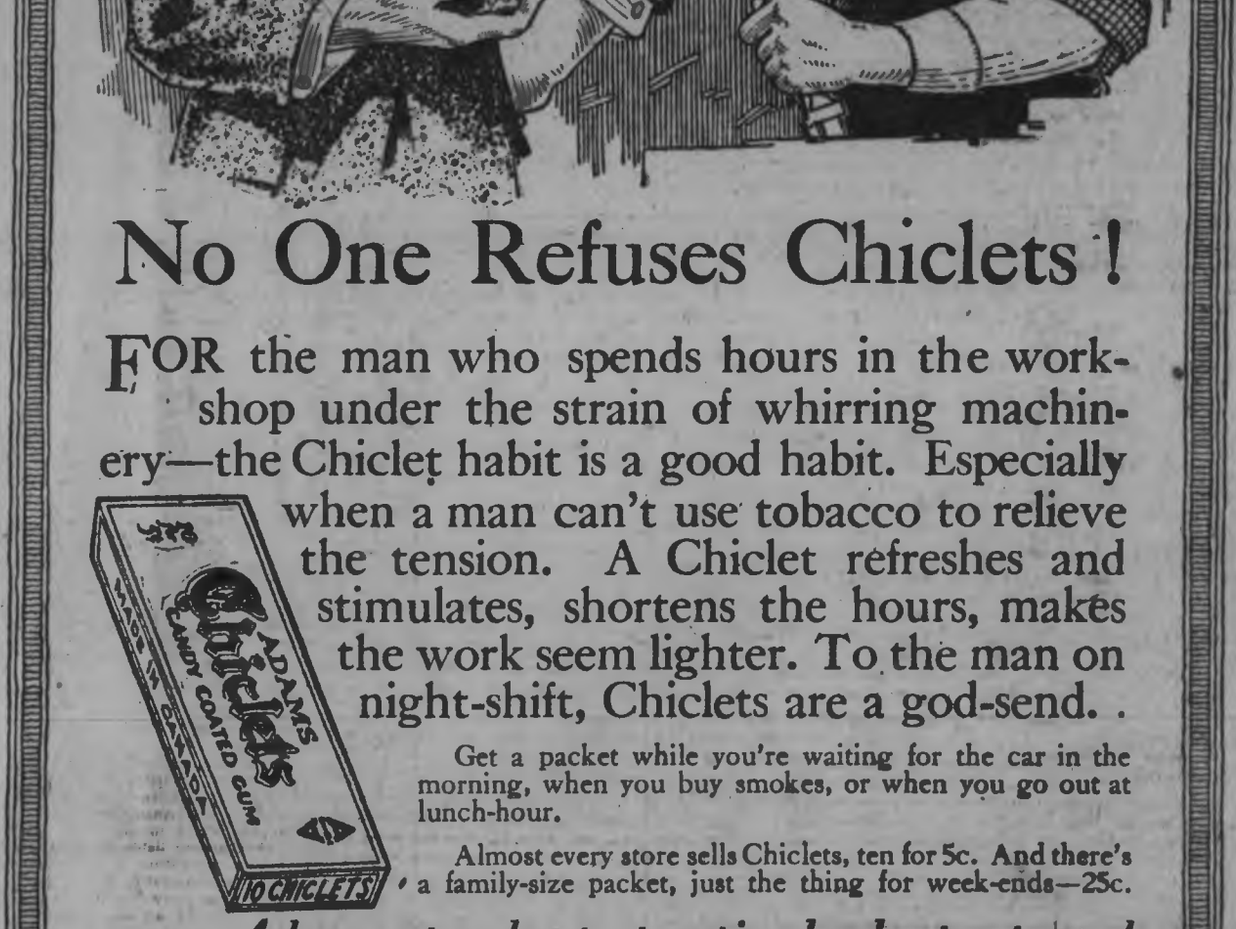
WHIRLED TO DEATH IN A THRASHING BEE.

John Corran, of Shamrock, Renfrew County, Got Caught in Driving Belt.

RENFREW, Sept. 29.—John Corran, whose home is at Shamrock, about ten miles from here, met with an accidental death yesterday. He was one of a number of men engaged in thrashing on a neighbour's farm. He went too near a driving belt and his clothes were caught in it, and he was whirled to death before the machinery could be stopped. Both of his legs and an arm were broken, and his head was bruised. He was aged thirty-one, and unmarried.



No One Refuses Chiclets!

FOR the man who spends hours in the workshop under the strain of whirring machinery—the Chiclet habit is a good habit. Especially when a man can't use tobacco to relieve the tension. A Chiclet refreshes and stimulates, shortens the hours, makes the work seem lighter. To the man on night-shift, Chiclets are a god-send.

Get a packet while you're waiting for the car in the morning, when you buy smokes, or when you go out at lunch-hour.

Almost every store sells Chiclets, ten for 5c. And there's a family-size packet, just the thing for week-ends—25c.

PERFUMED NOTES FOR RUTH.

Home Run King a Victim of Souvenir Seekers—Needs a Secretary.

From Boston comes the word that Babe Ruth, world's champion home run hitter, is greatly distressed. His daily mail continues to pile up to alarming proportions. It is said that even if he should devote the full twenty-four hours every day to opening letters he would not reach the bottom of the heap. Not only are these missiles from enthusiastic fans, addicted to the souvenir habit, requesting him to send them, f. o. b. Boston, the bat or the ball with which he made his twenty-sixth home run, but not a few of the letters are perfumed.

Shades of Arthur Shafer! Some may recall that perfumed notes were blamed for Shafer's having packed up his glove and spiked shoes and being A. W. O. L. from the Giants' fold several years ago. Arthur couldn't stand the strain and he decided to retire from professional baseball. And now along comes Ruth!

There is little likelihood of Babe's parting with the bat with which he made his twenty-sixth homer, but he is turning all of his mail over to the secretary of the Boston Red Sox, Harry Graver.

WAR COST IN MAN POWER.

Our Total Casualties to Sept. 1 Were 322,182—116,492 Dead.

WASHINGTON.—The cost of the war to the United States in man power is now estimated officially as 116,492 dead and 206,690 wounded, a total of 322,182. These figures include losses to army and marine units on all fronts to Sept. 1.

Those killed in action totalled 35,585, or 11 per cent. of the entire list; died of wounds, 14,742; died of disease, 58,073; died of accidents and other causes, 8,092. Under the head of "missing," the announcement records a zero, with the notation "all corrected."

FRENCH ARMY IN HOME POSTS.

All Troops Returned to Usual Garrisons Except Those on Rhine.

PARIS.—The deconcentration of the French Army is now completed, all troops, except those on the Rhine, having returned to their usual garrison posts. The transportation of demobilized soldiers to their homes by regular passenger trains will also be completed in a few days. Twenty thousand trains have been employed in the last six months to transfer regiments to their quarters, to take 2,000,000 demobilized soldiers home, and to assure the provisioning of the army.

With the trains used for the transport of American troops, the number that has circulated for military purposes over the French railroads since April, has reached 30,000.

UNIONIST CAUCUS TO BE POSTPONED UNTIL WEDNESDAY

SIR ROBERT BORDEN MAY PARTICIPATE IN MEETING---WANT A NEW PLATFORM.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 29—Invitations to the Unionist caucus have not yet been sent out. It had been intended that the gathering would take place tomorrow, but it is now stated that it cannot take place before Wednesday. It is not anticipated, in fact, that the important questions which will come before the members can be disposed of at one sitting of the caucus, but that the deliberations will be something in the nature of a miniature convention off and on for several days thereafter.

At the first meeting Sir Robert Borden will submit his plans for organisation and platform. While there will undoubtedly be considerable debate on the general principle of establishing a Union party, it is not anticipated that the details will be discussed to any considerable extent until there have been caucuses of the members of the various Provinces. In fact, there may be separate caucuses of Unionist-Liberals and Unionist-Conservatives, after these sub-caucuses have been held a further general caucus will likely be called to consolidate, if possible, the opinions reached.

End of the Rope.

At the present time there is really no "opinion" on the matter. There have been several small gatherings of members. Generally speaking, Liberal-Unionists have about arrived at the conclusion that if the policy of the new party is to be one even of moderate protection, there will be no place for them on it. On the other hand Conservatives and Conservative Unionists hold the Montreal Star, and the Montreal Gazette frankly expressed that if a new party is to be formed there is no room in it for those who cannot support a Conservative policy.

The rumour has been circulated that Sir Robert Borden may offer his resignation in the forthcoming caucus. Next Monday is the eighth anniversary of the elevation of Sir Robert to the Premiership, and there are some who say that he will choose that date for his retirement.

Wile he may, as he has done before, declare his readiness to retire in the best circles, however, it is not believed that he intends doing so until his followers are again established firmly upon a solid platform. If it is possible to do so, he will shortly take a holiday, and expects to return with his health recuperated.

REFUSES TO TURN OVER "IMPERATOR" TO THE BRITISH

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—One of the first diplomatic tasks that confronts Viscount Grey, the new British Ambassador, is to take up with the State Department the situation brought about by the refusal of the Shipping Board officials of a British request for the Imperator, the former German liner.

Expectations to-day were that the matter will be put up to the State Department at the earliest moment.

The Imperaor and seven other German liners were turned over to the Shipping Board by the War Department, which had finished using them as transports.

The British, through officials of the Cunard Line, requested that the vessel be turned over to them. This J. H. Rossiter, Chief of Operations of the Shipping Board, refused to do, on the ground that he had no orders. The orders to turn the ship over to the British are understood to have come from one of the Peace Conference commissions, on which this country has no representative, due to the failure of the Senate to sanction the appointment.

It is understood also that the refusal to turn over the ship followed the knowledge that she was to be used as a passenger ship instead of a troopship, which is said to have been the original understanding.

SOLDIER AND FAMILY TOOK FRENCH LEAVE

EAST WARD LANDLADY IS MINUS RENT FOR EIGHT WEEKS.

A landlady living in Lindsay, is looking for a returned soldier, wife and child, who had been rooming with her for several months past, but took French leave on Tuesday last and forgetting to pay for eight weeks' rent. It is understood that there are several grocers in town, as well as some private "friends" that the young man still owes money to.

On Tuesday last the landlady visited Kent street to do some shopping, and on her return noticed signs that the young couple had flown. About the only train they could get out on at the time was the Port McNicol.

The young man in question endeavoured to get work at various places, and for a time was employed at the Arsenal and later on at selling insurance.—Lindsay Warder.

AMERICA TO EXTEND ALLIES LONGER CREDIT

About $10,000,000,000 to be Funded into Long-Time Securities—Britain Owes Most.

WASHINGTON. — Negotiations will be put under way soon for the funding of the Allies' obligation to the United States into long-term securities Approximately $10,000,000,000 of war credits have been advanced to the Allies on short-term notes. Interest charges on the outstanding notes will be taken care of in the details of the funding agreement yet to be worked out.

Great Britain is the largest debtor to this Government, owing about $4,000,000,000, with France and Italy owing most of the remainder.

SEED SPROUTED IN GIRL'S EYE

A small seed in the right eye of the little daughter of Mr. Edgar Thornton, Kirby, caused such extreme pain that the parents, after trying every conceivable method to remove it, brought the child to a doctor at Orono on Saturday, when it was found that in three days the seed had sprouted fully a quarter of an inch, and a longer delay in its removal would probably have been fatal.

TWO GIRLS WERE ARRESTED SUNDAY

Five of the boys also appeared and were told to keep away from street girls in the future.

Voice Of The People

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir: The edition of your paper containing the communication signed anonymously "Reader," has just come to my notice. I should not reply at such a late date were it not that I am loath to have your readers delusioned by "Reader's" sophistry.

Science proves to us yeast is a species of fungi, grown on decomposing matter. Alcohol is produced by the decomposing agents, but the enormous amount of alcohol thus produced by purely natural agents is rarely consumed as found. "Firewater" was introduced among the Indains by white men. If alcohol were so abundant in nature, would not the Indian who was in possession of all nature's secrets, have discovered this?

By all means, do not let us even attempt to restrict the processes of nature—a futile attempt anyhow — but let us exert our powers to restrict man, although there we are again. Man is made in God's image and therefore must be allowed to follow his own sweet will unrestrained. The instigators of the 'Swat the fly" campaign should be condemned to a Promethean existence, since the fly is in nature and should be given the freedom of our homes.

I regret my colossal stupidity, but I fail to understand why there is so much opposition to prohibition if no laws can lessen the production of alcohol. Rejoice all ye Bacchanals, these prohibition fanatics are absolutely impotent. Go out into the fields and gather in the harvest of alcohol.

By what special dispensation was "Reader's" communication published without the writer's name appended?

Yours truly,

PORK PRICES ON THE TOBOGGAN

LOCAL COMMENT ON ORDER OF BOARD OF COMMERCE.

The butchers in the city who heard of the Commission's decision to set the retail pork packers' prices at the same figure as that of March the 10th were obviously upset, and one stated that O'Connor's method of bringing down the prices will result in a worse condition than now exists. "The Swift Canadian Company will in all probability close up their Canadian factory and go to the States," he added.

Bank This Week.

Already the prices of pork have been lowered considerably in the city and lard, which two weeks ago sold at 48 cents, is selling at 41 cents, bacon two weeks ago 68 cents a pound, is now 63 cents, fresh pork dropped from 50 to 42 cents, and ham from 75 to 65 cents.

Information as to the retail price of pork in March was not available at the Matthews-Blackwell stores or at other butcher shops.

TORONTO WOMAN HAS RECOVERED

MRS DOWNS COULD HARDLY GET ABOUT THE HOUSE—ENJOYS WORK NOW

"Before taking Tanlac I was so weak that I could hardly get about the house, but I thoroughly enjoy my work now," said Mrs. Mary Downs, of 1 Currie street, Toronto, Ont.

"Sometime ago," she continued, "I had to undergo an operation and it looked like I would never get over the shock, I lost my appetite and actually would go for days without eating a thing. I was so weak the least exertion would soon exhaust me, I could hardly get any sleep at night and would often be subject to fearful nightmares that would shake my nerves so I would tremble like a leaf on waking up.

"I was just in this awful fix when I started on Tanlac, and it wasn't long before I felt it was bracing me up and making me eat. Now my appetite has returned and I relish every bite, my nerves are much stronger and I rest well at night and never have those terrible nighmares anymore. I am able to do all my housework now without half trying and never feel tired and worn out like I did before."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Limited; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

NEW MILLINERY TO ACCENTUATE THE SMARTNESS OF THE COSTUME

A Galaxy of Models Whose Trimmings and Colourings Dominate the Mode for Fall and Winter 1919-1920

The Parisian Vogue for Ostrich as a trimming justifies itself by its beauty. Ostrich is particularly appropriate on Hats because of its great decorative charm. You will find it well represented in our collection. From the conservative small hats for older women to the picturesque plumded affairs for best wear—all the new modes find place here.

Designed particularly for a Matron is this number of Black Velvet, with a slightly rolling brim and turned up on the left side, and garnished with small Ostrich tips curling over edge. The Price is $13.50

TAUPE BEAVER AND PANNE VELVET of the same shade are greatly responsible for the pleasing effect of this number. The crown is medium height, and the wide brim droops slightly. Just where the brim and crown become one, there is an encircling garniture of French flowers. Price $22.00

AN UNUSUALLY SMART SHAPE is of Black "Lyons" Velvet, with a wide semi-circle brim, which comes to a point on either side where the curve terminates, and is slightly rolled and ornamented with a Black Blodine Spray—New York's most recent fancy. Price $22.00

Blouses That Contribute Greatly to the Art of Making One's Self Neat and Modish

Mere words will not describe them adequately for you cannot picture the superb scroll and floral work of beads and silk embroidery or know the beauty of the deep rich tones of the material itself. Inspect & you will appreciate their charm

A TABLIER MODEL OF NAVY BLUE GEORGETTE is one of the greatest diversions the season offers. When worn with a Satin or Silk Skirt, it loses its identity as a Blouse, for it really forms the upper portion of a charming Dress. The neck is round and collarless, and elaborately embroidered with Soutache Braid, which in turn is enlivened with tiny knots of bright colour Silk. The waist is narrowed by a string belt, which is run through two picot edged slips. That portion below the belt that is loose, in smock fashion, is garnished with braid, etc., to correspond with the yoke. Price $27.00

The illustration to the left, though not an exact reproduction, is the same in design, but not in pattern.

IF YOU WERE ASKED TO DESCRIBE the most notable feature of this Blouse, doubtless it would be "the happy combination of beautiful hand embroidery and beaded ornamentation in floral and conventional designs." This work is done on White Georgette, and the contrasting colours are Pale Blue and tracings of Pale Yellow. It forms the front, which is of one piece, and fastens at the side. The collar is flat and round. The cuffs are bell shaped and end at the wrist with a pointed band of the material itself. Price $28.00

ALTHOUGH THE PRICE IS MODERATE, this Blouse of Flesh Georgette strikes a note of distinction that cannot be ignored. The front is a Vestee effect, and the square yoke is edged with Cream Fillet Lace. At the back is a loose triangular collar, outlined with an inset piece of inch and a half Fillet, which in turn is edged with a half-inch piece of the Georgette. The price is only $8.75

SOME FAVOUR A TAILORED BLOUSE FOR SUIT WEAR, because of its high collar. This model of White Crepe de Chine has something more to offer—although the collar is the turn-over pattern and is finished with fine pleated ruffles. There are forty pin tucks on the front—twenty to either side of the opening, which is concealed by a three-inch pleat, with its edge finished with pleated ruffles. The finish on cuffs correspond. Price $12.00
Same model in Navy Georgette at $14.00

TENDER GUMS —A WARNING

Less than 50c of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

MUST PRODUCE THE ROOSTER IN COURT

A Victoria Avenue resident counted her chickens on Saturday morning, and found that a Plymouth Rock rooster was missing. She looked in the next door neighbor's coop and saw it making a vain attempt to get back to its own coop. She called it "Cop." They went into the next yard for inspection, but the irate neighbor told them to get the h—— out. They did. A charge was laid. Both sides told their story, ably assisted by Messrs. J. O'Brien and G. W. Hatton.

The accused was sure that the rooster belonged to her; the neighbor was sure it didn't; the Magistrate didn't know, and decided that the chanticleer must be produced in the court to-morrow.

ANNUAL FALL RALLY IN Y.W.C.A.

NEW OFFICIALS WERE INTRODUCED TO THE GATHERING

About three hundred people—little tots, bigger tots and grown-ups—gathered at the Young Women's Christian Association Friday night for the annual fall rally. Mrs. W. D. Scott, the President of the Board of Directors, presided, and the meeting opened with the singing of "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name". After the reading of the Scriptures and prayer by the Rev. F. E. Malott of Trinity Methodist Church, the President made a few opening remarks in which she welcomed everyone to the Association and spoke of the changes on the staff. Miss Leta Brownscombe, the new Assistant Secretary, and Miss Pryce, the Physical Director, were introduced and responded in a few words. Miss Pryce spoke of the good the girls could get from the gymnasium classes and outdoor sports, and outlined her work for the year. After solos by Miss Florence Scott and Mr. O. Steer, the audience stood to welcome Miss Layton, the new General Secretary, by a giving a hearty clapping. Miss Layton then gave the talk of the evening. She spoke of what it means to belong to the Young Women's Christian Association, a world organization which has over (800,000) other members, belonging to over ten thousand (10,000) other branches and representing many countries. She told of the opportunities and responsibilities that are before girls to-day—opportunities to take the High Way By making the most of one's physical strength, by having active, intelligent minds, by learning the higher things of life and by giving to others. These opportunities are open to girls everywhere—in the schools and libraries, in the churches and Sunday Schools, in the Young Women's Christian Association, in their own homes and in their work. Miss Layton then outlined some of the opportunities for girls in the Association this year, and closed her talk by telling the story of the palace that was re-built by music. Her closing sentence will give the keynote of the story—"And I know that if you and I work, and play together the wonderful melody of love, we too shall build a beautiful palace that will stand always." After a solo by Mrs. T. Ferguson, a social hour was spent with games and music in the gymnasium and refreshments served in the Green Room. The attendance and enthusiasm at this fall rally augur well for the work of the year in the Young Women's Christian Association.

STARTLING EVIDENCE IN THE TEMPLETON CASE

PROOF SUBMITTED BY SUFFERERS CONFIRMS DOCTOR'S PUBLIC STATEMENTS

Public interest in the Templeton case has been accentuated by a volume of further evidence which has been submitted to prove that Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules do remedy Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout, Lumbago and many of their kindred diseases.

Canadian soldiers from the front claim that these capsules were of the utmost benefit in relieving them of sciatic pains and preventing the development of rheumatic troubles. One well known Canadian General was a constant user of T.R.C.'S and his persistent demand for them is proof that they gave him the relief he sought.

Men such as our Canadian soldiers are not prepared to make false statements. T.R.C.'S fixed them up and they are glad to say so in order that others may benefit by their experience. There is no denying the fact that T.R.C.'S do all we claim they will. Convince yourself. Try them.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.00.

J. L. Garvin, writing in the Daily Observer, sums up the attitude of the "average man" when he says:

"The community must now take its bearings, select its ground, and hold tenaciously with cold, passionless resolution. IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Pte. Walter V. McIlmoyle, who was killed in action on the Cambrai-Douai road:

My pal one day he went to France
With other lads to take his chance.
He went to fight for freedom's sake
And a name for his country just to make.

But a year ago he was called in
From the battlefields of Cambrai
To the fields that know no sin.
For he is not dead; he is just asleep,
But a better friend I shall never meet.
—From His Chum Tom.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Pte. George Teabo, who died in France Aug. 28, 1918:

He died in a foreign land
No mother near to take his hand, or him a sister's love attend.
No brother nigh to say good-bye.
Far from his native land.

The blow is bitter, the loss severe
To part with one we loved so dear.
Our loss is great, we'll not complain
But hope in heaven to meet again.

Grieve not, dear mother, but be content,
For I to you was only lent.
For love I lived, for my country I died.
You asked my life, but 'twas denied.

Good Boxing Bouts Scheduled for To-morrow

The boxing fans are interested to an unusual extent in to-morrow night's bout at Victoria Hall, inasmuch as it gives them a chance to see a well known local boy in action against a clever, fast-coming lightweight, Kid Ryan of Toronto. Jordan won a name for himself with the Canadian army in France and has brought back several splendid medals as a result of his proficency in the squared circle. The bout with Ryan will go 10 rounds. There will in addition be three good preliminaries, and a splendid programme is assured.

BELLEVILLE AND OSLERS PLAY HERE WEDNESDAY IN O.B.A.A. PLAY-OFF

Peterborough is to see a little world's series of its own on Wednesday, when the Belleville team, champions of the Central Ontario League, and conquerors of the Petes, will meet the crack Oslers, winners of the all-Toronto championship, at Riverside Park in the decisive battle of the O.B.A.A. semi-finals. A week ago Saturday Oslers defeated Belleville in the eastern city by 8 to 2, but Belleville came back on Saturday in the second game at Toronto, beating Oslers 6 to 2. Freddie Goyer, Belleville's sensational left-hander, who pitched the Petes out of a championship, striking out eighteen of the Toronto champs.

A third game was necessary, and Peterborough was lucky enough to be selected, the game being called for 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. It will undubtedly be the baseball attraction of the year, and every fan who can make the grade will be out to see this big play-off, which promises to be another great pitching duel between Goyer and Joe Spring, the Osler's good twirler. The local fans will unodubtedly be with Belleville, inasmuch as they will prefer to root for the team representing the Central League, but the Oslers will not lack for supporters.

WRECKED STEAMER IS SINKING INTO SANDS OFF FLORIDA COAST.

No Attempts to Explore Hull Have Been Made.

KEY WEST, Flo., Sept. 26.—The wreck of the large steamer near here which divers a few days ago identified as the Spanish passenger liner Valbanera, believed to have been sunk in the recent gulf hurricane with all aboard, is gradually sinking into the quicksands on the shoals on which it was driven, it was reported. It was said the hull of the steamer might soon disappear and thereby perhaps remove the last possibility of clearing up another mystery of the sea.

No attempts to explore the wreck to ascertain the number of persons still aboard when the steamer sank in 40 feet of water have been made since the Cuban Consul here telegraphed the owners of the Valbanera that she had been found.

Local Theatrical Events

What the Local Playhouses Have to Offer--News of the Movie World

THE SENNET GIRLS HERE ON THURSDAY

LOTS OF FUN AND CATCHY MUSIC FOR THE OCCASION.

The most unusual event in the history of motion pictures exhibition here is scheduled to take place at the Grand theatre on Thursday and Friday, when the famous California nereids of the films, Mack Sennett's Bathing Beauties, will appear in person on the stage simultaneously with the screen showing of the comedy king's latest and biggest production, "Jack Canuck in Berlin".

Sennett's fame has been chiefly earned by his two-reel film burlesque issued by Paramount and made by him for this great releasing agency. "Jack Canuck in Berlin" is wholly a Sennett enterprise put forth only on a state-right's basis. It is like rock of continuous hilarity, with Germ royal bluff and bluster as its and on it the "Griffith of Co has expended all his wealth of ventive genius in broad satire.

Previous to this, the prime, puted film comedy bit of the two years was "Mickey", also a Sennett production, with Mabel Normand as its star. Now, it is proposed to beat the furor caused by "Mickey" by the personal appearance of the Bathing Beauties who will come to Peterboro to add a filip to the picture, which they appear.

ALL STAR SCREEN PLAYERS APPEAR IN "THE SQUAW MAN"

Cecil B. De Mille, producer of Photoplay provides most adequate cast. Coming to the Allen theatre on Wednesday and Thurs

No photoplay produced in recent years presents a better cast of screen players than that employed by Cecil B. De Mille in his latest production of "The Squaw Man", a picturization of Edwin Miton Royle's famous stage play, which will be presented at the Allen Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. From start to finish, the cast in this photoplay is made up of stars or players of steller importance.

Elliott Dexter has the stellar role with Ann Little playing opposite to him as the Indian girl. Katherine MacDonald, Theodore Roberts, Jack Holt, Thurston Hall, Tully Marshall and others have exceptionally strong parts. Nearly all those named have been seen in many of the more famous Paramount and Artcraft productions.

"The Squaw Man" is a drama of the most graphic character, with intense human interest, stirring heart appeal and unrivalled charm of character depiction. Lasky Wood and Ann Bauchens and Mr. De Mille in the direction and Alvin Wyckoff was the camera ex

"HIS BRIDAL NIGHT" AT GRAND THEATRE

ONE OF THE DANGERS OF MARRYING A TWIN SISTER EMPHASIZED IN PLAY.

The attraction announced for the Grand on Saturday matinee and evening is Margaret Mayo's charming musical farce, "His Bridal Night" Like "Twin Beds", this latest offering of Miss Mayo's has firmly established itself in the good graces of the theatre-going public. It has everywhere been accorded a full measure of encomium and the engagement here is looked upon in the nature of an event. It is admitted that the opportunity was not wanting for the introduction of suggestive situations and risque scenes, but these Miss Mayo has skillfully avoided, and the unfolding of the plot shows nothing but clean diverging fun. The play hinges to a youthful lover marrying one of twin sisters, and in the excitement incident to the wedding reception and the fact that the sisters have had a misunderstanding rushing off to a wayside inn for a honeymoon, but with the sister bridesmaid. The likeness of the sisters to each is such that he is unable to realize his mistake, and upon the arrival of the bride and the best man, things begin to happen. The young bridegroom is never permitted a moment with his wife, and for this the piqued bridesmaid has Algenon, an obsequious butler, to thank. The entanglements are, of course, at last straighteed out, but not until the distracted 'newlyweds' are on the verge of despair. Happiness finally reigns over two happy couples the one married and the other soon to be The piece has been musicalized for this season. Frederick V. Bowers, one of the foremost of American composers, having supplied a musical score of entrancing numbers.

REAL LONDON FOG SHOWN

IN DOROTHY GISH'S FILM, "BOOTS."

Remarkable Views Feature of Splendid New Paramount Photoplay Now Showing at the Allen Theatre.

You have read and heard of London fogs, but unless you have been on the actual ground, you have a very vague idea of what they really are. And because Dorothy Gish knew what London fogs were like, she having been in London during the time she was working on "Hearts of the World", she insisted that the real London fog be used for newest Paramount picture, "Boots," now showing at the Allen Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

Nearly all of the first reel of the picture transpires during a cold, damp and misty evening when Trafalgar square is covered with a blanket-like mist that penetrates to every corner. Of course, many of the scenes are inside scenes, and there are others which could not be staged across the water at the time they were made.

These have been taken and so cleverly woven into the foreign photography that it is impossible to tell which were made in the United States and which were made abroad Modern motion picture making taxes the ingenuity of every department of production.

"So", says Manager Rosenthal of the Allen, "when you see the London fog in "Boots", remember it's not all London. But don't come and ask me which is London and which is Los Angeles, because I don't know. You'll have to write to Dorothy."

Miss Gish's new photoplay was written by Martha Pittman, adapted by M. M. Stearns and directed by Elmer Clifton.

GIVE TO THE LIVING.

If we gave unto the living as we lavish
on the dead,
Kindly thoughts and gentle phrases,
tender words and friendly praises,
Blotting out all imperfections, holding virtues up to light;
If we left no daily token of our love and care unspoken—
Then would life be well worth living in a world all glad and bright.

If we offered to the living, as we heap
upon the dead,
Fragrant flowers of affection, blossoms of sweet recollection,
Waiting not till hands are folded on the quiet, pulseless breast,
Then the passion of our pleading
would not fall on ears unheeding,
Nor our tears fall, unavailing, on the weary form at rest.

If we gave unto the living as we lavish on the dead,
All our heart's long hidden treasure,
all love's full, unstinted measure,
Adding, day by day, new jewels to the crown of human bliss,
Then life's burdens would weigh lightly, and the sun would shine more brightly,
And not Heaven itself were fairer than a world as glad as this.

IN MEMORIAM

McILMOYLE. —In memory of Private Walter McIlmoyle, of 38 Battalion who was killed in action on September 29th, 1918, Somewhere in France.

Our country called you darling.
Far away o'er the deep blue sea,
Where our nation's sons were fighting,
For land and liberty.

And amid the dim of battle,
Nobly you did fall,
Far away from those who loved you
None to hear your call.

Who would whisper words of comfort,
Who would soothe your pain
Ah, the many cruel fancies,
Ever in our brain.

Oft in dreams we see you lying
On the battle plain,
Lonely wounded even dying
Calling but in vain.

Yes, our boys, our noble Walter,
Is one numbered with the slain;
Altho we loved him very dearly
He will never come again.

We all hope to meet him some day
On that bright and happy shore,
On that resurrection morning
When we meet to part no more..
—Inserted by his mother, brother and sisters.

It's better to believe all you say than half you hear.

WILL CONSTRUCT A TEMPORARY BRIDGE ON HUNTER STREET

WOODEN STRUCTURE DESIGNED TO CARRY SIXTEEN TONS---BOARD OF WORKS RECOMMEND PURCHASE OF RIVERSIDE PARK.

FINISH FOR BRIDGE

At a meeting of the Board of Works, held last evening, at which were present Chairman Phelan, Mayor Duncan, Ald. Edgar, Ald. McIlmyre, Ald. Crowe, Ald. Morrison, Ald. Taylor and Ald. Hamilton, Mr. C. J. Townsend, who is superintending the construction of the new Hunter Street bridge for the Russell-Townsend at the request of Ald. Phelan, submitted an estimate of the cost of building a temporary bridge across the river at Simcoe Street. His estimate of the cost was $4,970, and the value of the material after it was removed would be about $1,500. This estimate was for a bridge built on piles, 22 feet wide, 18 feet roadway and a 4-foot sidewalk. The bridge was designed to carry sixteen tons, ample for the Fire Brigade to cross. The Board decided that the bridge should be built as a temporary right-of-way if a roadway is secured from the river to Burnham Street. It will not be an extra financial burden on the city as it will be entered into the cost of the construction of the bridge, because it is more of a convenience to the bridge contractors than to the city.

PURCHASE RIVERSIDE PARK.

Riverside Park will be purchased by the city for park purposes, and on motion of Ald. Edgar and seconded by Ald. Crowe, negotiations will be opened at once. It was also decided to acquire that property on the east side of the river, from the river to Burnham property acquired by the city.

Another right-of-way to be secured for a right-of-way was from the east side of the river, opposite Simcoe Street, required to open a road to Burnham Street.

WANT SEWER EXTENDED.

A letter was read from the Canadian Woollens, Limited, asking that the sewer be extended on McDonnel Street to Cambridge Street, north of McDonnel Street. The Canadian Woollens will be informed that the city had already decided to make this sewer extension.

A similar letter was received from D. Florence and Son, asking for a sewer on Bethune Street to their building. The city have already decided to make an extension of this sewer from Simcoe Street to a point 120 feet south of Bethune St.

Mr. H. Hamlin again made a claim for $75 damages to his horse when it was left in the stables of the Fire Department. The matter was left over until the chairman and Mayor can investigate the matter.

Engineer H. W. Middlemist, employed by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, who reported on the new bridge, had his account of expenses endorsed by the Board.

On motion of Ald. Hamilton, seconded by Ald. Gainey, the account of $13 was ordered to be paid.

MONAGHAN ROAD.

The Township of North Monaghan complained of the wretched condition of Monaghan Road, and the city decided to look into it.

The City Fathers decided that chipped granite would be a nice finish on the new Hunter Street Bridge, and Mr. Frank Barber was asked to furnish the city in writing an estimate of the cost of a chipped granite finish on the vertical surfaces and also eighteen inches on the under side of the arches. The Aldermen also want to know what would be the difference in cost between an ordinary concrete finish and a rubbed finish.

The Dominion Railway Board informed the Board that the city was responsible for the reconstruction and maintenance of the G.T.R. Bridge on Bethune Street, north of Brock Street. This bridge has always been maintained by the G.T.R., and now that the city want a new board sidewalk constructed on it, the railway, backed up by the Railway Board, inform the city that the Corporation is responsible for upkeep and any reconstruction. City Solicitor Widdifield was instructed to the Railway Board, asking them to reconsider their decision.

Mr. W. H. Barry and Ald. James Hamilton asked for permission to remove a tree each from in front of their residence. Referred to the City Engineer.

Messrs. Peck, Kerr and McElderry, for Mr. Bettes, asked that a stairway be constructed from the Hunter Street Bridge to their client's property.

A letter, informed the city that the new bridge would soon be encroaching on the Commission's property. They asked for an adjustment.

As a return bouquet, the city are asking the Hydro-Electric Commission to remove an old lamp post from the north-west corner of Bethune and McDonnell Streets.

MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT IN KINGSTON---NEWTON WESLEY WAS THERE.

(Special to The Examiner.)

KINGSTON, Sept. 30. — In the Board of Trade rooms last evening, a preliminary meeting was held to discuss the part Union Government supporters would lay in the coming Federal by-election. Those who constituted the committee that brought out W. F. Nickle, M.P. in 1917, largely composed those in attendance. The meeting was presided over by J. G. Elliott. Hon. J. D. Reid and Hon. N. W. Rowell came up on invitation for consultation and made short addresses expressing the hope that a Union candidate would be brought out. The company discussed the situation at some length and finally named a committee to draft a committee representing men, women and soldiers in the city to whom was given authority to plan the best methods for the selection of a Union candidate. This committee was so named and will meet at once bring about the desired results.

PROGRESS OF THE BIG STEEL STRIKE---POLICE REPORTS FROM VARIOUS MILLS.

PLANTS HANDICAPPED

(United Press.)

PITTSBURG, Sept. 30.—The great Pittsburg forces of the steel industry were standing firm to-day against the onslaughts of strike leaders. Early police reports from this district indicated continued additions to the operatives ranks. Many mills, closed since the strike began, resumed operations, and other mills admittedly working under a handicap for the past few days, to-day reported working near capacity. The big Pennsylvania plant of the National Tube Co., the Braddock and Donors Works of the American Steel and Wire Co., McKeesport Tin Plate Co. and the Pittsburgh Steel Foundry were among the larger plants operating again.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The ninth day of the great steel strike opened with the situation on all battle fronts virtually unchanged, mill officials issuing their customary statement that more men were returning to work, and Union leaders countering with the equally customary assertion that the strike was spreading and victory certain.

LABOUR AND FARMERS JOIN HANDS

A joint meeting of the executives of the United Farmers and the Independent Labour Party was held last evening in the Labour Hall. Mr. Peter McArthur occupied the chair.

At the close of the meeting, it was unanimously decided to hold a convention on Friday evening next for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the Riding at the coming Provincial Elections. It was a very enthusiastic meeting, and exceeded even the high hopes of the two parties most interested.

Speeches were made favouring the holding of a convention and the selection of a candidate.

Reeve W. A. Anderson, of Otonabee, was one of the farmer representatives present at the meeting.

FIVE RUSSIANS ON A MURDER CHARGE

PRINCIPAL CASE BEFORE CHIEF JUSTICE MULOCK HERE.

At the opening of the Fall Assizes this afternoon at one o'clock His Lordship, Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, who is presiding, congratulated the Grand Jury on the law-abiding character of the county. There are at present eleven inmates in the county jail four of them being vagrants, whom His Lordship said he could not class as criminals. Two of these are unfortunate old men who are unable tosupport themselves and use the jail as a House of Refuge. Two others of the prisoners can be properly classed as criminals, one a horse thief and the other serving a term for forgery. Besides these are five foreigners, one Austrian and four Russians, who are separately charged with the murder of Philip Yannoff at a bunkhouse on a stone quarry near Havelock last June.

His Lordship then related the circumstances surrounding the death of Yannoff. He further said that another man not yet in the toils is implicated in the affair. All that is known of him is that his Christian name is John Sir William stated that if a number of men go to commit a crime, perhaps burglary, and if one of the burglars kills a man, they are all equally guilty. It is sufficient if they areall engaged in a crime and one of them kills, they are al equally guilty of murder.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC FOR LAKEFIELD

By a standing vote the citizens of Lakefield last evening endorsed the installation of the Hydro-Electric in the village. Mr. Ireland, of the Hydro-Electric Commission, who addressed the meeting, stated that the installation of the Hydro would cost in the neighbourhood of $26,000 or double the cost quoted in 1914. Power, he said, would be brought to the village from Auburn and that the Hydro system could be installed in about three months. Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., who was present at the meeting, spoke very favourably for the installation of the Hydro, which he guaranteed would be a means of advertising and bringing business to the city. Some of the men present at the meeting urged that the dam at Lakefield be made use of and that the Cement Company's property at Young's Point be purchased. Both of these proposals were discouraged by Mr. Ireland.

The first civil case on the Non-Jury list was Condon vs. Condon, an action brought to enforce the trusts of a certain deed. In this case Mr. O. A. the Court that a settlement had been Langley, for the defendant, informed reached, and Counsel, on behalf of both parties, requested formal judgment, dismissing the action, without costs.

Mr. R. D. Hall, for the plaintiff, confirmed this, and formal judgment entered accordingly.

TRANSPORT WORKERS DELAY ACTION---FOOD MINISTRY ABLE TO TAKE CARE OF THE SITUATION.

TRAFFIC INCREASES

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 30.—J. H. Thomas, secretary of the Railway Union, announced to-day that he would continue no longer to refuse offers of sympathetic strikes from other labour organizations. The Thomas statement was made before a mass meeting in Clapham Common.

By Ed. L. Keen

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 30—The government to-day apparently was gradually gaining the upper hand in the nation-wide railway strike which went into effect four days ago. The busmen and tram operators closing a long sesion early to-day, postponed their discussion with regard to a sympathetic strike. They had planned originally to walk out to-night. Action by the transport workers also has been delayed. Despite the nation-wide railway blockade, the Food Ministry has ben able thus far to maintain a steady movement of foodstuffs into the beleaguered cities, thus countering labour's first major blow and virtually removing the danger of starvation. London, it was estimated by food officials to-day, is receiving between 80 and 100 per cent. of the normal amount of principal foodstuffs from the outside districts, motor lorries providing the mode of transportation. The government hoped to-day to repeat yesterday's venture, when the first volunteer food train reached London from the east coast loaded with fish. Thus far it has hardly been necessary to draw upon reserve stocks. Incoming meat and flour supplies are nearly normal. Vegetables to-day were being received in usual quantities. The milk supply was fifty per cent. of normal and eggs 26 per cent.

AFTER NEWSPAPERS.

LONDON, September 30. — (Reuters.) — J. Thomas, the leader of the railway strikers, in an interview last night, stated that unless the newspapers change their attitude towards the railway strikers, their newspaper compositors would strike.

The London Commissioner of Police has issued an appeal for all male citizens under forty to enroll as special police. Special magistrates are to attend at the police stations to-day for the purpose of swearing in these special constables.

Two flying boats left Southampton for Havre yesterday with passengers and mails.

No boats are yet sailing from the docks and food is left rotting in the sheds

Remain Firm.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 30.— Meeting of the executive body of transport workers was a lengthly one and after their prolonged discussion members of that body went to the Ministry of Labour.

It is anticipated in government circles that the services of street cars and omnibuses will cease to-day. The strike order stopping service may be issued at any moment.

Military guards were placed on all trains in the northern section to-day with instructions to take effective measures against interference with their operation. Further secessions from the ranks of striking railroad men were reported by officials this morning, but generally Union ranks are remaining firm. Londoners generally have rapidly adjusted themselves to strike conditions, smilingly accepting inconveniences caused by lack of transportation and restriction of supplies. Few minor disturbances are reported from provincial centres, where volunteer workers on railroads have been hooted.

AMERICANS LOSE TRADE

LOSS IN EXPORT TRADE MAY TOTAL $10,000,000 DAILY, DUE TO BRITISH RAILWAY STRIKE.

SHIPMENTS CANCELLED

By Ralph F. Couch.
(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 30. — American business men to-day are facing losses that may total $10,000,000 daily from the strike of British railway men and the threat of transport workers to tie up all operations in ports of the United Kingdom. This is the value of merchandise now being manufactured and shipped daily from United States' ports. Part of these shipments already have been off by the order of the United States' Shipping Board cancelling all sailings to ports in England, Ireland and Scotland.

Complete stoppage of all but a small portion of American exports is expected to come before the end of this week if British transport workers strike in sympathy with the railway workers.

American commodities now are being sold and shipped to the United Kingdom ports at a rate of nearly $300,000,000 more than ever before, according to Commerce Department reports.

May Lower Costs.

American manufacturers, farmers, cotton raisers, shippers and exporters will be hard hit by the halting of the stream of gold and dollars that has been pouring into American pockets since January 1, when war export came to an end officials say. On the other hand closing of the British markets may have a tendency officials believed, to reduce costs here of foodstuffs since much of the merchandise ordinarily exported may be thrown into the domestic markets if the British port tie up continues. Farm products form the great bulk of American sales to the United Kingdom American farmers now are selling for export to the United Kingdom in these quantities: Wheat, $13,000,000 monthly, wheat flour $20,000,000, corn $500,000, eggs $700,000. Farmers, it is pointed out, also produce live stock which pakers are turning into dressed meats and other products to ship in these quantities. Hog products $87,000,000 monthly, canned beef nearly 600,000, ham sand shoulders $26,000,000, condensed milk nearly $9,000,000, and lard and lard compounds nearly $14,000,000. The tie-up also will halt shipments of raw cotton at the rate of $54,000,000 a month or $11,800,000 daily, while other Southern farmers will lose a market for tobacco leaf worth $11,800,000 a month. Sugar refineries should feel the strike effects since they are shipping at the rate of nearly $9,000,000 worth of products monthly. Oil concerns will lose a big market since oil shipments to the United Kingdom are being made at the rate per month of $1,500,000 worth of lubricating oil, $700,000 in gas and fuel oils, $3,500,000 in illuminating oils and $600,000 worth of gasoline. Cotton seed leads in vegetable oil shipments at the rate of $1,100,000 a month. Tanners will lose a market for $5,800,000 worth of sole leather monthly and $5,500,000 worth of goat and kid uppers.

Some other principal shippers are $2,200,000 worth of preserved fruits monthly, $1,000,000 worth of steel billets and ingots, $1,000,000 in knit goods and $780,000 worth of canned salmon.

Good Service on Long Distance

THE problem of keeping Long Distance Telephone Service at the highest standard and avoiding wasteful delays was never more difficult.

In the past, when more lines were needed, it was a comparatively simple matter to add a circuit to a cross-arm, or new cross-arms to a pole lead. But as poles become loaded, new pole leads must be erected. Important highways are already congested with poles for telephone, telegraph and lighting circuits, and dangerous high-tension wires. New rights-of-way are hard to obtain.

It is only quite recently that experts have discovered how long distance lines in lead cables can be made as efficient voice-carriers as open wires. Now telephone engineers are at work on the problem, from both its scientific and economic side, of long distance lines in underground conduits.

Our programme for this year includes an expenditure of a million dollars for Long Distance line construction. Our aim is that this vital part of our service shall be equal to the most exacting demands of the reconstruction period.

HOW THE GROCERS ACQUIRED THE NAME

They Were Found When America Was Discovered.

Grocers owe their origin to the rounding of the Cape of Good Hope, which opened a new route to India for Europeans, and to the discovery of America. After these two discoveries, shipload after shipload of sugar, spices, etc., arrived at European ports and the men who handled these goods became known as "great dealers" or "grocers." In Holland such a dealer was called the "koopman," and in Germany the "kaufmann," which is still used in Berlin.

Prior to these discoveries there were few tradesmen, or master workers. They were classified as the miller the barber, the butcher, the smith, the tailor and the shoemaker, and perhaps the builder and carpenter, to whom the goldsmith from Lombardy and the milliner from Milan were added. The Italian warehouseman dealt in the few imports permitted once every six months from Genoa or Venice, with products from the Mediterranean and the Orient.

Following the advent of the grocer, big merchants arose in all other branches of trade, and grocers were split up into wholesale and retail dealers, and the real meaning of the term became obscured. A fresh trade arose in green vegetables, which people formerly grew in their own gardens, and the vendor of these was called "green grocer."

The exact equivalent in England of the Dutch "koopman," French "marchand" or German "kaufmann" is "mercantile person." The word "merchant" came from Norman French, and ousted the English word "chapman."

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal ,when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

CITY ENGINEER PARSONS INSTRUCTED TO VISIT OTHER CITIES IN SEARCH OF SUITABLE SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT

MILWAUKEE TRIP WAS NOT VERY FRUITFUL---SYSTEM NOT ADAPTED TO PETERBORO.

A RESOLUTION

At a meeting of the Board of Works committee of the City Council, held last night, the report of City Engineer Parsons and Ald. Harry Phelan on the sewage disposal method which they inspected last week in Milwaukee, was read. A short discussion followed and the following resolution, moved by Ald. Hamilton, and seconded by Ald. McIntyre, was passed:

"Whereas the slush process of sewage disposal which the Chairman and the City Engineer saw at Milwaukee does not appear to be well adapted to the requirements of Peterborough, that Mr. Parsons try to get in touch with cities of 40,000 and 65,000 populations with similar conditions to ours that have sewage disposal plants and visit some of them and inquire into the success of their systems of disposal.

Engineer's Report.

29th Sept., 1919.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Works:

Gentlemen,—In pursuance of your instructions, your chairman and myself visited Milwaukee, Wis., for the purpose of looking into the question of adopting the Activated Sludge Process for the disposal of the sewage of this city. We left on Friday afternoon, Sept. 12th, returning to the city the evening of Wednesday, Sept. 17th.

The City of Milwaukee has been experimenting with various methods of sewage disposal for the last five (5) years. They have finally decided to adopt the method known as the Activated Sludge Process. They are now starting construction work on a plant, the estimated cost of which is $4,898,000.00. Their experimental work has shown them that by means of the Activated Sludge method, they can get an effluent which is clear, non-putrescible and in which the bacteria are reduced by at least 97 p.c. This is a very high standard. They have found that it will be necessary to pass the sewage through fine screens before allowing it to enter the aeration tanks. The reason for this is that the heavy solids, if left in the sewage, settle on the diffuser plates in the bottom of the aeration tanks, clogging the plates up to a certain extent, thereby increasing the head against which the compressors have to work. This, in turn, means that more power has to be expended in forcing the air through the diffuser plates. After the sewage is screened, it enters the grit chambers where the grit and heavier particles of solid matter which has passed through the screen will settle out and be conveyed away. From the grit chamber, the sewage is introduced into aeration tanks through which it flows at a very slow rate of speed, the length of aeration being from two to four hours. They have decided upon a depth of 15 feet of sewage above the air diffusing plates. These plates are formed of a porous material and are set in the bottom of the tanks with an open space underneath into which air under pressure is introduced. The air is forced through the diffusing plates and leaves the surface of these plates in the shape of very small bubbles. It has been found that for maximum efficiency, these bubbles should not exceed one-eighth of an inch in diameter. The air in passing through the sewage oxidizes it and changes its structure so that after a sufficient length of aeration, the sewage is in such a condition that the solids settle out of it very rapidly leaving a clear, colorless effluent from which practically all the bacteria are removed, and which is stable.

Difficulties Appear.

Up to this point, the process is very satisfactory and I think would be very suitable for our city. This is the point, however, at which the difficulties with the Activated Sludge Process appear to me to begin.

The sludge, when it is taken from the final settling tanks, contains about 98 p.c. of water. The long aeration has changed the solids into a flocculent mass of a colloidal nature. It is very hard to separate the water from this mass. Mr. Hatton in Milwaukee was of the opinion that it would not be practicable to try to drain the water out on ordinary sludge beds as is done in other processes on account of the great length of time it would take and the liability of offensive odors being made. In Milwaukee, they are experimenting with large presses which squeeze the water from the sludge until there is only about 75 p. c. of water left in it. It is then their intention to dry it in mechanical dryers to a water content of from 10 to 25 p.c. when it is in condition to be ground up and used as a fertilizer. This sludge has a considerable value as a fertilizer on account of the large amount of nitrogen running from 5 to 9 p.c. which is available for plant food. In a city the size of Milwaukee where there will be a great many tons of sludge produced every day, there is probably no doubt that they can turn the sludge into a fertilizer and get rid of it in that way at a profit. In a smaller town like Peterborough where there is only a small amount of sludge produced, the overhead charges on the expensive plant and the cost of the power required, as well as the extra labor, would be so great that we would be doing the work at a loss instead of profit. While as yet I have arrived at no definite figures, I am convinced, after going into the matter with Mr. Hatton and Mr. Copeland of Milwaukee, that the overhead and maintenance charges of an Activated Sludge plant for the City of Peterborough would be at least twice the corresponding charges on a two-storey sedimentation tank installation followed by sprinkling filters. Mr. George Phelps of Toronto says in an article in the Canadian Engineer of February 8th, 1917: "For small installations, particularly where operating charges are of great importance, it may be a long time before the Acti-

INDIANS WERE FIRST MERCHANTS OF SALT

The Delaware Indians made salt from brine springs in what is now Onondaga County, N.Y., and sold it to the whites as early as 1670, making it possible for the first permanent settlement to exist in this country. The manufacture of salt by white people in the United States was begun near Syracuse, N.Y., about 1788. Salt is the most widely used mineral in the world, and no useful mineral except coal is found in greater abundance in the United States.

SIR WILLIAM IS BUSY

Sir William Hearst, with the election that will decide the political fate of himself and his Government less than three weeks away, is having his own troubles in endeavoring to get the household affairs of his political family straightened out. Sir Adam Beck, always a big figure in the Conservative election advertising, no matter how poorly some of the Government members support him between campaigns, has decided to disassociate himself from any allegiance with the Hearst administration and will be an Independent candidate in London. That is a loss in prestige that the Government will find it impossible to recover, for Sir Adam's defection is a blow that will be felt in the inner circles of Queen's Park, as it removes much of the campaign material that the Conservative leaders had prepared to use.

Sir Adam is not the only Government supporter that is slipping away. Many others are condemning the Government on various counts, and Sir William's troubles are multiplying. His candidate in North Waterloo, Mr. C. H. Mills, for example, comes out flatly against the Premier's temperance policy, and at various Conservative rallies, speakers have unhesitatingly condemned features of the Hearst policy. A number of the present Conservative members have declined to re-accept nomination, others have been ousted at conventions, and in several ridings there is great difficulty in finding candidates at all. Dissatisfaction with the present regime, both within the Conservative party and among the people generally continues to increase. No wonder the Government is worried.

LOOKING AFTER THE SOLDIERS.

A sensible elector, in attempting to come to an opinion upon the reliability of the pre-election policies of any political party, will first study the history of that party and decide for himself as to whether or not the promises of the past have been carried out. Sir William Hearst promises special consideration and treatment for Ontario's returned soldiers—a vague enough statement it is true, but at least indicating an intention on the part of the Government to look after the men from this Province who fought for Canada overseas. Applying the test mentioned at the beginning of this article, has the treatment accorded by the Ontario Government to returned soldiers been such as to warrant any confidence that the present promise of Sir William Hearst will be carried out? The land settlement scheme of the Government furnishes evidence upon which to come to a conclusion. Thanks to the activity of W. Heartley Dewart, the Liberal leader, who has been investigating the work of the Ontario Government among the soldiers in New Ontario, the people of Ontario are now able to learn the facts. It has been shown that only seventy-seven returned soldiers have actually been established on the land in the North, and it has required the expenditure of nearly half a million dollars to enable the Government to make this showing. The cost seems excessive, but would be overlooked if the people were satisfied that the soldier-farmers had been placed ti the best advantage and that the promises of the Government to those men when they decided to go on the land had been carried out. But unfortunately such is far from being the case. All evidence points to the men having been deceived and elected. The schools, stores, medical attendance and instructors that were promised have in most cases not been supplied. It is further claimed that the supply of horses and cattle is far from adequate and the implements to till the land are not yet forthcoming. So bad are the conditions that a Toronto member of the O. W. A. who tried the experiment himself declares that "no ex-army-man in Canada is more disfranchised than the soldier settlement at Kapuskasing." Returned soldiers will take Sir William Hearst's election promises with a grain of salt, in view of their knowledge of the failure of the land settlement policy.

Domestic differences should always be settled in the kitchen. The dining room is no place for scraps.

THURSDAY'S CONVENTION.

The coming to Peterboro on Thursday night of Mr. Hartley Dewart, K.C., M.P.P., the fighting leader of the Ontario Liberals in their battle against the forces of reaction as exemplified by Sir William Hearst and his present Government, is to be the first big event in the political campaign insofar as West Peterboro is concerned. Mr. Dewart's address will be a feature of the Liberal convention in Victoria Hall, at which the Standard-bearer of the party will be selected. His presence, coupled with the important business to be transacted, should ensure a large attendance, and it is expected that there will be a large number of ladies present. The women will exercise their franchise for the first time in the coming election and they will doubtless welcome the opportunity of hearing the Liberal policies explained by Mr. Dewart, whose exposures of the inertia and slip-shod methods of the Ontario Government have been enthusiastically received in the many sections of the Province already visited by the Liberal leader. Mr. Dewart is an eloquent and forcible speaker, who is able to delve into public matters and who marshals his facts in a manner that is convincing and impressive. His exposure of the nickel question is an example of his methods.

In his address on Thursday, Mr. Dewart will undoubtedly discuss Ontario politics from several new angles and he will have a message that the electors of West Peterboro should not fail to hear.

THE REERENDUM.

"Some of the Liberal speakers declare that if the Act is defeated the old license law will be restored, as it existed before war time prohibition was enforced. This is still another statement that is calculated to confuse the people. In the event of the majority of the voters casting their ballots against the Act, the other three questions on the ballot are designed for the future guidance of the Government. It will, by the vote cast on each of these three issues, be decided whether beer is to be sold in standard hotels, or whether beer and spirituous liquors are to be handled in Government agencies. There is really nothing on the ballot calculated to confuse the public. The entire ground is thoroughly covered.—The Review.

In the course of an editorial intended to show that there is very little chance of confusion over the referendum ballot, our neighbor makes the surprising statement quoted at the beginning of this article—statements which indicate which indicate that there is evidently every need of an educational campaign in reference to the referendum. It would be ungenerous to assume that the Review is joining forces with the citizens Liberty League in attepting to trick the electors into voting for the appeal of the Ontario Temperance Act. And a mor echaritable view would be that our contemporary has been deceived by the advertising of that body. Certain it is, however, that in the paragraph quoted the same argument used by the Liberty League is advanced.

Premier Hearst in his speech introducing the referendum, and in all his addresses since, has made it clear that the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act means a return to the old conditions. This is the statement of the leader of the Government—not of Liberal speakers as the Review declares, and as late as last week Sir William repeated his declaration in the following terms:

"If quesion One of the referendum ballot is marked 'Yes" by a majority of voters, Ontario will return to the wide open bar just as it was before 1916."

That is surely clear enough and emphatic enough, but a frequent repition of such explanations seems necessary.

The Review falls foul of Premier Hearst again, when it states that the answers to the last three questions will be used to guide the Government in deciding upon a liquor policy in the event of the Temperance Act being defeated. According to the Premier this is utterly wrong. If the majority of the voters cast their ballots against the Act, the open bar and the shop will be restored and the other questions will not be considered. Here are Sir William's own words on the subject:

"Thus if the first question is answered in the affirmative the Ontario Temperance Act will be repealed and the old license law as it existed prior to 1916, will be revived. In that event there would be no necessity for further consideration of the answers to the other questions, for the greater would include the less, and liquor would be sold in bars and shops as in years gone by."

The Examiner must apologize to its readers for the frequent references to this particular phase of the referendum that have appeared in these columns. In view of the attempts that are being made to deceive the voters and, because of the misunderstanding that seems to exist in many quarters, however, it seems a duty to keep hammering home the facts that if the majority vote "Yes" on the first question the bars come back and, furthermore, that the answer to the last three questions will not be considered.

for all of us if we would drop into our Optometrist's office now and then and have him examine our eyes—just as we have the dentist examine our teeth.

Perhaps the reluctance of most people to do this is due to economy or perhaps they feel that the Optometrist will advise a change of lenses anyway—whether they are needed or not.

MR. FREDERICK AGAIN AROUSES BARBARA'S DISTRUST

CHAPTER LXXIX.

To have Neil turn me off with a laugh seemed almost more than I could bear. Suddenly I burst into tears, sobbing unrestrainedly. He was at once penitent.

"Poor girl, people have talked to you until you are unnerved," he said, trying to calm me. "Come Bab, don't give way like that—"

"But I can't bear to have them say things about you! I just can't live if they keep saying you are dishonest, that you spend your time with women who are—not nice; and that you spend money that doesn't belong to you! Why Neil I would rather live on a crust than have you, my husband, do these things. You are smart and clever. It isn't necessary for you to do wrong to make a living. Do promise me, dear, that you will be different."

"All right, I will promise to be more careful," and with that I had to be content. Neil was quick tempered. If pushed too far he invariably rebelled. Then we would quarrel, and I would have accomplished nothing; less than nothing, for after we quarrelled he always refinanced, sulked for a day or two, and was altogether hard to manage. But when not crossed he was the easiest going person in the world.

I laid awake long after he slept. My life was becoming a problem; the reading of it, I mean. Had I not so passionately loved my husband, love of him faults and all, I think I might have been easier for me. But it seemed so dreadful to doubt him; so unwifely to question his integrity. I had always thought him so upright, so honest; and, had so carried myself toward him.

He had turned me off when I spoke of being economical. Had said it would hurt him if people knew we were retrenching. I could not understand why cutting out extravagance should make people doubt one, but then I knew very little of business, so probably Neil was right.

I again thought of that sheaf of unpaid bills down stairs. I would ask Neil in the morning to leave me a lot of signed checks and I would fill them out and pay every cent we owed.

In the morning when I proposed doing so to Neil, he objected.

"I don't care to use so much ready money just now. Pay a few of the smaller ones if you like and let the others go. It won't hurt them to wait a while, I expect they are robbed us, anyway."

"Oh, I don't think so, Neil, really I don't I we had the very best of everything, the most expensive. You mustn't talk as if people were cheats."

"Yet you listen to people who so designate me," A trifle bitterly.

"Not if I can help it, dear! And you know I don't believe you ever meant to wrong anyone—you have been led into these big schemes by older men."

"Well, I must be off—I'll call you if anything happens I can't get home to dinner."

"Please don't let anything happen." I urged, as I kissed him good bye.

I watched him swing down the street. He usually walked part of the way to the office in the morning, said he needed the exercise. How handsome he was, and how young he looked in his well fitting clothes. He was slender, yet broad of shoulder, and I never saw him in the street that I did not compare him to other men to their disadvantage.

When he passed out of sight I busied myself about a few household tasks until such time as I might expect Mr. Frederick. He came promptly at eleven, as he had promised.

"You always keep your word, do you not" I asked.

"Always, if possible. To what do you refer?"

"Your promptness in keeping appointments."

"Oh, not to be prompt in that respect is unforgivable! especially when the appointment is with a lady."

"I forgot to ask you about Mr. Powers the other day. Did you see him?" I queried when we were seated in the library.

"Yes—I was with him some little time."

"What did he say? Does he really think Neil is doing wrong, that his business isn't all that it should be"

"One question at a time please. Then soberly: "I will tell you as nearly as I can remember just what he said."

ANDREW WILSON & CO TORONTO AND MONTREAL

DESOLATION REIGNS NORTH OF VERDUN

VERDUN—Over the hills northwest of Verdun silence reigns. It is not the silence of peace; it is the silence of death. I have seen the Western battlefront from the coast to Switzerland; I have seen the war-torn mud of the fields of Flanders, the stretches of nothing in the valley of the Somme, the tortured terrain, where was the Chemin des Dames, the ruins of Ypres, the remnants of Soissons, the tragic shell of Rheims, but there is no scene so desolate, so stricken, so dead as hills northwest of Verdun, over which the Yankees fought a victory a year ago.

Have Filled in the Trenches.

They have filled up the trenches on many of the fronts of France, and nature and the plowman have blotted out many of the scars. The people have come back to many of the wrecked villages of other parts of France and children play amid the wreck and ruin while parents patch up shelled houses. But not so in the Meuse-Argonne. No one has been so hardy and so brave as to try to restore that barren stretch. The trenches are there yet, and the wire entanglements, and the old dugouts, and the spots of ground stained yellow by hateful mustard gas. It is there as war left it. No trees grow and no flowers bloom. Stand atop Dead Man's Hill and look as far as eye can see and there is nothing living. No human being moves in sight. The countryside has died and its resurrection is not yet.

There is no scene so dismal. Picture if you can the view. Hill after rolling hill, stretch away in all directions from this highest of them all. Innumerable brown traces of trenches wriggle across them in a thousand twists. Rows of tree stumps tell where a road once wound its way. Rusty wire in symmetrical lines runs in all directions. The onetime fields are potted as if by smallpox—like the face of a man who had died from the disease. Millions on millions of shells did that. Down there in a valley is a sort of white smudge. It was once the village of Malancourt. Its stones now make the road I just came up. Here and there sticks the head of a German pillbox, more than one of them torn by a big shell, which left the iron skeleton sticking up in rusty ugliness. The debris of war lies about. Here an abandoned wagon; there an old overturned water cart. There lies a broken rifle; here a dented helmet whose wearer paid the price.

Over atop another hill rise the ruins of Montfaucon, from which the Crown Prince watched his costly and vain effort to take Verdun. It cost many good American lives to drive the Germans from that strongpoint. Every foot of the land [illegible] there with [illegible] a shell has [illegible] and from the ground sticks [illegible] shrapnel, the armored [illegible] selection fingers of an unburied soldier. [illegible] grass—but not many. Mostly the earth the hillside brown and barren and dead. Everything is dead. The impression is the impression of desolation. It wasn't the same feeling when one saw the land filled with life, with soldiers going ahead and coming back with convoys on all the miserable roads, with the air filled with screaming shells and airplanes. It seemed a fitting arena for the mighty struggle. But now they are all gone. Everything that lived has gone. Everything is left dead.

Over to the west one sees the wooded side of the Argonne, and involuntarily one listens for the rat-tat-tat of the machine guns heard so often in the dreary weeks it took the Americans to clean out the Germans. One wonders how goes it in the elaborate and fanciful German dugouts, built on the northern slopes of these wooded hills. What ghosts play in the old motion picture theatre over there north of the Four de Paris. Is the yellow old sheet hanging crazily from the stage wire as it was twelve months ago? Is the stream still bubbling where the members of the "Lost Battalion" craved death to quench their thirst? Is it still muddy over there?

Thinking about that and almost starting that way, one sees in the distance the Stars and Stripes at the top of a white pole and remembers that is the great American cemetery at Romagne and one decides to go that way.

American Built Road Abandoned.

Up the road the Yankee engineers built from ruined villages across what for almost four years had been No Man's Land. It is bumpy and full of holes. No one has paid any attention to it since the Americans finished using it. The chalky tone makes it lie white and crooked in the sunshine. Up towards Montfaucon, past the old ammunition dump just this side of the hill, where so many traffic jams formed and where one time American wounded lay for fifty hours in trucks, while many died, I shoot up on the hill where lies the bones of the town. There on the north side is the house which shielded the entrance to the Crown Prince's dugout, and where the 3rd Division once placed its headquarters. I had to spend three hours once there because so many shells were falling atop the hill it would have been madness to try to get away. One remembers how the walls of that dugout rang when German heavies lit near by.

How Women Break Down

Owing to the modern manner of living and the nervous haste of every woman to accomplish just so much each day, they overdo, and as a consequence develop ailments peculiar to their sex, as is indicated by backache, headache, nervousness, the blues, displacements and weakness.

Women who find themselves in this condition should slow down, and depend upon that good old fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to restore them to health and strength, for there is no other remedy known that so quickly restores a healthy, normal condition.

Here is the Story of a Most Remarkable Recovery

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night, and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old, and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from me, so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."
Mrs. A. L. MILLER, 2633 East 24th St.

Surely this proves the curative value of

RECITAL AT ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

...ld St. Andrew's beautifully modu...ed organ responded to the touch of one of the most gifted of Canada's younger musicians, in the person of Dr. Ernest McMillan, of Toronto, who played last evening to a music-loving and appreciative gathering. The programme was interspersed with selections by the Conservatory Orchestra, augmented by the violins of Dr. H. G. Park, Mr. Frank Whitehouse and also Mr. Sidney Hetherington with Dr. McMillan presiding at the piano.

Interned in Germany.

Dr. McMillan is still a young man in his twenties, and was studying music in Germany when the war broke out. He was interned with Mr. Harry Field, another noted Canadian musician, who was connected with the local Conservatory for some time. Dr. McMillan continued his studies in prison, and after the war obtained his doctor's degree. He is at present unconnected with any church or musical organization, but is touring the province giving recitals to the public.

His music is grand in the extreme and the flute-like qualities of his second number from Tchaikovsky, the slow movement from his string quartette in D, recalled the bards and Minnesingers who strolled through the Old World when—

The bards sublime
Whose distant footsteps echo
Through the corridors of Time.

Equally beautiful was his opening number, the first movement of the Sonata in G, by Sir Edwin Edgar, which carried his listeners as Dryden said, "into a state of higher existance with always something more and beyond the immediate expression." His lofty Fugues adorned and graced the well-studied chords, especially the Prelude and Fugue in D, from Bach. His pieces were solemn, with that rythm which has to be heard to be appreciated. From the rising cadence he snaited back into the original pitch of melody, and in Bach's Prelude, with its introduction of scales, he broke suddenly into melody, but in such a way as to not be exposed to the musical 'lese majeste' of having too great a variety and too quick transitions from one measure or tone to another, which is contrary to the genius in music. As with all good music he excited that sinking, melting, that languor which is characteristical of the beautiful as it regards every sense and which Edgar Allan Poe designates as poetic sentiment.

Some of the numbers seemed to vie with the hurricane, with all the attending elements, and others grew gradually in volume until it seemed as if a cloud looming on the horizon suddenly became nearer until almost overwhelming and then enveloping and carried away. There were masterpieces which depicted the measured tread backwards and forwards of thousands of feet, then the stringed instruments interposed with all five tones and two semi-tones used and the diapasin rose again with that overpowering sense and yet with perfect metre, rythm and rhyme.

The Intermezzo, Harmony No: 1, was a short and light, yet much appreciated number and the organ swelled in tone and then gradually fell back into the melody which opened the piece.

Handel's Largo, played by the Conservatory Orchestra, contributed to the programme, and "The Lost Chord," a cornet solo by Mr. Rupert Gliddon, assisted by the Orchestra and Dr. McMillan, was enjoyed by everybody.

Dr. McMillan concluded the evening's programme with Hollins' Concert Overture in C Minor, and everybody naturally agreed that—

Music, thy humblest reed could more prevail
(Had more of strength diviner rage)
Than all which charms this laggard age.

SILVER DOLLARS MAY GO INTO MELTING POT

THAT IS IF RISE IN WHITE METAL GOES VERY MUCH FARTHER.

New York, Sept. 29.—The price of silver continued to climb. Thursday the metal sold in this market at $1.20 7-8 for delivery in San Francisco and $1.20 for delivery here. The former price is the highest reached in many years. According to silver experts the top is not yet in sight. China continues to buy in heavy amounts, while the rate of production, owing to labor troubles for one thing, seems to be stationary, if not tending downward. The Indian Government is still out of the market. International leaders are rather puzzled by this inactivity. They rather expect, however, that India will be compelled to resume buying several months from now when the crops begin to move. The monsoon, now drawing to a close, has been favorable, and large crops are promised. There will be in consequence, a large demand for silver rupees, which the governemnt will only be able to meet by purchasing bullion abroad.

At $1.20 7-8 an ounce the price of silver is almost within 8 cents of the gold parity of the silver dollar, which is slightly in excess of $1.29 an ounce. When the silver price passes this parity, silver dollars will possess a greater value as bullion than as coin, and there will be tendency to melt the coins. It is doubtful however, if any amount of the pieces will reach the melting pot, unless the price of the metal rises appreciably above the gold parity.

RAILWAY STRIKE IN ENGLAND, ETC.

Acts of Sabotage.

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 30.— Minor acts of sabotage have been reported in connection with the railway strike, the government announced in a communique issued to-day from Downing street. It was reported in one instance that the switches of one of the roads had been thrown. The railway service is improving, the communique stated. The distribution of food is reported as progressing satisfactorily.

Tie Up Shipping.

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.— Shipping Board officials said to-day a strike of the British transport workers may tie up practically all the shipping in the world because it would halt bunkering of ships. A Board survey showed that the world consumption of bunker coal totalled 80,000,000 tons annually and that Great Britain supplies 60,000,000 tons.

Transport Workers.

LONDON, Sept. 30. — Transport workers' strike is probably off till tomorrow anyway. After a visit to the Ministry of Labour the men's executive said a general meeting of Transport Federation has been called for to-morrow. In the meantime the executive will confer with Railwaymen's Union.

Troops Employed.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Great anxiety is felt by the people of London over the question of whether the busses and tram cars will stop working today, a continuance of this service not being regarded very hopefully. Suburban residents were able to use busses and tram cars to reach London this morning, but it is regarded as doubtful whether these means of conveyance will be available for the return trip, as it is believed the majority of licensed vehicle workers favour a strike.

Employment of troops to protect railroad property is being resented by the strikers at some places, apparently through fear that soldiers may be used as strike breakers.

The "Herald," organ for Labour, features what is describes as an ominous movement of troops and complains editorially that everything is done to give an air of violence to what, on the men's part is a peaceful, lawful movement for better wages.

Notwithstanding the strike, the government intends to keep the Irish question to the fore, and it is expected the Cabinet will again discuss a settlement of the Irish problem during the present week, according to the "Mail."

CHOICE RECIPES

Ball Hungary.

Boil two pounds of potatoes and mash them while they are warm. Add salt, pepper, one teaspoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of lard, one egg, well beaten, and one ounce of finely chopped ham. Work the mixture into a paste, form it into balls, roll them in flour and fry them in a hot frying pan or in deep fat.

Cocoanut Crisps.

Beat very stiff the whites of two eggs that have a pinch of salt, and beat into them slowly three cupfuls of toasted corn flakes, one cupful of sugar, one half cupful of shredded cocoanut, one tablespoonful of cornstarch and a few drops of vanilla. Drop the mixture on a cooky sheet from a teaspoon and bake it in a slow oven until the crisps are firm to the touch—about twenty minutes. Let them cool before you remove them from the sheet.

Hollandaise Sauce.

Divide one cupful of shortening into three pieces. Put one piece into the top of the double boiler with the yolkes of two eggs and one tablespoonful of lemon juice; place the mixture over the boiling water and stir it constantly with a wire whisk. Add the second piece of butter, and as the sauce thickens, the tird piece. Remove the sauce from over the boiling water and stir into it one quarter teaspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne pepper. One half teaspoonful of hot water and one half teaspoonful of heavy cream may be added if you wish an especially rich sauce. The success of the sauce depends on taking it from the fire at the right moment. The butter must be thoroughly melted, but if it is left over the heat a moment too long it will curdle.

Potato Johnnycake.

Peel and boil enough potatoes to make a quart when they are mashed. Have ready one quart of flour into which two gills of pure lard has been rubbed; add one teaspoonful of salt. Cream the potatoes, put them at once with the flour and mix them with sweet milk into a pliable dough. Roll the dough out thin on a cooky sheet, set it on a well-heated oven and bake it to a rich brown. The velvety and tender consistency of the bread depends on following carefully the directions and on doing it quickly.

GOOD SENSE

If you have been unfortunate enough recently to have it demonstrated to you that high rents add to the cost of living then--

You can easily understand that high Clothing store rents add to the cost of the clothes

Of course they do —and that is exactly why we went off George street, round the corner on Hunter.

There's a huge difference in rent, and our customers get it. It's sufficient to show in the clothes and in the prices, too.

You can do better at the Tartan Shop, and this is one of the reasons.

GREAT BRITAIN'S SUB SUPREMACY

Rear-Admiral Douglas L. Dent has just taken up his duties as chief of the Submarine Service. He succeeds Rear-Admiral S. S. Hall, who had been in charg of Britain's underwater flotilla since the beginning of 1915. During the four years of Admiral Hall's command the submarine service made extraordinary progress. When the war opened this country was by no means well supplied with effective submarines. She possessed a great many boats, but the majority were too small for ocean going duty, whereas all but two of th German boats were capable of longer voyages. Lord Fisher lost no time in making good the deficiency, and placed big contracts for submarines of various types, including the 2400-ton steam-driven "K" boats. Altogether about 150 new submarines were built or ordered during the war. Their duties were of the most diverse character. In addition to maintaining a continuous patrol of the German coast, they hobbed in convoy food ships and transports, and themselves sank 20 German U-boats besides dozens of enemy surface craft. Face Peeling Easy-- Blonde or Brunette

"The blonde's complexion fades early, because her skin is extraordinarily thin and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavalieri. The brunettes as a rule is the reverse. The skin is thicker and has a tendency to an oily appearance.

For either the faded blonde's skin or the brunette's oily or sallow complexion, the best remedy is ordinary mercolized wax. Used every night, this will give one an entirely new complexion within about a week's time. The wax gradually peels off the worn-out surface skin, with all its defects, a little each day, without affecting the delicate underskin in the least. The latter will have the exquisitely beautiful glow of youth —indeed, as may readily be seen ten or fifteen years from her age, so far as appearance goes, by a course of this simple treatment. The wax, procurable at any drug store, is applied like cold cream.

CINCINNATI IS BASEBALL CRAZY ON EVE OF FIRST GAME IN THE WORLD'S SERIES

FANS WERE UP EARLY THIS MORNING WATCHING THE RIVAL TEAMS DEMOLISH HAM AND EGGS—TICKET SCALPERS HOLD AUCTION SALES AT HIGH PRICES—INDUSTRY SLOWS UP FOR THE EVENT.

By Henry L. Farrell.
(Canadian Press.)

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 1.— This is the day. Before night, the all important first game of the 1919 world series will have been won and lost, and there will be at least some slight relief from the tension that has gripped the followers of the White Sox and the Reds for the last forty-eight hours. Anxious eyes turned weatherward at daybreak, saw clouds that appeared to hold a fifty-fifty possibility of rain. Cincinnati's forecaster, however, became immensely popular by drawing strong on his local pride and issuing a bulletin declaring the danger of rain to-day was slight. The rival pitching selections seemed to-day to be a settled thing. Moran has announced that Walter Ruether, his young southpaw, will start for the Reds. Cicotte, it was generally accepted, will draw the star role for the Sox. If Cicotte pitches, Wingo probably will catch for Cincinnati, with Schalk a receiving certainty for Chicago. Perhaps the ball players had a bit of sleep last night, but if they did they were about the only element of this baseball fevered public so favored. Early hours saw hotel lobbies and other haunts of visiting fans filled with early risers who were more than ready to abandon their ten to a room quarters betimes. Around the White Sox lair hundreds of fans were on hand early to get a glance at Gleason's stars. The local lobby was reminiscent of a subway crush. When the Sox warriors finally forced their way into the breakfast room the crowd shoved after them. The Chicagoans unconcernedly went about the business of demolishing ham, eggs and such things. It was an old story to them. They have seen a world series before. Across the street at another hotel, Pat Moran breakfasted with a few cronies. A few of the Reds appeared, but most of them remained at home until the morning was well advanced. The baseball crowds received a noteworthy addition early to-day when a special train from Chicago unloaded Owner Chas. Comiskey. The Chicago fans at once started a keen hunt for Cincinnati money. Some bets were made at 8 to 5 with the Sox favourites. There was little Red money at that price, however. Ticket scalpers registered a new one to-day. Box and grand stand seats of the first game were auctioned and bidding was brisk. No attempt was made by the authorities to prevent auction sales. One speculator declared the government agents would get the excess war tax on all sales. Many seats were bid up twice the regular price charged by the clubs. Every seat in Redland Field was sold before last night and an attendance of almost 30,000 seemed assured. Last year 19,000 persons attended the opening game of the series at Chicago. Redland probably will pack the stands at every game played here. Ground rules to cover a hit into the portions of the outfield where standing room was being sold, were made known to-day. Hits into the crowd in left field will go for two bases; in the other fields three. Hits into the stands of course will be home runs. Industrial wheels of Cincinnati didn't turn with normal speed to-day. Many business houses and factories will close this afternoon for the opener.

FAR WEATHER FOR THE OPENING WORLD'S SERIES

(Canadian Press.)

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—Fair weather prevailed this morning and gave promise that the first world's series game between the Chicago White Sox and Cincinnati Reds would be played at Redland Field this afternoon. The forecast is for unsettled weather, but the local forecaster said he did not think it would rain, at any rate, enough to interfere with the game.

WHAT CLUB LEADERS SAY

WEATHER CAST SKY GREETED WORLD SERIES FANS.

(United Press.)

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 1.—An overcast sky greeted the world series fans here to-day. The day was warm. Official forecasts for this afternoon predicted cloudy weather with little likelihood of rain.

WHAT THE LEADERS SAY:

Kid Gleason, Manager of the White Sox:

"I am confident we will win the first game, and we will take the series in less than nine games. The Sox are a game club and they can play ball. They will win."

Moran, Manager of the Reds:

"A majority of the experts say we will lose. Baseball seldom follows form and figures. I have a hunch that we will surprise some of the wise ones, but they won't surprise me. The Reds will win."

Eddie Collins, Captain of the White Sox:

"We have a regular ball club. The boys are full of confidence. It will be hard to beat us, and I feel sure we are going to win."

Heinie Groh, Captain of the Reds:

"The same spirit that helped us upset the dope in the National League will help us win the world series. The Reds expect to win, and they will."

Most of the labour members of the Commons also were present. It was expected that the transport workers would demand a general strike of all trades, but a considerable difference of opinion existed, some of the delegates being inclined to ask for a ballot of members of the organizations before reaching a decision.

J. H. Thomas, railwaymen's leader, on entering the meeting, said he was still using all his influence to confine the dispute to the original participants, the government and railwaymen. Most of the delegates expressed the opinion that conciliation was possible.

BATHING GIRLS HERE TO-MORROW

PUBLIC WILL HAVE A CHANCE TO LOOK THEM OVER.

"Making comedy is tragic business" says Mack Sennett, the king of film farce-makers, whose laugh makers are known to the screen the world around and whose wonderful Bathing Beauties from his California studios are to appear on the stage of the Grand on Thursday and Friday, in connection with Sennett's greatest fun production to date, "Jack Canuck in Berlin."

There are weary lines in the rugged "fighting" face under the gray hair of Mack Sennett, but the light in the gray-blue eyes shows that he knows just what the lights and shades of life are worth; as behooves a "king of laughter," he has a sense of humor and can't take life too seriously.

Mack Sennett is the pioneer in the motion picture comedy game; he is to the comedy part of cinema productions what D. W. Griffith is to the dramatic part. To Sennett's genius motion picture followers owe the development of such men as Charlie Chaplin, "Fatty" Arbuckle and Ford Sterling, and such a woman as Mabel Normand. It was his judgment and his money, added to their ability, that brought them to the point where the world in general laughed at them.

"My chief concern in the whole matter is the serious side of comedy—it isn't serious, it's tragic. I have been in this comedy game ten years, and I've averaged a comedy a week in this time—520 in my career. For ten years, week after week, I have produced something funny, something that has made millions laugh. Not everything that I turned out was good, of course; I'm not conceited enough to think that. But many of them were good, and some of them were better than good."

"There is nothing new under the sun. For centuries the men who have made the world laught have been employing the same old tricks to do it. That's my game—thinking of new laughter situations made up of old, old material. I have contracted to furnish a Mack Sennett comedy every two weeks. Scenario writers can't give me these comedies. Some of them may give me idea. But the comedies themselves I must work out. I must supply the detail. I must see to it that they are properly proportioned.

"I am something of a psychologist," says Mr. Sennett. "I study as well as make laughter. Laughter, you know is universal. People in China or the Fiji Islands will laugh as heartily as the American public and at the same picture or series of pictures.

"To meet the demand made upon me I have to be at work subconsciously at all times. No matter where I am, what I am doing, or whom I am with, my subconscious mind is always looking for 'material.' I watch men drink their coffee, and try to get a wheeze out of the sight of a woman crossing the street. I have even caught myself trying to get a laugh out of a funeral procession."

GOOD MUSIC IN "HIS BRIDAL NIGHT"

PLENTY OF LAUGHS AND SUPER-ABUNDANCE OF CLEAN, CLEVER WIT.

Widespread interest is being manifested in the coming to the Grand on Saturday, matinee and night, of the charming musical comedy, "His Bridal Night." The book is by Margaret Mayo, who gave to the stage such big laughing successes as "Twin Beds," "Baby Mine," and others equally well known, while the music has been supplied by Frederick V. Bowers, one of the best known composers of the present day. A super-abundance of clean, clever wit and embellishment of many kinds, all tend to give this production a top-notch record. Plenty of laughs and a constant string of jingly, catchy music are what the comedy lover requires, and in "His Bridal Night," it is claimed he gets all he seeks and more. The plot of the piece hinges around the complications which confront a bridegroom who is unable to distinguish his bride from her sister. Shortly after the marriage ceremony is performed a quarrel ensues between the "newly weds," and the fun commences when the sister-in-law, in a spirit of revenge, resulting from a disagreement with her sister, palms herself off on the groom as his wife. It is a merry and unusual predicament in which he finds himself, and it is made the merrier by the capable work of the players, who enter into the spirit of the affair with the utmost zest.

Robert Knight a singing comedian of rare ability, will be seen in the role of the perplexed husband, while the Crisp Twins, who bear to each other a striking resemblance, owing to the many humorous situations arising from mistaken identity, the desired plausibility, appear in the roles of the sisters. Frank Cullen will appear as the butler, while others prominent in the cast include Bertha Julian Charles Bennet, Clarice Grey and Beatrice Lett. The piece is replete with ingratiating melodies.

DORENWEND'S SUPERB DISPLAY OF HAIR GOODS

At Empress Hotel on Monday and Tuesday, October 6th and 7th, will be included a showing of their newest and latest styles for both ladies and gentlemen. Advice on anything pertaining to hair is offered to those who call at this display.

POLICE HELD THE CROWDS BACK

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE NOTORIOUS "MICKEY" IN TORONTO.

Sixteen solid weeks of the biggest business ever done in the city of Toronto, so much so that police reserves had to be used at every performance to assist in handling the large crowds, and such a happy, smiling crowd they were, all imbued with the spirit of "Mickey". After being witnessed by close on to 350,000 people, "Mickey" the big super-production, appeared for another week at the Grand Opera House.

To say "Mickey" is a sensation is putting it mildly. "Mickey" is a veritable farore, a large-sized riot of surprises, laughter, thrilling scenes and lovably human emotions all thrown together in one big mass of entertainment. "Mickey" will be at the Grand on Oct. 13th, 14th and 15th.

WATER NYMPHS ARE PHYSICALLY FIT

THEY GO TO BED EARLY AND GET UP EARLY, MAYBE—HOW THEY LIVE.

Mack Sennett's famous bathing nymphs, who appear in person at the Grand, Thursday and Friday, in connection with the latest and greatest Sennett comedy, "Jack Canuck in Berlin," have come all the way from the Southern California studios of the comedy king to give a fillip to the initial exhibition of the film.

Nowhere, except in California could be found such glowing, gloriously healthy, effervescent little maidens as the Sennett beauties who are seen in a prologue of elaborate staging and brilliant lighting effects, that enhance their charms.

From custom, every one has come to expect something erotic and artificial about the professional beauty. Motion pictures, however, have brought into being a brand-new type. The young lady with the lap dog, the seal coat and the "friend" would not last a week at the Sennett studio. All these little girls that you see on the screen in the Sennett comedies live practically the lives of college boys in football training. They go to bed early; get up early and report at the studio made up and ready to go to work at 8:30 a.m.

They all ride and swim and shoot. You could get up a team of practiced boat women at the Sennett studio who could handle a seine boat in the heaviest kind of surf.

This is their first and probably their last public appearance, because a similar occasion for their release from the customary seclusion is not likely to arise again.

"HIS BRIDAL NIGHT" HERE SATURDAY

THE COMPLICATIONS OF A HONEY-MOON TRIP.

"His Bridal Night," one of the best known and most successful of musical farces, will be the offering at the Grand on Saturday, matinee and evening. The book was written by none other than Margaret Mayo, the author of "Twin Beds" and other famous farces, while the musical score is by Frederick V. Bowers, one of the leading American composers. Together they have succeeded in placing before the public a really delightful entertainment. Although of a more or less suggestive title there is nothing objectionable about the story or its interpretation by the excellent company which has been provided. The piece never lags in interest, and there have been introduced many novel and unexpected twists and turns. In brief it concerns a puzzled bridegroom who finds himself in the embarrasing predicament of not knowing which one of two twins he married. In a spirit of pique his bride resents the mystery" of and the sister, prompted by a purely unattached motive, flies away with the bridegroom on a honeymoon. From then on the complications are many, the unravelling of which occasions hilarious mirth on the part of the spectators. In the part of the distressed husband will be seen Robert Knight, mystery-maker whose individual style is most engaging. The Crisp Twins will portray the roles of the sisters while Charles Bennett, Frank Cullen, Bertha Julian, Clarice Grey, Beatrice Lett and other well known players will all help to make this attraction a most alluring one.

Frank Keenan, whose success in the screen version of "The Bells," was a notable artistic and amusement event in New York, where it was the week's attraction at the Rialto, received many congratulations by wire and letter The strongest one, however, was from a man who concealed his identity under the name of Conscience and it read:

"Owe you priceless [illegible] for my awakening, after years of hypocrisy and deceit, I did not kill a man—I was a contemptible thief. I had killed my conscience. You, with "The Bells," have brought me resurrection. I have seen you in "The Sin Ye Do," now in this instance my gratitude goes out to you for "The Good Ye Do." God Bless You!"

Henry Irving firmly established himself as the foremost actor of the English speaking stage by his portrayal of Mathias in "The Bells," which tells the story of the murder of a rich traveler by a deb-barried innkeeper in Alsace. The sleigh bells heralded the coming of the stranger and their accusing sound, through years of torture rang in the ears of the guilty man when he had become burgomaster of the town and its wealthiest and most respected citizen. And this haunting sound, heard only in the depths of his guilty soul, finally drives him from the white and crimson memory of the winter's night out into the great darkness.

RUSSIANS NOW ON TRIAL

OF THE FIVE FOREIGNERS WILL BE CHARGED SEPARATELY

Shortly at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Grand Jury brought in true bills of murder against each of the five foreigners accused of murdering one of their countrymen, Philip Yannof near Havelock last 22nd of June. The charge read collectively, was robbery and murder, but each of the accused will be tried separately.

The five prisoners were escorted into the court room and three of them, Michael Bahri, Thomas Konek and Alexander Martinoff were placed in the prisoner's box, while Philip Rotuski stood on the left hand side and Samuel Zaluski with his returned soldiers button, stood at attention on the right hand side of the box. All were well dressed, much better than the day of their arrest, and seemed very confident and self-assured. They sat perfectly quiet as the charges were read to them and retired in an orderly manner when Court was adjourned. Mr. G. N. Gordon is appearing for Michael Bahri and Alexander Martinoff and Mr. W. [illegible]sery of Toronto is conducting the defence for Rotuski, Koneh, and Zaluski.

Mr. T. J. Rigney, of Kingston, fresh from his laurels in his home town, where his client, James Hardwick, was acquitted of murdering his stepson, is conducting the prosecution for the Crown.

Address to Grand Jury.

His Lordship addressed the Grand Jury on their coming duties and admonished them not to follow in the rut of some other Grand Juries, but make a thorough inspection of public institutions and make a report back to the Court.

"Don't be a mere echo of other Grand Juries, but report anything that in your opinion ought to be rectified."

Sir William then spoke of the limited powers that courts have in the matter of deporting aliens as in the present murder trial. He thought that the powers of a court should be enlarged so that undesirables could be deported. Under the present system if the Government deports men pressure is brought to bear by interested parties and the sentence is either cancelled or called off. He took as an example the case of men in Winnipeg, who were committed to jail, and what was threatened against them by the immigration authorities, but how they miserably fell down because of pressure brought to bear on the Government. His Lordship was of the opinion that such matters should be put within the jurisdiction of the Court, which is outside the influence of any Government.

His Lordship still works by Daylight Saving time and accordingly Court re-opened this morning at four o'clock instead of the usual 10 o'clock.

HON. I B. LUCAS FAILS TO UNDERSTAND

Special to The Examiner

Lindsay, Sept. 30.—Hon. I. B. Lucas, in referring in Lindsay to the action of the U. F. O. in the campaign which they have launched like many other [illegible] members included, could not understand why the U. F. O. deliberately put up a candidate against every Conservative farmer representative in the Hearst Government with the exception of possibly one; even Messrs Henry, Minister of Agriculture, MrDiarmid and Mcdonald, all good men who were taken right off the farm into Parliament, were being opposed by farmers. This was hard to understand in the face of the fact that they were giving their best service to the country and at all times tried to advance legislation in the interest of agriculture. The attorney general intimated that there was something else behind the U.F.O. and the farmers throughout the county should not be sidetracked or hoodwinked by manipulators of the U. F. O. who worked from headquarters at Toronto.

MUST NOT BURN LEAVES ON STREET

The attention of the public is drawn to the fact that the City Council of 1918 decided that the burning of leaves on the street is unlawful. The practice of burning of leaves is dangerous Wind is apt to carry the fire and children are drawn by the fire and are in danger of being burned or of scattering the fire and thereby unintentionally causing loss of property. This practice of burning leaves close to the street is destructive also, as the heat from the fire tends to injure the sidewalks.

It is the intention of the authorities to see that this law is rigidly enforced in future.

A copy of new legislation respecting the matter of fire prevention:

Section five hundred and fifteen of the Criminal Code is amended by adding the following sub-section, immediately before sub-section two thereof:

(1) Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years imprisonment who by negligence causes any fire which occasions loss of life or loss of property.

(2) Every person owning or controlling any premises in which such fire occurs or on which such fire originates shall be deemed to have caused the fire through negligence if such person has failed to obey the requirements of any law intended to prevent fires or which requires apparatus for the extinguishment of fires or to facilitate the escape of persons in the event of fire, if the jury finds that such fire, or the loss of life, of the whole or any substantial part of the loss of property, would not have occurred if such law had been complied with.

2. The said Act is further amended by inserting immediately after Section five hundred and fifteen the following section:

When any Dominion, Provincial or Municipal fire officer or authority recommends to the owner, lessee or other person controlling or operating any building, structure, factory, shipyard, vessel, dock wharf, pier, sawmill or yard in which logs or lumber are stored or held, that any reasonable change, alteration or addition should be made in or to such building, structure, factory, shipyard, vessel, dock, wharf, pier, sawmill or yard with a view to safeguarding life or property from destruction by fire, or that any material should be removed therefrom with such view, or that any apparatus should be supplied therefor with such view, and if such recommendation is approved by an officer in the service of His Majesty, thereto, authorized by the Governor in Council; and if notice of such recommendation and approval has been served personally upon such owner, lessee or other person; and if, after the expiration of thirty days from the receipt of such notice such owner, lessee or other person refuses, neglects or otherwise fails to carry out such recommendations to the satisfaction of the officer in the service of His Majesty hereinbefore mentioned, such owner, lessee or other person shall be guilty of an indictable offence and shall be liable to a fine of not exceeding one thousand dollars, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or to both such fine and imprisonment.

The foregoing extracts from the Criminal Code demonstrate clearly the extent to which the Government is backing up the recommendation of the Fire Chiefs of the Dominion and of such other persons or associations that are interested in this matter of lessening the large fire waste in Canada.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 30.—City and county police are searching for two youths of 16 and 17 years, who, after attempting to wreck a Grand Trunk express by piling ties on the tracks near the Cove bridge on Sunday, opened fire on Track Inspector Joseph Yeo, of London, wounding him twice in the head.

Yeo arrived in time to remove the obstruction, and then chased the youths into the woods, where they shot him.

JUDGMENT FOR THE PLAINTIFF

MRS. MARY ANN STRONG WINS ALIMONY CASE

The case of Mary Ann Strong of Cavan Township against her husband, Henry Strong, for alimony was quickly disposed of yesterday afternoon at the Fall Assizes. Mr. J. G. Guise-Bagley appeared for Mrs. Strong, but Mr. Strong did not appear to defend the action and judgment was accordingly given for the plaintiff. She recovered a team of carriage horses, a set of single harness, double harness, 20 head of poultry, a buggy, sleigh and $117 in cash.

Judgment Granted.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, acting as agent for a Toronto firm of barristers, moved for the postponement of the Hart versus Greenland case. The Toronto firm represents the defendant, Mr. Arthur Greenland, claiming that he was too ill to go on with the trial and that he is absolutely necessary as a material witness. Mr. G. N. Gordon for the complainant, Mrs. Hart, who is claiming $2,101.43 mortgage in her favor, contested the postponement, stating the move on the part of the defendant was only to gain time and that the property in question is rapidly deteriorating. Mr. Gordon's objection was taken by His Lordship and the plaintiff received judgment.

PREMIER BORDEN WILL GO SOUTH

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Although rumors that Sir Robert Bordon is seriously ill are discounted by his friends, it is announced to-day that under the advice of doctors, the Premier will leave for the South this week for a month's rest. The strain of the four years has been so great that he is thoroughly run down and requires absolute rest. Liberal unionist supporters of the Government including Hon. Rowell, Mewburn and Calder, attended the caucus this morning of that branch of the Unionist party. On Thursday there will be general Government caucus, at which it is expected the Premier will be present and following which he will leave Ottawa.

THINK TANLAC THE FINEST ON EARTH

HUSBAND AND WIFE ARE BOTH PRAISING IT FOR GOOD IT HAS DONE THEM

"I am still praising Tanlac," writes Daniel J. Hickey, of 217 Euclid avenue, Toronto, in a recent communication received from him at the Tanlac office.

Mr. Hickey has lived in Toronto all his life, being employed at the Dominion Steel Works, and his statement in which he tells how Tanlac relieved him of a long-standing case of stomach trouble and rheumatism, attracted widespread attention when it was first published. In corroboration of her husband's statement, Mrs. Hickey also relates her own wonderful experience with this medicine as follows:

"I had a most terrible trouble for six years," said Mrs. Hickey, "and was in such a terrible condition that I had to stay in bed four or five months every year. My energy was completely gone and when I was up I was too weak to even sweep the floor. I had no appetite and what little I forced down did me hardly any good. My skin was pale and sallow and I could hardly sleep at night.

"My husband was taking Tanlac and he improved so fast that I decided to try too, and since taking a few bottles I am now in better condition than I have been in several years. My nervousness is all gone; my appetite is fine and I sleep like a child at night. From the way Tanlac has fixed me up, both my husband and I think it is about the finest medicine there is."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by C. Pringle and Son.

RESTOCKING LAKES WITH CAR OF PARENT BASS

A car of parent black bass for Stoney and Clear lake will arrive at Lakefield on Friday and will be transported to their destination by the steamer "Empress." They are being forwarded in the Ontario Government fish car "Beaver" from the bass ponds at Mt. Pleasant. Mr. Frank Young is arranging for the transportation of the fish from Lakefield for the restocking of Stoney and Clear lakes.

TEMPORARY BRIDGE AT SIMCOE STREET

WILL SOLVE TRAFFIC PROBLEM AND ELIMINATE BRANCH FIRE HALL.

A temporary bridge across the river at Simcoe street is expected not only to solve the traffic difficulties that have practically closed Hunter street as an avenue to the East Ward, but also to obviate the necessity of providing a branch fire station for Ashburnham this year. In proposing this solution, Ald Phelan was cognizant of the city's problems developing out of the construction of the Hunter street bridge and evidently had the approval of the Russel-Townsend Company who will carry out the work as part of their contract. The temporary bridge will be undertaken at once and is expected to be completed in a few weeks. It is esthmated to cost slightly more than $4,000 and there will be $1,200 salvage from it when it is torn down.

This bridge will be stout enough to support all ordinary traffic including the motor chemical truck of the fire department, and with the co-operation of the C. P. R. in keeping the sidings to the Quaker Oats company clear of cars at the street crossing the city should have an easy access to Ashburnham. On the east side of the river the roadway will be laid immediately north of the Riverside Park and will extend across several lots to the Brewery Lane.

MR. C. S. CUMMER WILL BE IN CHARGE MERCHANTS BANK

A BRANCH WILL BE OPENED ON SIMCOE STREET.

That business and manufacturing conditions of Peterboro are quite satisfactory, and the future of the city bright, must be the opinion of the Board of Directors of the Merchant's Bank of Canada, which has decided to open a branch in Peterboro, for the transaction of general banking business.

Premises have been secured in the store on Simcoe street, just at the rear of the Turnbull building, which is now being fitted up as temporary offices, and will be open to the public for business on, or about the 10th of October.

The Merchant's Bank of Canada is one of the largest banking institutions in the Dominion, and one of the strongest. It was established in 1864 and has 335 agencies in Canada, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

It has assets upwards of $181,000,000, deposits upwards of $150,000,000, capital upwards of $7,000,000, and a rest account of $7,574,000.

As a feature in connection with its general banking business it conducts a special Rural Service Department whom it serves throughout which is greatly appreciated by those whom is serves.

The Manager of the Peterboro Branch will be Mr. C. S. Cummer, who has been a visitor to Peterboro more or less during the past 18 years.

NUXATED IRON

"Say, Doctor, This Prescription Works Like Magic."

Physician Says Nuxated Iron Quickly Puts Astonishing Strength and Energy into the Veins of Men and Brings Roses to the Cheeks of Nervous, Run-Down Women.

Ask the first hundred strong, healthy people you meet to what they owe their strength and see how many reply "Nuxated Iron." Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "Thousands of people suffer from iron deficiency but do not know what to take. There is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron, to enrich the blood, make beautiful, healthy women, and strong, vigorous iron men. To make absolutely sure that my patients get real organic iron and not some form of the metallic variety, I always prescribe Nuxated Iron in its original packages. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances."

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sullivan can be obtained from any good druggist with or without a physician's prescription on an absolute manufacturers' guarantee of success or money refunded.

IN MEMORIAM

In proud and loving memory of Pte. Edward W. Payne, who made the supreme sacrifice on October the 1st., 1916.
Dear Edward how we miss you
As the weeks and years pass by
But it is God's blessed promise
That we shall meet thee in the sky.

Short and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all
The blow was great and the shock severe.
We little though his death so near
And only those who love can tell
The pain at not saying the last farewell.

IN MEMORIAM.

COLLINS.—In loving memory of Pte. George H. Collins, who fell asleep in Jesus on Sept. 30, 1918, at Queen's Military Hospital, Kingston, Ont.:
We shall meet him in the morning,
Together we shall stand
Join in the heavenly music in the choir of angel land,
There there will be no parting; there tears are wiped away,
And God shall have the glory through one eternal day.
—Father, Mother, Brothers and Sisters.

WILL LOSE ON SUGAR.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—There are about 150,000 pounds of sugar, or five carloads, at different points in Ontario, sold at Halifax at $13.90 per hundred pounds, which will have to be sold at cost or less than cost in obedience to order of the Board of Commerce, Mr. J. S. Lundy, representative of the Attorney-General, is tracing up this sugar and has found a carload at St. Catharines and another at Windsor. The other three carloads have not yet been found. The receivers were willing to sell at cost price plus freight, but the addition of the latter brings the retail price to more than 12 cents a pound, and consequently they cannot sell even at cost.
While it is a hardship on the purchasers, the order of the board as it affects this sugar will be enforced.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN CLARKE.

The death occurred very suddenly in Millbrook of Mrs. John Clarke, wife of the Chief of the Fire Department of that town. Mrs. Clarke had been out motoring the night previous with Mr. and Mrs. Collins, and was in her usual health. She arose at the accustomed hour, and prepared the breakfast. While working in the kitchen she was seized with a weak spell and expired before her daughter, who was in the next room, could reach her.

The late Mrs. Clarke was one of Millbrook's most estimable citizens, and the news of her sudden death cast a gloom over the whole village. In addition to her husband, she leaves five daughters, Mrs. Conless, of Maple; Mrs. McAndrews, Toronto; Mrs. Armstrong, Rocanvilla, Sask.; Miss Florence, Toronto; and Miss Lillie, of Millbrook; and one son, Douglas, of the Bank of Toronto, Winnipeg.

MRS. JOHN KERR.

On Monday there passed peacefully into rest at the home of her niece Mrs. James Dawson, Millbrook, one of the old and highly respected residents of this part of the country, in the person of Mrs. John Kerr, relict of the late John Kerr, formerly of South Monaghan.

The deceased lady had been ill for some weeks past as the result of a fall but previous to this and in spite of her advanced years, she was very bright and active. Being of a very cheerful disposition she endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact and was ever ready to lend a helping hand to all who were sick or in trouble, and her unselfish ministrations at such times are well known, and her passing will be sincerely regretted by all who were privileged to know her.

Her husband predeceased her 11 years ago, but she leaves behind to mourn the loss of a loving mother, a family of eight, four sons and four daughters: John J., of Souris; George and Joseph, of Vancouver; Robert, of Stettler, Alta.; Mrs. Proctor and Mrs. English, of Chilliwack, B. C.; Mrs. Armour, of New Westminster, and Miss Annie, a teacher in Didsbury, Alta.

Besides these there are several grandchildren: Mr. Harry Kerr of Peterboro creamery, being a grandson.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family and relatives.

PHILOSOPHY IS PROBABILITY

Philosophy goes no farther than probabilities, and the probability that a pair of Dr. Fowler's "Pebio" Glasses will suit your eyes is good philosophy. That is a good way to reason it out, and the next best thing to do is to act on the decision, and come in and have an eye examination. You will get an expert opinion as to their condition that may mean very much to you if followed.

A very pretty wedding took place at Christ church in Sweetsburg, Province of Quebec, on the afternoon of Sept. 24th, 1919, the Rev. R. W. P. Lewis, of Lachine, Montreal, officiating, when, in the presence of a large number of friends, Miss Lille Davis of Sweetsburg, and Mr. E. E. Styles, of Peterborough, both formerly of Surrey, England, were united in matrimony. The bride was given away by Col. Jas. Bulman, of Sweetsburg. The bride's dress was of cream silk, veil and orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white cream roses, being attended by two flower girls.

The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue serge. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome set of furs. They were also the recipients of very many costly and useful presents.

After the dinner at the bride's home the happy couple departed by the 4.53 C.P.R. train for western cities, and on their return will reside in Peterborough.

HARVEST FESTIVAL SERVICE HELD IN THE WARSAW ANGLICAN CHURCH

...WAS TASTEFULLY DECORATED FOR THE OCCASION—WARSAW NEWS OF INTEREST.

...SAW, Oct. 1.—In the Anglican ... there was a special harvest thanksgiving service. The church was prettily and tastefully decorated with grain, fruit, vegetables, and flowers. The ladies of the congregation ... great credit.

In the absence of a regular minister, Rev. Robert took the service in the Baptist Church last Sunday morning. Rev. J. D. P. Knox has already won many friends by his sincerity and ... manliness.

The Presbyterian Sunday School was represented at the Rally service Sunday morning, but very few adults were present. The programme of service, with the subject of which was excellent. Rev. Hoath ... conducted the service.

Mr. Archibald reorganized the Sunday School, with Mrs. George Choate ... Superintendent, Miss ... organist, and Miss Ruby ... secretary-treasurer. Rev. Mr. ... will conduct the Bible ... Quite a number of children ... present, and Mr. Archibald gave a talk for about a half-hour, and ... their attention, talking on ... g. Every Lord's Day is ... giving day. But we especially give thanks at this time because ... mand was given to the Israelites to keep the Feast of Tabernacles ... the harvest was garnered. its regular meeting on the afternoon of Thursday, 9th October. At 2.30. There is some business to be transacted and Dr. Munro will give a talk on "Medical Inspection of Schools." The school teachers would like the subject of "Hot Lunches" discussed also.

The Referendum committee met on Friday evening in the Methodist church. Some literature was distributed, scrutineers appointed and other business done. Unless a special meeting is called the next meeting will be held Friday, Oct. 10th in the Baptist church.

Ladies' Aid Society.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid held its regular meeting at the home of the President, Mrs. David Taylor. Owing to corn-cuttings, threshings, etc., not many of the members were present. Quilting, knitting and sewing were worked at for an hour and a half, when the meeting was closed with the Mizpah Benediction, after which the hostess served a supper which all enjoyed.

A special meeting of the Aid was called for Monday afternoon at the Manse for the purpose of transacting some business. This meeting was well attended. After the business meeting the hostess served tea, which was lovely and enjoyed by all.

A Good Crop.

Corn cutting is the order of the day and the weather has been splendid for it. Most of the corn is in good condition and in many cases a good crop in spite of the unfavourable season.

Wild grapes were never more plentiful than they are this year.

The recent winds have taken many apples off the trees.

Peterborough Roads.

Dr. and Mrs. Munro, little Jean Munro and Miss Edith Tucker returned from their motor trip to Tilsonburg, Nairn and other points on Tuesday evening. The roads in the other counties were splendid. Peterborough roads seem to be about the worst in the province.

Hydro-Electric.

Now is the time for Warsaw people to strike for the Hydro-Electric. We are told that the main power line is to run along the south boundary of Dummer and if three people to the mile will put it in the company will run lines out.

A Wind Storm.

Thursday morning's wind storm put the Warsaw telephone line out of business for a time. This time it was put in order before evening.

Personals.

Mr. Allan Taylor has returned home after spending the summer in the west.

Miss Marjorie Harstone of Blythes-wood, is visiting with her aunt, Mrs. Richard Batten and other relatives near Warsaw.

Miss Kilburn, of Apsley, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McIlvena.

Mr. Ernest Batten, who spent the spring and summer in the west, has returned home.

Mr. Ed. Bell strained his wrist and arm while helping with the corn-cutting at Mr. Allan Payne's, and has been unable to use the hand since.

Mrs. Alex. Calder is spending a few days with Mrs. Ernest Carveth.

Mr. and Mrs. William Watts and two of their children are visiting with Mr. Wm. Watt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Watts.

Mr. Langley, Lakefield, was in the village last Sunday.

Mr. Wm. Choate, Chicago, is visiting at the home of his nephew, Mr. Arthur Choate.

Many Warsaw residents took in the Lakefield Fair last Wednesday.

Some men just can't foot a bill without kicking.

Suspect is not a friend's word, but rather his meaning.

Forward, CANADA!

THROUGH sacrifice, Canada has gained the respect and admiration of all people.

The years of War that deprived Canada of so many of her bravest sons, have given her greater self-reliance and wider vision. The world has come to expect great things of Canada.

Our army has set us the highest example — to persevere and to succeed.

Canada has the fundamentals of success — strong, virile men, resolute and devoted women, and unbounded resources. In the readjustment of Canada's affairs, as in the affairs of the world, money plays a leading part.

The transition from War to Peace is long, tedious, costly; it takes money, time and effort to beat swords into plowshares. Men cannot drop their arms and return immediately to their former occupations.

War has left Canada a heritage of obligations.

War has left Canada—and the world—face to face with problems that are new and gigantic.

Money is required to discharge these obligations and to solve these problems.

Canada therefore is about to ask her citizens once more to lend their money to enable her to fulfil her obligations to her soldiers and to maintain the country in prosperity

Canada can, if Canada will, march straight on to her glorious destiny.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities, Unsurpassed."

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 2ND, 1919.

THE FIGHT IS ON.

The Liberal convention to-night is the first gun of the battle in West Peterboro. To-morrow night the new alliance of farmers and labor men will convene for the purpose of endeavoring to secure a candidate to take the field under the banner of the U. F. O. And Monday has been announced as the date of the getting together of the Conservative camp followers. Two weeks from that date is election day, so that the campaign will be one of the shortest political fights that West Peterboro has known. The candidates will have scarcely time to hold meetings in all parts of the riding and some of the townships may have to depend upon the newspapers for their campaign information. It will be a brief sharp fight, and, the majority of the people are undoubtedly satisfied to have it so, although many of them are not slow in condemning Sir William Hearst for keeping the announcement of the date of polling back as long as possible in the hope of gaining some political advantage for his harassed party.

SPEAKING OF HYDRO.

Dr. Dewart's references to the Hydro-Electric Commission in his address at Whitby will be appreciated by those who realize that the Ontario Government in claiming all the credit for the success of the public-owned power system, in endeavoring to secure votes on the strength of an achievement that was made possible only by the faith and energy of the municipalities of the province. The people of Ontario know, or should know, that the Hydro system had no more bitter enemies anywhere than could be found in the ranks of the Conservative Government of Ontario. They remember the fight that Sir Adam Beck had to make against the opposition of members of the Whitney Government. They realize that Sir Adam, even now, is handicapped by a continuance of that same opposition to such an extent that it is possible that he will run as an independent candidate in the present election.

"What in the name of common sense has Premier Hearst got to do with Hydro?" Mr. Dewart asks. "Hydro is the result of the loyalty of the municipalities backed by the energy of Sir Adam Beck."

THE GRATUITY QUESTION.

Some of the statements made by Sergt. Flynn, President of the United Veterans' League before the Soldiers' Re-establishment Committee yesterday, will not serve to increase the probability of the concession of any general system of gratuity to the soldiers. When the representative of the new organization declared that the policy his organization wanted the country to adopt, would involve the paying of $1,000 to all men who had served in Canada, even to drafted men who were given leave to go back to the farms and consequently did no soldiering, he exposed only one of the many inconsistencies involved in the gratuity scheme as laid down by the United Veterans' League. Mr. Flynn's argument was that it is impossible to satisfy the majority unless there is one scheme to benefit the whole. He flatly insisted on $2,000 bonus to those who served in France, $1,500 to those who served in England and $1,000 to those who served in Canada. A policy that without taking into consideration the enormous cost—Sergt. Flynn himself estimated at between [illegible] and six hundred million—is manifestly impracticable and unbusiness

[illegible] are not asking this money [illegible] for service," declared [illegible] veterans' representative. [illegible] that the men be given [illegible] order to get back [illegible] to cope with [illegible] ent day." Sergt. Flynn [illegible] unity that [illegible] who may [illegible] at [illegible] soldiers discharged as medically unfit after a short time in uniform who are apparently included in the demands of the new League.

LABOR AND THE FARMERS.

Labor men who believe that it is possible for organized labor to form a working alliance with the organized farmers would do well to read such papers as the Farmer's Sun and the Farmer's Advocate occasionally to learn the views of the farmers, especially on such matters as the eight-hour-day and the minimum wage. For instance the current issue of the Farmer's Sun contains the following interesting article:

"The facts do not warrant the Globe and Rev. J. C. Tolmie in asserting that the platforms of the United Farmers of Ontario and the Liberals of Ontario are substantially the same. If they will take the trouble to turn to the statement of policies and principles adopted lately by the Liberal Convention, which elected Mr. Dewart to be leader, they will find an unequivocal declaration in favor of fixing the hours and wages of urban laborers and of guaranteeing to the employment. To that, the United Farmers of Ontario have not assented. Nor with the fact of rural depopulation before them and knowing that their own wages cannot be fixed, are they very likely to assent to it. What does the guarantee of employment under the promised or any conditions mean but that labor is to be kept away from the land and productive industry to be impoverished by the confiscation of its capital for distribution among those who will not, like the farmers, make their own way.

"It is impossible at this time to regard such declarations without anxiety. In England, a general strike brings the railways to a standstill and Lloyd George suggests that revolution and Bolshevism stalk behind. In the United States a general strike of iron and steel workers is commanded by a leader, who publishes a book in which he harangues his followers to overthrow the present social order and put syndicalism in its place. Labor, he says, must not stop to choose its weapons in its struggle against the industrial organization of to-day and against the state as a whole, and all considerations of ethics and morality must be discarded. When society is so challenged, it is natural that its friends, who include not only the farmers, but also, let us hope, the great mass of laborers, become alert, in all probability, to discover danger in the promises of Mr. Dewart and Mr. Hearst of wage fixing and especially of the guarantee of employment in the manifest disposition of those, who clamor for these assurances, to limit the farmers' prices."

And the Farmer's Advocate says:

"There are plenty of cases where eight hours in a factory are all that should be endured, but an eight-hour day standard for all Canada will not give us the production the country requires, or permit agriculture to employ labor in competition with other industries. The matter of hours should be determined by the character of work engaged in."

CLEAN THE SLOUGH

There will be a general support for Mr. McKenzie's resolution demanding an investigation of the working of the War Time Election Act. The telegrams which have been cited indicate an ugly business that should, like every hidden abcess, be probed and brought to light. Our governmental procedure must not be permitted by indifference to be degraded to the level of things in Mexico. Dr. Clark, who protested against the investigation as "party politics," admitted, nevertheless, that the War Time Election Act was a "crude method." Its crudeness would seem to have developed into downright criminality or near it in the working out.

As Mr. McKenzie said, the minister of the interior has hardly denied sending the telegram which called for an "allotment" of 1,000 soldier votes for Manitoba constituencies. The member for Peterboro assured the House it was perfectly all right for government officials at the front to guide the soldiers' votes to the right constituencies. Mr. McMaster replied that soldiers were dragooned by regiments to vote for one candidate or another. Just what happened should come out in an inquiry. It would seem that government workers looked upon the men as conscripted not only to fight the Huns, but for the Unionist firing line in the constituencies. The manhood of our soldiers was trafficked in for party purposes, just as the British flag has been trafficked in for Conservative purposes in this country at any election since the high exclusive tariff was placed on imports from Great Britain back in 1878. The allotment of conscripted votes in masses wherever needed for a Unionist majority is a far greater crime against the spirit of democratic and constitutional government than any gerrymanders ever was. Negro voters were never more contemptuously treated in any southern state than our soldiers have been by the ruling Ottawa ring. Men like Mr. Meighen bid an open and cynical defiance to democratic and decent sentiment.

Honeycombed with trickery, our Canadian capital recalls that city of Carnal Policy where Mr. Worldly Wiseman dwelt, in the Pilgrim's Progress. We should address him now as Sir Worldly. Other figures of Bunyan's allegory can be made out quite easily in the murk of the Carnal City. There is Mr. Facing-Bothways, of course, with an ear to the ground. Sir Formalist Smoothman will be finding oily reasons why the working of the infamous election Act should not be inquired into. The Hon. Mr. No-Good and Mr. Anything will vote against the resolution. Their slogan is "hush." What with "rotton policy" and dismal changes, Canada is coming to be, politically a Slough of Despond. Let us have a cleaning up. It will do us as much good as the trial of the Kaiser.—London Advertiser.

NO RUSSIAN SETTLEMENT YET.

The hurry which is being displayed at the eleventh hour in the evacuation of Russia by British troops will rouse some apprehension in the minds of those who have consistently argued that, in spite of the spread of Bolshevism in that country, the Allies had a duty to perform to their former Ally which could not be fulfilled by mere moral and financial support. The news that the last British soldier in the Murmansk and Archangel regions will have shaken the dust, or the snow, of Russia from his army boots before the close of the present week indicates plainly that our policy of military aid to Russia has gone by the board and that in future Bolshevist and anti-Bolshevist will have to fight it out among themselves and settle their domestic disputes without British aid.

The first intimation that our policy of sporadic intervention—if, indeed, a patchwork agglomeration of schemes and proposals can be called a settled policy—came on September 15, when the British delegation at Paris gave out a statement to the effect that at a meeting of the Conference "at which Mr. Lloyd George, Premier Clemenceau, Mr. Polk of the United States, and Signor Tittoni were present, the whole Russian situation was traversed and the Conference unanimously agreed to the British policy of evacuation from Russia" and expressed itself as "absolutely opposed to any Russian adventures," and declared that it was now definitely settled "that the Great Powers will allow the Russian Revolutionists to settle their affairs and work out their own salvation how they please."

The remarkable feature of this statement is found in the fact that the French official communication of the proceedings of the Conference of the same day did not contain a syllable about Russia, while the American communique made the positive statemat on the day following that "the Russian matter was not taken up by the Conference yesterday." The Italian delegation was the last to report, and it guardedly denied that the question of Russia had come before the Conference.

Under these circumstances, it was natural that the responsibility for the statement and for the changed policy was widely attributed to the British Prime Minister. Nine days later Mr. Thomas, a member of the British parliament and the head of the Union of Railwaymen in Great Britain, suddenly dropped a bolt from a clear sky when he intimated that a strike of railway employes, which would tie up the entire transporation system of Britain, would probably take effect within the next forty-eight hours.

The antagonism to British adventures in Russia since the signing of the armistice has been persistent and pronounced among labour men. Resolutions were passed at the recent Labour Convention—in which the Mining Federation took so important a part—expressing strong Labour disapproval of sending any troops to Russia. It is impossible in these circumstances to disassociate the action of the British Government from the domestic dispute in which the whole nation is engaged. Was the Prime Minister's hand forced or did he suddenly change his attitude towards Russia in order to placate Labour elements, according to the views expressed in their great Conference? The latter suggestion raises the question as to whether we could honorably withdraw from Russia so hurriedly in view of the commitments we have made and the pledges we have given to the Loyalists.

For Russia is the same Russia that it was when we went to the rescue of our friends when they were attacked by Bolshevists. The chaos and the anarchy that then prevailed exist today, the volcano is still "in fierce eruption," as the Premier himself has said. The Russian problem is not solved by withdrawing "the last British soldier from Russian soil."

RAILWAY DIRECTORS STRONG IN HOUSE

According to an Associated Press cable some London newspapers are criticizing the position of Mr. J. H. Thomas and other paid officials of the labor unions who are members of Parliament, making the point that their duties as legislators and as labor officials are bound to clash.

The latest figures available show the following "Railway Representatives in the British Parliament":

As Brown Bent The Twig So The Tree Has Grown
EIGHTY years ago Canada was struggling with its early problems. It was a house divided within itself. Classes and castes clashed. Upper and Lower Canada were the upper and nether stones of racial division. Though the future looked dark, the very struggle gave birth to a new idea —Cooperation—United Purpose—United Effort—Confederation.
In Upper Canada a band of democratic patriots saw that Confederation was the logical solution of the difficulties besetting the people, and the stepping stone to Great Nationhood.
George Brown spared nothing in his laudable efforts to bring about Confederation.
He drew his inspiration from the desires of the people. He threw down the gauntlet to entrenched autocracy.
In 1844 George Brown founded The Globe as an advocate of Reform and an organ for the development of Public Opinion. During the past seventy-five years, Canada has emerged from Colonial obscurity to great nationhood, and The Globe, governed by the principles of true liberalism, and actuated by sober thought, has ever stood by the constitutional rights of the people and advocated needed reforms. The Globe will continue to advocate them so long as reforms are needed.
"As Brown bent the twig, so the tree has grown." The Globe is still the servant of the people and will remain so. It will continue to promote all good causes for the welfare of the people and the up-building of the nation.
The Globe is what Brown wanted it to be; a Great Family Newspaper—a newspaper for the home, a newspaper for all thoughtful people in every walk of life—for all the family.
The Globe has now served three generations of Canadian people. It will continue to be what it is today, what it always has been, an advocate of every good cause and a family newspaper in the best sense of the word.

From the United States it has a regular telegraphic service from Washington, New York, and Chicago, as well as special services from the New York Times, Chicago Tribune, and Philadelphia Ledger.
Of course, the Canadian Press Limited and Canadian Associated Press also are members of the Globe's force of newsgatherers. Nine telegraph wires are operated in The Globe office nightly to handle the flood of world news these services bring.

POTATO SALES TO CONTINUE BY BAG

COUNCIL'S AUTHORITY APPLIES AT PRESENT ONLY TO THE MARKET.

Because the Council's jurisdiction extended only to sales made on the Market, the Property Committee last night decided not to recommend that potatoes be sold by weight instead of measure, as suggested a short time ago by the Ottawa Department.

It had been pointed out that by the present system consumers are often at a disadvantage. A few large potatoes fill a peck measure, for example, but the quantity thus sold falls short of what the buyer sould receive under the weight system. A bag of potatoes should weigh ninety pounds, and six pecks are supposed to average that weight; but the Inspector of Weights and Measures stated that often the bag is considerably lighter.

City Solicitor Widdifield informed the committee that the Council's authority applies only to Market sales, and because any change would not have a general effect.

Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Mayor Duncan, that no action be taken.

Hamilton and Crowe, who will interview Mr. Thomeson with regard to his work and application for a salary increase. WITNESSES ARE POORLY PAID

DOLLAR AND A HALF A DAY NOT ENOUGH FOR HOLDING DOWN THE SLAT BENCHES AT THE 'COURT HOUSE'

There is talk of a strike among the witnesses who have been subpoened to give evidence at the murder trial which is now being held at the Court House. Two dozen witnesses are in attendance and state that they are losing dollars every day. One dollar and a half is given them for attending and their expenses come out of their own pockets. There are eight Macedonians decorating the slat benches in the County Council Chamber who worked at the quarry near Havelock for $3.75 a day but who are now staying at one of the local hotels, having three meals a day and are growing fat on $1.50 a day presented to them by the county for their attendance at the trial. One of the principal witnesses wondered if a real present-day strike would not be effective in bringing about a more liberal indemnity. He stated that he is losing $15 a day by attending the court. He thought that the witnesses should receive their former wages, as most of them lose that while not a work and expenses besides which now amount to about $4.50. The remuneration given to the jurors is somewhat better as they receive $2.50 a day and have their meals brought to them.

"That extra dollar would buy several more meals," said one discontented witness who finds it cheaper to return to his home in Havelock every evening rather than stay at the hotel.

THIRD NEGRO IN ONE DAY LYNCHED AT MONTGOMERY, ALA.

(Associated Press.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 1. — John Temple, negro, who shot and fatally wounded Policeman John Barbare and who was wounded by the officer, was shot to death in a hospital by a small band of white men. He was the third negro to die by lynch law within a period of 12 hours, Miles Phifer and Robert Crosby, the latter a discharged soldier, having been shot to death by a mob five miles from the city yesterday afternoon. Still another negro, Bird Astor, who was with Temple when Barbare was shot, was being sought by a posse, and it was believed his capture would result in more violence.

There was no connection between the lynching of Phifer and Crosby and the killing of Temple.

PROVINCIAL ROAD FROM HAVELOCK TO TRENT RIVER

ROAD WILL BE DEMONSTRATION OF VALUE OF TRAP ROCK.

The Department of Public Works of Ontario has authorized the construction of a first class metal road from Havelock to Trent River, a distance of two and three-quarter miles.

The road will be constructed under the personal direction of government engineers, and will be of ample width throughout and will be a first-class permanent provincial type of the latest method of road building.

The road will be constructed with trap rock from the Ontario Rock Co.'s quarry a Preneveau, and while serving this section of Ontario as a sample of how good roads should be constructed, the main idea of the Government is to test out thereby the assertion of the trap rock quarry people that their product is by far the best in the country for provincial or any other road use, where metalled surfaces are required to stand up to heavy traffic.

CASE FOR DEFENSE OPENED AT ASSIZES THIS MORNING

as that told by the previous ...ess.

Constable Isaac Puffer of Norwood told the same story as Constable Williams. Eight foreigners were ranged in court and Mr. Puffer picked out the man to whom he was talking the afternoon of June 22. He chose Charles Moitzsioff, a previous witness. James Stephanoff, another occupant of the bunk house, was able to answer in broken English.

The Defense

When cross-examined about belt, he became excited and declared emphatically that he knew the belt. He had worked with Yannoff for three years. More questions about the identity of the belt made him stand on his dignity and in an emphatic way asked Mr. Essery if he thought he was crazy.

County Constable Archie Moore sent the money which was taken from Russians to Crown Attorney Hatton. Mr. Hatton produced the greenbacks and silver which have been in a deposit box at the bank of ... Scotia since the day of the murder.

Mr. Hatton's evidence concluded the case for the prosecution.

The defense called Mr. William Johnston, local court reporter, who read from his notes of the preliminary hearing that Moitzsioff in his evidence stated he recognized none of the robbers except Samuel Zaluski

Evidence Yesterday.

Constable Williams of Havelock, on the stand this afternoon, produced a package of cartridges which had been found in the waiting room at Indian River. In the box was a letter written to somebody (the name was unintelligible) by "Maud, and asked the person to whom the letter was sent to meet her at the corner of Queen street and Spadina avenue at 2 o'clock. She would have an excuse to get out by going to the butcher shop for meat. More bullets were found behind the seat in the station, wraped in a handkerchief. The bullets were of a different calibre from those found in the box. Two searchlights were also produced.

A pair of brown boots with rubber soles were shown to Constable Williams, who stated that it was the heel that made the impressions on the Norwood road. He further said that the pair of boots was on the tallest of the five Russians, when he examined their shoes in the waiting rooms at Indian River. His Lordship called for the rest of the prisoners to be brought in so that Mr. Williams could identify the man to whom the boots belonged. Samuel Zaluski was the prisoner who owned the boots. The boots were tried on Zaluski and found to fit.

The Money Belt.

A large torn leather belt thought to have belonged to the murdered man, was shown to Mr. Henry Wees of the Canadian Rock Company, who was called to the witness box yesterday afternoon, and he said he found it just outside the door of the bunkhouse near Havelock, early the morning of June 22. He also found an empty revolver shell on the bunkhouse floor about six feet from the dead man's head.

Constable Augustus Whibbs of Indian River told how he saw two men coming up the track, how they stopped and asked the Indian River station agent for a drink and how when he asked for a drink they were asked where they were going.

"To Peterboro," was the reply.

"I asked them to sign a paper which promised they would not trespass on the track again and they came into the station where I locked them in. Later three more men came up the track and on another pretext we locked them in the waiting room. About $450 was found on Tom Konek, the prisoner when searched." The prisoners were quite peachable and made no attempt to escape.

The stationmaster at Indian River, Mr. John W. Riseborough, was next called. He told the circumstances of the five Russians coming up the track and how they were detained by Constable Whibbs.

Knew Yannoff.

Charles Motssioff, a Macedonian, one of the foreigners who were sleeping in the bunkhouse when Yannoff was shot and killed, answered the questions of the counsels through the medium of an interpreter. Motssioff occupied the bunk in which Yanoff was killed. He located his bunk on the blue print given to him. He also pointed out Yanoff's bunk.

"When did you last see Philip Yanoff alive?" questioned Mr. Rigney.

"Saturday night, June 21," was the Macedonian's reply.

"When did you last se chim?"

"Sunday morning. I was awakened by a shot. The prisoner (Konek) and another foreigner instantly commanded 'Hands up!' Konek was standing near my bunk. Yanoff was hollering and crying. I asked him why he was crying. He replied 'I'm hit.' Another one of the gang then struck him."

A Black Revolver.

Moitssioff then marked with an "A" on the blue print where Konek was standing with a revolver in his hand. "It was a black revolver and he had a black handkerchief over his face."

Asked to describe the revolver he gave a description of the black automatic revolver which had already been produced in court. Three revolvers lay on the desk and he picked up from among them the black automatic.

"Hands Up!"

"He pointed the revolver at me and Konek told me to hand over my money. I said 'I have no money, I am broke.' He said 'I will shoot.' I said 'Go ahead, shoot,' Then he saw I was broke."

"Did you notice Yannoff?"

"Yes, I saw Yannoff when he was handing up asking for water. I said 'I can't give you a drink because I can't move.' Yannoff was then hit by one of the gang."

Then the Russians started in an individual search of the bunk house occupants.

"I seen them when the took the money belt off Philip Jannoff. First time the searched Yannoff but found nothing but later came back, and took off his belt which was around his waist. The prisoner cut the belt with a knife. I am not quite sure it was a knife."

"Did you hear the prisoner say anything?"—"No."

"There was 400 in ... the pittin..."

...ounsel Objects.

At this juncture the counsel for the defense objected to the interpreter finishing the witness's evidence, even though it be disjointed. Another interpreter was placed near the witnes to check up his brother interpreter.

"The robbers gathered near the door under the lamp to look at the money which they had collected."

"What did Konek have over his face?"

"The prisoner caried a black revolver and wore a black handkerchief."

"Describe the handkerchief."

"It was black with white spots on it."

A black and white handkerchief was shown him and he recognized it.

The witness tated they made a final search and then left.

"How long were these men in the bunk house?"

"They came in shortly after three and left about ten minutes to four."

Evidence Complete

The defense completed its case early this afternoon and almost at once the counsel began their addresses to the jury, the Crown preceding.

The appearance of Sir Robert after his illness was warmly cheered by his followers. He said he was feeling better but his attendance was a considerable strain and he is in need of a complete rest.. It has been announced that the Premier will leave for the south immediately.

LATE STRIKE NEWS

ARE OPTIMISTIC.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A wave of optimism swept throug both official and Trades Unionist circles to-day regarding the outcome of negotiations for an adjustment of the strike, which were resumed this morning.

At the headquarters of the National Union of Railwaymen, there was extreme activity, and the opinion seemed to prevail that the outlook for a settlement was bright.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Interest in the steel strike to-day again centred in Washington, where the Senate Labour Committee was continuing its investigation of the controversy involving, directly or indirectly, nearly five hundred thousand workers.

E. H. Gary, chairman of the Board of Directors, of the United States Steel Corporation, who testified yesterday that the "open shop" would be maintained on his Corporation at all costs, resumed his testimony to-day.

William E. Foster, secretary of the Strikers' National Committee, and alleged leader of the radical element in the strike, was in Washington prepared to follow Mr. Gary on the witness stand.

FROM SOME WHO HEARD HIM

Of the coming of Dr. George Adam, who will lecture in Murray street Baptist church on Tuesday, October 4th, on the subject, "With Harry Lauder in the Trenches," some citizens have written to the committee.

Mr. G. N. Gordon writes, saying: "I heard him at the Chautauqua last summer and found him one of the most powerful, fascinating and convincing speakers I have ever heard. Anyone who misses his lecture is losing a very profitable evening."

Mr. James Lynch says: "The people of Peterborough are to be congratulated on their opportunity of hearing Dr. Adam again."

Mr. G. O. Cameron's letter says: "The Canadian Club had the doctor down as a prospective speaker for a futre meeting but since the Murray street church got in ahead of us we are pleased that we will have this opportunity of hearing so pleasing a speaker."

"HOWDY, ALBERT"

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (by Don. Chamberlain).—The world's greatest ... Royalty's ... Albert of the Belgians. For the first time in history a King trod American soil when Albert stepped ashore from the steamship George Washington at Hoboken, N.J., at noon, and the nation gave the man of "Liege and Antwerp" a greeting fit for a king.

American officialdom had sought to give the ceremony a certain decorum, but the tens of thousands afloat and ashore who witnessed the coming of the King, his Consort and their Heir, despite a heavy rainfall, would have none of it.

They were determined to show their admiration for the Soldier-Monarch in their own way, ant they did. The roar of welcome that went up from their throats and from the whistles and sirens in the bay and river, carried as typically American man-to-man "Howdy, Albert?"

LOWER WATER AT STONEY LAKE

The secretary of the Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association has been advised by the Superintendent of the Trent Canal that it is the intention of the Government to do certain repairs to the Canal this fall, which will necessitate the lowering of the water in Stoney Lake by 2 feet or more. Any of the cottagers who have repairs to make to their wharves are therefore advised to take advantage of the low water.

BELLEVILLE BEAT OSLERS BY 2 TO 1 IN O.B.A.A. SEMI-FINAL BATTLE

GOYER'S GREAT PITCHING TOO MUCH FOR TORONTO CHAMPIONS, SEVENTEEN OF WHOM STRUCK OUT—BELLEVILLE WILL MEET HAMILTON WINNERS IN FINALS FOR THE ONTARIO HONOURS.

BIG CROWD SAW GAME

Belleville eliminated the Toronto ... from the O.B.A.A. race in the ... game at the Riverside Park ... when they handed the ... champions a 2 to 1 beating. ... one of the hardest fought ... of the season. Freddie Goyer, ... left-handed pitching ace of the ... team, whose twirling put the ... out of the Central League race, ... the Oslers in subjection ... and some of the Queen ... bunch would have done as well ... there without a bat. Goyer kept ... in a quick breaking curve, ... occasionally by a fast one that ... past the batters like a flash. ... of the Oslers were retired ... strike out route, and Goyer ... allowed five scattered singles, ... all which were slow rollers that ... batters beat out. They came to- ... in the third and with a base ... Mills gave Oslers their only run. ... Belleville phenom showed his ... with men on bases in the fourth ... after the first two Osler's bat- ... got on the path and moved up a ... each on a wild pitch, Goyer ... out Buchanan and Newton. ... southpaw retired the side in the third, fifth and sixth by the strike out route. It was a great performance.

Joe Spring, the Osler box-artist also delivered a nice game, although his inclination to be wild got him into trouble and two of his passes blossomed into the two Belleville runs. Spring held Belleville to five hits and his work was good all the way.

There were few fielding features. Willy, the diminutive second baseman of the Oslers, had the bulk of the infield work on either side, and he accepted seven chances in snappy fashion. Manager Calhoun of the losers, however, contributed the best play of the day in the ninth innings, when, with Mills on second, Kelleher singled sharply to left. Calhoun came in on the run and making a quick pick up, nailed Mills at the plate by a perfect throw.

Larry Burke, the veteran Hamilton umpire, handled the game in good style. Belleville kicked strenuously before the game because two umpires were not appointed, and they threatened to forfeit the game, finally announcing that they were playing for the sake of the three hundred fans who accompanied them to Peterboro. As it turned out, however, the one-umpire system practically gave Belleville a run. In the sixth innings with Smith on second and Ross on first, Mills drove a long fly to right, which Newton grabbed. Smith hit out for third when the ball was hit and had to scramble back to second. He beat the ball there all right, but fell off the bag, and Willy tagged him before he could get back. Burke, however, standing behind the pitcher, could not see the play clearly and called Smith safe. He scored the winning run a moment later. With the double umpire system that Belleville wanted, Smith would in all probability have been declared out at second.

The victory of the Belleville team was very popular with Peterboro fans and with the scores of enthusiasts from all over the district who gathered for the game. The winners had three hundred rooters from their own home town with them, and they made their presence known. In fact some of them had as much stuff as Goyer, but they got theirs out of a bottle. Every town in the east had a delegation present, and they all pulled for Belleville.

First Innings.

Belleville—Weir with three and two on him, fanned. Smith grounded to Potts. Ross fouled to the same player. No runs hits, or errors.

Oslers—Potts fouled to Mills. Donkin singled to right. He was caught on first, but reached second when Gerow dropped the throw. Hughes flied into Weir's hands, and Donkin was doubled. No runs, one hit, one hit, one error.

Belleville—Mills walked. Goyer sacrificed. Spring to Hughes. Mills went to third on a passed ball. Gerow grounded to Willy, scoring Mills. Kelcher grounded to Willy. One run, no hits, no errors.

Oslers.— Calhoun missed three. Willy struck out. Buchanan fanned. No runs, hits or errors.

Seventh Innings.

Belleville.— Kelleher walked. Symons forced him at second, Potts to Willy. Morden, batting for Casey, struck out. Kelleher died stealing, Buchanan to Willy. No runs, hits or errors.

BATHING GIRLS ARRIVED TO-DAY

HALF THE POPULATION WAS AT THE STATION TO GREET THEM.

Meck Sennett and Sol L. Lesser have formed a team that is hauling into the ken of picture-play patrons something new under the sun. Mack Sennett's latest feature film, "Jack Canuck in Berlin," and Mack Sennett's prettiest girls (and where are there prettier?) will be seen in a conjoined show that promises everything from patriotic thrills, hilarious mirth, to thoughtful contemplation and gaps for revealed loveliness chastedly enclosed. Their ruthless attack on susceptible Peterboro will be made at the Grand Theatre to-night, and will mark the first professional appearance of these Mack Sennett Bathing Beauties outside the studios of that astute showman, maker of comedies and producer of big "features."

The conjunction of pictures and living, breathing, palpitant participants is the result of a Sol. L. Lesser enterprise, which seeks to send the California message of patriotism allied with beauty, to all parts of the United States and Canada.

"Jack Canuck in Berlin," by the multitudes elsewhere who have seen it, is declared a greater picture even than Mr. Sennett's previous record-breaker, "Mickey."

The greatness of his newest feature picture grows out of their treatment and story. The theme is patriotism, the treatment is in superb satire and the story is one of immediate interest growing out of the war.

The act in which Sennett's Bathing Beauties will be seen is of luxurious finish, elaborate lighting effects and costumery that requires more eloquence to describe than newspaper scribes ought to be expected to provide.

The beauty of the girls, their refreshing youth and grace and the charm of their picturesque performance can be imagined by those who have seen them in the celebrated "two reelers" that have made the girls famous and Mr. Sennett one of the three most important producers of animated pictures in the whole world.

THRILLS, LAUGHS, ETC., AT THE GRAND

"Mickey", the much heralded and most widely advertised production in all America comes to the Grand for 3 days, commencing Thanksgiving matinee "Mickey" is said to be entirely different to any other production inasmuch as the theme, situations and big thrills are really original. A special matinee will be given every day during the engagement.

JACK PICKFORD AT THE EMPIRE

As a basis for "The Spirit of '17," in which Jack Pickford is to star at the Empire Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Judge Willis Brown, the author, has employed an exceedingly timely theme, dealing with the labour agitations that are now causing so much trouble throughout our country. "The Spirit of '17" has its locale in the copper mining district, near which is situated an Old Soldiers' Home. Trouble is caused in the town as a result of the work of German agents, and young Davy Gliddens (Jack Pickford), conceives the novel idea of mobilizing the forces of the Old Soldiers' Home to defend the town until the regular troops can be summoned. A splendid cast and the excellent direction of William D. Taylor, have added their full quota of success to Mr. Pickford's newest picture.

THE AUTHOR OF "HIS BRIDAL NIGHT"

STARTED TO IRRITATE THE PUBLIC BY HIS SINGING AT 10 YEARS OF AGE.

Frederick V. Bowers, the composer of the music of Margaret Mayo's musical farce, "His Bridal Night" which comes to the Grand for an engagement of one day, Saturday, matinee and evening, is one of the hard working members of the theatrical profession. Born in Boston, he attended the Conservatory of Music when only ten years old. At fifteen he went on the stage as a singer and a few years later developed the gift of composition. His first real hit was "Because" and he followed this shortly after with "When I Think of You", and "Always", which were immensely popular in Europe as well as in this country, and placed him securely as one of the foremost of song writers. Mr. Bowers refused to compete with the composers of ragtime numbers even when that style of music was in its greatest demand, preferring to write something which would satisfy himself even if it did not produce such large financial returns He decided and played the leading role in McIntyre and ... star production of the "... and afterward joined the ... in Belle Theatre Co. ... Chicago, being the star of many of their musical comedy successes. He next turned his attention to vaudeville and for several years his big musical and dancing revue, the music composed by himself, has been eagerly looked forward to by the public. His more recent song hits are "Come to me now When I need you" and "Soldier Boy" Mr. Bowers spends his summers on his farm in Red Bank, N.J., and is as enthusiastic over his crops as his music. He claims that at least four of the musical numbers in "His Bridal Night", will be the rage and as he is the publisher as well as the composer, he anticipates a big year.

AN INSIGHT INTO THE NEW SERIAL

No mere synopsis can begin to do justice to the thrilling story and strong plot of "The Fatal Fortune." It is something new, startling and unusual. To resort to the mere phrase of words to describe the many original situations and moments of uncanny suspense would be doing an injustice to the serial. However, we will give you a bare outline of the story, but please remember our space is limited and what you read in a few minutes will take hours to see on the screen.

The story carries you to an island in the South Seas which is infested by man-eating savages. A wealthy independent trader there is engaged in a commercial war with the powerful Great South Sea's Trading Syndicate, which has entered those parts to monopolize the trade. A prize is set on his head and he is forced to flee. With his fortune and other valuable possessions safely buried in a secluded spot on the Island, he leaves for San Francisco. Here he meets a gang of hired gunmen who scheme to get possession of a map which leads to the location of the hidden treasure. A gun-fight takes place and he is severely wounded. By chance he meets his daughter, whom he had not seen since she was a babe in arms. He reveals to her his secret of the hidden treasure. With the map in her possession, she sets out to gain possession of the fortune now rightfully her own. Many sinister forces are suddenly set in motion to secure the map, which she desperately tries to retain against overwhelming odds. An invisible Face looms up and he too schemes to secure the map. The action grows faster and faster, and a charming love story blends itself through fifteen episodes of adventure, mystery, intrigue, hair-breadth escapes and thrills, which makes this the greatest serial ever produced for the screen.

SCOTCHMEN'S CLUB WILL BE REVIVED

CALEDONIANS WILL MEET ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT NEXT.

All Scotsmen in the city are invited to attend a re-organization meeting of the Caledonian Club in Victoria Hall next Wednesday night. During the war the Club was forced to suspend its usual activities because of the large number of its members who enlisted and went overseas. Quite a number of the old Caledonians will not come back, and because of the Club's fine record in the war it is confidently expected that the revival will bring out all the old members now living in Peterborough and many new ones, with a keener enthusiasm than ever for the spirit and the things the Caledonians represent.

Run Down Nervous Mothers

Gain Strength Rapidly on Vinol

In their zeal to do all in their power for their loved ones, most mothers overwork and soon get in a nervous, rundown condition. Vinol, the non-secret cod liver and iron tonic, is exactly what they need to build them up, make them strong and quiet their nerves.

Please be Convinced by this Positive Proof

"I was weak, run-down and nervous. I had dizzy spells and no ambition to do anything. I saw Vinol advertised and tried it. In about one week I felt better and it built me up and restored my strength. I want to recommend Vinol to other women who are weak, nervous and rundown."—Mrs. R. Trotter, 2 Grant St., Toronto, Ontario.

"I am a farmer's wife and keep house for my family of six children. I suffered from a constitutional breakdown and a weak, nervous, rundown condition. My daughter recommended Vinol and it built me up so I enjoy my meals and feel like a different woman."—Mrs. C. J. Smeddy, Meeosmin, Sask.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, backward children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

Your money will be returned if Vinol fails—Leading Druggists.

INDIAN MISSIONS LOSE $110,000 BY EXCHANGE

Baptist Church Must Pay $50,000 and the Presbyterian Church $60,000.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—During the next year $110,000 will be paid for the single item of exchange by the Presbyterian and the Baptist churches who do most of the missionary work in India.

Mr. H. E. Stillwell, the secretary of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board has just received a cablegram from the Indian Treasury, informing him that the rupee, which formerly was worth one shilling and fourpence, is now worth two shillings.

"This," says Mr. Stillman, "means that during the coming year the Baptist church will have to pay $50,000 merely for the purpose of sending to India the money necessary to carry on the missionary work there. And must be taken in order to raise this it also means that some capital steps extra $50,000, although at the present time the churches are looking to the Forward movement, as it is called, to relieve them of some of their financial burdens.

The reason for the excessive exchange lies in the fact that in all eastern countries paper currency has always been distrusted, and everyone has sought to have the actual metal in his hands. During the war European paper at least became so inflated in value that everyone was afraid to take it, for within a week it might be practically worthless. This resulted in a universal demand for the metal, and since the smallest gold coin is the half sovereign, or about $2.30, the great masses of the people demanded silver.

PETERBORO SOLDIER EXPRESSES AN OPINION ON GRATUITY QUESTION

To The Editor of The Examiner:
Sir:

On reading the many discussions in the papers in reference to the $2,000 bonus, several things have struck me. First, some people forget this was a world war, as one argument is in favor of giving the bonus only to the men who went to France. I'll allow this is an oversight and means all war fronts, but it's the same reference as causes a lot of feeling when speaking of the English navy, instead of the British navy. England did this, and England did that, instead of Britain doing this and doing that. There is a lot of difference. England alone with all due respect to Englishmen, could do very little, but as Britain she is a power to be reckoned with, and as the British Empire she is a wonderful power indeed, true it is that most Canadians were in France, but not all. Perhaps all those who are entitled to the gratuity as it stands to-day were, except for an odd machine gun crew, not taking into consideration the Canadian troops who went to Russia, who by the way have had no honeymoon there, yet I suppose there are people who would be surprised to know we had Canadian troops there, yet I was speaking to a man who was in the trenches there as recent as July 23rd, and who lives in Hamilton, and he says it's the worst front he has yet been on and he has had some of France too, and he could tell you quite a tale. I came home with 270 men, all repatriated cases, on the "Royal George." We left England on the 15th of August and arrived in Canada on the 25th at Halifax, all these men have been with the Imperial Forces all over the world, a good many were Inland Water Transport men on such waters as the Tigris in Mesopotamia and the Suez Canal, etc. These men, for various reasons, were not accepted in the Canadian Forces, but were men enough to go over to Britain at their own expense, not counting the risk of submarines, and join the Imperial Forces. At that time there was no thought of gratuity, or being repatriated and getting one's fare paid back and it wasn't for the big wages that were paid in the British Army. The whole world knows that. 'Tommies' get one shilling a day not a dollar and ten cents; they must have gone purely on patriotic motives. They are not all British-born either, half of this 270 were born Canadians and come from every part of the Dominion. They have been no expense to the Canadian Government while away, and yet in a lot of cases have paid their taxes while away, like myself, each year regular, to hold what we had here. Mine is a lot in St. Catharines, others possibly their homes. They were no mere boys either, mostly men from 35 years and upwards, one man was a master of a vessel that was fired on by the boat load of Indians at Vancouver about seven years ago. If people recollect the incident when Canada refused to allow the Indians to land, they gave a lot of trouble before being turned back. I landed in England in October, 1915, and was rejected for the army, even after going over there at first. I got a position as night electrician to the London General Omnibus Co., every soldier knows that company, and I got tired of night work and to my surprise when I offered myself again for enlistment I had become A1. Just as I thought night work was ruining my health, but I was A1 enough to do two years in Palestine with Allenby getting there just as Gaza had fallen, and following right up to Jaffa, and later in the big push of a year ago that every man in Palestine will tell you won the war. Of course men in France wont hear of it, but with the Turks crushed Bulgaria automatically dropped out, as was always known she would, as she was only in against us to save her own country. If the Allies had got rid of Turkey earlier the war would not have lasted as long as it did, it was the defeat of the Turks that started revolution in Germany. The people could see it was all against them. Allenby will never get the real credit he deserves for what he did, and yet so far he is the only big General not given the Freedom of the City of London, as he has been too busy, with the whole of Egypt in insurrection since the Armistice. I left Mount Carmel Haifa, on July 11th. Things were then quiet normal again. Another argumen. I see in your paper is that if the soldiers get the $2,000 they will have to pay it back in taxes Possibly they will, some of it, but others who have made fortunes while they were away will have to help them pay it and they will have something to give them a start if they are ambitious, to compete with all the foreigners in this country, who have become rich owing to the war while the men were away, and what's more if the troops hadn't fought as they did and won the war, there would be no Canada at all, it would have become a German colony and in that case it would not be a matter of a $2,000 gratuity, it would be instead a large indemnity to be paid Germany each year. Could this country pay it? Certainly they could, they would have to and would. Five years ago even Britain was thought too poor to last in a war of this kind as long as she did, but she did it, and is not bankrupt yet. Where there's a will there's a way, and it's far better to pay a little taxes and have the country and independence. Perhaps people don't know the worth of independence, if they had seen the people of Palestine after the Turks had left, they would appreciate their independence more, then if the soldier has saved the country at the risk of many valuable lives, he should at least get a chance to show what ambitions he has, and not as one item said in your paper—the money would go the same as the other gratuity, in idleness. All soldiers are not loafers, give every man a chance to be a man, and only a few will disappoint you.

I am a neutral and get no Canadian gratuity and will have to pay taxes the same as rest pay it, as I joined the Imperial Forces, although a resident in Canada since 1905. I favor giving gratuity to men who joined the Canadian Forces who were resident in Canada before August, 1914, but not to men who came from Britain since that date and joined the Canadian Force because of better pay, and who have already gone back and in some cases never even came this far, but got discharged in England, never were, and never will be Canadian citizens. Why should the people pay taxes for them, they have already benefited at the rate of 85 cents a day while with the Force.

Again, what of the large number who ran away from Britain to dodge conscription and came to Canada, who were eventually conscripted in the Canadian Army. Why should the people pay these men $2,000. Cowards and slackers! Didn't the crews of ships strike to force the Government stop them running away? Certainly they did.

If these men get the extra war gratuity who were not resident in Canada before August, 1914, then our 270 should be entitled to the ordinary gratuity, or rather the Imperial gratuity made up to the level of the Canadian gratuity, because they were residents here before the war and are now and will be residents here, and help pay their share of taxes when they settle down, if not already settled.

I approve of every Canadian soldier getting the extra gratuity if he was resident in this country before August, 1914, but not a cent should go to men who joined the forces who were not resident in this country before that date, and I am afraid there are quite a number, unless he came from America, of course he is to be admired as America was so slow to make up her mind.

No doubt this letter will cause a little argument, but everyone is entitled to their own opinion and I respect it as such and I hope others will respect my opinion, thanking you for space in your paper for this letter.

I am, sir,
Yours truly,
W. P. F. Peterboro.

MEETING ADJOURNED.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Premier Lloyd-George to-day signified his willingness to meet the delegates from the Transport Workers, whose representatives were in session during the early afternoon, to decide whether the strike of their 325,000 members should be called to support the railwaymen's nation-wide strike.

At the conclusion of the first session of the Transport Federation meeting, which adjourned shortly before two o'clock until five o'clock, it was announced by Robt. Williams, general secretary of the Transport Workers' organization, that the delegates had unanimously reaffirmed that the strike was purely a Trades Union affair regarding wages and conditions of work.

It has been asserted by the British press that the railway strike had political motives behind it, and Premier Lloyd-George, in a statement on Saturday last, declared that the railwaymen were being used by extremists for sinister purposes.

It was arranged that eleven delegates from the Transport Conference meet the Premier later in the day.

People who are looking for trouble are fortunate in one respect at least—they never seem quite disappointed.

New Cottages.

There have been a number of new cottages erected this summer, and some are now under way for next summer.

Mr. Hancock and Mr. Kingdon have both built new cottages, as has also Mr. S. Pearson.

Mr. Redmond of Toronto, has just commenced to build a fine new one at a cost of $3000; and others are preparing to build later on in the spring.

There is a good chance for some one to build an hotel to accommodate the public. There are a good many Americans who come now and many more would come if there was accommodation for them.

WEBB—McQUAIG

The bride looked charming in a dress of taupe satin with overdress of georgette. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia rose. To the strains of wedding march played by Miss Greta Mills, and followed by her pretty flower girl, her neice, Doris Wilson. The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father. The young couple were married under an arch composed of pink and white asters and their initials "W" and "Mc".

The bride was attended by her eldest sister, Mrs. Wilson, while Mr. Cecil Leal of Marmora, supported the groom. During the signing of the register, Mr. John Smith sang "Oh Promise Me." Mrs. G. Cater, formerly of Browntown, died suddenly in Windsor yesterday afternoon from heart failure. She left the city to reside in Windsor two years ago. The funeral announcements will be made later.

MRS. C. ARGUE.

One of the old residents of Janetville passed away, Sept. 28, in the person of Ann Scott, wife of the late Christopher Argue. She was a native of County Cavan, Ireland, and came to Janetville in the year 1879. There are left to mourn her loss seven children, Miss Lizzie, nurse of Toronto; Mrs. James Sutton, Roland, Man.; Messrs. Harry, William and Christie, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. T. Robinson and Robert Argue, both of Janetville. Her husband predeceased her a year and a half ago.

The funeral took place Tuesday from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. T. Robinson, Janetville. Interment at St. Alban's cemetery. The services at the home were conducted by Rev. Wier, of Bethany and Reddick of Janetville. The pallbearers were Messrs. R. Wright, C. Armstrong, W. Robinson, C. Robinson and Norman Argue, the two later grandchildren of the deceased.

WILL HOLD A "LIBERTY DRIVE" ON OCTOBER 15TH.

(Special to Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Oct. 2 — The grain-growers of Manitoba are about to organize for independent political action, and they are following much the same plan as in Saskatchewan.

On October 15th they will hold a "Liberty Drive," when a canvas will be made of all the farmers in the province to secure members for the Grain Growers political party in Manitoba.

This is the same day as the proposed drive in Saskatchewan where all the constituencies will be canvassed except Assiniboia, which has already been covered.

NOW IS THE TIME of the year when it is necessary to start fires in the furnace and range, the same to be kept up for the next six months, day and night, whether you are on hand to look after them or not. It is important to see that everything is kept in good condition to avoid accidents which may occur, and also more important to see that your fire insurance is in force and in a good company. Do not delay to get your policy made out and in your possession. You never know when or where a fire is going to break out. Be prepared for it at all times even if it never happens. The cost of maintaining a good policy is very small if you let us write it. But your protection will be perfect, and your loss, should one occur, promptly settled. It Would Be Better for all of us if we would drop into our Optometrist's office now and then and have him examine our eyes—just as we have the dentist examine our teeth.

Perhaps the reluctance of most people to do this is due to economy or perhaps they feel that the Optometrist will advise a change of lenses anyway—whether they are needed or not.

No reliable Optometrist will advise a change unless it is necessary.

If our examination shows your present lenses and mounting to be satisfactory we will be only too glad to tell you so.

...ists of the Methodist Church have ...this evening in order that we might not let you depart, without in some way informing you of your appreciation of your services and of your association in our midst.

In all the duties of the church we feel that you have done your part faithfully and sincerely, but it is particularly as members of the W.M.S. that we wish to recognize your faithful efforts. Having spent some time in missionary work yourself we have always felt that your interest had been well sustained, and that your services in our home auxiliary, were gladly given, from a desire to fulfil our blessed Lord's last command, "Go ye into all the World and preach the Gospel", and while your removal from our midst, will alter our relationship, as sisters of the Hastings Auxiliary, we have confidence to believe that what you have been to us in the past as a friend you will continue to be in the future.

With this assurance let us ask that though absent from each other we may still have a place in your thought and prayer.

Would that we could repay you in some way for your zeal and devotion, but as that is impossible we can only hope and pray, that in your new home, you may find ample scope for your activities and trust that we may all meet in the Homeland to go no more out forever, and where we shall never say Good Bye.

We have been encouraged and inspired by your devotion to the interest of the League and to the interests of the church generally. FEDERAL MEMBERS QUALIFY FOR A $2,500 SESSIONAL INDEMNITY.

(Special to Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—In spite of the fact that this was supposed to be a short special session designed for an academic endorsement of the peace treaty, in reality it is turning into a most interesting parliament, with all sorts of thrills. Incidentally the members' full indemnity of $2500 is now assured. Yesterday was the 31st day of the session which has therefore lasted long enough to provide the complete remuneration.

From now on the proceedings may be expected to run quickly to a conclusion. A finish by the tenth of the month is hoped for, although a later date is possible.

Finest Thing Ever For Chronic Catarrh!

Get Away From the Medicine Habit, Cures by Novel Method

With the many remedies you have tried you surely know that no liquid medicine can cure your throat or nose. Even a gargle only bathes the entrance of the throat—it can't really get inside, nor can it reach the inflamed bronchial tubes.

With Catarrhozone, it's so different from medicine-taking — you simply breathe its healing vapor, inhale its balsamic fumes, which carry cure and relief to the minutest air cells in the lungs, nose, throat, and bronchial tubes.

In this scientific way the soreness and inflammation is rapidly allayed, relaxed cords are toned up, the entire mucous membrane invigorated. Every trace of catarrh disappears, the disagreeable dropping of mucus in the throat, hawking, spitting, and stopped up nostrils—all these sure signs of catarrh and bronchitis are permanently cured by Catarrhozone. Large outfit lasts two months, costs $1.00 small size 50 cents, trial size 25 cents, at dealers everywhere.

GOVERNMENT REFUSES TO DEAL WITH STRIKING RAILWAYMEN, ETC.

Government's refusal to pass last weeks wages on the ground that the railway workers had walked out without giving notice. The press is optimistic over the prospects for a settlement. While the Transport workers are willing to join the strike in defense of unionism the cooler heads recognize that to strike now will be like launching a frontal attack on an enemy forewarned and entrenched. It merely would result in a longer and more terrible fight and would give the capitalists a chance to smash the unions. According to the opinion of the Press, the Ministry of Transport announced that 20,000 trains were operated yesterday and that double that number will be run today. The strikers declare the figures are exaggerated and that the railway service is less than five per cent. of normal. After a conference among representatives of the railwaymen to-day, preparatory to resumption of discussions with the Government J. H. Thomas issued a statement saying: "The position is such that we hope negotiations will be resumed. We are going to Downing street in that spirit. Conditions with regard to the food situation are most encouraging, the Food Minister announced today. Milk distribution it was stated was increased to 65 per cent. of normal yesterday when 155,000 gallons were imported into London. Fifty-four airplanes operated yesterday in distributing mail throughout England.

Leader's Statement

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 2.— Hope that some means might be found for reaching an understanding with the Government relative to the railroad strike was expressed in statement issued this morning by J. H. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, before going to conference with Premier Lloyd George and other members of Ministry.

"The position is such I hope," the statement said, "that negotiations will be resumed. Anything that may hamper or prejudice it, or render it more difficult to find a bridge to situation which is becoming more dangerous every hour, must be avoided at all cost. We are not striking for striking sake and we will not prolong dispute an hour more than can be avoided. I hope to go down to Downing street to give effect to spirit in which I am now speaking."

At 12.30 o'clock Labor deputation began a conference with Premier Lloyd George and other of the Cabinet Ministers, none of the railroad men, however, were members of that deputation. Cabinet Ministers are optimistic over prospects of a settlement of the railroad strike, according to political correspondent of the Daily Mail, who says, they declared early this morning the government would not recede from its determination not to resume negotiations unless the men first resumed work and remarked that the fact that J. H. Thomas, leader of National Union of railway men, went to Downing street, while knowing of this condition, was a most hopeful feature. Leaders of Transport Workers Union and other labor organizations are endeavoring to find a way to bring railway men back and have reference from any threat to extend strike as result of yesterday's conference. This it is said is due to the fact that leaders of National Union of Railwaymen are trying to obtain from the government an outline relative to subsequent wage negotiations which they can lay before men as reason for ordering them back to their posts.

MILLS IN MIDLANDS FORCED TO SHUT DOWN

South Coast Physicians Refuse to Treat the Strikers' Families

(United Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The strike's effects on industry are spreading. Scores of big mills in the great Midlands industrial region are closing, and goods are piling high on the docks at various seaports.

Several physicians on the south coast have announced they would refuse to treat strikers or their families. In one section the people have been urged to retaliate by boycotting the strikers in every way possible. A labor parade at Ilford yesterday was hissed by the crowds.

The first hint of disorder occurred at Thornton Junction, where pickets halted two strike-breaking trains and detached the engines, leaving the angry passengers stranded.

Easy going men are apt to spend too much time in the clubs looking for the silver lining.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. "Because she likes you. She is interesting about asking you and Forbes to one of her select affairs. It sounds awfully harsh, but she told him after he had made his report that she should drop you from her list."

I almost groaned aloud. This was the woman whom I had hoped to have help me in my social aspirations; the woman whom I had planned to invite to my home in the hope she would give my parties eclat. Thank God I had a friend like Mr. Frederick. Mortifying as it was to have him know it was better than the embarrassment which would have been mine had I tried to put my plans into effect. Lorraine Morton had been careful not to hurt me too much. Perhaps Mrs. Powers had talked of us, Mr. Powers had warned her father, perhaps his wife and warned Lorraine.

"Please don't look like that," Mr. Frederick said after a moment. "I had to tell you—that was why I went to Powers after you told me of your intention to try to get into society. I wanted to save you. I have seen, even where I live, how it has hurt women when they tried to get into certain sets and failed. Why do you care about it?" He spoke fiercely, as if he resented the fact that I wanted to be somebody, instead of my failure, although I knew he did not mean it that way. "What does society do for you women anyway? It makes slaves of you, dressing, entertaining, and going here, there and everywhere, not because you care for it but because Mrs. Somebody else does it, and so it is the thing to do. It don't amount to much in the long run. I can't believe it would with you. You have your lovely home, your boy, your friends. Why not be contented?"

"If all you indicate is true I shall have no beautiful home, no friends."

The High Cost of Living

Prize-Winning Speech at the Zion Rural School Fall Fair. —Given by Master Gedden Nickel, pupil of Miss P. H. Petrie of S S No. 12 Otonabee

Mr. Judge, Ladies and Gentlemen and Fellow Students, I wish to speak to you on the "Causes of the High Cost of Living."

"When the great world war broke out many men left their former occupation as farmers, miners, and lumbermen. Others started to work in munition factories.

"Many soldiers were killed at the war and some demobilized men could not or would not work as long as the government allowance lasted. Thus, we have a shortage of labour. After so many men had left for the front, very few skilled workmen were left in the cities. At once they saw their opportunity to make more money, so they demanded higher wages and got them because no others could be found to fill their places. They began to covet the wealth, leisure and luxuries of those in high social positions. They became more and more greedy and extravagant and demanded higher and higher wages until they employers refused them. Then they went on strike for days and months at a time until their union leaders said they might go back to work. To-day the workmen do not intend or expect to go back to their old standard of living nor to produce as much as before.

"Thus the production of manufactured articles is hindered and during strike holidays stopped altogether. So up goes the price of tea, coffee, sugar, flour, machinery, cereals, coal oils, etc.

"Now are the farmers to blame for the High cost of living? No. They try to produce as much as possible with the aid of school boys and girls. Owing the great demand they receive a higher price for their produce but pay out exhorbitant prices for new machinery made by city workmen, for repairs, for hired help. Then the government urged them to raise more cattle, hogs, bans, grain, etc., at a great expense. Then, when these the prices often a loss to the farmer. Then weather and soil conditions were not always favourable which caused a loss of production. Many city people claim that the farmers are profiteering. But after investigations of the profits and expenses on large farms the government found this was not true..

Now are the large trusts and combine of the rich men profiteering? At their union meetings they plan more economical means of production. This should lower the cost of things. But they agree to buy the raw material from the farmers and small manufacturers at a low price and sell it to the city consumer at certain large stated profits..

Such profiteering as this should be stopped. But what can a government do when "Everybody's doing it."

To-day everyone is trying to take as much advantage of everybody else as he can—to make as much money as he can, to work as few hours per day as he can; to have as much leisure time as he can; to have as grand homes and cars as he can; and to have as much pleasure as he can.

So we must all suffer the punishment for this greed, the loss of an opportunity to sell our farm and factory products in foreign markets.

Since the farmers are producers of raw materials and work the longest hours per day, and as we have proved are not the profiteers, then let the farming communities be well represented in parliament. Such a parliament should bring down the High Cost of Living by cooperating with the city consumers and by developing foreign markets which would give more work and more money alike to the city laborers and the farmer. So altogether forward to support the Farmers' Co-operative Policy.

Scores of Women

in homes, stores, offices and factories are not fit to be at work. They toil on day after day and year after year suffering with distressing weaknesses and derangements, hoping against hope that they will soon feel better, but how can they hope to do good work or escape permanent invalidism?

Such women are in danger of derangement of women's functions. They owe it to themselves to try that good old fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been restoring Women to health and strength.

Here is a Notable Example

St. John, N.B.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bladder and kidney troubles and backache and find it the best medicine I ever took. I used many other remedies with very little result. I had two miscarriages and would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your medicine. I always keep a bottle of Vegetable Compound in the house, and I feel free to do my work for five in the family. I have recommended your Compound to many people, and you may use this testimonial if you like. It may help some other woman."

MRS. ALBERT S. GILL,

St. John, N.B.

And Another

Regina, Sask.—"I was going through the Change of Life and suffered two years with headaches, nervousness, sleepless nights and general weakness. Some days I felt tired and unfit to do my work. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and found good results. I also find it a very helpful spring tonic and useful for constipation from which I suffer much. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to several friends and am willing you should publish this."

A SUMMARY OF FARM CONDITIONS

LATE POTATOES TURNING OUT BETTER THAN EXPECTED.

Plowing is again very active, the recent rains having put the soil once more into first-class condition for the work.

The rain has also brought up the more recently sown fall wheat and has given a good start generally in this season. Essex speaks of "Some Hessian Fly."

Buckwheat is still being cut and the crop, where not put in too late, is giving a fair yield.

Red clover seed has matured nicely, but has not turned out so full in yield as alsike. The spring sowing has been more or less of a disappointment, owing to the drouth of July and early August.

Sweet clover seed, however, has done well for growers this season. The Peel Representative states that one farmer in that county who had 50 acres of sweet clover received a cheque for $5,000 for his year's crop.

Essex reports that alfalfa is growing nicely after three cuttings have been taken off.

Late potatoes are turning out better than expected, having been helped considerably by the early fall rains. Turnips have been injured by the aphis in several counties, but mangels are said to be doing much better.

Corn is standing out this year as a leading field crop, the absence of early frost permitting an unusually full maturing of the cobs for seed. Silos are being filled as rapidly as men and machinery can do the job. Reports from Western Ontario indicate that the silo is still further increasing in popularity in that portion of the Province.

Brant reports that apple pickers are busy with Spies, Greenings, Snows, etc. Many orchards are selling in the lump; in others buyers are paying $6.50 a barrel for No. 1's of the better winter varieties, and $5.50 for 2's, 3's and domestics. The Prince Edward Representative claims that there is a heavier yield of apples than was expected but that many of them are of inferior quality, owing to lack of spraying. He adds that "Those who sprayed are now reaping the results."

Milk production is about normal. Some factories complain that the supply is not so large as usual, but the Brant Representative states that this is probably due to the fact that more butter is being made at home of late.

Prince Edward reports that some good specimens of Southdown lambs have been recently sold as high as $30 each for breeding and show purposes and that little pigs are now selling at from $6 to $8 each. Norfolk states that there is a decrease in the number of brood sows kept on account of the decline in the price of hogs.

Most favorable September weather has helped farmers to get their field work in good shape, and there have been only a few complaints regarding the lack of labor.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat If Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

MR. FRANK FOWLER HERE ON A VISIT

SEES MANY CHANGES IN PETERBORO AFTER 30 YEARS ABSENCE.

It is a trait of Peterboro men that when they leave the old town and hike for new fields, that they soon get their feet on the earth and in new soil, take an interest in affairs, speak well of the bridge that carries them over. If they are not already married, select one of the girls and become one of the family. That is all in the term becoming acclimatized.

Occasionally a man comes back to see if the latch string still hangs outside the door, if any of the old folks are about, and if the people they left on duty are still doing business at the old stand. They come back looking happy, prosperous and mostly always contented.

The latest arrival is Mr. Frank Fowler, now of Saskatoon, Sask. Mr. Fowler finished his "time" as an apprentice in the Review office, and having something of the enterprise of his grandfather, John Fowler, our first railroad builder, went off to better himself. Evidently his intentions have proved to be good and realized. He looks like an opulent member of the Winnipeg Wheat Board, and that expresses dividends galore, besides unlimited salary. He has two sons in the printing business with him, and the youngsters are able to tell the head of the firm to go off and have a holiday while the business will be run with cleanness and precision. At least that is what we understand from what Mr. Fowler says he knows.

He praises Peterboro now after thirty years absence, grown pretty well out of his recollection. In fact his feeling to the old town is expressed in the phrase of the man who said that he loved not Rome the less but Caesar more. Mrs. Fowler is of the party and is looking up friends of her youth, being a Peterboro girl, transplanted to the West.

TRINITY EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETING

On Monday evening, under the auspices of the Trinity Epworth League, a very interesting meeting was held in the Sunday School Hall, Reid street, which was open to the public. Dr. Bruce Marshall occupied the chair and Mr. A. B. Cunningham, chairman of the Peterboro District of the Ontario Referendum Committee, was the speaker of the evening.

The object of the meeting was to discuss freely the issues at stake and clear away any doubts and misunderstandings arising out of the questions that will be presented to the people to vote upon at the coming Referendum Election on October 20, as it is very desirous that every voter shall clearly understand what they are voting for and do so intelligently.

A feature of the evening was a mock election at which every one present voted. This was done so as in the event of any ballots being spoiled to give the "speakers" an opportunity of pointing out and explaining where the error had been made. No ballots, however, were spoiled.

Similar meetings are being held in the various wards of the city and will continue so up to near the day of the Election.

ACTIVITIES AT THE Y.W.C.A.

The Campers' League will hold its first regular meeting on Saturday night, October 4, at eight o'clock. It is hoped that every "Y" camper will attend as the officers are to be elected, and plans for the year discussed.

GIRLS' COUNCIL MEETS TO-MORROW IN THE Y.W.C.A.

The Girls' Council of the Canadian Girls in training in the different Sunday Schools will meet at the Young Women's Christian Association on Thursday evening, October 2, at eight o'clock. It is honed that every Sunday School will have its full representation at this meeting as officers for the year will be elected, and the recommendations of the Girls' Conference held this summer, at the Y. M. C. A. Camp, Stoney Lake, will be read and discussed.

During the past thirteen years the assessment has increased by an average of a million dollars a year through increased values. At the present time the growth of the city's population has outstripped the accommodation and there is at the present time a need for 500 new houses.

LABOUR'S CONGRESS REPORT ADOPTED

PRESENTED TO LABOUR COUNCIL BY ITS DELEGATE.

The Trades and Labor Council last night received a report of the recent convention of the Labor Congress in Hamilton from its delegate, Mr. Wm. Rudkins. Mr. T. Tooms, who represented the Laborers' Union, also gave his impressions of some of the feature events of the week's convention. Both delegates paid tribute to the abilities shown by the rank and file of Labor in the addresses and debates. Mr. Rudkins particularly mentioned Ben Tillett the British Labor leader, who, he said, magnetized the audience by his witty and forcible presentation of the problems with which the people are contending to-day. Mr. Tooms said that Premier Hearst, Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor at Ottawa, and Sir Henry Drayton, were outclassed by many a labor delegate, both in oratory and convincing address.

Mr. Rudkins reviewed some of the important resolutions that were passed by the congress, the reception of these reports was the principal business disposed of last night.

A letter from the Independent Labor Party in St. Catharines expressed their hopes of electing Frank Greenlaw, a Labor candidate, over Parnell the Conservative. At the bye-election in that riding the Labor Party cut down the previous majority from 1,500 to 7, and they are confident of overturning it completely on October 20.

INFLAMED GUMS— THE CAUSE OF TOOTH-BASE DECAY

Just as the strength of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so are healthy teeth dependent upon healthy gums.

Permit the gums to become inflamed or tender and you weaken the foundation of the teeth. This condition is called Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Loosening of teeth is a direct result. And spongy, receding gums invite painful tooth-base decay. They act, too, as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) attacks four out of five people who are over forty. And many under that age, also. Its first symptom is tender gums. So you should look to your gums! Use Forhan's, which positively prevents Pyorrhea if used in time and used consistently. It also scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean. Brush your teeth with it.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

MARTIAL LAW IN OMAHA

GEN. WOOD TAKES CHARGE OF THE POLICE AND RIOTERS WILL BE PROSECUTED

USE PICTURES OF CROWD

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 30.—Yesterday the thousands of Omaha citizens who were in Sunday night's mob when the courthouse was burned and William Brown lynched, gloried in their part in the defiance of law and order. To-day their sentiment underwent a change. To-night they are in fear.

General Leonard Wood, commander of the Central Department, arrived in Omaha this morning and took command of the situation. He announced that every individual who had a hand in the lynching, or in abetting the lynchers in any way whatever, is to be arrested. Prosecution is to be swift and sure. Already arrests have been made.

An investigation of the riot was started. Orders to obtain all pictures and plates made by photographers during the riot were issued. These will be used to assist in identifying those who took part in the lynching. Detectives were ordered to obtain the names of and evidence against every one possible. All means are to be used to identify rioters. Persons identified are to be arrested by the military at once. After the arrest the county authorities will be notified of the name of the prisoner and charge and warrants will be issued. Prosecution will follow.

Those arrested for storming the Court House and even for inciting the lynchers will be charged with murder. Under the Nebraska law every one who participates in any way in a murder is guilty of a principal offence. The charge of arson will be placed against the names of those who threw gasoline into the Court House. Assault with intent to commit great bodily injury, punishable in Nebraska by a penitentiary term, will be the charge against those known to have attempted to lynch Mayor Smith as well as those who wounded policemen and deputies. All trials will be under the Nebraska law. No military courts martial will sit.

28 Already Under Arrest.

Twenty-eight are already under arrest for rioting, but these arrests were made Sunday night, and most of the [illegible] carrying deadly weapons.

"Those who attempt to interfere with the military authorities will find themselves fighting the United States Army," said General Wood this afternoon.

These are some of the developments which have struck terror to the hearts of those who have been bragging of their part in the rioting. Omaha was as quiet as a cemetery to-day. There was not a fight or enough of a dispute to cause the arrest of a single individual on a charge of disturbing the peace. Omaha is not ashamed, but Omaha is frightened. Negroes are leaving the city by hundreds. Railroad officials estimate that at least 2,000 negroes have left the city by railroad since Sunday night. Most of these have gone towards Kansas City.

Nevertheless, the city is resting over a volcano, according to the authorities. In a short talk to the Chamber of Commerce to-day, General Wood said the explosive spirit was abroad in Omaha, and that it might break out on the least provocation, although he hoped that the crisis had passed.

RAILWAY STRIKE

TRAFFIC CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING—NEGOTIATIONS HAVE RESUMED TO-DAY.

CROWDS ORDERLY

(United Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 3.—A communique announced from Downing Street today stated that up to 11.30 o'clock this morning no further applications for an interview with the Premier in connection with a settlement of the railway strike had been made by Labour representatives.

Conditions in traffic were improving. The statement said attempts at mediation last night failed to effect an agreement.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 3. — Negotiations between the Government and Labour representatives other than railwaymen, were resumed to-day in an effort to bring the authorities and the railway representatives together for a settlement of the railroad strike.

Crowds thronged Downing Street this morning in expectation of the resumption of the conferences between the Transport Workers' representatives and other Trade Unionists with Premier Lloyd-George in an endeavour to mediate in strike situation. The crowds were orderly, but the police nevertheless caused them to quit Downing Street and move into Whitehall.

At an early hour the conference took place on the government side, in which Premier George N. Barnes, minister without portfolio, Sir Robert Horn, Minister of Labor, and Sir Eric Geddes, Minister of Transportation participated. At that time no hour had been fixed for renewal of mediation effort but shortly after noon it was learned that a deputation of Transport men and associated unions had gone to confer with Premier and Ministers.

Still Unsolved.

Earlier in the day J. H. Thomas, Railway Unions Secretary, announced that members of deputation which took part in Downing street conference yesterday, were unanimous in support of National Union of Railwaymen in refusing Government's offer regarding a settlement. The Government had insisted that work must be resumed by railway strikers before reopening negotiations.

C. T. Cramp, President of National Union of Railwaymen, declared strike was [illegible] reports were arriving at [illegible] Quarters here from all districts showing men to be more determined than ever to support their leaders.

Duke Drives Lorry.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Social lines, which in the past have been rigidly held in England, have broken down for the time being at least, as a result of the railroad strike. A Duke was seen driving a motor lorry through the streets the other day, while during the day an Earl was in the chauffeur's seat in the motor heading a convoy of fish from Billingsgate.

The sixth Earl of Fort Arlington was among those whose names are found in the social register who were engaged in unloading perishable goods, milk and churns from a train, while at the Paddington Station Earl and Lady Drogheda were among the workers. Frederick Henry Smith, son and heir of the first Baron of Colwyn, was the fireman on the Liverpool-London express when it rolled into this city the other day.

Many Volunteers Offer.

The call for volunteers brought out members of the Cavalry Club, the Guards' Club, the Air Force Club, colonels, majors, barristers and civil engineers. Men from these walks of life are now standing at the fire doors in big electrical power houses.

Working Out Smoothly.

Organization of food and transport services by the Government has been proved most effective, and the resumption of war-time rationing has worked smoothly. The Food Ministry announce there is a general reserve of flour sufficient for two or three weeks, and there is a plentiful supply of bacon and margarine. Further regulations issued to bring about greater economy on the part of the people, authorize the Food Controller to add two pence to the price of meat, fixed early in the week, and forbid the manufacture and sale of fancy pastries. The Government has made an earnest appeal to the people to observe the utmost economy in coal and petrol and to avoid the use of automobiles for pleasure riding. If this appeal does not bring a general response, the use of private cars will be prohibited

BUMPED INTO QUEEN ELIZABETH

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, October 3.—Queen Elizabeth of Belgium has had the most typically American experience she may ever have—a head-on collision with a male pedestrian. The incident occurred last night on Broadway while the Queen was strolling about the theatre district in the rain, unrecognised. It may have been the Queen's fault, as she was gazing into a barber-shop window, curiously watching a mere man being shorn of his locks, while the barber returned her gaze with an air of boredom.

The Queen turned to resume her walk. Then it happened. "Flop!" One of the tens of thousands of New York's "tired business men" ran full tilt into one of the "crowned heads of Europe."

The meeting was decidedly informal. The man jerked his head nearly half an inch from his head, muttered the conventional 'Beg your pardon!" and hurried on.

White Sox Score First In Battle at Chicago

AMERICAN LEAGUE CHAMPIONS BUNCH HITS WITH AN ERROR IN SECOND INNINGS AND SEND TWO RUNS OVER. VETERAN FISHER OPPOSES KERR IN THIRD GAME OF THE WORLD'S SERIES.

(By H. L. Farrell—United Press).

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Hard digging started to-day for Reds. From the soft soil of the home grounds where they have been making the dirt fly from a grave for the White Sox, the steam shovel of Pat Moran will root into gravel this afternoon at Comiskey Park. Early this morning the Moran delegation, flushed with two sensational wins over the American League champions, invaded the stronghold of the Sox for three games that they hope will end their series and bring the first world's championship banner to Ohio. Just a little behind, the White Sox staged a home-coming that was far from the triumphant entry of the windy city dreams. Battered and beaten, but not disheartened, Gleason and his clan returned. Smiles, perhaps forced, but smiles nevertheless, showed on the faces of the under dogs in the big scrap as they stepped from the train and faced a gathering of south side hopefuls who voiced optimism. "It's our turn gang we got 'em here." Yes, the Sox smiled. Even Eddie Cicotte and Claude Williams, those two ace hurlers, whose colours were lowered and trampled in the dust of Redland field by the stampeding Reds, grinned a bit in the taxis that hustled them to their hotel.

Cherish a Hope.

For in the dark clouds of disappointment and the chagrin of air [illegible] there is the hope that the tide will turn [illegible] afternoon the task of stopping the wrecking crew from Ohio that has mauled the two best bets of the Sox staff. Moran's hope for a death blow against the Gleason clan will probably be pinned upon the ex-American League schoolmaster, Ray Fisher, the veteran right-handed come-back, and a cool weather worker of note. Chicago presented a scene strangely in contrast to the wild bedlam, confusion and mad partisanship of Cincinnati. The first game of the world series there created not a ripple on the surface of the lake metropolis. Incoming fans found the S. R. O. on many of the hotels, but the rooms were not filled with baseball bugs. There are twenty-four conventions in the burg. That explains the congestion in Chicago. It must be remembered Chicago is used to world series conflicts. Pennants come to the windy city with far more frequency than periods of fifty years. There is no lack of interest in the series, however, but the city can swallow up the surface impressions without a gulp. The South Siders are as wild over this [illegible] as they ever were, and they will crowd the old ball-yard to the limit. Most of the tickets are sold. To-day's game is the turning point of the series. Upon its hinges a victory or a crushing defeat for the Sox, because if Kerr fails to land, the Chicago juggernaut will turn to a flivver, for the chances of Cicotte and Williams to come back with a morale-shaken crew behind them are almost hopeless. If the veteran Ray Fisher gets away with his game, the Red stock will mount to the top storey, with Ruether and Salles to come back, Hod Eller, [illegible] and King in reserve.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Another golden day greeted the Reds and White Sox on their arrival here from Cincinnati to-day. The sky was clear with the exception of a few fleecy clouds. It was warm, with very little breeze.

The Reds will look invincible with a three-game lead that will give them momentum enough to knock down a mountain. Claude Williams lost a tough game. He could not have won, however, with old Slim Salles pressing the brakes on the Sox scoring machinery with both his feet. Williams lost his own game. His fits of wildness paved the way for every tally that crossed the pan. The deathblow to his chances was struck by Larry Kopf with a vicious triple that broke up the game. The heavy artillery of the White Sox has been silenced so far by Southpaw pitchers. To-day they will get their first chance against a right-hander. To the Reds it seems to matter little from which side of the southpaw the Gleason batters shoot their clouts. To-day really is the White Sox day. They do or die this afternoon. If they fail under all the favourable conditions of a home stage, Cincinnati is safe in ordering the muslin for the world [illegible] flag.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. — [illegible] game lead Cincinnati Reds [illegible] probably [illegible] vaded the home territory of the Chicago White Sox in the third contest of the world series.

This game, many baseball men believe, will virtually decide whether American League pennant winners are to be serious contenders for the championship or face an overwhelming handicap during the remainder of the series.

The two teams accompanied by some two thousand Cincinnati rooters, arrived here to-day on [illegible] trains. The Reds are confident they will return to Ohio on Sunday possessors of baseball's highest honors, and White Sox determined to overcome their handicap while playing on their home grounds.

The Reds are [illegible] favorites.

The probable [illegible] up to-day:

Chicago — [illegible] r.f.; Ed. Collins, 2b; Weaver, 3b; [illegible]gh, lf; Gandil, 1b; Riesburg, [illegible] c; Kerr, p.

Cincinnati — Groh, 3b; Rousch, [illegible]; Daubert, 1b; [illegible]uncan, lf; Neale, rf; [illegible] Fisher, p.

1st Inning.

Cincinnati — [illegible]ent. Risberg to Gandil. Daubert to Felsch. Groh struck out.

Chicago — [illegible] a line drive to Neale. Ed. [illegible]ght; Fisher to Daubert. Weaver [illegible] high one to Daubert. No runs, no errors.

2nd Inning.

Cincinnati—Rousch [illegible] the first ball to Risberg who [illegible] him out at first; Collins to Sand[illegible]ms, 1 hit, no errors.

Chicago—Jackson singled to left; Felsch [illegible] and was safe on an error. Jackson went to third. Gandil singled to right scoring Jackson and Felsch, and taking second on the throw to the plate. Risberg walked. Gandil was put when Fisher threw Schalk's tap to Groh. Risberg was forced when Fisher took Kerr's easy tap. Liebold's drive was speared by Groh, who threw him out at first. Two runs, 2 hits, 1 error.

3rd Innings.

Cincinnati—Weaver got Rariden's grounder; Fisher singled; Rath flied to Risberg; Daubert bounded to E. Collins. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

Chicago—Ed. Collins singled. Weaver got an easy fly through short. Jackson in attempting to bunt popped an easy fly to Daubert. Felsch lined to Groh who forced Weaver. And Rath relayed it to first getting Felsch for a double play.

4th Innings.

Cincinnati — Groh walked; Risberg took Rousch's slow bounder; Groh going to second. Duncan flied to Risberg who tossed to Ed. Collins, doubling up Groh. No runs, hits or errors.

Chicago—Groh took Gandil's easy grounder and threw him out at first. Fisher lost control of the ball and threw it to the backstop. Risberg tripled to right. The ball got away from Neale and rolled almost to the fence. Risberg scored on Schalk's easy tap that bounced away from Fisher for a single. Schalk was out stealing. Kerr was thrown out. One run, two hits, no errors.

5th Innings.

5th innings — Chicago—Liebold [illegible] Rariden out at first; batting for Fisher, popped a high fly to Liebold. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Chicago.—Luque now pitching for Cincinnati. Liebold fanned. Ed. Collins out. Daubert to Luque. Weaver out, Rath to Daubert. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Innings.

Cincinnati.—Rath out, Ed. Collins to Gandil. Daubert fanned. Groh out, Weaver to Gandil. No runs, no hits, no errors.

G. A. Gillespie the Unanimous Choice of Liberal Party As Candidate for Legislature

CLOSE-UP OF THE CONVENTION

"Sir William Hearst turned a cold shoulder to the Liberal proposals for temperance reform in 1911."—A. W. Roebuck.

"The Conservatives all stood for night drinking when Sam Carter of Guelph moved for a reduction in the hours of sale in 1914."—A. W. Roebuck.

"Booze must win only one of the four questions on the ballot; temperance must win them all. This is not a temperance referendum, but a booze referendum."—A. W. Roebuck.

"Labour in Ontario has had no help from the Tory Government in fifteen years."—A. W. Roebuck.

"It will be a short campaign, and upright. There will be no personalities on my part."—G. A. Gillespie.

"The beer offered by the Prime Minister is five times stronger than what is allowed to be sold in the United States."—A. W. Roebuck.

"I would advise the farmers of West Peterborough not to launch into class legislation."—Reeve Anderson.

"The Liberal Party has always stood for freedom of action and for the greatest freedom for Labour as opposed to privilege and monopoly."—Joseph Wearing.

NOMINATED AND ENDORSED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF LABOUR, AGRICULTURE AND RETURNED SOLDIERS—PLEDGES HONEST SUPPORT OF TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION.

LIBERAL PRINCIPLES NEEDED

"I was elected on the temperance issue in 1914 and supported temperance legislation at every opportunity in the House. This question is of great interest to the people and I promise the same support that I have given it during the last five years."

Such was George A. Gillespie's pledge to the electors at last night's convention of the Liberals of West Peterboro in accepting the unanimous nomination as their candidate in the forthcoming Provincial elections. He also declared that the problems of labor and agriculture would receive his heartiest sympathy and closest attention if elected for second term as the representative of this riding; he further announced that the broad policy of the Liberal party had his fullest endorsation.

Mr. Gillespie was proposed by Mr. George Sloan, Chamberlen street, a contracting carpenter, was seconded by W. G. Telford of Smith township a farmer, and was strongly advocated by Mr. C. R. Widdifield, who stated that he spoke as a returned soldier. Failing other nominations, Mr. Hartley declared Mr. Gillespie the unanimous choice of the Liberals of West Peterboro, as their standard-bearer and urged the electors, men and women, to work earnestly for him and the cause he represented during the next three weeks.

On the platform with Mr. Gillespie were Mr. W. A. Roebuck, of Togonto, Mr. R. R. Hall, Mr. W. A. Anderson, reeve of Otonabee, Mr. Joseph Wearing, Mr. Widdifield and Mr. Hartley.

Representative Convention.

The audience was thoroughly representative of all classes of the community, with a noticeable delegation of the city's workingmen. This fact was as significant as the similar circumstance that the proposers of Mr. Gillespie were drawn from the dominating vicinity of labor, agriculture and the overseas men.

Salient Points of Address.

Mr. Anderson contributed an appeal to the farmers not to stand out for class legislation, but to support the candidate of the Liberal party, whose policy embraced the new platform of the U. F. O. Mr. Roebuck denounced the Hearst Government for its failure to enact labor legislation as advanced as that of all the other Provinces in Canada, except those down by the sea, and asserted that the Liberal party, not the Conservative party, had sponsored temperance reform and contended for it against the solid opposition of the Conservative Government until public opinion during the war forced from them the Temperance Act, which they produced as an economic and not a prohibitive measure. Sir William Hearst was a member of the Government and afterwards the leader during the years of the Liberal agitation against the liquor traffic. Mr. Roebuck pointed out on the oth-

The capacity of the plant will be 100,000 car wheels a year.

CHANGE OF BUSINESS

The bread business formerly carried on by Mr. J. J. Menzies has been organised into the Veterans' Bread Co. by taking into it men who have been overseas and done their bit.

Roland G. Long, one of the above, enlisted in the 39th Battalion, served in France twenty-one months with the 44th, going through the battles of Somme, Vimy Ridge and Passchendaele. He was in hospital for three months and returned to Canada in December, 1916. The other veteran, Vincent Stewart, went overseas with the 93rd and served in the First Battalion in France for 19 months. He was in the engagements at Vimy Ridge and Fresnoy and was wounded May 8, 1917. On his recovery he went through the battles of Amiens and Arras and was, for the second time wounded, in August 1918.

The business is one of the oldest establishments in Peterborough. The man in charge of the bake shop, Arthur Kirran also having served his country in France, has a full knowledge of the manufacture of bread, having been for several years in the leading bake shops in Peterborough.

For the time being this business will be under the supervision of the former owner, J. J. Menzies.

FARMER'S PLEA FOR GILLESPIE

In seconding the nomination of G. A. Gillespie, as Liberal candidate Mr. W. G. Telford of Smith township said: "Speaking as a farmer I don't think we could appoint a better man than Mr. Gillespie. He knows all the needs of the farmers and I don't think the city people could get a better man to look after their interests. I have always found him all right in everything and it is a great pleasure for me to second his nomination."

Advertise in the Examiner

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

Many advertisers, and particularly retail advertisers, never get the full cumulative power of advertising behind their business because they lack patience. They demand direct returns. Thy run a one-time announcement in the local paper to-day and look for sales enough—sales directly traceable to the little one-time advertisement—before next week to pay for the cost of the space.

Of course they are disappointed. Retail advertising seldom works out that way. But they are impatient for results. They are not prepared to invest money in advertising as they would in new goods, in store fixtures, in stocks or in real estate—and wait for profits to be earned. No. The returns of to-day's advertising must ring in cash profits to-morrow, or, in the estimation of too many retail dealers, the advertising is not worth what it costs.

Hand-to-mouth advetising is not worth what it costs. It yields only hand-to-mouth returns. To show the best results as a business building power, the advertising of the retail merchant must be persistent. Its chief purpose should be to build up permanent trade; to make the people of your community turn to your store in preference to other stores; to make them think of you and of your place of business; to convince them that they cannot get better quality and price and service anywhere.

"Would you advise a sixty-inch advertisement in the newspaper once a week or six ads. covering ten inches of space each week?" was one of the questions asked.

"I would advise six ads., one each day, or, better still, three twenty-inch ads. each week," replied the advertiser.

"Anything that is desirable is advertisable," he said, and pointed out that the desirability of an article depends much on the consistency with which it is advertised.

"One of the best ways to advertise is to cultivate the customers you have acquired and they will assist you in your advertising."

His final message was: "Advertise and get out and prosper."

GRAND JURY RECOMMENDED IN-CREASE IN JURY AND WITNESS FEES

LACK OF FIRE ESCAPES IN MANY OF THE PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS OF THE COUNTY

AT FALL ASSIZES.

Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock the Grand Jury of the Fall Assizes submited the following presentment to His Lordship, Sir William Mulock, Judge of the Supreme Court of Ontario:

To His Honor, Sir Wm. Mulock, Chief Justice of Ontario:

The Grand Jury beg to report that in accordance with your Lordship's instructions, we visited the House of Refuge, St. Vincent's Orphanage, Isolation Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, Nicholls's Hospital and the Jail, and beg to report as follows:

House of Refuge.

We found 35 inmates, who informed us that the Superintendant and Staff were kind and considerate towards them and supplied them with plenty of wholesome food, but they would like more heat in the fall and spring. The condition of the lavatories was most unsatisfactory, on account of defective plumbing, a condition which has existed for a considerable time. The men's apartments need some repairs and other atention to make them acceptable. Some of the men occupy the attic, and if its use is to be continued, it should be fitted up properly for the purpose and fire escapes should be extended to reach the attic.

There is no fire protection in this Institution. Two outside steel fire stairs reach from the third and second stories to the ground. We regret to report the death of one of the inmates, who, during the night before our visit, fell from the window of her sleeping room on the third floor to the pavement. We recommend that the windows in such institutions be protected in some way in order to prevent further accidents of like nature.

Protestant Home.

There are thirty persons cared for here at present, and we found everything most satisfactory except that an additional section of fire stairs is desirable at the rear of the men's apartments.

House of Providence.

The number cared for here at present is fifty-nine. Here also we found everything perfectly satisfactory. This building is equipped with a central outside fire stairs.

St. Vincent's Orphanage.

In St. Vincent's Orphanage there are forty children, and in the Children's Shelter eleven. The management and methods of both of these institutions are highly commendable.

The Hospitals.

The City and County are to be congratulated on the equipment, management and cleanliness of their three hospitals. They are well equipped with fire appliances on the inside, but we do not consider the fire escapes either safe or sufficient.

County Jail.

There are at present eleven men confined in the County Jail, four of the being vagrants. The candition of the Jail is satisfactory.

In your Lordship's address to us you called our special attention to the mater of fire escapes for our institutions, which have in their care the aged, the helpless and sick. We regret to report that in our estimation none of these institutions are equipped with fire escapes down which, in case of fire, could be safely carried the class of inmates or patients above referred to.

This jury is impressed with the fact that a great proportion of the serious crimes committed in our country are perpetrated by aliens, who are unworthy of Canadian citizenship or hospitality. We realize it is possible that the matter of the deportation of undesirable alien members of our population is not under the control of the proper authorities. We therefore submit that in our opinion, the Judges of our Courts should have sole right to investigate and to finally dispose of all cases of supposed undesirable aliens.

The attention of the Grand Jury has been called to the fact that at the present time the allowance made for living expenses of witnesses and jurors is not sufficient to cover the actual cost of meals and lodging while in atendance at the Court. We, therefore, suggest that the matter be considered by the pro authorities with a view to the adjustment of the fees to be paid.

The jurors desire to congratulate your Lordship upon your continued good health and that you may may be spared for many years to continue the duties of your high office.

I have the honor to be
Yours Respectfully,
H. G. WEBBER.
Foreman.

Peterboro, Ont.
Oct. 2, 1919.

His Lordship, in reply, promised that the recommendations regarding local public institutions would be looked after by the proper authorities. Speaking of the recommendation for larger remuneration for witnesses and jurors, His Lordship stated that it was a matter under the jurisdiction of the Ontario Legislature, but that he would see that the recommendation was submitted to the proper authorities.

In concluding, Sir William said he had no reason to complain of his health, and remarked that he had passed his 75th year.

MRS. CLARK FEELS 10 YEARS YOUNGER

BEFORE TAKING TANLAC SHE CRIED OVER HER CONDITION, SHE SAYS

"I don't believe I could have kept up much longer if it hadn't been for Tanlac," said Mrs. Henrietta Clark, of 278 Woburn Avenue, Bedford Park, North Toronto, Ontario.

"My trouble began when I lost my appetite," she continued, "and I just had to force down what little I did eat, and after eating I would be in great distress for hours. My nerves were in a dreadful state and my system became terribly run-down. I could hardly sleep at night and would get up feeling so weak and exhausted that I could hardly go up and down the stairs and I would become despondent at times over my condition that I would just break down and cry. I was on the verge of a breakdown and felt miserable all the time.

"I had not taken Tanlac but for a short time before I became so much better that I actually feel ten years younger. My appetite is fine now. I eat heartily of everything and nothing hurts me at all. I am well and strong enough now to do all my housework and going up and downstairs never bothers me at all."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Limited; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

POTATO PRICES COMING DOWN IN PETERBORO

60 CENTS PECK IN PETERBORO AND 39 CENTS IN OTTAWA.

While in the city the grocers are charging 60 cents a peck for the best grade of potatoes, and $3.00 a bag, in Ottawa the same grade is being offered at 39 cents a peck and $1.95 a bag. One of the leading grocers, asked why the advanced price is being asked in this city, stated that Ottawa buys potatoes from New Brunswick, and has less freight to pay, and that in all probability the peck offered in Ottawa weighs 13 pounds, while the Peterborough standard is 15 pounds to the peck. He admitted that potatoes are weakening, and that he expects the price to come down to about $2.00 in a few weeks.

CONFERENCE ON INDUSTRIAL UNREST

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Representatives of seventy-five evangelical denominations met here to-day for a two-day's conference on industrial and social unrest.

Dr. Frederick B. Fisher, chairman of the Industrial Relations Department of the Interchurch World Movement of North America, in opening the first session, characterised the conference as marking an epoch in religious history, and the first step in an active and united participation of Protestants in the industrial crisis

WILL VOTE AGAINST THE PEACE TREATY

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Jules Delahaye, speaking on behalf of the Royalist group in the Chamber, and Depute Maginot, on behalf of the twenty-five deputies representing the devastated regions, announced to-day that they would vote against the ratification of the Peace Treaty.

Deputies Delahaye and Maginot were among the first six members who rose to explain the action they proposed to take with reference to the Peace Treaty.

PRINCE LAYS CHARGE AGAINST ABDUCTOR.

(United Press.)

FLORENCE, Italy, Oct. 2.—Prince Caracciolo, father of Princess Mary Caracciolo, who eloped yesterday with Prince Salidalim, a world war veteran, and cousin of the Khedive of Egypt, preferred a charge of abduction against the latter to-day.

His action followed a conference with the Prince's father, Prince Mehemedalim, who also had refused consent to the marriage.

LIMOUSINE HANDCAR AN AUTOMOBILE HYBRID

A hybrid handcar and jitney bus attracted the passing crowds at the G.T.R. station. It was an elaboration of the new motor cars used on the railway, but had a regular automobile top and seats of the most approved, if not the latest, design. Devised by Mr. W. J. Tyers, master of bridges and buildings of the Belleville division, this car is intended for the use of officials in their inspection signal-flags and an air of exclusiveed for them in front, and the mechanic sits at the rear and has simply to start and stop the car. There is no steering for the railway limousine follows the rails and runs on orders just as the trains do. It also carried signal flags and ain air of exclusiveness, with a slight touch of luxury that appealed to those who forgot that it offered no choice in the roads of its rambles.

A CLEAR CAMPAIGN.

The declaration of Mr. George A. Gillespie, M. P. P., Liberal candidate for West Peterboro, for the Ontario Legislature, that so far as he is concerned, at least, the campaign that is now under way will be fought out on clean and gentlemanly lines, with personalities eliminated, is precisely the kind of announcement that was to be looked for from Mr. Gillespie. His friends, and they are legion in West Peterboro, know that no other kind of a campaign would be acceptable to the Liberal standard-bearer, who would prefer defeat to indulging in personal abuse or in blows below the belt. As ex-Warden Anderson pointed out, Mr. Gillespie exposes the fallacy of the argument used by some of the U. F. O. leaders that it was impossible for a man to engage in party politics without being covered with slime. Mr. Gillespie's connection with politics has not enhanced his own reputation for honesty and fair dealing, but has put political campaigning on a higher plane than has sometimes been known.

SIR ADAM BECK'S STAND

The Hearst administration can no longer make use of the name of Sir Adam Beck for campaign purposes. The head of the Hydro-Electric enterprise has chosen to offer himself as a candidate for the Legislature who is seeking support not as a member of any political party or wearing the label of any political leader, but is a representative of the municipalities of Ontario who are interested in the Hydro policy. The chief organ of the Government in Ontario, the Mail and Empire, admits that "it is idle to pretend that Sir William Hearst and the Hydro-Electric see eye to eye on all matters." That is a mild way of putting it, and does not say as much as does the action of Sir Adam in throwing off the Hearst mantle and standing for re-election as an Independent. The genuineness of the Government's support of the Hydro policy can be judged by the Hydro knight's decision to take an Independent stand in the present campaign. Had Sir Adam been convinced that the Hearst Government was solidly behind the Hydro scheme, there was every probability of his taking the stand he has decided upon now.

FANTASTIC STATEMENTS.

Any following that Sergt. Flynn of the United Veterans' League may have gained by his stand on behalf of the Calgary Gratuity Scheme will surely be reduced to a minimum when the returned soldiers of Canada reflect for a few minutes on the absurdity of some of his statements before the Soldiers' Re-establishment Committee. Flynn declared that his proposition, if adopted by the Government, would cost between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000. As a matter of fact, Mr. T. O. Cox, accountant of the Department of Militia was able to show the committee that the cost of the scheme, if applied to Canadian soldiers, only would be $983,624,000, while if the Canadians who fought with the Imperial forces were included, the total would be $1,059,634,000. Mr. Cox's figures were based on the records of the Militia Department and showed that it would take $172,520,000 to provide the $1,000 bonus asked for the soldiers whose only service had been in Canada. The difference between Srgt. Flynn's estimate, and the figures of the Militia Department is impressive, but a few hundred millions more or less do not make any difference to the head of the United Veterans League, who declares that the Government is lieing if it says that it cannot find the money. He, himself offered all kinds of schemes to secure the necessary funds—sunday theatres, Government lotteries, the Government handling of the liquor traffic—these were some of the fantastic proposals of Sergt. Flynn. Returned soldiers who contrast his attitude before the committee with that of other ex-soldiers' organizations are very likely to come to the conclusion that their cause is not being helped by the president of the Veterans' League.

When a woman wants to call her husband down before company, she doesn't say a word, but just looks at him in a peculiar way.

HERE IS A PARADOX.

Mr. Arthur Roebuck's exposure of the ridiculous attempt of the Hearst Simon-pure, dyed-in-the-wool" temperance party might have been further strengthened by a local example if the eloquent speaker had been acquainted with the fact that the notices calling for meetings of the Conservatives to choose delegates for the coming convention, are signed by one of the officials of the Citizens' Liberty League. Mr. Guise-Bagley of course, may be able to serve two masters but a party that is endeavoring to ride into power on a temperance policy and the Liberty League make a queer combination. How is Mr. Guise-Bagley, who writes letters to the newspapers advising the people to vote "Yes" on all four questions, plugging away very industriously on behalf of a leader who claims credit for his temperance legislation and boasts about his intention of voting "No" four times. If the West Peterboro Conservatives and the Liberty League are not working together in the present fight, the League should secure a new assistant secretary.

THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

The unanimous selection of Mr. George A. Gillespie, M. P. P., as the Liberal standard-bearer in the coming Provincial elections, by the convention of West Peterboro Liberals last night, was the only action that could have been expected in view of the manner in which Mr. Gillespie has discharged his duties as a member of the Legislature in the past five years. The announcement that Mr. Gillespie has again been chosen for re-election will be welcome not only to the Liberals of the riding, but to many conservatives who tendered him their support in the last Provincial election, and will undoubtedly be found behind him on this occasion. Mr. Gillespie's record as West Peterboro's representative is one upon which he is amply justified in asking the electors to re-elect him. He has been ready at all times to be of assistance to any of his constituents, regardless of their political beliefs—any service that could be rendered by him as a member of the Legislature on behalf of the people of West Peterboro, he has been willing and quick to perform. He has been faithful in his attendance in the House and energetic in committee work, and has so conducted himself in his public position as to win the esteem and friendship of the members of both sides of the House. As to his record as a pivate citizen, nothing could be said here that would give him a higher position in the services in every patriotic campaign in Peterboro during the war were of the greatest possible assistance and although Mr. Gillespie would be the last man in the world to look for credit for anything he did to help win the war, it is but simple justice to him that these services should be publicly referred to. His attitude on the temperance question has always been clean-cut and definite. Temperance legislation has invariably had his support, and in his address last night he emphatically pledged himself to continue that support.

In Mr. Gillespie the Liberals of West Peteboro have a candidate around whom they will be proud to rally. As a representative of a riding that is partially urban and partially rural no finer choice could be made, for the Liberal candidate possesses the advantage of having been a farmer, thereby acquiring a first hand knowledge of the conditions with which the agricultural interests have to contend, while his later experience as a resident of Peterboro, as a member of the Council and the Chief Magistrate of the city, has given him an opportunity to thoroughly understand urban problems. Few residents of Ontario have a deeper or more intimate knowledge of the dairying industry than Mr. Gillespie, and this knowledge should enable him to be of great assistance in the development of agriculture that is bound to come when the "Seven Sleepers" of Queen's Park are swept out of power and a live enegetic and progressive Liberal administration is substituted.

The candidating of Mr. Gillespie will be generally acclaimed. His friends should see, in the short time there is left for campaigning, that his cause and that of the Liberal party, is warmly championed. There is no doubt as to the result, of overconfidence is not allowed to interfere with the efforts of the workers.

THE FIGURES OF SERGT. FLYNN.

Were Staff-Sergeant Flynn, the President of the Soldiers' Gratuity League, an ignorant and unlattered man, unable to understand the meaning of figures, his reliteration before the Commons committee of the statement that between five and six hundred million dollars would be sufficient to pay $1,000 of a gratuity to all soldiers who served in Canada only, $1,500 to all who served in England, and $2,000 to all who served in France or on any other battlefront, might be set down as an honest, if mistaken opinion

But Staff-Sergeant Flynn is an accountant who could discover in fifteen minutes from official sources that the figures he presents to his comrades and the country are entirely erroneous. He speaks of the members of the Government as lying when they say the proposed gratuity is beyond the power of the country to pay. The obvious retort is that he must know he is not telling the truth when he says the gratuity demanded would not cost more than five or six hundred million dollars.

Here are the official figures upon which gratuity payments must be based. They are taken from a statement issued in January of this year by the Department of Public Information. Total number of Canadians enlisted or called up under the Military Service Act, 595,441. Deducting those who were at once given leave or discharged, the number who actually donned the uniform, and served was 570,508. At $1,000 each for home service this would mean over five hundred and seventy million dollars.

Before the end of the war 95,506 of these men who had never served outside of Canada were discharged for one reason or another. There were in arms in November, 1918, 36,533 men who had not served outside of Canada.

O fthe remainder 418,052 went overseas as members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, 21,169 as members of the Royal Air Force, the Naval Reserve, and similar services, and 14,590 as Impeiral reservists or reservists of the allied powers.

Leaving out these latter and estimating the cost of the gratuity as it applies to overseas service in the C. E. F. alone, we must add, at $500 per man for service in England, two hundred and nine millions to the total.

There are no figures as yet available to the general public to show the number of Canadians who got no nearer any fighting front than England. There were 116,000 Canadians in England in September, 1918, but probably forty thousand of them were wounded men who had been to France. Assuming that 350,000 of the 418,000 Canadians who crossed to England served in Belgium, France, Italy, the Balkans, or Russia, we must at $500 each add another hundred and seventy-five millions to the gratuity total, which stands thus:

Service in Canada, 270,528 men at $1,000 each.....	$570,528,000
Service in England, 418,052 men at $500 additional..	209,026,000
Service in some theatre of war, $500 additional for 350,000 men	175,000,000
Total cost of the gratuity demandde by the League	$954,544,000

In the face of this stupendous total, based on the official figures as to service in Canada and the number who went overseas, how can any honest man continue to express the belief that the proposed gratuities would cost between five and six hundred million dollars — Toronto Globe.

WOMEN OF THE WEST WARD ARE VERY ENTHUSIASTIC

A Campaign Meeting Was Held on Tuesday Evening With Good Results.

The Referendum campaign meeting held Tuesday night by the women of the West Ward was largely attended by workers ready to give their time and energy to this most vital question of moral reform. Mrs. Joseph Walsh, vice-chairman, presided, and the meeting was addressed by Rev. F. E. Malott, and Mr. A. B. Cunningham ably discussed the manifold questions relating to the campaign. The women of the West Ward are enthusiastic with the general favorable outlook of the campaign.
